This medicine is celebrated for the cure of the following diseases: scrofulous humors, ulcerated or putrid throat, long standing rheumatic affections, cutaneous diseases, white swellings, and diseases of the bones, &c. It is also a powerful and efficacious remedy in all cases generally of an ulcerous character, and chronic diseases, generally arising in debilitated constitutions, but more especially from syphilis, or affections arising therefrom, ulcers in the anus, testes, &c. And that dreadful disease occasioned by a long and excessive use of mercury, &c. It is also useful in diseases of the liver.

CERTIFICATES.

I have within the last two years had an opportunity of several cases of very moderate ulcers, which having resisted all previously the regular modes of treatment, were healed by the use of Mr. Swain's Panacea, and I do believe from what I have seen that it will prove an important remedy in scrofulous, venereal and mercurial diseases.

N. CHAPMAN, M. D.

Professor of the Institute and practice of Physic in the University of Pennsylvania.

I have employed the Panacea of Mr. Swain in numerous instances, within the last three years, and have always found it extremely efficacious, especially in secondary syphilis, and mercurial disease. I have no hesitation in pronouncing it a medicine of inestimable value.

"THE REFORMER"

The object of this work is to expose the clerical schemes and pompous undertakings of the present day, under pretence of promoting religion, and to show that they are irreconcilable with the spirit and principles of the Gospel. The great Missionary operations which commenced a few years since, and the numerous Theological Seminaries erected, and which are still erecting in every part of our country, have tended to the exaltation of an order of men to a height not warranted by the New Testament.

Their numbers and influence are rapidly extending throughout all parts of the community, and threaten the destruction of our civil and religious liberty. By means, either direct or indirect, they are steadily advancing their cause, and their ascendancy over the minds of the people, and at no distant period, should their influence continue to increase, scarcely an individual will be willing to incur the hazard of opposing any of their schemes. The pernicious effect of clerical domination in this country, may be inferred from the history of other countries, and ought early to be guarded against. There are already few who have sufficient firmness to present these men before the public in their true colours—and hence the prospect of their success, and our danger is greatly increased.

From these considerations, and to expose the corrupt, pompous and fashionable religion incultivated and supported by this pensioner order of men, the REFORMER was commenced.

The extended circulation of the work among the reflecting and better part of the community, has convinced the Editor, that his views on these subjects are not peculiar; and that the publication may be more generally known, and consequently be more useful, he is induced to present some notice of it in a more public way than has yet been done. Being neither under the jurisdiction nor influence of any particular sect, the Reformer will not be made an instrument for advancing the views or interests of any, but rebuke evils wherever met with, and pursue the line of truth marked out by the precepts of Divine Revelation, regardless of the frowns or the censures of those who, from interest, prejudice, or caprice, may become its opposers.

TERMS, &c.

The REFORMER is published in periodical numbers of twenty-four pages duodecimo, the beginning of each month, at one dollar a year, payable in advance. The fourth year is now completed, and the fifth is about to commence. Subscribers can have the numbers for "added to any part of the United States by mailing the post office where they are to be sent, at an expense for postage in no case more than twenty four cents a year. Copies can be furnished from the beginning of the work, but persons are at liberty to commence at any period, and withdraw their subscriptions whenever notice is given and arrears are paid. Letters, post paid, to be addressed to T. R. GATES, proprietor and principal editor, No. 220 North Third street, Philadelphia.

POETRY.

WOMAN.

(From "Poetic Vigils," By Bernard Barton. London, 1824.)

Too oft on thee, in wayward mood,
Has satire pour'd its spiteful lays,
And flattery found its choicest food
In greeting thee with servile praise!
The artless tribute I would rise,
From flattery and from satire free,
In simple truth, alone essays
To speak my gratitude to Thee.

How vast, how complicate the debt
I owe to thee, 'twere vain to tell—
In childhood, can I e'er forget
The voice which, like a soothing spell,
Bequild each grief; how softly fell
On youth's fond ear a gentler tone;
How sweet, e'en now, it is to dwell
On thy lov'd voice, and thine alone?

I love thee much, for I was rear'd
Beneath thy kind and fostering care;
Thy smiles my earliest joys endear'd;
As life advanc'd more priz'd they were,
Prompting me manhood's ills to bear;
And now, of all created things,
Thou, chiefly, chidest dark despair,
And unto thee hope fondly clings.

They feel not thy transcendent worth;
Who love thee most in sun-bright hours,
I know thy smile can heighten mirth,
As daylight gladdens opening flowers:
I know that e'en thy playful powers
In sportive mood, thy look, thy voice,
When some light cloud around us lowers,
Can bid man's grateful heart rejoice:

But 'tis in seasons far more drear,
Of outward, inward gloom combin'd,
When sorrow knows no bustling tear,
But dark despair o'erclouds the mind,—
'Tis then in thee the wretched find
That purer, gentler power display'd,
Which, fond, yet firm, appears design'd
To dissipate each darker shade.

None, none can paint, who have not known
Such hours, what thou canst then reveal;
That charm peculiarly thy own,
Which seems, by art that all can feel,
The sufferer from himself to steal;
The balm of sympathy to shed
On wounds which God alone can heal,
And ead back hope as from the dead.

Thy nobly beauty that can give
This influence o'er the mourner's heart;
This pure, this high prerogative
Is gain'd thee by no studied art;
A fever'd spirit's wringing smart
Needs not a face, nor form, nor air;
The charm that thou canst then impart
Proclaims that something else is there.

It is the patient, quiet power
Of deep affection, given with birth,
Thy richest, and thy noblest dower,
Far, far above thy smiles of mirth:
That Love, which knows no wintry death
In black adversity's chill blast,
But whose meek, self-forgetting worth
Endures unshaken to the last.

Yet though this glorious gift appear
Thy natural birth-right here below,
Let meek humility and fear
Its holiest source both feel and know.
Mere earthly love may come and go,
As meteors o'er our path may shine;
But that which lives through care and wo,
Religion's influence must refine.

This only gives that higher zest
To which thy spirit should aspire;
Thy influence o'er man's grateful breast
By this dominion should acquire:
The painter's hues, the poet's lyre,
Thy mortal graces may display;
But thou should'st yet for thyself desire
And seek a yet more deathless sway,

Man is immens'd in worldly cares,
And endless conflicts—science, fame,
Commerce,—the world's uncounted snares,
Besets his every earthly aim:
Thine is the privilege to claim
A more sequestered path,—O! strive
To cherish that ethereal flame,
Which shall mortality survive.

The busiest life that man can lead
Has many a moment's breathing space;
Seek thou for wisdom, strength, to plead
In such for pure Religion's grace.
Then shalt thou, in thy proper place,
Meekly the Go-pe's power adorn,
And prove, in more than form or face,
"Man is," indeed, "of Woman born!"

In Virginia the election has terminated as was expected, in favour of Crawford. The votes were, for Crawford, 3973, 1134. And Jackson 807.—In Norfolk Mr Adams had 159 votes, and Crawford only 58. In several places Adams went far ahead.

Foreign & Domestic Summary.

On Thursday last, as a party of seamen belonging to his Majesty's ship Salisbury, just arrived from the Halifax station, were walking up point street, Portsmouth, rather elated with having met a bull, which had escaped from the King's slaughter house, came running towards the jolly tars with his tail erect in the air, when all the men jumped out of his way except one, and he being an immense sturdy fellow, stood in the street, directly in the way of the bull, and hailed him in the following words: "Bull, ahoy! bull, ahoy! I cry; drop your peake, and put your helm a starboard, or you'll run a-board of me!" The Bull, continuing his course, came in contact with Jack, and capsized him; but Jack, not being intimidated, sprung from the ground, and shaking his clothes, very good naturedly observed to the bull, "Oh, you lubberly beast, I told you 'how it would be.'"

It is in contemplation to erect in London, a monument to the memory of the late Rev. John Wesley, to consist of a spacious building for missionary purposes, and in which the great public religious anniversaries may be held. The measure was originated some months ago by several of the admirers of the founder of Methodism.

Africa.—The ship Nearchus, at St. John, from Liverpool, (the 15th Sept.) was boarded by H. M. ship Thetis, Sir J. Phillimore, from Cape Coast Africa, who reported that the British forces had driven back the Ashantees after serious rencontres, but that provisions were very scarce.

The Black Fever has appeared in Nottingham, Eng. and is attributed to Egyptian Cotton.

Two landlords of the Antelope Inn, Salesbury, were successively named good anti too-good; and the name of their successor, the present landlord, is best. The best was bad enough.

A Novel Hoax.—A notice of the death of a person at Havana appeared in a N. Y. paper, which turned out to be incorrect. When the afflicted wife called to enquire for further circumstances and the source of information, the printer recognized in her the person who had left the notice at the office for publication.

Camphire Tree.—The tree from which camphire is procured, is a production of China, and, it is said, that some of them are found more than a hundred and fifty feet in height, and vastly large in circumference. The trunks of these trees, when old, emit sparks of fire; but their name is so subtle, that no danger is to be apprehended from it.

The Chinese obtain camphire by taking the branches fresh from the tree, chopping them small, and laying them to soak in spring water, for three days and nights. Then they are put into a kettle where they are boiled for a certain time, during which they continually stir them with a stick of willow. This liquor is then gently strained off into earthen vessels well varnished; after which they purify it with a certain kind of earth reduced to a very fine powder.

The Unknown Grave.—Four months since, a dog took his station near a grave in the Church yard of St. Bide, Fleet street. It has remained since upon the spot, and is fed by several of the inhabitants, who send him food daily. As he will not depart, a house has also been placed for him in the church-yard. The animal howls when the sound of the organ is heard, and during divine service the grave digger takes him to the engine-house. No one can tell where the dog came from. He sits upon a particular grave, but as there is no name or head stone, the inmate is also unknown.—[London Paper.

A boy, about 8 years of age, lately got up behind a hackney coach, in Birmingham; (Eng.) for a ride, when, part of his clothes becoming entangled, one of his legs was drawn between the spoke of the wheel, and completely torn off! As soon as the sufferer could be released, he was conveyed to the hospital, where it was found necessary forthwith to perform amputation a little below the hip joint.

Mothers sell their children in Malabar, like any other article of merchandise in the market. A recent traveller says he bought a little boy and girl at Anjingo, for less money than he could have bought two young pigs in England.

MISS SEWARD'S ENIGMA.

This enigma, which has for some time puzzled the wits of those who had nothing better to be employed upon, turns out to be a hoax upon the public, by some mischievous wag.—The surviving Executor denies that there is a bequest of fifty pounds or any other sum in Miss Seward's will for solving a riddle, and he adds, "I may venture to say that she never made a riddle in her life." This is a melancholy piece of information to the present descendants of Oedipus.

The conductor of a newspaper, should, methinks, consider himself as in some degree the guardian of his country's reputation, and refuse to insert such writings as may hurt it. If people will print their abuses of one another, let them do it in little pamphlet, and distribute them where they think proper. It is absurd to trouble all the world with them; and unjust to subscribers in distant places, to stuff their paper with matters so unprofitable and so disagreeable.

Miss Wilberforce.—When Mr. Wilberforce was a candidate for Hull, his sister, an amiable and witty young lady, offered the compliment of a new gown to each of the wives of those freemen who voted for her brother,—on which she was saluted with a cry of "Miss Wilberforce forever!" When she pleasantly observed, "I thank you gentlemen—but I cannot agree with you; for really I do not wish to be Miss Wilberforce forever."

Mr. Stackhouse, near Mount Holly, raised a crop of potatoes this season, the largest ever known, 14 of which, says the Mirror, filled a full half bushel.

A Porcelain manufactory has been established in New York. It is proposed to establish one on a scale equal to that of France, now the richest in the world. Proposals to sell stock in the enlarged establishment is now out, and we heartily wish the proprietors, as we do all who promote the manufactures of our country, ample success.

The loss of a single individual, Mr. John Cooper, on St. Simons, S. C. during the late gale, is estimated at about $60,000.

Two men having a dispute in Ohio, one of them said to the other, "I am not able to fight you; but I will meet you with a musket, any day; you dare meet me." This being deemed a challenge, he was indicted at the found guilty, and sentenced to imprisonment and hard labour in the Penitentiary, for 2 years; that being the shortest time prescribed by the law of the state; for sending a challenge to fight a duel.

Ingenuous Orthography.

A gentleman of the Temple received his laundress's weekly account the other day, made out in the style of spelling and bad writing peculiar to the sisters of the suds; but there was one charge of 1s. 6d. for "skewering the stars," which defied even his practised comprehension. After, wondering for some time how such a work could ever have been performed, and still more why it should have been executed particularly at his expense, the debtor sent for Mrs. Pearlash; when the reading turned out to be "for scouring the stairs."

A Rev. gentleman has advertised in Pittsburgh Pa. to preach a sermon in the Circus House, on universal salvation. What a pity his reverence does not unite his efforts to those of the Thespian Corps; as no doubt they would by this union ensure success. Both parties would then have an excuse for acting the other, and thus bring the friends of God and the Devil to a nearer acquaintance.

The Sloop Franklin, on her passage from Albany to New York lately ran upon a fishing stake, which pierced her bottom, and it was with difficulty she was got into port.

IRELAND—CORK, Sept. 22

Root at a meeting of the Church Missionary Society.—Yesterday, pursuant to a notice given to that effect, a meeting of the Church Missionary Society was held at the Saloon, in Patrick-Street, Cork.

The business of the Society was proceeding with scarcely any interruption, when a person presented himself, who was not a member of the Society, whose name we learned was Dwyer, and whose avocation we understand to be that of editor of the Cork Mercantile Chronicle. In proper reference to the communication made by the Rev. Dr. Quarry, the gentleman was mildly informed, that he was not a member of the Society, and could not be heard. The gentleman, however, insisted upon his pretensions to be heard. In vain did the Very Reverend Chairman mildly assert the right of the Society, as well as his resolve to entertain only the addresses made to the chair by its own members. Upon this, a scene ensued, one of the most scandalous and abominable that ever presumed to set decency and common policy at defiance; sounds of the most deafening kind were raised—the benches were thrown down—artificial noises of every kind were made, without any decency for the female visitors, and others who attended upon this extraordinary occasion. The most abominable denunciations were heard from all quarters; a recruitment to the mob that was inside broke in from the streets, and the uproar that instantly followed beggars all description. The screams of the ladies—the fainting of several—the bustle made to relieve some from their terrors, and others from their sufferings—the curses and execrations, and menaces shouted by the mob—the mild but idle exhortation of those of a better description—the vociferations raised against the Chair, against a Dean of the Established Church! against such a man, too! as "Pull him out!" "Kick him out!" the sounds of blows, and the clamor of wicked and barbarous voices, altogether presented to the astonished senses a Babel of confusion. The unmanly and indecent miscreants who were the actors in this infamous performance, were invoked by every description of address that could be expected to stay their fury. They were entreated as Christians—they were besought as men—they were appealed to by the rousing and manly appellation of Irishmen—all would not do; they would be neither Christians, men, nor Irishmen above all! and then every man not belonging to this atrocious gang, and the elegant and interesting female sufferers present, escaped as well as they could. No life was lost, but some were in danger; and what might have followed, in the fanatical frenzy of the assailant party, God only knows, had not Lowe and Croft, attended by a strong posse of constables, arrived most opportunely, and dispersed the mob.—Cork Constitution.

FROM BUENOS AYRES.

We are indebted to Mr. Hayes, Supercargo, of the Swan, for Buenos Ayres papers to the 15th of September.

They contain a letter from Pedro Arroyo, dated Catagaita 19th of July, in which he states that on the 13th of that month, he entered Potosi, and made prisoners of General Carratala and twenty-five men. On the 19th of the same month, Potosi was evacuated by the remainder of the party, and immediately afterwards it was entered by Medina Celi.

The editor of the Argos in commenting on this letter, says these quarrels among the Royalists are very favourable to the republican cause. Olaneta, he adds, was at St. Juan on the 27th of August with a force of about 300 men.

They also contain a letter from Sancta Victoria, dated August 15th; and another from Tupiza, dated August 16th, giving accounts of a complete victory obtained by Col. Valdez over the forces commanded by Generals Valdez and Carratala.

According to these accounts, Carratala, left Tupiza on the 15th of August, with the whole of his division, consisting of 600 men to take possession of Potosi.—A few moments afterwards, Col. Valdez came to Tupiza, and finding that Carratala had departed, started immediately in pursuit of him—overtook him in Chacabpa, gave him battle, and completely routed his forces—only 150 men escaping. In this engagement Carratala was again made prisoner.

Colonel Valdez then effected a junction with Medina Celi, and took post at St. Jago. General Valdez, by forced marches, reached Cazon on the 11th of August, and appears to have gained some advantages over a portion of the combined forces, pursuing the guerillas as far as St. Jago, and compelling Colonel Valdez and Medina Celi to retire towards Escara.

On the 12th, however, the decisive battle was fought. On that day a portion of the combined forces, obtained a signal victory over the whole division of Gen. Valdez.—With the remains of his army, about 600 men, he directed his course towards Tolapampa, whither he was pursued by Col. Valdez, with what success is not known. Philad. Gaz.

FROM PERNAMBUCO.

The brig Adriana, Austin, 43 days from Pernambuco, arrived at Boston on Saturday, brings information that on the 18th of August, Lord Cochrane, with several frigates and transports, from Rio Janeiro, appeared off Pernambuco, and on the 27th of September landed about 2000 troops under the command of General Leamer, about one mile south of that city.—They were met on their way to the city, by the inhabitants, who fought the Emperor's troops with great bravery for five days; during which about 500 marines and sailors were landed from the fleet under Com. Jewett.—The Pernambucans were at last overpowered, and made good their retreat to Olinda, (which place they held possession of at the last date,) while Gen. Leamer and his troops marched into the city, and held quiet possession of it when the Adriana sailed.

Interesting from Peru.—Accounts from Peru of very interesting the last accounts via Ports. Cabello, dated 18th of last month informs that Bolivar and Canterac have met, and a general action ensued, Canterac was killed and his army routed. Bolivar had 15000, and lost 600 in killed and wounded. He has possession of Lima and Callao, and drives all before him. A short time since it was stated that Canterac's cavalry was defeated, and that Bolivar intended immediately to pursue the royalist infantry—we have therefore little doubt that the above intelligence is correct.

From the Massachusetts Spy. Sulphur a preservative against Measles

During the winter of 1817, the measles prevailed epidemically at Munster. Children affected with the itch, who were using sulphur externally and internally, were exempt. In 1822, measles occurred again, preceded for many days by a convulsive cough. For this symptom I prescribed flour of sulphur and white sugar, half a teaspoon full. Many trials were made on children of different families and ages, and all who took it in time escaped the disease. M. TOURVAL.

Soldiers' Bounty Lands.

Armed Rights are scattered in almost every town, and are now liable to be lost to the owners unless they are paid; and considering that in a few years they will be worth from one to four dollars per acre, and considering the expense and liability to loss in transmitting by mail patents or deeds recorded, and monies to pay taxes, have thought of a plan, more safe, and generally patroned, by the owners of those lands, will be more to their interest.

My plan is to establish lines of agency through most of the United States and continue in the business five years. I propose to pay taxes, take patents and deeds to be recorded, and redeem lands that have been sold for taxes, in Illinois, Missouri, and Arkansas; and from every Post-master or his Clerk, Editor, where this advertisement is posted up, I will in the month of July and August next call and receive the business entrusted to my care, and after executing the trust, make return of the deeds and receipts, to the Post-master, or Editor.

My fees for this service to be paid in advance, is for each deed, two dollars; for each tax paid, two dollars, and for redeeming each lot, two dollars. Provided, however, that if the amount of fees received should exceed one thousand dollars, the excess shall be applied proportionably to each, on the next year's tax.

The tax on each right in Arkansas is 2 dols. 40 cents—the charge for recording each deed is 15 cents for every one 100 words. Clerk's salary and certificate 20 cents, and a tax on each deed of 20 cents. In Missouri and Illinois, the average tax is about the same, and in first rate land something higher. At this rate a deed recorded, containing 400 words, will, with my fees, amount to 3 dols. 50 cents; and for paying taxes, 4 dols. 40 cents—for redeeming rights sold, the whole amount of expense cannot be definitively ascertained, as it depends on the number of years the lands were taxable, previous to being sold.

All lands are taxable after three years from the date of the patent, if not transferred by the soldier; but if transferred, they are taxable from the date of the conveyance. All the soldiers' rights in the state of Illinois, on which the taxes were not paid, were sold in the first week of December last.—Those persons who may wish to employ me to redeem their lands, or to pay their taxes must be sure to leave money sufficient, and if there should be an excess, it will be accounted for.

The lands sold in Illinois and Missouri, last fall are redeemable only within one year, and at the rate of 100 per cent. on the amount of tax and cost of sale.

Although the above fees are required this year, yet as I agree to apply all monies I receive for my fees over $1000 on the next year's tax, the probability is that the owners of these lands will have less to pay me as Agent in future years, than the postage would amount to, were they to send their deeds and money by mail.

All persons who may employ me to pay their taxes or redeem their lands, are requested to leave with the Post-master or Editor, a description of the tract, noting the quarter section, township, range, and state in which the land lies, together with the money for the fees, tax, &c. previous to the first day of August next; and those persons who now have agents, and will engage to employ me next year, will please to leave their names, to enable me to ascertain the sum necessary to be paid by each individual.

As these lots are situate in different towns, I propose to select and class those lying in the same town, and give notice to the owners, by which means they may be enabled to sell their lots to far better advantage.

AARON LAWRENCE. Shoreham Addison County, Vermont. May 4th, 1824.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Aaron Lawrence, Esq. of Shoreham, Vermont, who contemplates serving as agent, for paying taxes on Soldiers' bounty Lands in the States of Illinois and Missouri, and Territory of Arkansas, is a gentleman well known to the undersigned, and in whose capacity and integrity they have the fullest confidence.

Charles Rich, Hurlio Seymour. Washington City, April 15, 1824.

Aaron Lawrence, Esq. of Shoreham, county of Addison, Vermont, has been engaged by me thirteen years past, in selling lands in the northern part of this state, and remitting the proceeds thereof to me; and I am persuaded that my interests could not have been confided to a more faithful, judicious, and diligent agent.

BLANKS. For Sale at this Office.

THE WHIG

BRIDGETON,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1824.

Lafayette's Likeness—We have received for sale a few copies of an highly finished and very accurate likeness of the "NATION'S GUEST". It was drawn and engraved by LONGACRE, from the original painting in possession of Mrs. Bloomfield, which has been so highly and justly admired. The plate was engraved for Wain's life of Lafayette, soon to be issued from the Philadelphia Press. Several thousand copies of this engraving have been sold within a few weeks, principally, it is said, at double the price fixed on those remaining in our hands. A copy of Lafayette's likeness will not soon be easily obtained at any price.

We received of Hosea Snithen esq. a few days since a salmon radish, which in size and appearance is very extraordinary. It is 12 lbs. weight, 18 inches long and 24 inches round. Its form is similar to that of a goose when denuded of its feathers and prepared for cooking. Several more were raised by the same gentleman of equal size and weight. A radish was raised in our garden a few days since, much longer, and of not much less weight.

Agricultural produce was not exhibited at our anniversary fair, held in this town on Tuesday last, a circumstance we regret, as it would have given additional interest, and attracted the curiosity of the public to an exhibition which would doubtless tend to excite emulation on a subject in which, in such a case, all the community would be benefited.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

All the six New England States will be for Mr. Adams.

The accounts from New York are of a doubtful kind. Albany is a scene of confusion and intrigue. A few days more will decide. Crawford has more votes on joint ballot, than any of the Candidates. Adams next, then Clay, and last Jackson, who has only one or two votes.

The editor of the Observer is peculiarly unfortunate in his defence of himself. We should suppose that among all which he might say, he would have carefully avoided what he has said. In his last, he speaks of an "ungentlemanly and groundless attack" made by us upon him! True, we did remark upon his unwarranted attack on the private reputation of a female, connected with another on the private character of the greatest man in our country. He has since made what he wishes to impose on his readers as an apology for his conduct, when, in fact, it is only a lame attempt to excuse himself for his own inadvertence, for having published what was highly offensive to the public, and what exposed him to two libel suits! We believe that he had no wish to clear the character he tried to blacken, for Mr. Adams would thereby have necessarily been cleared of the imputation he tried to cast on him, which was not his design.

Our neighbour construes every attempt to refute his calumnies as an attack upon him. He says, our "threats and insinuations pass him as the idle wind." That his readers may know his precise meaning, a remark or two may be necessary. The "threats and insinuations" did really come from his pen—the first verbally, the latter through his Observer. Any other who only existed in an imagination which appears to be extremely apprehensive, so much so indeed, that it seems as if he was troubled with an evil conscience. He abused us to the utmost limits of his wit and genius, and when that forsook him, he consulted all the gentlemen of the bar at this time in the town (which were three,) without encouragement. Finding he could do no better he made a virtue of necessity; and to hide the truth published what was not true.

He also informs the public that we have aimed "blows" at his "reputation." Of this we are incapable, if he means a good one; but we sometimes call public attention to those who are ambitious to sustain a bad one, particularly if they attempt to injure ours, or those that we believe to be good. We never "beat the air" in such matters—we would much rather encourage our neighbour to put in requisition all the redeeming spirit he has got to secure a better than he now has; for we will suspect the reputation of the man who wantonly attempted to place a stigma on the character of the IMMORTAL WASHINGTON by calling him a duellist, and to justify himself for having said so, endeavoured vainly to impose on those who heard him an authority which he could not have read, and with which most of those he addressed were familiar. It was thus he calumniated the immaculate fame of WASHINGTON to find an excuse for the errors and misdoings of Jackson! He gives you at one glimpse a view of his intelligence, his consistency, his morals, his veracity, his boasted patriotism and the manner in which he dignifies his "American Press" to which he has so often called your attention.

Our neighbour advises us to "cease," and then in the same breath abuses us and says he will not "stoop to retaliate." He says we "gnaw a file," if so it is both a soft and a sensitive one, as the facts we have stated will plainly show. We affirm that he will only forbear when he fears to abuse, and that he will never cease while he thinks he can profit by an attack, or has a rival to envy.

FOREIGN.

The late foreign news furnish us with little that is interesting. The English papers assure us that an expedition is a fitting out in the French ports to attack Hayti. May not this expedition be another cordón sanitario, to collect a large army for the purpose of attacking south America? The probability is strong that an attempt will soon be made, in conjunction with Spain, to re-conquer that Island. If, however, they do not succeed, which we think will be the case, the troops will there be conveniently situated to try elsewhere. If they do carry their point, it will constitute a rallying point to concentrate forces for the subjugation of the southern continent.

A battle was fought at Cape Coast, Africa, between the British forces, and the Ashantees; the latter retreated after the battle and has not since been heard of. The British lost 195 in killed, and 400 in wounded, principally Africans.

The Greeks are going on gloriously. The Turks attempted to land an army of 10,000 men at the Island of Samos; but were attacked by the Greeks by sea and land—the 10,000 were destroyed, and 94 Turkish frigates, corvettes, and other vessels, were burnt, sunk, stranded or taken by the Greek squadron.

Hayti—A formidable expedition is now fitting up at Havre and other ports in France to reduce this republic. We hope they may meet the fate they deserve, which will be annihilation. There can be no doubt that if they succeed on this Island, South America will be the next object. Should this be conquered, as they become stronger at every movement the United States may be the next place of attack.

It appears that in order to preserve legitimacy from destruction, a war of extermination must be waged against learning and learned men—against universities and academies. The Emperor of Austria, in behalf of the Holy Alliance, has denounced every thing which can tend to illuminate the minds, and direct the understandings of his people. The security of his throne rests in the ignorance of his people.

De Witt Clinton has been elected governor of New-York by upwards of 17,000 majority.

Elias Hicks, says the Upland Union, "delivered a discourse on Wednesday last at Friends Meeting-House in Chester. We must acknowledge that we seldom, if ever, have heard more sound and excellent reasoning produced from any pulpit."—This may all be true, but we have not been informed whether the editor has ever heard reasoning from any pulpit, or if he did whether any of it was worth listening to.—This, to say the least, is a vague way of passing a compliment or praising a good discourse—but it is as good as most that is given, and quite in the fashion.

Sympathy.—Mad. Campan says, that the first time she saw the unhappy Marie Antoinette, "after the unfortunate catastrophe of Varennes journey, I found her getting out of bed; her features were not very much altered; but after the first kind words she uttered to me, she took off her cap and desired me to observe the effect which grief had produced upon her hair: It became in one night, as white as that of a woman of seventy."—Her majesty showed me a ring she had just mounted for the Princess de Lamballe; it contained a lock of her whitened hair, with the inscription bleached with sorrow."

A Mr. Hayden, from Oneida Co. N. Y. was lately inhumanly murdered in Mexico. On the Host's passing the door of the house he was working in as a shoemaker, he as the custom of the place knelt down; but some villains, not content that he should not go out and kneel on the pavement, plunged a dagger into his breast, and he fell down dead. The assassin escaped. The British Consul and Mexican government has had some controversy on the subject, which has resulted in a proclamation by the latter in favour of, and to give additional protection to foreigners.

Riot and Rebellion.—An infuriated mob rose in the most disgraceful and riotous manner lately on a Sabbath Evening, at Providence, (R. I.) against the black population, Eleven Houses were prostrated, and the destruction was general and unlimited, except in instances where the mob were diverted from their designs by the wonder working influence of Rum.—The cause is not stated; must we accuse the yanky nation of a dereliction from the good order and excellent morals for which they have long and far been celebrated? This is falling off with a vengeance.

Thanksgiving Day.—His Excellency the Governor of New Jersey, has, by Proclamation, set apart Thursday the 8th day of December next, to be observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer throughout the state.

CHARLES PARKER, esq. was re-elected Treasurer of the State, by a joint meeting of the legislature, held on the 10th inst.

Thomas Chapman esq. of Woodbury, and John P. Jeffers esq. of Port Elizabeth, have been appointed Masters and examiners in Chancery.

A Court Marshal will be held in a few days in the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, on Lieut. Weaver, and several other officers.

James Pierport was killed in a duel in New-Orleans, on the 14th of October.

Professor Everett is Elected to Congress from Massachusetts.

Our government has sent an agent to collect testimony of our fishermen against the British brig Dotterel.

We expected this week a statement from some of the officers, of the proceedings of the Cumberland Agricultural Society, which met, and held their fair, on last Tuesday—but have not received it. If we do not obtain a sketch for our next, we shall give our readers some of the particulars as we noticed them.

A few cords of wood will be received in payment for the Whig, if delivered soon; also produce of various kinds.

Departed this life on the 26th day of October last, at the age of 82 years 2 months and 14 days, Mr. DAVID RICHMAN, late of Millville Township in this county. The deceased was a valuable and most worthy member of Society, and a patron; as well as professor of true piety.—He maintained a respectable membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church for 42 years, during which time he retained a character without spot or blemish, and died as he lived, a practical illustration of the influence of grace, bearing testimony in his last moments to the truth of that religion which he so long enjoyed. Full of faith and confidence he went triumphantly to his eternal reward, there to cease from his labours. He was the father of 13 children, 107 Grand children, and 67 great grand children.
