POETRY.

SELECTED FOR THE WHIG.

From the "Songs of Zion," by James Montgomery.

PSALM CIV.

My soul, adore the Lord of might;
With uncreated glory crown'd,
And clad in royalty of light,
He draws the curtain'd heavens around;
Dark waters his pavilion form,
Clouds are his car, his wheels the storm.

Lightning before Him, and behind
Thunder rebounding to and fro;
He walks upon the winged wind,
And rears the blast, or lets it go:
—This goodly globe his wisdom plann'd,
He fix'd the bounds of sea and land.

When o'er the guilty world, of old,
He summon'd the avenging main,
At his rebuke the billows roll'd
Back to their parent-gulf again:
The mountains raised their joyful heads,
Like new creations, from their beds.

Thenceforth the self-revolving tide
Its daily fall and flow maintains;
Through winding vales fresh fountains glide,
Leap from the hills, or course the plains;
There thirsty cattle throng the brink,
And the wild asses bend to drink.

Fed by the currents, fruitful groves
Expand their leaves, their fragrance fling,
Where the cool breeze at noon-tide roves,
And birds among the branches sing;
Soft fall the showers when day declines,
And sweet the peaceful rainbow shines.

Grass through the meadows, rich with flowers,
God's bounty spreads for herds and flocks:
On Lebanon his cedar towers,
The wild goats bound upon his rocks;
Fowls in his forests build their nests,
—The stork amid the pine-tree rests.

To strengthen man, condemn'd to toil,
He fills with grain the golden ear;
Bids the ripe olive melt with oil,
And swells the grape, man's heart to cheer:
—The moon her tide of changing knows,
Her orb with lustrous ebbs and flows.

The sun goes down, the stars come out;
He maketh darkness and 'tis night;
Then roam the beasts of prey about,
The desert rings with chase and fight:
The lion, and the lion's brood,
Look up,—and God provides them food.

Morn dawns far east; ere long the sun
Warms the glad nations with his beams;
Day, in their dens, the spoilers shun,
And night returns to them in dreams:
Man from his couch to labor goes,
Till evening brings again repose.

How manifold thy works, O Lord,
In wisdom, power, and goodness wrought!
The earth is with thy riches stor'd,
And ocean with thy wonders fraught:
Unfathomed caves beneath the deep
For Thee their hidden treasures keep.

There go the ships, with sails unfur'd,
By Thee directed on their way;
There in his own mysterious world,
Leviathan delights to play;
—And tribes that range impenetrably,
Unknown to man, are known to Thee.

By Thee alone the living live;
Hide but thy face, their comforts fly;
They gather what thy seasons give;
Take Thou away their breath, they die;
Send forth thy Spirit from above,
And all is life again, and love.

Joy in his works Jehovah takes,
Yet to destruction they return;
He looks upon the earth, it quakes,
Touches the mountains, and they burn:
—Thou, God, for ever art the same;
I AM is thine unchanging name.

DOMESTIC HAPPINESS.

Extract from a Sermon on "Domestic Happiness," by the Rev. William Jay.

Oh! what so refreshing, so soothing,
so satisfying, as the placid joys of home!

See the traveller—does duty call him for a season to leave his beloved circle? The image of his earthly happiness continues vividly in his remembrance, it quickens him to diligence, it makes him hail the hour which sees his purpose accomplished, and his face turned towards home; it communes with him as he journeys, and he bears the promise which cause him to hope, "Thou shalt know also that thy tabernacle shall be in peace, and thou shalt visit thy tabernacle and not sin." O the joyful re-union of a divided family—the pleasures of renewed interview and conversation after days of absence.

Behold the man of science—He drops the labour and painfulness of research—closes his volume—smooths his wrinkled brows—leaves his study—and unbending himself, stoops to the capacities, yields to the wishes and mingles with the diversions of the children.

"He will not blush that has a father's heart, To take in childish play a childish part; But bends his sturdy neck to play the toy That youth takes pleasure in, to please his boy."

Take the man of trade—What reconciles him to the toil of business?—

What enables him to endure the fastidiousness and impotence of customers? What rewards him in many hours of tedious confinement? By and by the season of intercourse will arrive; he will behold the desire of his eyes and the children of his love for whom he resigns his ease; and in their welfare and smiles he will find his recompense.

Yonder comes the labourer—He has borne the burden and heat of the day; the descending sun has released him from his toil; and he is hastening home to enjoy repose. Half way down the lane, by the side of which stands his cottage, his children run to meet him. One he carries and one he leads. The companion of his humble life is ready to furnish him with his plain repast.— See his toil worn countenance assume an air of cheerfulness! his hardships are forgotten; fatigue vanishes; he eats and is satisfied. The evening fair, he walks with uncovered head around his garden—enters again and retires to rest: and "the rest of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much."

Inhabitant of this lowly dwelling! who can be indifferent to thy comfort?—Peace be to this house!

"Let not ambition mock the useful toil,
Their homely joys and destiny obscure;
Nor grandeur hear with a disdainful smile,
The short and simple annals of the poor."

The Wesleyan Missionary Society of London have upwards of fifty Missionaries employed in the distant West India Islands in the instruction of the slaves and free people of color, in the principles and morals of christianity. Upwards of 20,000 slaves have been admitted as members of their societies, who regularly attend Divine worship. The number of blacks and colored children instructed in the Mission Schools is about 3000.

Upwards of 600,000 souls in the British West Indies alone are yet wholly unprovided with religious teachers and the means of escaping from Pagan ignorance.

GREECE.

The following is a summary account of the late most important successes of the Greeks, which is represented by the London papers as decisive of the fourth expedition and of the ultimate triumph of Greece:—

It was the intention of the Turkish Pacha to combine their forces before risking a battle, in order to bear down all before them with an overwhelming force. Mehmed, the Sacraskier of Roumelia, having invaded Attica and Livadia, with 27,000 men, did not venture to attack Odysseus with his 9000 troops, but waited to be joined by the Pacha of Scutaria and Larissa, and also for the co-operation of Jussuf. Jussuf was on his way to Macrinoros with 14,000 men, intending to force that place, advance to Missolunghi, and pass into the Peloponnesus by the assistance of the Turkish fleet. Mehmed was at the same time to attack the isthmus of Corinth with 40,000 bandits, and to march into the Peloponnesus after ravaging Livadia.

The Greeks were aware of this plan, and determined to fight the Pacha in detail. Mehmet was attacked at St. Luca by Odysseus and Nickitas and totally destroyed. This produced a revolt among the mercenaries of Jussuf who hardly saved himself. Stornaris, who was charged to operate against the Pacha of Seuar in the mountains of Agrala, opposed him with success until the arrival of 4000 Turks, which increased the number of his enemies to the number of 12,000, and enabled them to proceed to Missi, when they joined the Pacha at Larissa with the wreck of Mehmed's army. The two Pachas, with 18000 men, set out for Livadia on the 26th of August, intending to co operate with Jussuf, of whose defeat they were yet ignorant. Their advanced guard of 12,000, under Djeladhi Bey, halted at Laspi on the 27th where he found 2500 Hellenians on their march against him, and now occupying an entrenched camp. In order to ascertain the force of his enemies, the Pacha remained inactive all that day, intending on the next to make an attack. On their side the Hellenians were doubtful what to do, as their numbers were very small and their Gen. Carair Cachi, was sick; but in this juncture the brave Bozzaris arrived and at once restored their courage. As there was nothing to require his presence at Macrinoros, and he had learnt the course taken by the Pacha of Scutari, he set out with 340 Saliotes, passed rapidly through Etolia and Lucris into Thessaly, where he heard that the chiefs were determined to join the Greeks. When he arrived at the Camp of Carair Cachi, he found that the Greeks were resolved at all events not to suffer the Turks to enter Livadia.

and seemed resolved to risk a battle, Bozzaris represented this as a desperate measure, and proposed that they should fall upon them suddenly in the darkness of the night.

"We can surprise them," said he, "for they do not expect to be attacked; and you know that these barbarians never take any precautions against surprise. I have with me 340 Saliotes, and I will, at their head, enter the Turkish camp with no other arms but our pistols and sabres. Do you," said he to the Hellenians, "present yourselves in four different points, and commence your fire when you are recognised, so as to distract the Turks, and, if you second me, we will seize the Pacha alive or dead."

The proposal met universal approbation, and Bozzaris was desired to lead the enterprise. At midnight he desired an addition of 100 shosen men to his little band of Saliotes; then separating into four divisions, prepared for the hazardous enterprise. When he left the camp, he said to his chiefs—"My friends, if we scatter, you will be sure to find me round the tent of the Pacha. Having said this, the signal was given, and the heroes marched on in silence. The Turks were taken entirely by surprise and the tent of the Pacha surrounded.

Bozzaris taunted the infidels for their carelessness and their defeat; and then stepping forward seized the Pacha with his own hands. He however received a mortal wound from a Moor, and was borne off by his soldiers, while the Pacha was killed on the spot. The last words of Bozzaris were these:

"My friends, to die for liberty is a pleasure, and not a pain. Freedom is not acquired but at great sacrifices. I die content, because I have contributed to the independence of my country.— Continue your services to her, and do not quit your arms but amid the destruction of your enemies."

This is a deed worthy of ancient Greece in her most heroic ages. The character as well as the fate of Bozzaris may bear a comparison with that of Epaminondas; and the Saliotes remind us of the heroes of Thermopylae. Such men are worthy to fight for liberty and enjoy it.

DEFERRED SUMMARY.

Two New Papers.—We have received the "Star of Bellville," and the "Somerville Messenger."—The former is published in Newark, by Messrs H. H. Kingsland, & Co. and contains much original matter, from the prolific pen of Gilbert J. Hunt, Esq. The latter is published in the county of Somerset, by Messrs Gore and Hull, editors of the late Newark "Jerseyan," which is discontinued. Both papers appear very respectable. Emp.

DUELING.—The Grand Jury of Charleston District has presented Duelling as one of the greatest crimes against the peace and welfare of Society, and as equally prescribed by the laws of God and man. It is recommended that the Constitution of the State be so altered as to disqualify the principal and second from holding any place of honor, trust or profit, and that the representatives from Charleston use every exertion to obtain a modification of any article in the Constitution which may prevent the enactment of efficient laws against so inhuman a practice as duelling.

Lord Byron.—A gentleman who has just arrived at Boston from Leghorn, and who had a personal interview with his lordship, states that he has cast his fortune on a single point, to sink or swim with the Greeks. He is said to have purchased a brig entire, and embarked his whole fortune for the purpose of proceeding to Constantinople, to endeavor to release a number of Greeks held in captivity there, mostly belonging to Scio. If he is frustrated, it is his intention to buckle on his armour, and breast the storm of war.

THE PALM TREE.—Some parcel of seeds or nuts of this valuable tree, have been introduced in St. Augustine, for the purpose of trying its cultivation in the warmest and most congenial parts of Florida. The seed was procured from West Coast of Africa where the tree is highly valued by the natives, the nuts affording them a two-fold supply, first of an oil extracted from the outer coat, and next an interior pith or substance analogous to lard or butter, which they use in the preparation of their food.

Local names are often given to articles, which a stranger would be at a loss to define. A Dutchman from New York a few years since, being on a journey to New Hampshire, put up at a tavern in the town W., in Vermont. It was a cold night, and on entering the bar-room we found a number round the fire, quaffing their favorite beverage, which they designated by the name of Sampson, (composed of cider, molasses and spirit.) The Dutchman was invited to partake, and of course called in his mug in his turn. The company at length separated, and our traveller only remained. Finding after several attempts to raise himself from his chair, that he was unable to preserve his ideas, being somewhat confused, he addressed the landlord thus:—"Vat you call dat stuff me drink to-night?"—"Sampson," replied the other.—"Py de great guns," said Hans, "I think he vas Pharaoh, for he vont let de people go."

Hopewell.—John Holmes, John G. Davis.
 Deerfield.—James Lummis, Ephraim M. Queen.
 Fairfield.—Daniel Parvin, William M. Chesney.
 Downie.—John Compton, Zaccheus Joslin.
 Millville.—John Campbell, Wesley Budd.

An usual fall of snow which commenced in the night and continued without intermission throughout greater part of the forenoon, tended greatly to limit the extent of the exhibition, and interfered with the regular proceedings of the day, rendering it impracticable to perform the contemplated trial of the different ploughs. But notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the show of cattle and hogs was very respectable, and the concourse of people who flocked into town from all parts of the country, after a morning so very discouraging, carried with it the gratifying conviction that our institution was fast gaining in friends & supporters. In fact, from the number who have already come forward and joined the society, we can safely calculate to offer a greater number and variety of premiums at the next exhibition. It is a matter of regret to the society, that so many of the respectable farmers in the county still hold back their support from an institution so well calculated to uphold both the honor and interest of their profession, and dependent in a great measure on them for its popularity.

THE WHIG.

BRIDGETON.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1823.

Several articles, and some interesting summary, intended for this week, but which has been crowded out to make room for legislative and agricultural affairs—will be inserted in our next.

Was launched from one of the ship yards in this town, on the afternoon of Thursday last, a fine new Sloop, of about 65 tons burthen. It is owned by Messrs. Hann and Shannon, and was constructed by Mr. Henry Bruster.

The following is a copy of the counterfeit certificate we passed some remarks upon in our last, which Senior Sebastiano Philippo, the Earthquake-rained scoundrel who was imposing on the credulity and benevolence of our fellow citizens, carried with him to authenticate his claims to charity. We would just remark, in addition to what has been said, that it bears on the face of it evident marks of its being a forgery. We are in some doubt, whether such a brig as the Swan belongs to, or arrived at Philadelphia from the Pacific. Besides, we would ask Mr. Brown, a printer in Philadelphia, whether this document, or a previous edition of the same, was not printed in his office in the year 1818 or '19?—We have been informed that such an instrument, was printed in his office about that period, and if so, as it is a suspicious looking thing, perhaps he could aid in discovering these itinerant swindlers, that they might be punished.

"An Earthquake in the city of Valparaiso, in South America, of two or three minutes, on the 18th of November 1822.

"By this tremendous and awful Catastrophe great many lives were lost and buried: an immense quantity of persons have been severely wounded by the falling of houses; the greater part of those remaining are considered uninhabitable with safety and comfort: the screams and cries of women and children were heard in every direction, calling for protection.

"This dreadful calamity has reduced thousands of families from a state of affluence to a most distressing situation, many have been compelled, from want, to seek an asylum in other parts of the world.

"This unexpected event has reduced me and my family to the most deplorable misery, which has compelled me to come over to the United States; but having neither money nor friends to whom I can apply for the relief of my distressed family, and for the payment of our passage, I am reduced to recommend us to the Benevolence and Humanity of the inhabitants of this country for succour and relief in order to enable me to undertake any branch of industry which, by economy could afford us an honest existence.

"Blessed is he who attends to the needy and the poor, in the day of tribulation for whatever he gives he will receive it a hundred fold.

"If you wealthy, be liberal according to your means, if you have much, be generous; if you have little, give little, and you will lay up treasures for the last day.

"SEBASTIANO PHILIPPO.

"Consulte of his Catholic majesty the King of Spain seen the above exposition as well as their certificates confirming the truth of it, I have set my hand and seal—dated 2d Oct. 1823.

"JOHANNES LOPEZ, Consul."

The following certificate was subjoined to the above.

"I, Stephen Santerre, capt. of the Brig Swan do recommend Sebastian Philippo, who came passenger on board of my Brig, well deserving the assistance of the Benevolent.—In testimony whereof I have set down my name.

"STEPHEN SANTERRE, Capt."

Duets: Duets!—A duet was lately fought at Bladensburgh by two lieutenants of the navy, one of whom was wounded in the leg;—and another was lately fought at Belle Fontaine, between capt. Mason and lieutenant Day, of the U. S. army. They fought with muskets loaded with ball and buck-shot at the distance of 15 paces. Neither of them killed his adversary, no doubt, much to the disappointment of the public, who are always glad when fools and madmen on such occasions accomplish the object of their wishes. This, it would appear, is the military method of teaching honor and politeness to those blockheads whose malice runs away with their decorum, and whose pettishness supplies an occasion, on every imaginary offence, to shew their ill temper.

Canaling.—This is the age of canaling, and truly we are of opinion, that in point of domestic improvement, the public never saw their true interests in a better light than when making them. When all the canals which are now contemplated and commenced throughout the United States, are completed, the march of improvement in other branches of domestic concerns will be more rapid than is now generally supposed. Canals will contribute more to the internal trade and manufactures of our country than steam has done in facilitating navigation—and whatever tends to encourage and call forth the internal resources of our own country will do more towards increasing its wealth and prosperity, than the gold mines of Mexico or Peru could possibly accomplish.

The congress of Columbia, lately finished its session, before which, it decreed a pension to gen. Bolivar for life of 30,000 dollars annually, to commence on the day when he terminated his functions as president of the republic.

The Columbian forces under gen. Paez, and gen. Bermudez, have made considerable progress in their attack on Porto Cabello, which is the only hold of the Spanish forces in the province. It is soon to be attacked by sea and land, and it is thought will be taken.

Speculations in pistareens have been carried on between the eastern states and New-Orleans. Here they pass for only 16 or 17 cents—in New-Orleans they are current at 25 cents.

The new post-master-general is performing miracles in making contracts for the last month for carrying the various mails in the United States, he has reduced the amount for that service to about 70,000 dollars less than it has heretofore been.

COMMUNICATION.

On Tuesday last, the court of Oyer and Terminer, Circuit Court, and Inferior Court of Common Pleas of this county commenced their sittings in this place. The hon. William Rossell attended as the circuit judge, and remarked as a circumstance which had never before occurred, during his attendance at the courts of the several counties, that not a single civil suit was noticed for trial in the Circuit Court. The duties of Speaker of the House of Assembly having prevented the attendance of Lucius Q. C. Elmer, esq. the prosecutor of the Pleas in behalf of the state, James D. Westcott, jun. esq. was appointed for the term.

MARRIED.

On Monday evening last by the Rev. Holmes Parvin, Mr. Joseph Juggers to Miss Phebe Moore, all of this place.

DIED.

In Philadelphia, on Sunday last, the Rev. Thomas Boring, after a short but severe illness, in the 43d year of his age.
 In Portland, on the 17th inst. the hon. George Bradbury, aged 53, formerly a representative to congress, from that district, and recently a member of the senate of Maine.

STACKHOUSE'S

Complete Body of Divinity,

PROPOSALS,

BY JOHN CLARKE—BRIDGETON, WEST N. JERSEY,

For publishing by subscription,

Stackhouse's Complete Body of Speculative and Practical Divinity.

ADDRESS TO THE PUBLIC.

The work now offered to the public is one with which the literary world in England and America have long been familiar. It is so well known, so generally admired, so universally sought, and so highly appreciated, that no particular recommendation in its favour has been accepted, preferring rather to depend on its established fame and intrinsic merits for success than to attach to our prospectus the best written eulogium which the brightest genius in our country could produce. STACKHOUSE, as an ingenious compiler, as a man of learning and research, and as a profound Theologian, ranked in his own day among those who gained the highest literary eminence—the lapse of time has contributed, exceedingly to increase his well earned celebrity.

The Body of DIVINITY which is now proposed to be published, was originally compiled for the Episcopal Church of England. It first emanated from the Press in the early part of the eighteenth century. Since then, it has stood its ground and sustained a reputation beyond which cotemporary writers never did, and subsequent writers never have been able to pass. Several editions of it have been circulated in Great Britain, but it has never yet been published in the United States. Various compilations of systematic Theology have been repeatedly committed to the American Press, each of which has been adapted to the standard of faith of the respective denominations for whom it was published.—This work is professedly written on the Armenian Scheme; but notwithstanding this, its high character has caused it to be an object of anxious inquiry by every class of christians. It has heretofore been in the hands of few in the United States except Divines, and for these it has generally been imported by order, and at great expense. The reason why it has never been re-printed in the United States is obvious. In matters of faith, monopolies have been sought with no less avidity, (perhaps not improperly,) than in the mart of the merchant; and those denominations of christians whose professions have not been supported by a widely extended and numerous fraternity have been compelled to coalesce, and reciprocate favours in the Book market, in order to obtain from the publishers of books throughout our country that kind of spiritual nutriment which would enable them to grow up in the faith and opinions which they delighted to cherish as the foundation of their future hopes.—Where this advantage was not presented the student in divinity was compelled to wade through Tomes of ancient authors in the dead languages to satisfy his inquiries; or to collect those systems of opinions which are laid down by theologians—as founded on, or deducted from the sacred records—from an endless variety of writers, many of whose sentiments they viewed both as absurd and inconsistent.

The design of the publisher in offering an edition of STACKHOUSE'S Body of Speculative and Practical Divinity to the public is two-fold; namely, for their good and his own. While he wishes to supply a demand for it which seems now to be particularly called for, he is desirous to obtain a subscription which will defray the expense, and compensate him for his labour. More than this is not expected—any other reason than this would not be the truth, and he hopes the public will appreciate his candour in this avowal. He believes the work eminently calculated to do good. Truth, and wherever tends to elucidate and confirm it, are, in the present age, objects of research & inquiry.—In this work, all the leading doctrines of the Holy Scriptures are amply discussed and explained. To the pious layman it will surpass the necessity of a great variety of works on divinity which he may be desirous to possess, but which he may not have the means to procure. By purchasing this work true economy may be consulted, as the necessity of procuring many fugitive works which intrude themselves on the public will be obviated. There are a number of respectable and pious classes of christians and christian ministers throughout our country, who will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity now offered to obtain it upon reasonable terms by encouraging an American edition. Of the Author's style he will only say, that it is plain, but nervous, bold and eloquent.—The work in general evinces the profound scholar and the pious christian—but he does not wish to incur the charge of exaggerated commendation; such an imputation, he presumes, will not be offered by those who have read the work with impartial attention, and from those who have not given it a perusal it would be premature.

CONDITIONS.

This work will be put to Press as soon as the subscription will defray the expenses of the edition.

It will be printed in the best manner, with new type, and on superfine wove paper, extra medium size.

It will be published in three volumes, octavo, each averaging 550 pages; or in monthly numbers of about 138 pages each.

The price will be seven dollars and fifty cents, in boards, or in numbers, the latter covered in the usual manner of periodical works; and eight dollars, handsomely bound and lettered. [This is half the European price, and it is in a more portable size.]

Those who obtain eight subscribers, and become responsible, shall have a copy gratis, which copy shall be delivered in the same form as those ordered, or made equivalent thereto—and in proportion for a greater, or less number.

All payments to be made when the work is delivered, whether in volumes or numbers—and all communications to be post-paid.

Agents to receive the work and deliver it to subscribers will be appointed in the principal cities and towns throughout the Union, the names of whom will be made public.

It is earnestly requested that the names of subscribers be forwarded to the publisher as soon as possible.

[This report states that the committee are of opinion that such a canal, if it could be effected at an expense not too great for the resources of the State and without imposing a burdensome weight of taxation ought to be carried into execution by the State itself; but that in order to obtain further information before this plan is acted upon it is expedient at the present session of the legislature to appoint commissioners, whose duty it shall be to report to the next legislature upon all matters connected with the practicability of said canal; its probable expense and the revenue to be derived therefrom; and also upon any amendment which might be made with the United States in respect of said canal; and upon the ways and means proper to be adopted for executing the same; and generally to report on every other matter which in their opinion would be useful to be understood by the legislature in the premises.]

The bill for the relief of J. Vansciver, passed to a third reading, and afterwards the house.

The resolution of Mr. Ewing approving the conduct of the Commissioners appointed to survey the Mor is Canal, was taken up and agreed to. The resolutions follow:

Whereas the legislature of this State feeling a lively interest in the promotion of agriculture, manufactures and general industry, and believing that no means are better calculated to have that effect than the completion of a general system of inland navigation, did at its last session pass an act entitled "An Act for ascertaining the most eligible route for and probable expense of forming a canal to connect the waters of the Passaic river with the waters of the Delaware river;" And whereas the co-operation of the general government and of the respective states in all great works of internal improvement is essential to the execution of extensive plans of general utility and is calculated to strengthen the bonds of our federal union; this legislature has seen with great satisfaction the wise and liberal policy of the distinguished citizen at the head of the war department manifested by his promptly ordering to the assistance of the commissioners two able and scientific officers of the U. S. board of Engineers; it reciprocates also most cordially the friendly feelings of the legislature of the State of New York exhibited in a resolution of the senate and house of Representatives of that State, adopted on the 2d of April last, directing their canal commissioners to send to the line of the contemplated canal in this State one of the engineers in their employ.

And whereas this legislature is much gratified with the results of the survey lately made of the proposed route through the counties of Morris and Sussex and is desirous of giving a public testimonial as well of the sense it entertains of the able and timely assistance so liberally afforded the commissioners and engineers acting; under the authority of the before mentioned act, as of the manner in which the survey has been made. The clause, Resolved by the council and general assembly of this State, that the governor be requested to transmit two copies of the report and documents laid before this legislature by the said commissioner and engineers to the honorable John C. Calhoun Secretary of War; three copies of the same to the Governor of the State of New York for the use of the governor senate and house of representatives of that state; and five copies to the Hon. Dewit Clinton, President of the New York board of canal commissioners for the use of that board.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Legislature be given to Geo. P. McCulloch, Charles Kinsey and Thomas Capner esquires, the commissioners appointed by the aforesaid act and to Ephraim Beach, esq. the engineer employed by them for the intelligence and industry they have displayed in the prosecution and completion of the business with which they were entrusted.

Resolved, That the thanks of the legislature be presented to Gen. Joseph G. Swift Professor, James Renwick and Benjamin Wright esq. of the State of New York, to John L. Sullivan esq. of the State of Massachusetts and to General Bernard and Col. Totter of the U. S. corps of Engineers for their practical scientific and zealous co-operation in surveying the route of the canal and planning the various works necessary for its safe and advantageous execution.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to transmit copies of the above preamble and resolutions to the respective gentlemen therein named.

A message from Council informed that they insisted on their amendments to the militia bill whereupon the house resolved to insist on disagreeing thereto and asked a conference. (The amendments of Council were to strike out all that part of the bill authorizing a loan of arms to the uniform companies.)

A communication was received from the Governor, stating the amount of fees received by him in 1821--22, as far as he could ascertain, over and above his stated salary—laid on the table. [It appears from this statement that the governor has received annually for fees over and above his salary about the sum of $500. His fees however are principally received for him by the Secretary of State and Clerk of Chancery and it appears the latter officer has never rendered an account of how much has accrued]. Adjourned.

Saturday, Nov. 22.

Mr Pennington reported on the petition from Essex for a new township, that the applicants have leave to present a bill on the 1st. Thursday of the next session—agreed to.

Mr Schenck reported a bill to enable E. Smith to fulfil a contract made by Jos. Stout, dec.—ordered 2d reading.

Mr. Griffith proposed a resolution for a joint-committee of both houses to bring in a bill to carry into execution the report of the com. on the Delaware and Raritan Canal—agreed to.

The house took up the bill to exempt poor debtors from imprisonment on giving security to appear at the next court and after some time spent thereon the further consideration thereof was postponed.

Adjourned to three o'clock.

Three o'clock the house met.

Mr Griffith offered a resolution to print 500 copies of the commissioners and engineers report respecting the Delaware and Raritan Canal made in 1817—agreed to.

Mr C. Stratton reported a bill to enable Job Conover to build a bridge over Reads Creek—read and ordered 2d reading. Several bills were considered and postponed.

Mr Ewing offered the following resolution: Resolved, that this legislature deems it highly expedient, necessary, and consistent with our free constitutions, and the interest welfare and happiness of our citizens, that from and after the 4th day of July next imprisonment for debt shall be forever abolished in the state of New Jersey. Considerable objection was made to this resolution as premature the subject being in the hands of a committee. It was ordered to lie on the table. Adjourned.

Monday, Nov. 10.

Ten o'clock the house met.—Mr Townsend presented a petition respecting the fisheries in Cape May county or Delaware bay—read and committed.

Mr Dayton from the committee on that subject, reported "An Act for the abolition of imprisonment for debt in certain cases."—Read and ordered a second reading and to be printed.

The act for the relief of poor debtors was taken up and amended. [This bill contained similar provisions to the law of 1820 making county limits]. Upon the question of agreeing to the first section the yeas and noes were as follows: Yeas, Beatty, Dayton, Dow, Ewing Griffith, Hough, R. G. Johnson, Mann, Monroe, Newman, C. Stratton, I. Stratton, Stryker, Westervelt, White, Woolman, 16—Nays, Ackerson, Brittin, Chandler, Christie, Clifford, Coryell, Drake, Elmer Sp. Estell, Kline, Maxwell, D. Miller, S. B. Miller, McDowell, Pennington, Schenck, Smith, Stout, Teasdale, Townsend, Walling, 21. So the section was disagreed to and the bill was then postponed.

Several private acts were read and ordered third readings.

The act to abolish the printing of the law reports was taken up, Mr Dayton presented a remonstrance against said law from several members of the Bar. The further consideration of the bill was postponed.

Mr Ewing from the committee on the subject of the petition of the Indians for a compensation for their hunting and fishing privileges reported against the expediency of granting their prayer—agreed to.

The bill respecting the fees of Coroners was read a third time and ordered to be engrossed. [This bill requires the expense of inquisitions over dead bodies to be paid by the respective counties instead of being paid by the State. Adjourned.

Report of the proceedings of the first annual meeting and exhibition of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, held at Bridgeton on Tuesday the 18th inst.

As soon as a quorum could be formed, a meeting of the Board of Managers was held, and the following persons were appointed committees to adjudge the premiums of the society.

Committee for Stock.

John G. Davis, Daniel Husted, Peter Ladow, Robert Sheppard, John Campbell.

Committee for Crops and Domestic Manufactures.

Jonathan Parvin, William Westcott, Samuel B. Davis, Adrian Clunn, John Sweeney.

Committee for adjudging the premium offered by a friend to the society, to a labouring man.

John Johnston, Norton Harris, Charles Brown.

The cattle and hogs were arranged in pens provided by the committee of arrangement near the hotel, where they were viewed by the committee.

At 3 o'clock, P. M. an address was delivered by general Ebenezer Elmer, and immediately after, the reports of the different committees were read, & are as follows:—

The committee on Stock, report that Ephraim Buck is entitled to the premium offered for the best Bull for the improvement of the breed of cattle, for his Durham short horned bull, Dandy.

That William Elmer is entitled to the premium offered for the best milk Cow, for his Teaswater Cow, Flora.

That John Johnston is entitled to the premium offered for the best Boar, for his imported boar, Riddle. (Signed) John G. Davis, Peter Ladow, Robert Sheppard, Daniel Husted, John Campbell.

The committee on Crops and Domestic Manufactures, report that Peter Ladow is entitled to the premium for Sweet Potatoes, having raised 220 bushels on an acre.

That Daniel Husted is entitled to the premium for Indian Corn, having raised 135 bushels of ears on an acre.

That Mrs. Phebe Holmes is entitled to the premium for Linen Cloth, having manufactured 106 yards of a good quality.

That Mrs. Phebe Holmes is entitled to the premium for Woolen Cloth, having manufactured 92 3/4 yards of a good quality. (Signed) Jonathan Parvin, William Westcott, Samuel B. Davis, Adrian Clunn, John Sweeney.

The committee on the claims of Labouring Men, after examining attentively the claims of several candidates, do award the premium offered by a friend to the society for that purpose, to Elijah Loper, a labourer, in the employment of Jeremiah Buck, in whose employment he has been for upwards of six years past. The committee were much gratified by the high claims of the other applicants, and the respectable certificates in their favor, but the length of service of Elijah Loper, and his unexceptionable character as a labourer, recommended him preeminently to their notice. Your committee cannot close their report without (in the name of the society,) returning their warmest acknowledgements and good wishes to the unknown and generous patron of the society, who has offered this premium, so well calculated to further the agricultural interest.

(Signed) John Johnston, Norton Harris, Charles Brown.

The following papers were received with the report. 1st, A statement of the proceeds from, and expense of cultivating an acre of sweet potatoes.

Table with 3 columns: Amount received for 220 bushels sweet potatoes, Expenses, and Net gain. Expenses include 18 loads of manure, Seed, Sprouting, Ploughing ground, Preparing hills, Planting, Ploughing twice, Hoing three times, Digging, Carriage to market.

Net gain $60 25

The plan pursued in cultivating the patch on an acre, of which the above statement is made, was the same or very similar to that communicated to the society last spring by Mr Wells.

In communicating this experiment to the society, I would beg leave to state a few facts intimately connected with it, and also to invite the society to consider the vast superiority it enjoys as a profitable production, over almost every other arising from our soil.

The acre of ground on which these potatoes grew, had it been planted in corn the past season, and the same manure used, would not have yielded to exceed 50 bushels; if in wheat, not more than 18 bushels. Calculating the former at 50 cents per bushel, and the tillage as before, one would leave a nett gain for the soil of about nine dollars, and in the latter, the nett gain for the soil would not exceed ten dollars, which latter is not one quarter that of the potatoes. If it had been planted in corn, the strength of the manure would have been a great deal more exhausted, and the ground would not have been in so good a situation for winter grain, or any summer crop next season. If the manure had been kept in the yard & put on wheat this fall, as is usually done, it would not have done the ground as much good as it has now done, nor would the ground itself be in so good order as it is. I have taken these crops, corn and wheat, as they are the principal crops on which the manure is generally put, and on that account a fair comparison can be made with them of the quantity of sweet potatoes raised on the acre above mentioned. I sent 105 bushels to New York, and for them I received $80 25 clear of all expenses. The expense of freight was more than might be expected in consequence of the vessel being detained by a long spell of contrary weather, and it being an entirely new kind of business, and when she did arrive there happened to be a glut of the market, and they sold lower on that account. All this is taken into the account above, and therefore future results may not be expected less favorable.

(Signed) Peter Ladow.

A statement of the soil, manure used, and culture of one acre of Corn.

I carted 25 loads of rich soil, in March last, upon one acre of lomy soil, and about the 8th of May I carted 20 loads of manure upon the same ground. I then ploughed and harrowed the ground, ploughing it very deep; I struck it out into rows five feet apart, and planted it on the 10th of May, two feet apart in the rows, and two grains in each hill. After it had been up about two weeks I harrowed it four times in each row. I ploughed it, turning each furrow from the row, and then turning them back again, going two bouts to a row. I then hoed it, and then ploughed it again, going two bouts in a row. I then hoed it again, and harrowed it twice in a row. I gathered from this acre 135 bushels of ears of corn.

(Signed) Daniel Husted.

The society then took up an election for officers for the ensuing year, when the following persons were elected.

PROPOSALS

For publishing in the city of Trenton, A

Miscellaneous Magazine,

BY FRANCIS S. WIGGINS.

In presenting this proposal to the public it is not necessary to enter into a detail of the advantages that would probably arise from the publication of a well conducted Miscellaneous Magazine—But it may not be improper to state, that as the contemplated publication is intended to do good wherever circulated, every exertion will be made to render it interesting and useful, and not unworthy of a liberal patronage.

The work will comprize as great a variety as possible of Moral and Entertaining Essays, original and selected—Literary and Scientific Intelligence—A brief summary of the most important Foreign and Domestic Occurrences—An Epitome of the events which transpire in the Religious World—Poetry, &c. &c.

CONDITIONS.

I. The Magazine will be published once in each month—to contain 24 duodecimo pages. It will be printed on good type and paper: a title page and index to accompany the last number.

II. The price will be one dollar per ann. payable in advance, or on the receipt of the first number. Those subscribers who cannot conveniently take it in numbers, will be supplied with the work at the expiration of the year, for $1 12 1/2 bound in boards, or well and handsomely bound in sheep, for $1 25—To non-subscribers the price will be considerably enhanced.

The first number will probably be issued in the month of January next.
Subscriptions received at this office.

Christian Almanac.

Just received and for sale, by S. Potter & Co. the Christian Almanac for the year 1824. In addition to the useful information generally found in Almanacs, it comprises in 52 pages a summary of Religious intelligence, especially that which pertains to the spread of the Gospel and the benevolent efforts of the day.

This Almanac was first published by the American Tract Society, in Boston, and its value may in some measure, be estimated by the extensive sale, it met with there, near 40,000 copies having been sold the last year. As the profits resulting from the sale of this work will be appropriated for the advancement of Sunday Schools, it is hoped the public will encourage it.

Editors of Country papers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, friendly to the object will please to give the above one or two insertions.
