THE LITTLE HAND.

Our hut was near the ocean marge, One summer many a year ago, Where, all around, the huge rocks plunged Their giant forms in deeps below."

We used to see the sun go down The watery western skies afar, And hail with eager, childish joy, The light of every new-born star.

Along the beach, among the cliffs, Our days in pastime seemed to glide, As if the hours were made to mark The ebb and flow of ocean's tide.

We said; "Till all our locks are gry, Each year in June we'll hither roam And pitch our tent-no other spot Shall be our life-long summer home."

One morn we strolled along the shore, To watch the waves come rolling in; The night had been a night of fear, Of thunder crash and tempest din.

In glee we sang our ocean songs, And on we moved across the sand-"What's that among the salt sea weed?" A little helpless human hand!

We put the cold wet grass aside, The gathering serf we brushed away, And there, in pallid death's embrace, A shipwrecked child extended lay.

We took it from the murderous wave. Looked once upon the storm-scared eyes, Then scooped a grave where waters mean, And oft the wailing sea-bird flies.

The charm had fled—the hut, the cliff, The beach so oftened wandered o'er, Were poisoned by a lifeless hand-We went-and we returned no more!

MORATO.

From Arthurs Home Gazette.

Human Longings for Peace and Rest. There are few whose idea of happiness does not include peace as essential. Most men have been so tempest-tost, and not comforted, that they long for a closing of all excitements at last in peace. Hence the images of the heaven receiving the shattered bark, of the rural vale remote from the noise of towns, have always been dear to human fancy. Hence, too, the decline of life away from severe toil, rapid motion, and passionate action, has often a charm even beyond the kindling enterprise of youth. The cold grave itself repels not altogether, but somewhat allures the

The hazzards of trade, the changes of poitical life, cause them to forget themselves, and so they are rocked into oblivion of internul disquiet by the tess of the ocean waves. They forget the hollowness of their own hearts and cheat themselves into the belief that they are on their way to peace.

Is peace, is rest, so longed for, then, never to be found? Yes, it has been found, though perhaps but seldom, and somewhat imperfecty. That is a state of rest for the soul when all man's powers work harmoniously together one conflicting with another, none hindering another. This rest is complete when every special power in man's nature is active, and works towards some noble end, free to act, yet acting entirely in harmony, each with all and all with each. That is what may be called self-command, self-possession, tranquility, peace, rest for the soul. It is not indifference, it is not sluggishness; it is not sleep; it is activity in its perfect character and highest mode.

Some few men seem born for this. Their owers are well-ballanced. But to most it comes only by labor and life-struggle. Most nien, and above all, most strong men, are so born and organized, that they feel the riddle of the world, and they have to struggle with themselves. At first they are not well balanced. One part of their nature preponderates over another, and they are not in equilibrium. Like the troulled sea, they cannot rest. The lower powers and propensities must be brought into subjection to the higher. All the powers must be brought into harmony. This requires correct views of life, knowledge of the truth, a strong will, a resolute purpose, a high idea, a mind that learns by experience to correct its wrongs. Thus he acquires the mastery over himself, and his passions become his servants, which were formerly masters. Reason prevails over feeling and duty over impulse. If he has lost a friend he does not mourn inconsolably, nor seek to forget that friend. He turns his thoughts more frequently to where that friend has gone and so he goes on until it becomes to him a loss no longer, but rather a gain-a son, daughter, brother or wife, immortal in the singdom of God, rather than mortal and pershing on earth. Gradually ho acquires a perfect command of himself, an equilibrium of all his active powers, and so is at rest.

AGRICULTURE

From the Working Farmer. WEEDS AND WEEDING.

The remedies proposed for doing away with weeds, are only exceeded in number by the number of weeds themselves -but among the many methods some may be adopted with propriety. Some weeds of the smaller kinds are destroyed by burning a slight coating of lit-ter on the surface of the soil in early spring, and market gardeners so prepare soil for raising cabbage plants. Many kinds of the smaler weeds are destroyed by a coating of comnon salt per acre after plowing, and a few days before planting. Some weeds, embracing quite a large class, may be done away with by two plowings at a few weeks apart, and

> A Curious Case. - James B. Barnett. a collored man has applied for a mandamus, to compel the Trustees of the New York Colege, to admit him to the profession of a physcian. The affidavits of the plantiff set forth that Barnet is a Baccalaureate of New York University; that he studied medicine with ed and expelled, because he was a person of color. The Trustees admit the facts, but justify their conduct on the ground, that by the course and usage of that Institution, persons of color are not candidates for the degree of Dr. of Medicine. The Court has reserved its decision for their further deliberation.

A correspondent of the Boston Transcript s responsible for the following dog story: There is a dog residing in one of the cities adjoining Boston, who goes every morning with his basket and money, and purchases his provision for the day. He had always done his marketing at a particular store, until one morning the keeper put into his bas-ket a piece of meat, which after his return home he refused to eat. It proved to be of a different quality from what he had been in the habit of receiving. The next morning he took his basket and money, and marched directly by his accustomed market and made his purchases at another place. Did not this dog show great sense by refusing to spend his coppers in a store where the proprietor failed to meet the expectations of his regular patrons?

The New York Times states that there are now in New York several mercantile houses engaged in the slave trade, and that half a dozen vessels have recently left that and oth-American ports for the African coast. These vessels clear for some Cuban port, where they never arrive; and being provided with false papers, and sailing under the American flag they succeded in reaching the coast, obtaining cargoes of slaves and landing them in Cuba, with the connivance and complicity of the Spanish authorities.

FRANKLIN FERGUSON, EDITORS. JOSEPH A. MILLER.

Progress and Discovery in Cumberland Co Progress is the watchword of the present day; and in no department of industry is it more welcome, than in that of agriculture.-Although the discoveries and improvements as yet made can be considered as merely a commencement of the developments yet to be revealed, for the benefit of the husbandman, it is nevertheless quite gratifying in reviewing the history of the past, to compare the present with former times. Old and worn out Soils, turned out as utterly useless, under the influence of new invigorators, have been made to bloom, and blossom as the rose.

-- The discovery of marl and its influence upon the Soil, formed in this section, quite an erea in the history of farming progress.

Near the same period lime made its appearance as an agricultural agent, since which a constantly increasing commerce in shells, has sprung up, much to the profit of the husbandman. In respect to these two fertilizers Cumberland County possesses within her own borders the elements of internal prosperity .-The numerous navigable streams furnish ample means to a large part of the county, to avail themselves of these, as well as such other agents as may be required to be brought into use. Where these facilities are not afforded, we hope to be able, to hold out a promof the speedy appearance of the "iron horse,' to facilitate the dissemination of all agricultural agents. Besides the natural means, afforded for the improvement of the soil, chemistry, added to a more general diffusion of agricultural knowledge, a more rational system of management, has wrought a change, in the yield of the farm, and the return to the husbandman, capable of being improved to a limitless extent.

We hail these improvements with delight masmuch, as we consider husbandry the most important of temporal pursuits: with its prosperity all classes of society are identified. We much prefer having the farmers boys discussing the merits of phosphates, bone earth. for eligibility to the benefits of our free school and silicia, thus evincing a knowledge of and system, and if there were no impediments in adelphia Steamboat Ferry Company have ad an interest in, the renovaters of the soil, to their engaging in the rustic and hardy sports of our ancestors, because with a population so trained, the march of improvement, will be likely to be still onward. We have spoken of the Marl, and shells, in the county, as forming the elements of agricultural prosperity.

To these we hope to be able to add another which shall ultimately in its results rival either or both of them.

During a visit to the northern part of the county, we were shown specimens of what is termed sand lime. It is said to partake of the nature of lime and marl. Though to appearance much of it is sand, lime is said to form fifty per cent of the compound. Measures are being taken to test its value as a manure. The beds now opened are in Deerfield township, along the old Burlington road and near the Friendship school house.

If it should be found to answer the expectations of the owners it will invest our county with a new and more important position.

From information received from various quarters, we are induced, to believe that large quantities, exist in different parts of the counit, in case experiment should prove it worth munity: and in this pledge I cannot but be- in that city. MESSES. EDITORS:-In last weeks Pioneer ny attention was attracted to what I at first upposed to be a communication on the subect of "social reform." But upon examination it proved to be a review (?) of an article n your cotemporary's columns of date of April 80th over the signature of Beppo. Your correspondent-whose initial V, I suppose we are to consider an abbreviation of Vindicator - takes a position so directly opposite in some respects to Beppo's, that I was nduced to procure and read his (Beppo's) communication. In reading it I was much disappointed. From the tone of V's strictures, I was led to suppose that Beppo had been guilty of slander in the first degree, in misrepresenting the existing state of manuers and morals in Bridgeton; on the contrary I do certainly consider that there is more truth corners of all our towns and villages bear unmistakeable evidence" of this fact. That this is too true in respect of many young men in our midst, every day's or every evening's observation will convince any one. The fact is plain, palpable and glaring. A walk with one's eyes open, in Commerce street from Laurel to Atlantic, any clear evening will furnish abundant proof of it. V. remarks that "from time immemorial this place has been rather remarkable for educational interest felt among the people." I grant this; but we must take into consideration the fact, that many families are, and have been moving into Bridgeton every year for many years past who have not enjoyed the advantages of the "measures taken to secure an education to all" of which your correspondent speaks. Awful Disaster at Sea-Great Loss of Life

The ship William and Mary, (of Bath, Me.,) Cap., Stetson, sailed from Liverpool on the 24th of March, with 208 passengers, bound to New Orleans, was totally lost on the morning of the 3d inst., the Great Isaacs bearing E. S. E., together with 202 of the passengers.

Capt. Stetson, the mate, second mate, and six of the crew were picked up on the 3d inst. Capt. Stetson gives the following particulars of the disaster.

At 7 A. M. 3d May, strong breezes and from S. E. and cloudy, passed the Hole in the Wall at 12 Mer. Stirrup Key bore South, 10 miles distant after which the weather became thicker and wind increased, with a heavy sea. WAR WITH THE FISHERMEN.

The town of Lewes has been thrown into great confusion for the past two days, on acand on Sunday, some dozen or more of the men came ashore, and raised considerable disturbance in the town of Lewes. On Tuesday morning the vessels put to sea, but failing to discover the fishing grounds they returned again the same afternoon. Angered and vexed with their disappointment, a large body of private dwellings, frightening, and insulting private dwellings, frightening, and insulting the female occupants. A few energetic inditions of the female occupants of the female occupants of the female occupants. A few energetic inditions of the female occupants occupants of the female occupants occupant them from returning, at their peril.

Shortly after sundown on Wednesday evening the citizens were aroused to immediate action by the report that one hundred and fifty fishermen were crossing the beach threat ening to attack and burn the town. The men all turned out, armed with guns, muskets and huge clubs. The windows and doors of nearly every dwelling were locked and barred, and the females were in dreadful trepidation. In the meantime, the assailants continued to advance until they reached the bridge which spans Lewes creek, one hundred and fifty yards from the town. Here a skirmish ensued, in which the fishermen were driven back with a few broken heads and bones. By this time, a posse of the citizens had aken possession of a cannon in front of Mr. Buer's Hotel, loaded it with grape shot, and upon the repulse of the fishermen a volley was fired into them. The night was dark, and it could not be ascertained whether any one was street.

The firing of the cannon served as a signal to the pilots off at the Breakwater. Several boat loads immediately came ashore, and joining the citizens, a pursuit was made after the repulsed assailants.

Their rear was protected by a loaded swivel mounted on the bridge, with a slow match kept in readiness.

The pursuing party, numbering a hundred or more, armed with some sixty to eighty guns, quickly reached the heach, and discovered the fishermen had embarked for their vessels. The firing of the cannon warned them of the fact there is plenty of fight in the men of Sussex.

About twenty of the rioters made forcible entrance into the garden of Mr. Thomas Howard, and despoiled the premises of all the nost rare exotics Not content with committing this outrage on the property of an unoffending individual, they turned upon Mr. Howard, and threw rotten eggs at him, and drove him from his garden.

Another party entered the house of Dr Hall, and insulted the females. The same party burst into the house adjoining, and drove the females into the back buildings, where they succeeded in resisting the further advances of the fishermen by barring all the entrances.

In the skirmish, Mr. Wm. A. Morrow had his leg severely hurt. Mr. Morrow, at one time stood alone on the footway which extends across the beach, and with but a simple pistol he kept the whole party at bay. The fishermen stale from off the beach several anchors, and all the loose property they could lay their hands on. When the disturbance first occurred, a des patch was sent off up the river for the reve- Mens Fine Boots, Sewed and Pegged, friends came to the rescue, the Jews support- nue cutter to come to the assistance of the

With a telescope, several small squads of the fishermen are now seen on the beach off the light house, prowling about, and plundering the shore of all property of a moveable haracter. S it not truly astonishing how cheap goods are selling at Richardsons store in Prosperity Row Defining at Andrews of the bridge.

The large amount of goods he sells daily may be accounted for from the fact that he buys his goods on the very best terms—gets them chehpis willing to sell with a reasonable profit—as my expenses are small for living, and will guarantee all a b rguin who may favor him with a call. He has just opened a splendid assortment of Fronch English and American dry goods—comprising al rost every variety of style.

Farmers may be assured that by bringing their produce to Richardson's they can get the highest price and buy Goods right.

Cash Paid for Butter, Eggs, and Rags &c.

An early call is solicited. JOHN S. RICHARDSON.

FOR THE LADIES: Spring and Summer Fashion

INPLUENCED by the prevailing law of Fashion, the subscriber continues as heretofore, to prebeautiful. The increase of his business affords the most gratifying evidence of the kind appreciation in which his previous efforts have been held. His present offering is a DRESS GAITER for Spring or Summer, in the first style of elegance and distinction-being composed of rich and durable materials. While his principal fashion will undoubtedly be acceptable to the general taste, yet in orplain or gay, can select that most becoming for homselves. The Paris style of Gaiter will commend itself for its dress appearance, it being decidedly the Guiter for the promenade.

The subscriber therefore can confidently invite the attention of his friends and the public, to his establishment, giving them the assurance that he s fully enabled to offer articles of his own manufacture, at lower prices and of better quality, than are usually met with. It will ever be his aim to maintain for his goods the distinguished mark of superiority and relative cheapness, which alone render them worthy of commendation and appro-
