BRIDGETON, AUGUST 16, 1819.

One hundred and filty-eight passengers arrived at Philadelphia, on the first inst. from Antwery, and Great Britain.

From the National Intelligencer, Aug. 9. We are happy to learn that the President of the United States, attended by his Private secretaries, Mr. Gouyerneur and Lieut. Monroe, arrived in this city yester day morning, and in good health; not with standing his long and fatiguing journey through the southern and western states.

The Secretary of the Navy arrived at his lodgings at Strothe's Hotel on Friday evening, from a visit to his family in New Yark.

Thunder Storms.

SALEM, Aug. 4.

In the thunder storm of Sunday after noon, the lightning struck the house occu-pied by Mrs. Convers, and others in the part of Danvers. The Gazette satets, that at this place the lightning en-tered by the chimney, and passing into the chamber destroyed many articles; deseended into the lower room, doing considerable injury; in, one direction it enter ed the cellar, in another an entry, and trunk, probably attracted by the wire of bonnets and set fire to the contents, passed into the cellar, split the joist, &c. tlience west through the cellar wall where its effects terminated.' In the room-were to ve persons, and two children. From the foot of one woman a shoe was completely ripped and destroyed; and although she and others near her were stunned, they were not materially injured. Another roman and child, very near the fire-place usere thrown from their chairs, their clothes set on fire and each considerably urnt round the waist, -Other parts of the ouse were in a degree shattered. Deacon ames Brown, living in the next house (about 25 feet distant) was at the window it the time, and was considerably over impaired by the flash of lightning.

The lightning also struck at Marble lread, at Lynfield, on the same turnpike and other places in this vicinity, but with out material damage.

Plymouth, (Mass.) Aug. 3.

Yesterday in the afternoon' we witness ed one the most tremendous and awful hunder storms ever known in this part of :he country. For at least thirty minutes :here was one continued blaze and roar rom the grand artillery of Heaven, atended with hail and rain in almost solid lumns: and to add to the sublimity of the scene, and awful grandeur of the view, five barns, struck by the lightning, were in flames in sight of our house. After the orm, we heard the melancholy informaion of the death of Mr. Hatel, about 23 ears of age, killed by the lightning pass ing over his breast.

Boston, Aug. 4. .OnMonday afternoon, a barn belonging to Mr. Dana Bowker, of Scituate, was struck with lightning and entirely consumed together with bay, and grain with which it was filled, as also his carts, farming utensils, &c.

The same afternoon a barn in Hingham, owned by Mr. Enoch Dunbar, filled with hay and grain was struck and consumed.

A very large and valuable barn, containing 50 tons of hay, situated in Easton, belonging to Mr. Cyrus Alger of this town, was also struck, on the same, evening and consumed.

On Monday evening the 22d March, Mr. Taylor, the captain of an American merchant vessel, was returning to his lodgings from the theatre, at about half past 11 o'clock, and when within four yards of his house, he was stopped by a sentry for not carrying a light; (it is the order of the govenor that no person shall walk without carrying a light after ten o'clock.)—Captain Taylor being detained about half an hour, became impatient, and ran towards the door of his lodgings which was only ten yards distant.

Several respectable merchants interfered, and Captain Taylor being at last released, demanded Captain Johnson's address, which he declined giving on the ground the party, although one of the original that he did not consider the American of crew of the brig. sufficient rank to entitle him to a meeting.

"Captain Taylor waited two days endeavoring to obtain a meeting, when, being under a bound for 5,000 dollars to sail by a specific day, he was obliged to leave Gibraltar. A few days afterwards a frigate, a sloop and a brig of war, belonging to the U. States, came down the Mediter-When the officers of this squadron had heard of the manner in which captain Taylor had been treated, they drew lots which of them should fight Capt, Johnson of the 64th, and it fell to the lot of Mr. Bourne, who had a meeting, and was wounded, but not dangerously, in the grain.— The matter, as far as Capt. Taylor was concerned, would have rested here, but a new cause of offence occurred, which led to other duels.

Mr. Humphrys replied, when a gentleman speaks to me I wish him to address me on his legs; when Mr. Nutt immediately jumped up, and said, 'by G-d, sir, you are drunk,' which of course, offended Mr. dumphrys, and he asked him for his name, which Mr. Nutr refused to give. Mr. Humphreys then said, ' that can be easily found; but as I am obliged to sail to morrow morning for America, you shall hear from a friend of mine. The frigate United States accordingly sailed the following morning, and Mr. Montgomery, the surgeon of the Erie sloop of war, with the lieutenant of that vessel, went to Mr. Nutr's quarters to demand an explanation which he would not give. He was then challenged by the surgeon, but refused to accept. The Americans then went to the messroom of the 64th to post Ensign Nutt. They were received by a number of the officers, who laughed at them, which so irritated the Americans, that they offered to fight any officer of the 64th regiment. A dead silence ensued, and the Americans receiving no reply, called the whole regiment, a parcel of cowards; on which capt. Firth stepped forward for the honor of the regiment, and said, he would fight either of the Americans to morrow morning on the neutral ground at five o'clock; which accordingly took place and Capt. Frith received Dr. Montgomery's ball in the hip.

"The governor of the fort now ordered that no officer should go outside the barrier gate; and Capt. Ballard of the Erie, ordered that no officer should leave the ship. But. Mr. Stockton, first lieutenant, who was Mr. Bourne's second, challenged Captain Johnson, of the 64th, for using some approbrious language (after the duel) to Mr. Bourne. They met on the rock at St. Michael's cave, and after exchanging one shot without effect, they were inter rupted by a party of soldiers sent to seize them. THE DESCRIPTION OF STREET STRE

For some weeks it has been rumored that a number of predatory vagabonds were skulking in the hills towards the Sus quehanna, whose frequent excursions for the necessaries of life, were a great annoy. ance to the farmers of the neighborhor. hood. They were cream loving dogs and spring houses were the particular objects of their little burglaries. A number of our spirited citizens attempted to ferret them out of their retreats, but they cluded the search of those who were in pursuit of them, and we since learn, have taken up their quarters in the hills east of the town A fellow supposed to belong to this fra ternity was brought in a few days since, and from his evasive answers to some questions relative to the manner of procurcan frigate, was going off from the Ragged ing a subsistance, was sent to prison. Yellow Fever .- A report has been cir. ulated, by either the tears of a few, or unpardonably fabricated by some idle taveral lounging wit, that the Yellow Fever had been brought to our City by a vessel from the Havanna. We are happy to state positively to the community, and to our friends abroad, that this report is totall infounded in truth, and that the health of the inhabitants of Savannah is as perfect as could be wished. Ancient remains in Missouri .- In a London Magazine, published some time ago, there appeared an account of the discovery of the ruins of a walled town of a circular form, and about three miles in circumference. It was situated on the hank of the Missouri, about 400 miles above its confluence with the Mississippi-The account also added that on island in the Missouri, they were the remains of se-veral houses. The earthern tumuli and chirus or heaps of stones are described as very common in the vicinity. tained an extract under the Fra kfor (Kentucky) has stating that I duel had taken place near that town. It was fought (we learn by the Clarion) between Francis E. Waring, of Virginia, and Jacob H. Holeman, editor of the Commentator, the 9th of July. On the 3d of July, Warring had inflicted a cut with hissword upon a dog, upon which Holeman remarked that it was unfeeling. This gave rise to insulting language and a personal recontrel probably with the fist, followed, in which Holeman had the advantage. A challenge from Waring was then given: the combatants met at a short distance from the town: by the first fire. Waring was shot in the right breast through the heart! and instantly expired—Holeman was shot through the hips, but the wound is not considered mortal.

BALTIMORF, Aug. 2. The writer of the following communication has left his name at the Federal Gazette Office, to be made known to any respectable enquirer who may feel interested in the subject, and wish to obtain farther or more particular information COMMUNICATION.

A Silver Mine. - Te following information re specting a silver mine somewhere in the neigh-borhood of Baltimore, was verbally communica-ted by a person who, it is believed, knew the facts: From his representations to the writer, it is supposed to lie to the eastward of this city not farther distant than 20 miles, but probably within 10 or 12 miles. It is stated, that ore had heen found 5 or 6 years ago, at the side of a hill in an opening from which a small spring of wa-ter issued, which has since been nearly closed up ter issued, which has since been nearly closed up by, an old stump or piece of wood, to prevent any person discovering the ore. That, in August 1817, at the time of the great rain and wind, an bld tree blew down on the hill above the spring, at the roots of which there were found some pieces of nearly pure virgin silver; and there were evident symptoms that the hill contained a great quantity of ore. The rocks or stones on the hill are flinty, mixed with some christalizations. great quantity of ore The rocks or stones on the hill are flinty, mixed with some christalizations. The hill is partially covered with whortlebury bushes and other small shrubbery, and a few old very crooked chesnut or chesnut oaks. The old kee which blew down is still lying on the hill. The gentleman upon whose estate the ore was found, is a very old man, whose hair, is white, of considerable wealth; he is unacquanted with the fact that any ore has been found on his land-he has (or had not hong since i five children. bie of his sons has been married and has lost his one of his sons has been married and has lost my wife. The hills is supposed to lie near the road, in an open poor, rocky part of the country, near a hin which would answer for a small mill seat during a part of the year. Some of the ore has been sent to the mint at Philadelphia, and it is said, would yield seventy-five per cent. If such a mine exists, the discovery of it at his time would be a benefit to the nation as well as to the individual owner, who may probably ascertain its situ-tion from the above description.

Seperation of Maine .- It appears cerain, from the returns already received of the yeas and nays given in Maine on Monday last, on the Separation of the District from Massachusetts, that a majority far exceeding the fifteen hundred required by law in favor of that measure has been obtained; and that the separation is inevita. ble. Tho' we regret the result, we most Aneccdote. - One of the Osage Indians who were on a visit to Washington city a few years ago, being in Baltimore, was shewn every thing in the latter city that it was supposed could interest the attention of one of the native lords of the forest, Among other things his guide conducted him to see the goal. After viewing it with attention, he exclaimed "What dat?" the "the gaol." Indiauthe reply was. "What's gaol?" "A place to put Indians in who don't pay the skins they owe," (skins being the medium of exchange, or symbol of wealth among the North American can savages.) Having viewed it fur some time with astopishment, the untutored child of nature gave this reply worthy of a. Socrates, a Plato, a Rochefaucult, or a Franklin — Indian can can no catch skin dere."
