The presentation of Guerlist in the in-terior and the Florida guestion continue in he the chief subject of conversation in the public circles of the Spanish capital, ideal the latter else affords a good shar of amusement. The plots and under plots that have been interwoven in this diploma tic facce would even excite laughter, if, for a moment it were possible to forget the grave, personages that acted a part in it. Sie hargain, originally intended by Spain to pay the debts and make the formures of a few favourites, has taken a tur ertainly in no way expected when the first negodiations commenced, and the king's counsellers begin to see that will their calculations were foiled, their matter, although heared by some as a despot (for I can assure you so many late banishments the Spanish Ambarsador in London. The and imprisonment have had a wonderful effect at court) will be laughed at by the enlightened part of his own subjects owing to the caprice and weakness he has dis-played in this affair, though by others he rill be deemed a clumsy juggler. So many new circumstances have turned up since I last wrote you, that I cannot resist the tempitation of giving my pen a little latitude, at a risk whether or not my letter may reach you. It is now ascertained, that as soon as the Spanish cabinet had been made acquainted with the decided and angry language of the American Secretary, Mr. Adams, ment, with despatches, for com. Stewart, and had taken an opportunity to deliberate in the Mediterranean, com. Sinclain, comof the American Secretary, Mr. Adams, on the reports of Mr. Onis, in which the manding naval officer on this station, and king was told that the Americans insisted capt. Brown of the U. S. ship Peacock, on the payment of their long out-standing debt, that possibly they would enforce it. sea. It is said that these communications and besides aid the South Americans, it was resolved to act on the advice given, and at once to make a transfer of the Floridas, whilst yet something could be had force, for Mr. Onis assured them that no force, for Mr. Onis assured them that no for their forcearance could be expected from the Washington government as it was then constituted. No sooner was this point settled, than the king was informed that the transfer, besides paying a debt 199 suicides and attempts at suicides, and stopping the mouth of the boisterous and classorous Americans, might also be used as a medium through which he could hundred and two of this number were display his royal munificence to some of married persons, and 97 single. Sevenhis wast faithful and deserving subjects. The hint was taken, and in consequence the eof three special grants were made, of which a short outline may not be unaccep-

First Grant. - The King granted to the Duke D' Alagon (a great favorite, and here considered as one of those obsequious ap-Monacch fond of the fair sex) a tract of land with boundaries clearly defined, in East Florida, of which, though no regular survey had been made, it was estimated at several millions of acres. The tract being one of the choicest of the whole Florida Territory, it was thought that ready and ad antageous sales would be easily made.

Second .- The King graciously hestowed on Count Punon Rostre a tract nearly of the same dimensions as the above. This grant was at the time considered the safest, because the Count had rendered some essential services to the crown, but that the Duke was very much scoffed a by all those highmended Castilians, who were aware of the sacrifices by which it had been obtained.

Third .- The King also gave to Vargas his Private Treasurer, a grant " compris ing all the lands in either of the Floridas belonging to the crowin of Spain, and which had not been included in the two preceding grants." This broad and sweeping gant was received by the Grandees with surprise and jealous indignation, but Vargas and his friends endeavored to convince then that this royal donation was not so much intended to make that this shimself and his associates, as it was that the shimself and his associates, as it was that so much intended to make the fortune it should operate as a grand political coup de main; against the Executive of the U. States, because in the event of Spain being obliged to cede the sovereignly of the Floridas, the king was determined the Washington Government should have uo soil in he Floridae to dispose of. In the month of June, last year, Ferdinaud had the satisfaction to learn that she American cabinet were apprised of these tokens of royal munificence, and by the diplamatic intercourse that immediately took place, he also discovered that matters were assuming a serious aspect. He therefore found himself constrained to issue a royal order, in which he laconically states, that "for imperious political reasons, he revokes the cessions made to the three individuals above mentioned, and commands them immediately to give back their grants.

The count Punon Rostro, and the treasurer Vargas, promptly acquiesced in the decrees and returned to the kings their grants; but the duke D'Alagon, who in Madrid, is considered as a cunning old fox, ventured to cemonstrate with his lord and master, and stated, that as an agent had been sented America for the purpose of selling these lands, and as bone fide sales had actually been effected of part it into boiling water, and, if previously thereof, it was not possible to revoke them without a breach of good faith, that might, affect the national character; adding, how-over, that he would suspend further sales.

Ferdinand, who is not in the habit of allowing any of his courtiers, even those who have most witnessed his foibles, to disobey him with impunity, intimated to the dake, that if he did not conform to the literal tenor of the royal decree, he might calculate on incurring his utmost displea-

From the National Intelligencer. THE POOR.

In all civilized countries the amelioration of the condition of the Poon, and the best means of extending them relief, have uniformly furnished to the statesman and philanthropist topics of great interest and inportance. There is no doubt that the most permanent and effectual remedy for the evils of pauperism, will be found in a system of education which shall bring home its advantages to every child of poverty, and at the same time introduce and es ablish habits of industry and economy. Such a system, however worthy the early and earnest attention of men who are desirous of realizing a sound state of society, and, by a necessary consequence, to promote the happiness of the people, will not meet the urgent wants of those who stand in need of immediate assistance. Winter, the most inclement season of the year, is rapidly rolling forward on the wheels of time. By the combination of various causes, which it is deemed unnecessary to detail, the number of those whose situation will demand the sympathy and assissance of their fellow citizens, will, it is apprehended, he greater than has heretofore ever been known. We are, by the bounties of Providence, supplied with an abundance of the products of the earth, to enable us to still the cries of hunger; and this is a duty most imperative in its nature-it should seriously arrest the attention of all. But economy, considering the waywardness of the times, in a general point of view, is highly necessary, and, in fact, indispensible, in the distribu tion of aims.

The following plan for supplying this unfortunate description of our citizens with cheap, nutricious, and salutary sustenance, was kindly furnished by a highly respectable. English gentleman, very recently arrived from his native country. It has just been adopted in Liverpool, with complete success. Its author is that eminent merchant and public spirited, benevolent man, so advantageously known to our countrymen who trade to that place— Mr. James Cropper. It is really surpris-ing to find at how small an expence our positive wants can be supplied.

The State of Ohio, vs. U. States' Bank.

By virtue of a warrant issued by the Auditon of state, agreeably to the provi-sions of an act passed by the legislature of the state of Ohio, at their last session, entitled "An act to levy and collect a tax from all banks and individuals and companies, and associations of individuals, that panies, and associations or intriviously that the to wear on Sundays; being a part of may transact banking business within this the booty taken from the mail which they state, without being authorised to do so by plundered. About seventeen thousand the laws thereof," Mr. John L. Harper, dollars sent by that mail, are said to be yet companied by Mr. T. Orr, and Mr. J. M'Collister entered the Branch Bank of the U. S. at this place on Friday last and levied on the specie and Bank paper of that institution to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, which is the tax as sessed on the flices of discount and deposite of the Bank of the United States, lo cated in this state.

As this transaction may receive from umor a coloring, and from prejudice, misrepresentation; a brief statement of the tacts may be useful in allaying any unproper feelings which may have been ex cited. The Auditor of state feeling himself bound by the law of the state to execute the duty imposed on him, made known his determination to one or two individuals, subsequent turnis he received a cita tion to appear before the Circuit court, on Thursday the 4th inst, as at that time, a motion would be made by the Bank of the United States to enjoin his proceedings under the law of the state. This citation was enclosed by him to a gentleman of the har, with a request to him to appear or the state if he should deem it correct On Tuesday the petition of the Bank of the U. States was heard by the counsel or solicitors for that institution, the state re fused to appear, denying the jurisdiction The court after a short deliberation allow ed the injunction, on bonds with security to the amount of $100,000, being given by the bank. This was entered into. In the mean time, or rather previous to the application in court for an injunction, the Auditor had been instructed by his counsel to charge the tax, and issue his war-should be restrained by the jojunction On Tuesday afternoon the agent of the bank started for Columbus to stay the proof injunction issued to stay the proceedings. The papers served on the Auditor were a copy of the petition, and a subpœna to appear before the Circuit court of January next, at Chillicothe. Previous to he service of these papers, the Auditor had charged the tax and made out his warrant. On the service of these papers, he enclosed them, together with the warrant, to the Secretary of State then here-requesting him to obtain the written opinion of four or five lawyers on the subject. whether these papers amounted to a notice of an injunction, or operated as an inact in contradiction to that authority but, if in the opinion of these lawyers it did not amount to an injunction, then to deliver the warrant to the proper agent, and order him to proceed. On consulta-tion and mature deliberation, the lawyers, unanimously gave their opinion that the papers amounted to nothing like a bill of injunction, and that he could not he in contempt for acting in contradiction of them. The warrant was then delivered to hanking house, demand the payment of the tax, show his warrant, and on refusal to pay, to enter the vault, and levy on specie and notes to the amount of the tax -to use no violence himself, and if opposed by force, to proceed until expelled from the hanking house; and then to complain before a proper authority of the re-sistance offered. The officer entered, made he demand, showed his warrant, secured the entrance to the vault, and on refusal to pay, entered the vault himself and levied the amount of the tax, with a small overplus to correct any mistake which might have been made in counting, which overplus he has offered to refund, but he has been refused admittance into the banking house. He used no force or violence, but conducted himself in an orderly, but determined manner. The money has since been conveyed to Columbus to deliver to the Auditor. This is a plain statement of the facts which occasioned and accompanied this transaction-we forbear making any remarks for the present.

After staying there some time, the John the counsel had forgotten to have a writ Adams sailed for this port, leaving Comthe above mentioned place, until the object of his mission should be fulfilled. When this was accomplished he hastened he United States on the first Monday of to join the John Adams, and in two days arrived at the Mouth of the Oringco, from Augostura, and embarked on board the schr. Nonsuch. He had, before embarking, a slight attack of fever, which rapidly increased after the vessel sailed; and notwithstanding every exertion which was made to shorten the voyage, and hasten his arrival at this place, where every assistance and convenience could be procured, they were upwards of five days on the junction—if they did, to re-enclose to him passage. As soon as the Nonsuch had anthe warrant and papers, as he would not chored in the Gulph, at which time his fever had arrived to an alarming crisis, he was removed to the John Adams, and in a quarter of an hour breathed his last. In his death, his country will have to lament the loss of one of her bravest and most intelligent Naval Officers-private society, that of one of the most accomplished of its members. He has left a widow, and four children (who reside in New Port, Rhode Island,) to deplore his untimely fate, and by his prother officers, he will long be remembered with love and regret.

On the following day, his remains were attended to the grave with every mark of attention and respect on the part of the Civil and Military Authorities, and the Inhabitants of this Town in general.

Anecdote. -Since the first rumour of the fever in this city, several philanthropic gentlemen have visited the persons supposed to have been afflicted, or who may have been actually afflicted, with the disorder, in order to offer consolation, assistance, or probably, trace the origin of the disease. stance of the unhappifying power of envy: and the fatal catastrophe which soon after hefel Harman probably gave rise to the immemorial adage "let envy alone, and it will punish itself." Exalted himself to he highest pinnacle of honor, this wicked Minister could not bear that poor Morde cai should at all participate in the favor of his sovereign. The first emotions of a envious nature ought if we value our own peace to be promptly suppressed.

21st .- "The lips of the wise disperse knowledge," It is the province and duty of the truly wise not only to do good, but to communicate the knowledge they possess to others, to impart the treasures of their own minds to those less informed; in this way knowledge is dispersed or diffused in all directions.

22d .- " All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." This direction on account of its excellence has long been called the Golden Rule and furnishes a never failing criterion by which to regulate our transactions with our fellow-men.

23d .- "A doubled minded man is un stable in all his ways." Very little dependence is to be placed on, or consistency expected of that man who is destitute of a fixed and correct principle of action, pusillanimity, and indecision mark his way, he is unstable as water.

24th .- " Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together." Frequent assembling of ourselves together for the purposes of religious worship, is not only a reasonable requirement but is moreover of eminent advantage; as it tends to counteract the sensualizing effects of a constant mixing with the world and its concerns. With its reviving and edifying nature every christian is acquainted.

25th .- " A man that beareth false witness against his neighbor is a maul and a sword and a sharp arrow." These are strong figures, expressive of the mangling lacerating and pangent consequences of false-witnessing against our neighbors ither under the solemnity of an oath or therwise.

Louisville, (Ky.) Sept. 22. The Ohio River Commissioners .- Gen erals S. Blackburn, and Edward W. Tup. per, and Walter Lowrie, Esq. Commis sioners, appointed by the states of Penn sylvania, Virginia, and Ohio, for the pur pose of examining the obstructions to nav gation in the Ohio River, were in this lace the last week. General Adair, the Commissioner appointed by Kenfucky, did not attend. The present uncommon law stage of water, gave an opportunity of investigating the local situation of the Falls more fully than might have been expected. The Commissioners, agreeably to invitation, partook of a Dinner given them by the citizens of this town.

The Ohio River .- At no time within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants, has the Ohio river been lower than at the present time. There is scarcely water sul ficient to admit of boats, of the least draft to cross the Falls. The Steam Boats are in every instance, lying by, waiting a rise of the river. The season continues uncommonly dry in this section; and we are inmany instances, suffering with the drought. Herald.

An adjourned meeting of the reformists was to be held at Smithfield, in the vicinity of London, on the 25th of August. A com munication had been issued at Lord Sid mouth's office, desiring the magistrates & all the officers to remain in attendance during the night. On the 23d Aug. Doctor Watson addressed two letters, one to Lord Sidmouth, the other to the Lord Mayor of London. The former was in these terms:-

"My Lord. - In the event of the ab-Wolseley from the Meeting intended to be bold in Smithfield, on Wednesday next being myself invited to the Chair, I am desirous to be informed from your Lordship whether it is the intention of his Majes ty's Ministers to interrupt the peaceable assembling of the people on that day; and from matives of humanity, whether they will be allowed peaceably to seperate with out any military attack on their persons
