CIRCULATION 1300

Only $1 00 per Year!

FRANKLIN FERROUS, JOSEPH A. MILLER, Editors.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

In establishing a system for the free diffusion of school knowledge, the wants and interests of all parties of the community should be considered. Society with us is composed chiefly of the industrial and working classes; and it is the children of these, who are to be benefited mainly by a system of free schools. In almost all departments of labor, through the multiplying aids afforded by mechanical ingenuity and skill, children have become valuable auxiliaries. The employment of machinery so simple in its construction as to be worked by them has created an extensive demand for their assistance; so that at the time when their minds are most susceptible of acquiring lasting impressions in school learning, they are compelled to be exerting their energies in the field of labor. This condition of things will probably remain as long as the world stands; and the question arises whether, from this "chaos of facts" we can originate such a plan for the disbursement of the school revenue, as shall diffuse still more widely the benefit of a common school education. In Philadelphia the experiment of public evening schools, has been successfully tried, much to the advantage of such youth as were compelled to devote their days to manual exercise. There is no good reason why in towns and villages, the public money should not be employed for maintaining evening, as well as day schools. There are many causes continually exerting an influence that ex-lude numbers of children from an equal participation in the benefits of the day school; and as the school revenue is designed for the public benefit, it ought to be so appropriated as to accomplish the greatest amount of good. There is no class of society more really in need of school education than factory operatives. It is alike the interest of the individual and the community, that every mechanic should understand all the laws which regulate the movements of the machine he is operating. These can best be understood and comprehended by those whose minds have been trained and expanded by the instructions of the school room. Whilst the establishment and support of evening schools would afford to many an opportunity for instruction they cannot now enjoy, it would also impart to the mind a more vigorous and healthy exercise of its powers and furnish it with food particularly calculated to strengthen it for the after events of life. Instead of the lewdness and profanity so common as themes of converse, we might reasonably expect more moral and dignified subjects of thought and reflection. Labor and study can be so mingled, as to be mutually beneficial to each other. If the body has not been overtaxed through the day, mental exercise through the evening will not add an unhealthy fatigue. But there are much weightier reasons for the establishment of evening schools, than merely the amount of school knowledge thus obtained. An examination of the criminal annals of our large towns and cities, discloses the starting fact that of the crime committed in them and brought to public knowledge, nearly nine tenths is committed under cover of night and by minors. That nearly the same ratio of criminals are almost entirely destitute of school learning is so well attested as to require no illustration. These are appalling facts, and call to us in unmistakable tones, to leave no effort untried for the cultivation of every intellect in the land. Nearly all towns furnish places and inducements to attract the young and thoughtless to indulge in amusements that say the least are unmeaning and useless. Substitute for these, the school room under such regulations as shall make it accessible to all, and we not only accomplish much positive good but also prevent much positive evil. The evening hours instead of being spent in plotting some violation of law or order, would be employed in the pursuit of that which would ennoble and make manhood glorious. Besides this the habit thus acquired of improving that portion of time so frequently wasted, would be of itself an invaluable acquisition. We again repeat that the public welfare demands, that free evening schools should be established in all places, where any portion of the children are disabled from attending through the day, and common justice requires that a portion of the public fund should be appropriated for their support. Thanksgiving day was very generally observed by our citizens. Religious meetings were held in nearly all the churches and places of business were mostly closed. The town was nearly as quiet as on the Sabbath.

Charles D. Hinchel, Esq., has disposed of the Camden Democrat to Col. Isaac Mickle, who will hereafter be editor and proprietor. We wish Mr. H. all prosperity and improved health in his retirement from the arduous duties of an editor. WORTHY OF IMITATION.—By the report of the Superintendent of Public Schools in the city of Philadelphia it appears that $16,907 were appropriated, for the support of evening schools, for the year ending June 30, 1855.

Poultry.—In visiting the different

of the county, we are pleased to observe the growing interest manifested in the improvement of the stock of poultry. In the upper part of this and the lower part of Salem Co., much attention has been directed to the subject, and the poultry trade has already become an important and remunerative branch of business. Scarcely a farmer but what has introduced some of the improved breeds among his stock. Even in remote and out of the way farm houses it is quite common to see stately shagbills or splendid Cochins. China's marching majestically among the humbler descendants of our grand sire's hen roosts. As an evidence that these improved breeds are duly appreciated, we will state that Mr. Samuel R. Hand of Pleasantville in this county, who by the way has a splendid pair of Cochins Chinas, recently sold fifteen little chickens for fifteen dollars. Poultry raising can be made quite profitable, particularly by those living in the country. Notwithstanding the increased facilities afforded by the different railroads for getting eggs and poultry quickly and cheaply into market, and the increased amount raised in those parts of the country adjacent to the large cities the price seems to go steadily upward. During the present fall the prices have perhaps ranged higher than on any previous season, giving to the producer an assurance of a constant and almost unlimited demand for them. The very rapid increase in the growth of American cities and the flourishing condition of American manufactures, create such a steady demand for all kinds of farm produce, as to ensure prosperity to the American farmer for an untold number of years to come.

LEAD PIPES.—We learn from an exchange that Dr. Anderson of Wilmington N. C., has recorded and published in Dr. Hay's Journal twelve marked cases of lead poisoning produced without a question, from drinking water carried through 2000 feet of Lead Pipe. The disease beside the other characteristics presented in each instance the blue line around the gums and teeth, and the lead was satisfactorily detected by chemical tests in the water. We have before cautioned our readers against the free use of water conveyed through lead pipes. This is the first instance we have noticed, where the matter has been so satisfactorily tested by actual chemical experiments. The subject is well worthy the careful attention of scientific men. We have long been satisfied from cases under our own observation, that some water receives a deleterious property from being conveyed through lead pipes, although experience seems to prove, that all water does not become so infected. Why water in some places should be rendered injurious and not in others has not yet been satisfactorily determined.

ACCIDENT FROM FLUID.—MESSRS. EDITORS.—While Mrs. Ann, wife of Mr. Casper Gregory, near Willow Grove, N. J., was preparing to retire to rest last Friday evening the 11th inst., she attempted to fill a lamp while burning and while engaged in the act the fluid caught from the blaze of the lamp and her dress being open, her throat and bosom were burned in a most shocking manner. Reader, be admonished by this, and when your lamp needs filling be sure to be out of the reach of fire; by so doing you may prevent extreme suffering and loss of life. W. W.

WELCOME FRIENDS LODGE NO. 48, I. O. O. F.—The Committee appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of this Lodge in the death of our Bro. CHARLES OGDEN, submit the following:—Brothers, Agin has death entered our little circle and borne one whom we all respected. "to that borne from whence no traveller returns." Again have we been called to stand by the new made grave of one we all loved, and see all that remains of him on earth, deposited in the cold caverns of the ground.—There must be a first to die from every company, and as there must be a first, there must also be a second, a third, a fourth, until all are gone. For we read "it is appointed unto all once to die." Once, yes, twice, since the commencement of the present term, have we been summoned to convey the remains of brothers to the silent tomb. Who of us will next be called, we do not know. In consequence of our recent bereavement your committee offer the following resolutions. Resolved, That in the death of our late fellow member, CHARLES OGDEN, we feel our great loss, and that a vacancy has been made, which is not easily filled, yet believe it becomes us to be still, and bow in submission to the will of Him "who doeth all things well." Resolved, That we will clothe our Lodge in mourning the balance of the term as a mark of respect to our deceased brother. Resolved, That the thanks of this Lodge are due to those brothers who so kindly and faithfully watched by the sick and dying bed of our brother. Resolved, That we tender our sincere sympathy to, and mingle our tears with those of the relatives and friends of our deceased brother in their great affliction, but hope that their loss has been their eternal gain. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Bridgeton papers for publication. ELI E. BATEMAN, WILLIAM MOORE, E. O. BATEMAN, Nov. 21, 1855.

The President's Message is to be sent to the Postmasters of the cities on the principal railroad and telegraph routes in advance, to be given to the newspapers the moment it is presented to Congress, on the 5th or 6th of December. Stationery.—The Treasurer and Secretary of State have advertised for proposals for supplying the stationary required for the use of both branches of the Legislature and the public offices. The time limited for the putting in of bids is Wednesday, the 30th day of November.

For the West-Jersey Pioneer.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—The best number of your paper appeared this morning, emanating from the Centre of the State. Maine Law party, deny that they are at the corner near E. DAVIS & SON'S Hotel, was a Temperance gun. Am. for are the readers of the said card, to understand by this, that the Committee acknowledge that the men engaged in the firing of the gun, are misnamed Temperance Men! Or are we to infer that they would convey the idea that "Maine Law" were not of the party? If the latter, I throw back upon the honorable committee, the opprobrious terms in which they have chosen to speak of me, and with the full conviction and certain knowledge, that men styling themselves of the Temperance party were parties to the shooting. I declare their denial to be a falsehood as mean as it is gross. Nov. 25 '55. SAMUEL HARRIS.

General Kosciuszko received from his sovereign the King of Poland, a little before the destruction of that kingdom, a golden cross, beautifully enamelled, of the Order of St. Stanislaus. On one side of this cross are the letters S. A. R. P., the initials of Stanislaus Augustus Rex Poloniae with the figures 1792. On the reverse are the words Virtuti Militari. When Kosciuszko was last in this country, in 1817, he was being informed that a son of Shepley and Alcock, Esq., of that place, was named after him, he presented the lad this golden cross, which is still preserved in that family. New York Express.

We understand that the person referred to above is the Rev. Dr. Kollock of Greenwich, who still possesses the gift of the distinguished patriot and will with pleasure exhibit it to the inspection of the curious.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE for December has been received and is unusually attractive.—Although the concern has passed into other hands, GEO. R. GRAHAM has been retained as editor—a position in which he has but few rivals and no superiors. His talents and assiduity have raised it to a popularity but seldom attained. The engravings in the present number, are executed in the very highest style of art. The contributions are from some of the most popular writers of the day. The article on "Debating Societies" should be read and considered by every young man in the country.

The Newark Daily says, "The number of members elected to the Legislature as Temperance men, is stated at about 12. But it seems probable that several others will vote for a prohibitory law, who were not elected on that issue, but come from districts where the liquor interest prevails, and where the general sense of the people is favorable to such an enactment. Perhaps the number of those who will favor the bill may be twenty or more but not sufficient; as far as we can learn, to pass it, which requires 31 votes in the House, and 11 in the Senate."

PHILADELPHIA AND LIVERPOOL STEAMSHIPS.—Two more steamers are to be added by the company to their line. The "City of Philadelphia," the third steamer, is nearly completed; and the fourth, the "City of Baltimore," of 2500 tons, has been contracted for. When these vessels are complete, there will be four departures from Philadelphia once every fortnight. The Manchester and the Glasgow have been very successful, and the increased business calls for a third and a fourth vessel. The "City of Pittsburgh," the 3rd vessel of the line, was too large for the Liverpool docks.

New County.—On the 31st ult., a meeting of the inhabitants of the upper parts of the counties of Morris, Passaic, and Bergen, N. J., was held at Pompton Plains, at which resolutions were adopted in favor of the formation of a new county, to be composed of the townships of Philadelphia, Pompton and West Milford, in the county of Passaic, the whole or part of the townships of Pequannock, and of parts of the townships of Jefferson and Rockaway, in the county of Morris, and the whole or parts of the townships of Franklin and Hoboken, in the county of Bergen. Application will be made to the next Legislature of New Jersey to authorize the new county.

A Valuable Invention.—We have recently examined a specimen of paper designed for printing bank bills, checks, bills of lading, or any document of value, which is manufactured in such a way as to defy even a habitually counterfeiting or altering, without the fraud being detected at sight. The peculiarity of the invention consists in its manufacture entire, and is of such a character as will enable the banks to denote the validity of the bills they issue, in mixed letters, without a corresponding indentation on the opposite side; but which will not interfere with the present mode of printing. The process is the invention of Dr. Wm. F. Harrison, of Camden, a bank note and steel engraver.

A Spaniard in Congress.—The New Mexican papers inform us that the Senor Don Jose Manuel Gallegos has been elected delegate to Congress from the Territory of New Mexico, and he is commended to the kind consideration of the powers at Washington, as a Democrat of the purest water. Whether he is a hard or soft, terrified or unterrified, is not stated. But at any rate the Hon. Mr. Gallegos is a Democrat, and the first of Spanish race that has ever been sent to Congress. The papers add that he does not understand a word of English.

Intendianism in Haddonfield.—On Wednesday morning a barn belonging to Mr. S. M. Reeves, and owned by Dr. Woodruff, of Haddonfield, were consumed by fire. It is supposed they were set on fire, as several suspicious characters have been lurking about the town. Several valuable horses, we learn have been rescued with difficulty. Attempts were made to rob the stores of Mrs. Somers and Mr. Stout, but the robbers becoming alarmed fled the premises.

Oysters are in full season. Some half dozen on wagons arrived yesterday from the oyster beds to supply our Trenton retailers. The crop this season is said to be of a most excellent quality, and is well worth the trouble of procuring it. It is a little remarkable that a vast quantity of these oysters are being taken up by our population, and that the places in Trenton where oysters are retailed, and all are doing a very good business. OBITUARY.

Near Roadtown, on the 22d inst., Mrs. MARGARET HOANSON, wife of George Hoan, in the 74th year of her age. Her disease was one which was lingering and painful, yet she was scarcely ever known to complain, she endured all the afflictions of life with Christian resignation. At the age of sixteen she gave her heart to God and her name to the M. E. Church, in which she remained until her death. Her life was one of piety, and well could she exclaim, as she did, a few hours before her exit, in the language of the great Apostle: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." She lived the christian's life, and died the christian's death. Well may it be inscribed "Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his."

A Great and Important Change!

CHANGES of all kinds are of such very common occurrence at the present day, that little or no notice is taken of them, unless they are of a very extraordinary nature. A change of the kind took place in this town a few days since, and the inhabitants of this place and vicinity, were surprised when they heard the intelligence, that Samuel R. Fithian, had taken the Old Stand, at the N. East corner of Laurel and Washington streets, formerly occupied by John Salkeld, where he intends keeping a full Stock of Dry Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Queensware, Earthenware, &c., which he will offer to the inspection of the public, and will dispose of, on the same terms as can be purchased elsewhere and to which he solicits the attention of buyers, knowing they will only wish to visit him, to find out the truth of the above assertion. 5th CALL.

THERE are still a large number of unsettled accounts on my part, and I wish most to be settled. Fifteen months have elapsed since they were closed; therefore, none can find fault about the consequences—if they wish left with an attorney. I am bound to sell cheap. H. J. MULFORD, Bridgeton, Oct. 25, 1853.

GILLING THREAD.

SAMUEL L. FITZHIAN has now on hand and for sale at very low prices, about 2000 lbs of superior 2 and 3 cord Gilling Thread. Fishermen and others are invited to call and examine it whether they purchase or not. Oct. 15, 1853.

WANTED.

ALL the Ladies to know that I have just received the largest and best assortment of Boxer Knives, that can be found in town. Ladies call and look at them before you get your Bonnets trimmed for fall and winter. I am bound to sell cheap. J. S. RICHARDSON, Bridgeton, Oct. 15, 1853.

FARMERS and all take your Butter, Eggs and Produce to Richardson's and trade it out for some of his very Cheap Goods. The people say he sells cheaper than any one in Bridgeton, and takes all kinds of trade—especially good bread and bank notes. Give him a call. Oct. 15, 1853. It seems to me that I saw the richest patterns of cloth, tape and fine cloths at Richardson's Cheap Store, that I ever saw in my life, and he sells them very low. Oct. 15, 1853.
