amount shall also be applied by the said commissioners, to the purchase, or redemption of the public debt, and the commissioners aforesaid are authorized and directed to apply the sums by this act appropriated to the purchase and redemption of the public debt, holden by the Bank of the United States, if not otherwise to be obtained on the terms stated in this act.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That after the year one thousand eight hundred and seventeen, whenever there shall be, at any time after an adjournment of Congress, in any year, a surplus of money in the treasury, above the sums appropriated for the service of such year, the payment of which to the commissioners of the sinking fund will yet leave in the Treasury, at the end of the year, a balance equal to two millions of dollars, then such surplus shall be, and the same is hereby appropriated to the sinking fund, to be paid at such times as the situation of the Treasury will best permit; and shall be applied by the commissioners thereof, to the purchase or redemption of the public debt.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That whenever, in any year, there shall be a surplus in the sinking fund, beyond the amount of interest and principal, which may be actually due and payable by the United States, in such year, in conformity with their engagements, the commissioners of the sinking fund shall be, and they are hereby, authorized, with the approbation of the President of the United States, to purchase the debt of the United States, at its market price, if such price shall not exceed the following rates, viz. for stock of the United States, bearing an interest of three per centum per annum, there shall not be paid more than sixty five dollars for every hundred dollars of the principal thereof; for stock bearing an annual interest of six per centum per annum, there shall not be paid more than the par or true value thereof; and for stock bearing an annual interest of seven per centum, there shall not be paid an advance above the par value thereof, which shall exceed for every hundred dollars of stock the computed value of an annuity of one dollar for a number of years, equal to that during which the stock so purchased will not be reimbursable at the pleasure of government, estimating, in such computation, the interest of money at six per centum per annum.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That all certificates of the United States, which by payment or purchase have become, or hereafter shall become the property of the United States, shall be cancelled or destroyed, at such times and under such regulations and securities, as the commissioners of the sinking fund, with the approbation of the President, shall establish and determine. And no interest shall be considered as accruing and no further payment shall be made on account of such debt, the certificates of which have been so cancelled and destroyed.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prevent the Congress of the United States, if war shall occur with any foreign power, from applying to any object of public service, any surplus of the amount herein appropriated to the sinking fund, which may be left in any year after paying the interest and principal which may be actually due and payable by the United States, in conformity with their engagements: Nor shall any thing in this act be construed to repeal, alter, or affect any of the provisions of any former act, pledging the faith of the United States, to the payment of the interest or principal of the public debt, but all such payments shall continue to be made at the time heretofore prescribed by law, excepting only as before provided, that no payments shall be made on certificates which have become the property of the United States.

WASHINGTON WHIG.

BRIDGETOWN, JULY 14, 1817.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The second year of this establishment will expire on the 23d inst. To such of our subscribers who have been punctual in their payments, we return our sincere thanks. The pressure of the times has induced us to forbear with many indebted to this office. The subscription, according to the terms, ought to be paid in advance; but many have not paid a cent, since the establishment went into operation. The amount of subscription to each person in the course of a year, is trifling; to the Printer, collectively, it is of great importance. The great expense attending a printing establishment, render it absolutely necessary, that payment in advance should be complied with: to this end, the following are the conditions on which this paper will, after the 23d inst. be published. If paid within the year, the subscription will be Two Dollars; if suffered to go beyond that time, Two Dollars and FIFTY Cents will be demanded. The above regulation will be strictly adhered to.

AT an election for Directors of the Cumberland Bank, held on the 1st instant, the following gentlemen were chosen for the ensuing year, viz:

- JAMES GILES, JAMES D. WESTCOTT, JEREMIAH BUCK, HEDGE THOMPSON, JOHN BUCK, DANIEL ELMER, BENJAMIN REEVE, ISHABOD COMPTON, JOHN SIBLEY, PETER BILDERBACK, JOSUUA BRICK.

Arid at a meeting of the Directors on the same day, JAMES GILES was re-elected President.

July 4, 1817.

The inhabitants of this town, united as "a band of brothers," in the celebration of the day; all party distinction was lost in the nobler feelings and sentiments of liberty, which produced our Independence. The appearance of the day was greeted by a discharge of cannon, and the reveillee. At sun-rise a federal salute of thirteen guns was fired, and the bell rung. At 12 o'clock a national salute of nineteen guns was fired, accompanied by the ringing of the bell: whilst firing, the inhabitants of the town assembled at the Court-House, a procession was formed, and escorted by the Union Company of Light Infantry, commanded by Captain Ewing, and Captain Trump's Blues, proceeded to the Presbyterian Church, where the following exercises took place:

1. INVOCATION, by Mr. Freeman.
2. 133d PSALM—Tune "Friendship."
3. PRAYER—Mr. Freeman.
4. 21st PSALM—Tune "Edom."
5. DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE—Read by D. Elmer, Esq.
6. HAIL COLUMBIA.
7. WASHINGTON'S VALEDICTORY—Read by General Elmer.
8. ODE ON SCIENCE.
9. PRAYER AND BENEDICTION, by Dr. Rogers.

The procession returned in the same order to the Court-House, and there dispersed. A number of persons repaired to the Hotel, and after partaking of the dinner prepared by Mr. Brewster, at which General Sibley presided, and David Reeves acted as Vice-President, the following toasts were drank, accompanied by a discharge of cannon.

1. The day we commemorate.—This nation is "and of right ought to be" free and independent.
2. The Statesmen, Patriots, and Warriors of the Revolution;—May the recollection of their worth animate our efforts in the cause of liberty.
3. The memory of Washington;—"Tis the inheritance of his country. (Drank standing.)"
4. Party Spirit;—May our only contest be, who shall best serve his country.
5. Departed Heroes and Patriots;—Our grateful recollections delight to dwell on their gallant exploits. (Drank standing.)"
6. James Monroe, President of the United States;—May his administration terminate as it has commenced, in the confidence and affection of his fellow-citizens.
7. The Constitution of our Country;—May its foundations be too deep to be subverted by party, and its fortification too high to be scaled by ambition.
8. An independent and impartial Judiciary;—Personal liberty and security of property, constitute the basis of a free government.
9. The Star-Spangled Banner;—"—long may it wave "O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave."
10. Our Army and Navy;—They have earned the gratitude of their countrymen—the admiration of the world.
11. The State of New-Jersey;—The revolution proved the valor of her sons;—may they never depreciate.
12. The Governor of New-Jersey.
13. The Militia of the United States;—Free-men are invincible.
14. Agriculture, Commerce and Manufactures;—"United we stand, divided we fall."
15. The Congress of 1776;—They thought more of their country than of their own compensation.

16. The Spanish Patriots;—Wisdom to their councils; success to their arms.

17. Our fellow citizens;—May the festivities of the day animate our patriotism, exhilarate our hearts, and endear our social relations.

18. The comforts of home;—May the fair of Columbia reward with their smiles those only who deserve them.

According to previous arrangement, the Ladies and Gentlemen of Bridgeton, and a large number from the neighboring towns, assembled at Brewster's Hotel in the evening, and closed this anniversary with a handsome Ball. We have seldom witnessed, in any village, an assembly so large and splendid in their appearance, as convened on this occasion; and who appeared to have a due sense of the important event they were called upon to celebrate. Great credit was due the Managers for their unwearied attention, and the taste displayed in the decoration of the room. The company retired at a seasonable hour, mutually gratified with the festivities of the evening.

4th of July, FAIRFIELD CELEBRATION.

The 41st Anniversary of the Independence of the United States was celebrated this year at Fairton, in the usual manner, and with the usual unanimity. Mr. Ephraim Westcott officiated as President, and Mr. Richard Mulford as Vice-President. The order of the day was arranged by James Clark, esq. John Trenchard, jun. and Dr. E. Bateman, selected for the purpose, and the entertainment and refreshments were provided, and served, by Major A. Smith, Messrs. D. Clark and J. Tompkins, Stewards.

The exercises of the day, after the company had convened, were opened by an address to the Throne of Grace by the Rev. Mr. Swing: Mr. Lloyd then read the Declaration of Independence, and soon after an Oration, adapted to the occasion, was delivered by Mr. Nathaniel O. Clark, when the following toasts were drank, each succeeded by a gun and martial music!

1. The auspicious 4th of July 1776—May it be celebrated till time is no more.
2. The People—The only legitimate sovereigns we acknowledge.
3. The United States of America—May union always be considered the main pillar of their Independence.
4. Our form of Government—In war, as well as peace, its excellence has been proven. The result is consolation to its friends, confusion to its foes.
5. The President of the United States—We approve of his tour of observation—May he be favored with health during his journey, and in due time safely return to the metropolis.
6. The Vice-President, and Heads of Department—Able counsellors, patriotic inmates of the cabinet.
7. The National Legislature—May firmness and decision characterize its proceedings here for the future, than lately, relative to the compensation of its members.
8. The memory of General Washington, and the departed heroes of the revolutionary and late war—We cannot discriminate, because we will not be invidious.
9. The American Navy—The history of the late war its best eulogium.
10. The Militia and Army—They fought for the freedom of their country, obtained it, and have taught the world the character of a free people.
11. New-Jersey—Unassuming yet steadfast, she has merited and received the approbation of the confederacy.
12. Agriculture—More attention to the cultivation of the soil, and less speculation in the "fee fit."
13. Commerce—"Enough is equal to a feast"—We have too much, when by the introduction of foreign luxuries and unnecessary articles, the balance of trade is turned against us.
14. American Manufactures—"Be ye warned, and be ye clothed" say the public; but "idle wishes make empty dishes"—one consumer is better than three toasters.
15. Thomas Jefferson and James Madison—In private life, even heated party opposition will estimate more correctly—at this time all admit great talents, few only question their integrity and devotion to their country.
16. The Laws—Wisely enacted, and faithfully executed; the less ambiguity in the letter, and uncertainty in their application to delinquents, best comports with the interest of the community.
17. The restoration of Specie Payments—The lamented Alexander J. Dallas conceived the plan; William H. Crawford was instrumental in carrying it into effect.
18. South America—Why should not she be free?
19. The Fair Sex—Their influence is extensive, may it always be properly exercised.

VOLUNTEERS.

By J. Clark, Esq.—Ephraim Bateman, our Representative in Congress—May he duly appreciate the interests of his constituents.
By J. Trenchard, jr.—The Orator of the Day—Though but a youth, his sentiments and eloquent delivery do honor to education.
By Richard Mulford—The inhabitants of Fairfield—Patriotic and Free—may they ever duly estimate this anniversary.
At a seasonable hour the company dispersed, and a sunset gun closed the exercises, as directed by the committee. The Artillery was served under the direction of Lieut. M. Burch, of the Blues.

Tour of the President.—The President of the States arrived at Boston on the 2d inst, and was received with loud and reiterated acclamations from the immense concourse of citizens there assembled, to hail the arrival of the Chief Magistrate of the Republic. Our limits will not admit of publishing a detailed account of his tour; we shall therefore content ourselves, with giving, occasionally, some notice of his progress.—On his tour, the members of both political parties seem to vie with each other who shall do him most honor.

South America.—It is reported by an arrival at Boston from Martinique, that the Patriots of South America have gained a great victory over the Royalists, which account was published in the St. Pierre's Gazette.

Emigration.—The ship Amazon, at the Lazaretto from Amsterdam, brought four hundred and nine passengers; not one of whom is said to be over thirty years of age. Col. Jordan, of Bonaparte's Polish Lancers, is among the number.

The latest accounts from Switzerland represent that anony to be in a most distressing situation from the want of provisions. The emigration from thence, in consequence, has increased to an alarming degree: 1200 families passed Jutphaas, to embark for America; 800 succeeded them the next day; and many more were on their way. A large number of them had been at the head of the linen, cotton and silk manufactories of Switzerland.

Gen. Jinks, of Windsor, in Connecticut (says the Essex Register) raised last year from 54 acres, 417 bushels rye, 285 of wheat, 2400 lb. of tobacco, 150 bushels of turnips, 1600 of potatoes, and 60 tons of hay; and this in a year of which we complain.

The Hampshire Federalist of the 26th ult. announces the arrival of the President in Springfield where he was received with every testimony of respect due to his station. On his arrival at that place he visited the U. S. armory, and on his return to the inn the following interesting ceremony took place.

"Four hundred and ten children; assembled from the several schools in the village, passed in procession before the door where the President was standing. One of the committee said to the President, "We here present to you, sir the hope of our country, and we are endeavoring to train them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, and in the true principles of republican government." To which the President replied, "I am much pleased and gratified with their appearance, and I pray God to bless them and you, and carry your good design into effect."
