STANZAS.

When gathering clouds around I view, And days are dark and frien ds are few, Collin I lean, who not in vain, Experienced every buman pain. He sees my wants, allays my fears, And counts and treasures up my tears. If aught should tempt my soul astray From heavenly virtue's narrow way ; To fly the good I would pursue, Or do the sm 1 would not do ;:. Still He who felt temptation's power, Shall guard me in that dangerous hour.

If wounded love my bosom swell, Deceived by those I prized too well, He shall his pity ng aid bestow, Who felt on earth severer woe; At once betrayed, denied or fled By all that shared his daily dread.

When vexing thoughts within me rise, And sore dismayed, my spirit dies, Yet fle, who once rouchsafed to bear The sickening anguish of despair, Shall sweetly southe, shall gently dry The throbbing heart and streaming eye. When sorrowing o'er some stone I hend, Which covers all that was a friend ; And from his hand, his voice and smile, Divides me for a little while, Thou, Saviour see'st the tears I shed, For thou did'st weep o'er Lazarus dead.

And Oh ! when I have safely past Through every conflict-but the last, Still, still unchanging, watch beside My painful bed for thou hast died ; Then point to realms of cloudless.day, And wipe the latest tear away.

The Curate, who perhaps wished no better, thought it his duty to use some entreaties to stop him; assuring him, that, as poor as his house was, it was the most convenient in the villiage.

The Marshal returned in the midst' of these ceremonies and joined his entreaties to those of the Curate, protesting that lie had visited ail the houses, one by one, and had found --"Very well (says the Count,) but why may riot lodge in that castle which I see there, at the other end of the village? whoever lives there, I suppose wou't refuse me a chamber: go thither in my name; I'll alight here, and wait for an answer." "My Lord, (says the Carate,) that castle is not inhabited: this land lias been for sale many years; most of the apartments are without doors; however, some rooms are still neat enough, and there are some old moveables." " I don't want so much (says the Count,) it is at least a shelter, and there I'll have my bed made." "I would have done it before, my Lord, (said the Marshall,) if I had not been told that you would have been in danger there, because this castle is possess by spirits and hobgoblins, who make a horrid din there every night. They told nie but this very minute, that the witches held there last meeting here, and that the master of it, who is in some foreign country, has let his house to the devil." Extract from a letter to the Editor dated Trenton, Nov. 9, 1821.

The Jackson Electors have all surceeded by a large majority probably from 1500 to 2000 between the higheon the list. The three Crawford elec tors; are supposed to have received from 1000 to 1200 votes. All the returns are not received, but there is no doubt of the result.

Clinton is elected Governor of New York, by an overwhelming majority; in all probability 20,000 votes. The peo-ple have rised in their majesty and put down the party that attempted to usurp their rights. No information has yet been received, of the appointment of electors. It is supposed however that Mr. Crawford cannot get the vote of New York; indeed the rumour is that gendemen have gone on from the South. to arrange dropping Crawford and tak ing up Henry Clay. The most com mon apinion however is, that the vote will be divided between Clay and Ad ams.

The Legislature has not yet done much business altho? there is a good deal before them. A bill bas been introduced incorporating a company, to make the Morris canal and au hurizing them to establish a bank or banks with a million capital. Several other bank? bills are on the carpet, to be located at the Eastward and many believe they will succeed. The bill for altering the name of the Salem Steam' Mill' and Banking company Co. striker out the Steam Mill) as failed.
