For the West Jersey Pioneer. A REQUIEM.

BY ESTELLA MAURICE.

Gently, gently, close her eyes, Soft and blue as noonday heaven; Now the silver cord is loosed, Now the ties of life are riven.

Fold the snowy funeral robe Round her slender graceful form, Which hath like a summer flower, Bowed before the rushing storm.

Part the soft brown, waving hair Smoothly o'er the marble brow, Close the finely chiselled lips, Silent is their music now.

Let us fold the lily hands Lightly on her quiet breast, Pain and sorrow now are o'er, Peaceful is her silent rest.

Now we scatter o'er her bier Summer's brightest, fairest flowers, Frail and perishing as they, She hath passed from earthly bowers

Dust to dust, and earth to earth, Spirit to the living God; Bow we now in hope and faith, To our Father's chasten Gently, lightly, heap the earth On our loved one's pulseless breast; Sadly, mournfully, we turn From her solemn place of rest.

In one of the long 'busses, when every sent on the shady side was occupied, a very large woman entered and took a place opposite, seating herself sideways, her back to the door looking out of the window. Presently entered the conductor, taking fares, and touching her gently on the shoulder, held out his hand for a ticket. She supposing it to be a signal from some one behind to move up, made way. The conductor touched her again-she moved extended hand, which she, imagining herself recognized, grasped with a most hearty shake. and a loud "how do you do?" The conductor entered into the joke and returned the squeeze, while she, with a most puzzled expression of face, tried in vain to think where she had seen him before. A laugh from some of the passengers soon set her right and she handed over the fare.

The battle in question is the greatest naval engagement that has occurred since that of Navarino. It was accompanied by terrific loss of life, and involved the total destruction of twenty-one ships-of-war. On the 30th of November, the Russian fleet from Sebastopol under Admiral Machinoff, comprising 24 sail, appeared off the Turkish harbor, Sinope, where Vice-Admiral Osman Bey lay with 14 Turkish sail. A battle immediately commenced, and the shore batteries being of no use, the Russians forced the harbor.

GREAT FIRE IN NEW YORK.

The Ships Great Republic, Joseph Walker and White Squall destroyed—Loss more than $1,900,000. Another terrible and destructive conflagraterest, bringing an account of a tremendous one o'clock on Tuesday morning, a fire broke naval battle between the Russian and Turk. occupied by Messrs. Treadwell & Son, as the "Novelty Bakery." Unfortunately, says the Commercial Advertiser, there was a strong breeze from the westward at the time, and the flames made rapid progress. The most destructive part of this great conflagration remains to be described. As has been remarked, the wind was blowing violently from the westward, and the fire was language of a spectator, who informs the Advertiser that he was present at the earliest stage of the calamity, the flames were borne across the roof of the block lying between South and Front streets like a whirlwind of the owner can have by applying to Daniel T. fire, and the buildings seemed to be canopied The Turks fought with the utmost despera- by a sheet of flame. The burning fragments of wood which were alone escaped.

The rigging of the Great Republic, whose tall masts towered above the rest, was the first to take fire, and the flames then spread with terrible fury and rapidity. The burning sails falling upon the deck, ignited the hull, and it was soon apparent that this mammoth ship with her immense eargo would be destroyed. It is said that it was impossible to tow her into the stream, owing to the lowness of the water, and for the same reason it is said that although she was scuttled, the destruction of the greater part of her hull could ing the bottom. were insured in an English office. The Joseph Walker was bound out, and was to sail as soon as her cargo was completed. The ship White Squall was also built at New York in 1850. She measured 1100 tons, was valued at @90,000, and was owned by Platt & Sons, of Philadelphia, and Booth & Edgar, of New York. It is said that she was fully insured, partly in Wall street, and partrived at New York from San Francisco on the 20th inst., but had no cargo on board except copper ore to the value of $10,000.

The diggings in the river beds have been abandoned, and in many cases valuable dams flumes, &c., have been swept away, although the rise has not been great. The miners now look back upon and count their profits and losses for the last six months.

The shipments show that undiminished amounts of gold have been produced, yet many of the diggers complain that they have spent much money in canalling, machinery, &c., and have made little.

The flumes which have not been carried off are being taken down to be used next year. The miners are pretty well prepared for the winter, and if it be favorable, the golden harvests will be richer than ever.

Some miners have no good prospect for the winter are preparing for next summer. Canals, to be finished by June, have been commenced on the North Yuba and North Fork of the American River.

Many similar enterprises have been planned, and they will have a very important effeet on the prosperity and produce of the

New diggings have been found in a number of points, but nothing extensive.

Near Minnesota, in Sierra county, the tunnels pay very well. A lead two hundred feet wide, evidently once the bed of a stream, has been found under a mountain, and 600 feet above the level of the Middle Yuba, near by. In this lead are found the remains of trees, some rotten, others petrified, others changed into a mineral resembling sulphate of iron. Several valuable quartz veins have been opened in El Dorado; and some discoveries have been made in Calaveras, which, it is thought, will raise the latter to a high position among the quartz counties. From Oregon and Washington Territories. - Advices from Oregon and Washington Territories are two weeks later, to Nov. 14.

Immigrants by the new route over the Cascade Mountains had suffered very severely. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company had resolved upon removing their terminus from Portland to St. Helens. There had been renewed troubles with the Indians of South Oregon.

Broke Jail .- About 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening, three persons broke out of the Doylestown jail. One of them a young darkey, was discovered creeping through a hole in the wall, and arrested. Another, an Irishman, hurt himself in jumping off the wall, so that he crawled back, and asked for admission again. The other, Wm. H. Collins, a young man, just convicted of passing counterfeit money at Yardleyville, and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary, made good his escape, and has not since been heard of. It was thought that many buildings were entirely overthrown; but we find that only a few have suffered at all, and none very seriously.

A part of the verandah roof of the Mount Vernon was torn off-literally twisted offthat part facing the Court, running from the centre to the south tower of the east wing .-This is the only damage to the Mount Vernon; not a window or shutter in the whole building having been displaced. The pecuniary loss will not exceed $300. It is believed, that had the Company not suspended work until the verandah floors were laid, this loss and annoyance would have been avoided. It appears evident that had the floors been laid, the wind could have had but little power against the under part of the roof. My own the whole building will be perfectly fortified against all storms.

Dec. 17, 1853. F. G. BREWSTER.

The Ome Idea,

S beginning to prevail that to make sure of a neat and comfortable suit of clothes, you should see them all made up, before you purchase them. Hence, arises the establishment of Clothing against the under part of the roof. My own impression is that, the inner, or Court side of the east wing will never be secure until the west wing is put up. When that is up, and without verandahs on the out, or west side, the whole building will be perfectly fortified. tages, I can afford to sell at lower prices than you can get clothing elsewhere. My stock consists of ever Coats just received. Sack, Dress and Frock oats; Vests, Pantaloons, under clothing; Hats, aps, Trunks, Carpet-Bags and Umbrellas. MORRIS HAAS. East Commerce Street.

Beauty, Health, and Cheapness. AMUEL L. FITHIAN has on hand and for sale a large lot of Zinc Paints as follows viz. Pure Zinc White No. 1, 2 & 3, Brown Zinc, Black Zinc, Zinc Dryer and Demar varnish.

The Zinc Paints in their improved state Lave now been in use for a number of years and fully tested side by side with the Best Pure White Lead and has in every instance proved to be superior to White Lead both in Color, Durability, Beauty, and Cheapness. From experiments it has been found that 100 lbs best White Zinc will cover when applied in three coats on new work as much surface as 1662-8 lbs White Lead Pure, and will cover as well which makes the Zinc over 60per et cheaper than

It is equally applicable to inside or outside work or for the bottom of vessels or in any other place where paint is necessary. The reasons above given, we think should satisfy any one of the Superiority of the Zinc paints but should any yet doubt, we should be pleased to have them give us a call and we think we can fully satisfy them of their superiority for Beauty, Durability, Health & Cheapness.

Farmers Look Here. FITHE Subscriber is now manufacturing and offering for sale, a new and superior kind of See t Drill, which possesses the following advanta-ges over all others now in use:

lst. By having the guiding wheel in front, it bears the weight of the machine so as to relieve the horses from supporting so great a burden, while it facilitates turning by means of the long rod, which at the same time is a certain guide for driving straight.

2d. The tongue being hung by a universal joint admits a deviation right and left by the horses, as the inequality of the ground too often occasions, without thereby dragging the machine and causing blank or unsown curvatures in the field.

3d. The shifting rods regulating the cylinder and the booted shovels, are so constructed that one, two, or all the shovels can be raised or let down in a moment, and at the same time opening danted for large or small grains, which pass in a regular stream. All clogging from chaff or white heads is prevented by means of iron pegs in the re-volving groovs, which pick them out the moment they present themselves.

There is also a clock-work attached which strikes the moment an acre is sown, and exhibits the fractions of the acre accurately; thus it will measure a field and declare the amount sown. Al together it is just the thing to draw the admiration of all who behold it, and hence upwards of 150 muchines have already been ordered, though it has so recently taken the field for competition with the many excellent seed drills already in use.
