From Arthurs Horse Gazette. THE VISIT HOME.

BY. L. CHITWOOD.

I've been in our home to-day, And saw the sunlight creep Through the half-open lattice, where The blue birds used to sleep. Their pretty nests had fallen down. And not a chirp was heard, To bring from Memory's fairy land A love-enwreathed word.

How silent was our little room; The shadows on the floor Of gently stirring locust leaves Fell trembling near the door. And one sweet-lipp'd coquettish breeze Came singing from the west: It brought a tiny myrtle bud,

And laid it on my breast. The river wound its shining arms, Around the clovered hill; And, now and then, I heard the rush Of water from the mill; And, ruddy in the sunset glow, I saw the old church spire Pictured against the distant sky

Fell heavy on my hands; For, like a child, I'd wandered back To life's bright morning lands, Forgetting that the glorious isle Was wrapped by mists of years, Forgetting what had intervened Of gloomy doubts and fears.

In characters of fire.

The night drew near, and moonbeams pale Fell softly on my curls, As listened I the distant tones Of merry village girls; I turned to look, and fancy brought Thy dear form to my side, And I forgot that distance spread

Its arms between us wide. I heard the twitter low and soft Of birds beneath the caves, And sweet Eolus singing out

A vesper to the leaves: And oh! my sad heart panted for The fire upon the hearth, And those dear forms that made for me

But where were they? I looked afar, And slabs of marble white Stood motionless beneath the trees, And ghostly in the light. I know they sleep most sweetly there, From care and sorrow free. O love me sister dear,

An Eden of the earth.

There is none left but thee. I've been in our old home to-day, And all alone have wept, As those can only weep whose hearts . Life's early dreams have kept. I never can go there again, It is no place for me; With crushed heart I turn away,

IMPROVEMENT OF THE MIND.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

There is none left but thee.

We often find two persons who have been equally well educated at school, one of whom intelligence. This does not always arise from thinker, or the wildest theorist, the superior ability of one, because one of The idea that labor-manual labor-is de-

But if she mingle with those of the other class she will find herself at once upon a higher plane, and be impressed with the pleasing consciousness that she has a mind that can think and feel inthat she has a mind that can think and feel interested in subjects of a general and more weighty interest. An hour spent with one terested in subjects of a general and more class leaves the mind obscure and vacant; while an hour spent with the other elevates, expands and strengthens its powers, and causes it to see a clearer atmosphere.

With one or the other of these classes roung lady is almost sure to identify herself, and rise into an intelligent woman, or remain nearly upon the level she at first occupied. We need not say how important it is for her to identify herself with the right class. Of course, her own tastes and preferences will have much to do in this matter. But if she incline toward the unthinking and frivolous and old men, remember, whatever your occushe will be wise if she resist such an inclination, and compel herself for a time to mingle gle with those who look upon life with an eye on you. The importance and necessity of reading need hardly be affirmed. Its use is fully understood and admitted. But there is great danger of encryating the mind by improper reading. For a young girl to indulge much in novel reading is a very serious evil. Few of the popular novels of the day are fit to go into the hands of a young and imaginative girl. Apart from the false views of life which they present, and the false philosophy which they too often inculcate, they lift an incovarianced readow entirely above the read they have the readow entirely above the readow entirely above the readow. inexperienced reader entirely above the real tifleial manures the manufacture was very infrom whence she has too little inclination to considerable. She may be able to converse fluently, and to make herself at times very agreeable in conversation, even to those who are greatly her superiors; but she has no strength of intellect, nor has she right views of life.

AUTHORSHIP OF THE BIBLE.

There are in all sixty-six books, which comprise the volume of the Holy Writ, which are attributed to more than thirty different authors, or writers of the whole.

Half of the New Testament was composed by St. Paul, and the next largest writer is the gentle and beloved St. John. With the single exception of Paul, neither history or tradition has testified that these powerful thinkers and writers ever enjoyed the benefits of education, or that they were trained to scholarship and learning; yet how ably have they written; what emiuent characters have been chronicled by them, and what great events recorded-loth for time and eternity! Jeremiah is sorrowful; Isaiah sublime; David poetical; Daniel sagacious; Habakuk and Hagai denunciatory; but they all seem to have exercised their natural wits, under the influence of Divine direction and inspiration. Mesos with his vast knowledge and profound intelligence-the legislator, and reformer, the deliverer, -commenced the work; and John, with his depth of feeling and exquisite tenderness and simplicity, completed it.

And what do we know of the lives of all these or even of the two last mentioned?-Nothing that human vanity might exult in. Moses was rescued from the oozy rushes of the Nile; and John died in his old age, a lonely exile on the island of Patmos.

Cubical nitre or nitrate of soda, is in rapid demand—even refuse and low priced common salt has been so completely bought up for agricultural purposes, as to render it nearly or quite impossible to buy the refuse article at less than the regular market price for that of better quality. Wastes of factories of all kinds are in high demand. Gas-house lime, ammoniacal liquor, woolen waste, nair, bone-dust, waste of glue factories, and every article capable of being used to fertilize the soil, is in active demand—and if all those substances be judiciously used, and in localities where needed, the country will be largely the gainer by such increased use.

Poudrette companies, of which there are several about New York, have increased demand for their manufactures.

A few years since our old style farmers could scarcely be made to believe that sulphuric acid would ever be used as a fertilizer, while now the consumption of this article by agriculturists, is already of the highest importance. Hundreds of carboys per day are used by the manure manufacturers, and this demand has principally grown since our introduction of the Improved Superphosphate of Lime.

For a time we may anticipate that many persons will be disappointed by the improp-er use of the artificial manures; and we shall hear much complaints by those who have selected badly, against the use of such fertili-God pity the man or woman who has noth, zers; but all who use them properly will realize increased profits, and we may anticipate that the power of the soil to produce, will be

The New England husbandman regards the crop as susceptible of profitable cultivation only in conjunction with Indian Corn, and, indeed, it is rarely the case that we see it in any other situation.-The usual method is to plant a few beans in every hill of corn, or in vacant spaces between the hills, and to cultivate the two crops conjointly. There is no reason why the field cultivation of the bean should not be as common and successful here as in Europe. The soil best adapted to their growth is a light sandy, and rather free soil, with a rapid descent, and somewhat inclined to dryness. The land should be ploughed in spring, well harrowed and rotted; it should then be thrown into two bant ridges, and bone manure applied at the rate of twenty-five bushels to the acre. The seed ought never to be dropped

LARGEST CIRCULATION F In West Jersey!

Only $1 00 per Year!

FRANKLIN FERGUSON, EDITORS. JOSEPH A. MILLER.

Five years have now elapsed since we became Proprietor of the West Jersey Pro-NEER; they have been years of toil both of body and mind, to establish the Pioneer, beyoud a doubt, among the first class of Newspa pers in the State: - our patrons we leave to judge how far we have succeeded. We have also been at considerable outlay to effect this object, and necessarily have made our profits in the matter very small. On the Pioneer we realize, beyond the cost of white paper, fifty cents per year on each subscriber, (when paid in advance) and less if not: while our cotemporaries of the same size at $2 make a profit of one dollar and fifty cents. We allude thus to the contrast in profits, to show. that the Pioneer, will save to its patrons one dollar per year, by the economical process of paying in advance.

The PIONEER is now established and has a circulation of over twelve hundred, principally in this county, which makes it a medium through which to advertise, we believe no equalled in West Jersey.

We have had, for the past three months, associated with us Joseph A. Miller, of whose ability to make the paper of local interest you have had an opportunity to judge. This adds another item of expense, which has become necessary, from decline in my health. the duties of the past five years having been too arduons.

Viewing the enterprise as it now stands we feel assured our patrons will not fail to pay punctually their subscription in advance, or if neglected, pay us the one dollar and twenty-five cents before the expiration of the first

We now have a large number on our list whose year is about up and we will be obliged, yea, we need them to be punctual to ena ble us to keep our stock of paper, and meet the weekly expense of our office. THE TAX LAW.

As the time for the annual assessment has It strikes us as somewhat ridiculous, to see again come round, our citizens will naturally the editor of a democratic paper carry him- feel an interest in the Tax Law, somewhat elf against us on a charge, whether real or in proportion as their pockets are to be affecsumed, of opposing an undue and oppressive | ted by it. As some of our readers may not xercise of power. It is just precisely the be very familiar with the various provisions nission of an independent journal to speak out of the law, we will transfer to our columns, when any such danger is threatened. In the seventh section, which is more immediately our article referred to, we said or implied interesting to our citizens at this particular

"Sec. 7. This oath is to be taken before the assessor and must be made prior to the time when by law it shall be the duty of the assessor to complete such assessment, and shall be filed within thirty days thereafter in the clerk's office of the county where the same was taken there to remain of records.

It will be seen that this section authorizes owing by the person, assessed; as are not

Another proviso of the section, prescribes the most reliabe route for the country and the manner of proceeding when the abatement stockholders; and that is to connect at the for debts is to be made. It provides, "that where any person shall claim a deduction for debts due or owing by him, he shall make an oath or affirmation that he has given to the assessor the full amount of all his personal property or that held in trust by him. and that he is worth no more than the amount named by him." This oath is to be taken before the assessor, and filed in the clerks office within thirty days.

From an examination of the section, we cannot sec, that any assessor is authorized to make a deduction for the debts of any persons, until the oath is taken. The authority to make an allowance for debts, is dependant, upon that proviso. This may be a rigid although a literal construction of the law." Fly in the Wheat .- Many farmers in parti of New Castle county, in the State of Delaware, and in the southern part of Chester county, Pa., complain that the Hessian fly has very materially injured the growing wheat. This was particularly observed after the high wind on Thursday week. Fields that promised an abundant yield before the storm, were found afterwards to have the appearance of half the stalks broken down, where they had been injured by the fly.

In many parts of Buck's county, Pa., the ravages of the fly have been more sweeping than any season for years past. Fields that at the first of May presented the appearance of an abundant baryest this summer, have been out almost entirely off. Outs and grass are looking remarkably well.

Attempt to Escape from the State Prison. Mr. Vandeveer, keeper of the New Jersey State Prison, discovered that Shields, one of the most desperate convicts in the prison, had arranged a complete plan to make his escape, a part of which required the death, or disabling of one of the keepers. He had cut loose the screws of the inside iron door so as to enable him to get in between the inside and outside door. His plan then was to knock down the person who brought him his food the moment he opened the outside door, then run to were putting in the heating apparatus, covered with cane and lengthened out so as to sling but she managed to jerk herself out of the it around with great force for the purpose of way; in so doing, however, one of her legs defence. The boilers were new, and the boat, which was owned by E. R. Blackwell, of Buffalo, and Capt. S. M. Johnson, of Chicago; was valued at $10,000. The engineer's life is despaired of; he was dragged out of the engine room after the explosion, terribly scalded.

BRIDGETON, APRIL 23, 1853. IS it not truly astonishing how cheap goods are selling at Richardsons store in Prosperity Row Commerce st. west of the bridge.

The large amount of goods he sells daily may be accounted for from the fact that he buys his goods on the very best terms—gets them cheap—is willing to sell with a reasonable profit—as my expenses are small for living, and will guarantee all a bergain who may favor him with a call. He has just opened a splendid assortment of French, English and American dry goods—comprising almost every variety of style. Farmers may be assured that by bringing their produce to Richardson's they can get the highest

Important Information for Rheumatics. Haddonfield, March 26th, 1852. Dr. Steelling-Dear Sir-Some time since I was attacked with a severe Inflammatory Rheumatism, was entirely bedridden, and could get no relief, until I made trial of your Rheumatic Liniment, which entirely cured me, after I used two bottles of it. I would observe that before using your Liniment, I had a physician, but derived no benefit from his medicines. I have also been cured of a severe attack of Lumbago by the same Liniment. My wife had a severe attack of Rheumatism, which entirely deprived her of the use of one of her hip joints; she used two bottles of your Liniaent and was entirely cured. I could also relate several other cases of Rhoumatism, where I have recommended it, which were also cured by Steelling's Liniment. Yours truly,
