For the West Jersey Pioneer. A SONG OF SPRING.

BY ESTELLA MAURICE. The soft, warm breath of spring-time Is stealing gently by, Telling of fair and sunny climes, Where roses never die. The wild-bird's merry carol Rings from among the trees: And the faint perfume of early flowers Is floating on the breeze. The soft, green grass is springing Beside the murmuring brook, And violets and snow-drops pale, Bloom in each shadowy nook. The gleaming sunlight lingers In every woody dell, Awaking life and loveliness, As with a magic spell. And cheerful ringing voices Float on the balmy air, And glad young hearts are welcoming The spring-time mild and fair. But a tone of sighing sadness Cames with each burst of mirth; Alas! for the loved and lovely ones

Who have passed away from earth

But ve cannot break the mournful spell,

Ye may twine fresh flowery garlands,

To crown each youthful head,

Which binds you to the dead.

EXTRACT. From a Report of the Committee on Foreign Relations, on Stipulated Arbitration made to the Senate of the United States, Feb. 23d, 1853. By Hon. J. R. Underwood. War is an evil of stupendous magnitude in its effects upon the physical welfare of man kind, no one can deny who regards and reasons upon incontrovertible facts. The business of war is to force and secure submission on the part of the enemy by inflicting a destruction of life and property. The purpose of a campaign is to conquer, to subdue the enemy. The means to accomplish it are found sacking of cities, in the devastation of countries, in the sinking of ships, in the seizure and confiscation of eargoes, and in forcing contributions from those who are overrun. The immediate object of war is to create human misery in such a degree, that those who suffer will thereby be influenced to yield to the demands, whether right or wrong, of those who inflict the injury, rather than prolong their sufferings by a continuance of the war. and brothers are consigned, in the vigor of manhood, to sudden death, and their bodies often abandoned without burial, leaving moth- ly divided. ers, wives, daughters, and sisters to lament with exeruciating anguish the loss of that so-

Taking into consideration the debts of the smaller European States and free cities, and adding them to the aggregate of debt as stated in the second table, it may be safely affirmed, that the total public debt of the States of Europe was not less than eight thousand millions of dollars in 1840.

If we consider, by way of contrast, the more beneficial uses to which war-taxes and mense losses and deprivations which mankind have sustained in consequence of devoting their energies and resources to the purposes of war. Thus the interest on the European debt would pay an annual salary of $400 to eight hundred thousand teachers of children. These teachers, allowing thirty children to each, could instruct twenty-four millions of children, of suitable ages, in the usual branches of a common education-as reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and grammar.
Thus the debts of the States of Europe, created by wars, would, as an education fund, teach every child of suitable age within their territories those rudiments of learning which open the door to the highest attainments in science. What blessings would this confer upon the children of the lower classes of Paris and of London; and not only these, but upon the children of all the poor, whose circumstances prohibit the expenditure of money, even if they had it, in educating their chil-

The interest for one year on European wardebts would construct eight thousand miles of railroad, and provide depots, locomotives, cars and everything needful for the transportation of freight and travellers, at a cost per mile not exceeding $40,000. Thus a railroad might be constructed from Paris to Canton, in China; for less than a year's interest on the loses. The expense of keeping and sustain lished every SATURDAY Morning, at $1.00 greater than paying the interest on national per year, in ADVANCE, or $1.50 at the end of debts. And, although the nations of Europe We will c'oso these investigations by re-

A single year's interest at six per cent. on the amount of our national debt, and the amount expended for military and naval purposes during the last fiscal year, would pay a salary exceeding $200 to one hundred school teachers in every conressional district in the United States. We hall only allude to the system of pensions, and the burdens entailed on nations to support pensioners. For the next fiscal year, to meet these claims, more than $2,000,000, according to the Secretary's report, will be wanting. All this is the consequence of war.

All that the committee are willing to advise and recommend for the present is, that,

The several States, constituting the people and government of the United States under the control of the federal or national constitution, have surrendered their right of self-rcdress against each other, and against foreign nations and governments, in many highly important particulars. Perhaps it is not going too far to say, that this right has been fully surrendered to the general government in all cases where the injury complained of has been fully perpetrated and completed, retaining, however, the fullest right to repel the infliction of injuries from any quarter which may be attempted, and which are not consummated-just as any citizen may defend his person, his family, or his property against violent attacks, notwithstanding his surrender of the right of self-redress to his government in most cases. In the opinion of some of the committee, the day will come, in the progress of intelligence and Christianity, when nations will unite in establishing a tribunal in which all international controversies shall be adjudged and determined; but as the committee do not at present intend to recommend measures to that extent, they forbear to go into details of the plan of its operation, or the reasons in support of it.

with foreign nations, it shall be stipulated between the contracting parties, that all differences which may arise shall be referred to arbritators for adjustment. Under such stipulation, the board of arbitrators, or the single arbitrator, would be selected after the occurrence of the difficulty. Each party would be careful to select impartial persons, distinguished for their virtues and talents, and each would have the opportunity of objecting to to any one proposed who might not possess these high qualities. In the opinion of the committee, the arbitrators should be eminent urists having little or no connexion with poitical affairs. If the parties could not agree in the selection of arbitrators, and could not hemselves settle the controversy by a new treaty, then either might undertake to redress, according to its own judgment, the grievance complained of. But, before a resort to arms. in order to retain the respect of mankind, it would be necessary to make an honest effort Contemplated in all its aspects, the committee perceive no evils likely to result from treaty stipulations in favor of referring nation-Il disputes to arbitration for adjustment. AGRICULTURE

Of Professor Mapes before the American Institute, on the cultivation of the Potato. The cultivation of the potato is of the highest importance, and it will give me pleasure to state my experience and perhaps to offer an opinion on such points as seem to me to have been definitely settled. The usual mode marking, that our own public debt, nearly all of planting and of culture is so well understood as to render a repetition unnecessary. The errors I conceive to be first in the selecting of medium or small sized potatoes as seed. Secondly in outling the Secondly in cutting them, and lastly in covering them with too great a depth of

The experiments made by Gen. Beatson on the island of St. Helena, by the request of the British Government, has settled many facts in relation to the culture of the potato There experiments were made on an extended scale, with great exactness, and often repeated From these experiments we learn, that the largest weight and measure of potatoes may be obtained by using the seed potatoes called a tuberous stem plant, all the tubers growing on the stem and never on the roots. General Beatson, therefore recommends as the result of varied experiment, that the potato should never be covered to a greater depth than six inches, and this depth should be attained as soon after the planting as practica-ble. The first covering may be three inches and as soon as four inches of growth is made above the surface of the soil, the other three inches of soil may be added, and the drills should be of such depth as to leave the entire

Mr. Gore asked Prof. Mapes how he sowed surface of the field level after the addition of the last three inches. By this arrangement flat culture may be pursued and the crop will be larger than if raised in hills or elevated rows. In support of these opicions, permit me to state that I have repeated his experiments and found the results stated by him to be practically true. It may not be out of place, having arrived at the facts, to endeavor to understand the cause. First the advantage of flat culture as compared with the hilling of notatoes. As soon as the stem is plainly formed, a certain number of tubers are appen-ded to its sides, and should he pile the earth in the treaties which are hereafter to be made | size and preventing the entire development and perfection of the earlier tubers, and therefore no perfect potatoes are formed, while the imperfect product is of varied size and in> ferior quality. By the system of flat culture, the first tuber s being the only ones, increase rapidly in sizo. No new ones are formed, because no new part of them is covered by soil. The whole result of decay of the original seed tuber goes to feed these potatoes, and regularity of size and superior quality is the consequence. Second. Whole and not cut potatoes should be used, having established the fact, we may thus define the cause. When whole potatoes | quors' may be interesting have been used as seed, with the skin unbro- \ No person shall sell or dispose of any wine, ken, we find after the perfection of the new plant, that this old tuber still remains in the soil of its original size, and slightly increased want of the protection of the skin, on the exposed part, the set rots, acid is formed and the germ has a feeble nutrition for want of starch. Nor will the drying of these sets, or coating them with plaster of paris before planting, produces an artificial skin sufficiently effective to prevent the sloughing of the set; and consequent clamminess and acidity always found in the soil immediately surrounding it. I consider these as sufficient arguments to settle the question as to cut and uncut seed. Thirdly. Large, and not small potatoes, should be selected for seed. The larger the potatoes, the greater the quantity of starch, as compared with the number of eyes. In the smaller potatoes; the material intended to ferm starch have not perfected their growth for the new plant. When another foot of growth had transpired it shold be bent inward, and again covered as before, and so repeating the bendings and poor fellow raked it out as best he could, but begged the crowd to stand back, and would show blossoms when the process is to case. And that the results would be that potators him:

would form all along the stam, producing fifty times the number that would be produced by the old system. As to number, it proved to be nearly or quite true, but as to size and and quality, they were miserably below any potatoes we have ever seen. From all this it would seem that practice and theory go to sustain each other; and it is, therefore, fair to infer that the theory is not to be considered as hypocritical. The speaker afterwards remarked upon the use of muck in growing po-tatoes, charcoal, &c., but our space will not permit us to extend our notice of the learned fessor to a very attentive audience.

Mr. Robinson was satisfied that the theory and practice of Prof. Mapes as to planting whole sound potatos, were undoubtedly correct-his own experience convinced him that whole and of the largest size. Mr. Gore asked Prof. Mapes how he sowed

> The Profesor replied. In rows, two feet and a half apart, I plant from ten bushels to twenty-five bushels on an acre. I raise potatoes for sale as seed. As to the rot, as soon as I had got my soil in proper balance, I had none of it. When all the necessary ingredients are in a soil, there is no more disease. Professor Mapes in answer to a question as to the use of charcoal as a preventative replied that he had put charcoal dust in the drills and then put in potatoes—these never were diseased. While I am up, let me menconcluded that the conversion of the vegetation to charcoal by the flash, was all the benefit received in that case, as it is in any place where fire has carbonized the surface plants.

WEST JERSEY RAILROAD.

We are glad to learn that enough stock has been taken to authorize the formation of a company, with a prospect of speedy construction of the road. Those best acquainted with the subject are sanguine, not only of the construction of the road but also of its paying a good interest to the shareholder on investment even on the start. And why not? The route most likely to be selected is not an expensive one. And in addition to the business already afforded along it, new and large establishments of manufacturing industry are tions. springing up in advance, and as it were soliciting its approach

With the increase of a manufacturing population, a home market for the consumption of the farmers produce must also be increasod, and a demand created for numerous kinds of vegetables, at present unprofitable to the producer because of the difficulty of changing them to cash For the cultivation of many of these our soil is well adapted; and by being placed convenient to market by railway facilities can be rendered profitable. But apart from these considerations, others equally important present themselves. The quantity the market have been sufficient to have re- | dian, also the names of the children. paid those farmers near the route both principal and interest on several shares of stock, so in stock. The shares are small, and by being distributed among many, would make more people directly interested in the business.

The rise in the value of land along the route -the increasing quantity thus enabled to be sheep, or swine found in the street, before brought under cultivation—the multiplying they have committed any trespass or whether variety of the productions thus encouraged are so many additional arguments so strongly staring the agriculturist in the face as to require no proof or illustration.

We hope our farming community will look well to it and not let the road languish for want of their support. Even though they should not live immediately along the line they must experience a benefit in the ways above mentioned with only the slight drawback dependent upon their distance from it.

One of them named Allen, though unable to swim floated up the stream a short distance and was taken into a boat by "Tom" the Barber, who to his credit be it said, has saved several under similar circumstances. The name of the other person was Simpkins, from Pennsgrove, in the employ of Mr. Harker, Blacksmith. He, though a good swimmer, sank to rise no more. It is supposed, from the bruises on his head and face that he was stunned by striking the Monday. Sec advertisement next week. Bridge. The body of Simpkins was not recovered until early yesterday morning. The Odd Fellows took it in charge and sent it to his relatives yesterday afternoon.

That some body, individual or corporate, is blame-worthy for the condition of our Bridge when vessels pass, we have no doubt. Although several have fallen into the Creek and many more been hindered by persons on the gangway, yet no measures have been used to prevent the like in future.

In our paper of June 23, '52, we called especial attention to this subject, but trust, now that human life has been sacrificed, it will be sufficient to secure all proper precaution.

FOR THE LADIES: Spring and Summer Fashion.

NFLUENCED by the prevailing law of Fashion. the subscriber continues as heretofore, to present new fashions at the opening of the various Seasons. Taste demands that these fashions shall ossess new combinations and exhibit aspirations after new forms and embodiments of the useful and beautiful. The increase of his business affords the most gratifying ovidence of the kind apprecia-tion in which his previous efforts have been held. His present offering is a DRESS GAITER for Spring or Summer, in the first style of elegance and distinction—being composed of rich and durable ma-terials. While his principal fashion will undoubtedly be acceptable to the general taste, yet in order to gratify all, the subscriber has prepared variety of styles, so that every one, old and young, plain or gay, can select that most becoming for themselves. The Paris style of Gaiter will com-mend itself for its dross appearance, it being decidedly the Gaiter for the promenade. The subscriber therefore can confidently invite the attention of his friends and the public, to his establishment, giving them the assurance that he is fully enabled to offer articles of his own manufacture, at lower prices and of better quality, than maintain for his goods the distinguished mark of superiority and relative cheapness, which alone render them worthy of commendation and appro-

Mr. Gannon was a temperate man and lef a daughter to mourn his loss. - State Gazette. Rail Road Accident .- A man had a very narrow escape for his life on Thursday of last week at the Montgomery street Edvidere Railroad crossing. Our friend had been drinking to excess, and attempted to drive his horse across the track just as the cars were passing. He was warned of his danger scream of the locomotive, but he gave no heed to either. The 'cow catcher' struck the horse who escaped scathless. The man was thrown out, and was picked up senseless man was found to be cut severely about the head and neck, but upon the application of restoratives he soon so far recovered as to be able to swear a little. He was finally placed upon his fact, when he at once commenced proctaining in a loud voice, his ability to flog the railroad company in particular, and the rest of mankind in general. No blame whatever can be attached to the engineer, the accident being entirely chargeable to the influence of bad liquor .- True American. A young Chippewa Indian recently saw and shot in the neighborhood of Stevens Point Wis., a young bear. Before he had scalped his prize, he found himself in the embrace of old bruin herself! His gun was emm his tomahawk fast in the bear's ho

Dr. HOUCK'S PANACEA s the only medicine for which the Government of the United States has ever granted a patentbecause they considered it the greatest discovery in medicine over made; and that it was destined to save the lives of millions of the human family.— This decision alone should be sufficient to remove all doubt from the minds of every one as to its superlative excellence in conquering disease, and its transcendant power to heal. By Purifying the Blood,

It will cure Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scald Head, White Swellings, Mensles, Uicers, Scres, Biles, Eruptions, Blotches, and all cutaneous dis-cases. It cures Inflammation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia Sick Headache, Vomiting, Loss of Appetite, Faint ing, Costiveness, Leosoness, Piles, &c. By Strengthening the Digestive, and Regulating the Secretive Organs, heartburn stranguary and other painful disorders of the kidneys and bladder. By Quicting the Nervous System, It cures Neuralgia, Hysteries, Palsy, Epilepsy and all other Nervous diseases. It is also unrivalled in mittent Fevers, chills and fover, ague and fever,

Female Complaints. It works wonders in cases of Fluor Albus or whites, Falling of the womb, obstructed, suppressed, or painful Mensis, irregularity of the Menstrual Periods and the like, and it is as effectual in curing all forms cf

Kidney Disease and Liver Complaint. From the powerful alterative properties of this medicine, it is well calculated for diseases of the Liver, which is the great centre of the bile, and is the seat of a variety of diseases neculiar to that organ, and when diseased or obstructed is the exciting cause of many ailments which are of frequent occurrence, such as jaundice, bilieus disorders, coativeness, piles, headashe, drowsiness, pain in Diseases of Children. To no class of human beings is Dr. Ho. ry, bland and appropriate medicine, than to infants and children. Now we hesitate not to declare, that · Children need not Die More than others, if they are sustained by suitable nourishment, and that medicine which is best adapted to their delicate organs and tender years .-Mothers, if you wish to preserve the lives of your children; if you wish to give them a medicine which you may be absolutely certain will not, cannot do them injury, which will infallibly and speedily cure them; if anything on earth can do it, Dr. Houck's Panacea will. Fail not to use it ere it be too late. Diseases of the Langs, As Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Pneumonia Bronchitis, Consumption.

This Great Remedy Is composed of rare and valuable herbs, the properties of which act in harmony with the functions of the human system, calming the nerves, allaying all irritation and pain, dispelling inflammation, and diffusing its Healing & Soothing Properties to every part of the bedy. The estimation entertained of it by medical men and cleaner. may be inferred from the extensive use they make of it in many diseases, for which they possessed no reliable remedy until it was found in DR. HOUCK'S PANACEA. Price Reduced. Dr. Houck, at the carnest solicitation of thousands, has determined to reduce the price of this great and good medicine to ONE DOLLAR PER ROT-TLE, thereby placing it within the reach of all.— His only desire is that it may have a range as universal as it is competent to arrest the whole catalogue of diseases with which humanity is afflicted. He will then be content, because he will be sure that its virtues are widely spread, and the family of man receiving a benefit and enjoying a blessing was entirely bedridden, and could get no relief, until I made trial of your Rheumatic Liniment, to which it has heretofore been a stranger, and in that belief his philanthropy will be gratified and happiness complete.

Dr. STEELING'S PULMONARY SYRUP. THE GREATEST REMEDY For the Cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup,

Cape May Court House, Jan. 1, 1853.

THIS is to Certify that in the fall of 1847, I was attacked with a very bad cold, attended with a servere cough, which continued for some eight weeks, the latter part of which time I raised large quantities of Blood, attended with Ferer and Night Sweats; during all which time my Cough increased in violence, so much so, that I, and also my friends, became alarmed about my case. I had tried various remedies, which had little or no effect, until I was induced to give Brewster's Pectoral Mixture a trial, less than one bottle of which entirely cured my case, to which I cheerfully bear my testimony.

Brewster's Pectoral Mixture is for sale by the proprietor in Bridgeton, and by most of the Stores throughout the country.

Dr. STERLING—Dear Sir—In compliance with your request, that I should express my opinion of your Pulmonary Syrup, I am happy to say that having very frequently used it in my family for various pulmonary complaints, for several years past, and particularly for croup amongst our children, to which they have been more or less subject, we have always found the most beneficial results from its use. Upon the appearance of this distended when the symptoms are severe, we double, and sometimes treble the dose recommended in your printed directions, which speedily produces sick sometimes treble the dose recommended in your printed directions, which speedily produces sickness and vomiting after which the system becomes relaxed, perspiration ensues, the alarming symptoms are removed, and, through the blessing of Providence upon the means used, the sufferer is soon restored to health.
