For the West Jersey Pioneer. LINES on the death of WILLIE E. THOMPSON. BY JANETTE.

The sun had left the glowing west, The evening shades drew on; As calmly to his heavenly rest, Our bahe, beloved had gone.

So peacefully its spirit wings Were plumed for upward flight; We scarce knew when the clayey cage Was left in death's cold night.

Oh, Willie! it was hard to part With one so fair as thou! It seemed as though the bursting heart, Ilad lett no comfort now.

We watched beside thy dying couch, And wondered why 't should be: That death should pluck so sweet a bud From off the family tree. .

There is a garden bright above, And there no blight can come, To blast our bud, and though we love. 'Tis better there to bloom.

And now upon his fair young brow A golden crown is placed, An earthly king is graced.

But ah! we loved this world too well, When thou wast here to love; And God took thee with him to dwell, That we might look above.

And though we meet on earth no more, We hope in heaven to dwell: "God gave, he tock, he will restore, He doeth all things well." Bridgeton August 9, '54.

Written for the West Jersey Pioneer. "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;

leadeth me beside the still waters." BY SARAH SOCWELL, 3

Where the softly llowing exters Murmur on the silent air, There my Saviour gently leads me To his pastures green and fair. There no dark unholy passion Can disturb my peaceful breast;

By his hand sustained and guided, Neath his wings my soul can rest. When my heart is sad and weary. Then his cheering voice I hear-" Fainting soul renew thy courage,

I am with thee-never fear.' When my roving feet have wandered From the strai't and narrow way; When hope's radiant wings are drooping, Clouded faith's clear beaming ray.

Then he pleads in accents tender-"Weary spirit, come to me, Though thy sins may be as scarlet, By my blood thou canst be free." When the dark tempestuous ocean. Of life's sorrow, care and fear, Rolls around me in its furv.

Then my Saviour's ever near. 'Tis his hand supports and guidee me, 'Tis his voice dispels my gloom, And when this life's cares are ended, He will lead me to the tomb.

AN ITEM FOR SUNDAY.

A man who had passed many years of his life in a total disregard of the obligations of religion -to whom Sabbaths were mere "high days" in worldly enjoyments, all at once took it into his head to go to church. The surprise and astonishment of the people increased to a still greater extent upon finding that the practice was regularly kept up. This apparent change, however was only confined to a single day. Six days in the week he was the same careless, irreligious man. His worldly associates, -and he had a host, for he was a man of infinite jest-were in a quandary.-The "go-to-meeting folks" were severely exercised to know what to do in his case-in short he presented to the whole town an anomaly-a compound of eccentricities. In the bar-rooms and around the festive board, his Sunday performance became the subject of repeated jokes, and smong the religious world his motives were severely criticized. Time rolled on, but still he pursued the same course. The preacher preached against him—spoke pointedly of the inconsistency of his Sunday religion and his six days of sinful pleasures The women sharpened their tongues and proceeded to dissect him. As he entered the church he imagined he saw contempt on the fect day which shall change our Taverns and church he imagined he saw contempt on the fect day which shall change our Taverns and ment bound so securely by the galling chains per year, in ADVANCE, or $1.25 at the end of the year. and as he walked the church aisle, he could hear the most awful groans from the brethren and sisters, as though Satan himself had entered with a summons for the whole party.

Finally the man called upon the preacher to pay something for the accommodations he had enjoyed in the church, and a familiar talk took place. He admitted his life was a perfect chequer-board of inconsistencies, and since he had left the paternal roof he had thrown off all religious restraints and he found himself, at this late day, in need of something better than worldly pleasures. He had come to church from the accidental reading of a chapter in the New Testament, in which it is said that two men went into the temple to pray-the one a Pharisce and the other a publican. The Pharisce stood and prayed thus: "God. I thank thee that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all I possess." And the Publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast saying, "God be mer-ciful to me a sinner." I tell you this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

Now, continued the man to the preacher, I consider it my duty to go into the temple and ask for mercy, notwithstanding the temple appeared to be filled with Pharisees, who thought themselves so much better than me, that they have repeatedly attempted to groun

The application which we shall make from this incident is briefly this-1. If a sinner ought not to go to church, nced not a physician, but they that are sick. 2. We are not to heed the gibes of former associates, nor the awful groans and censorious remarks of the self rightcous. 3. One day religious reflections, is better than to spend the whole seven in worldly enjoymens. 4. If a man has foolishly spent six days, he is not therefore to conclude as some do, that he ought not to go to church on Sunday. 5 .theology, and straightlaced religious notions.

TEMPERANCE For the West Jersey Pioneer.

A Few thoughts on Temperance.

BY MORRY, JR. "Come now and let us reason together." Who with heart sincere, a heart devoted to the best interests of his country, can look upon the Temperance cause other than destined to accomplish an infinite amount of good? -A cause destined to gather fresh laurels and now triumphs from every revolution of its still onward course; and whose brightness and meridian splendor shall have attained its zenith when we effectually throw off the shackles of intemperance, and with united voice proclaim our independence and total abstinence from all that can intoxicate. When and feeling hearts, "give us freedom,"-freedom from a king whose demon qualities shine with ten fold lustre, whose sword is ever stained with blood of victims newly slaincruelly, brutishly, innocently slain upon the altar of intemperance. Give us freedom from that king who regards not the tears of symthe cries of the dying! Give us freedom from "King Alcohol" Independence now and independence forever from the soul degrading and soul destroying monster." We live in a world of change. And methinks if some pure and spotless one winging his way from some fair realm, should visit our sin stained earth, the first that would atthe throme, and after a retrospective reign re- diced that they say openly and with heavensigns the sceptre to old Winter's icy hand, defying air we need no restraint, we want no whose visage stern, and blustering breath give us a cool reception. Not only all nature and every thing in nature are undergoing they will not see, hearts but they will not constant and momentous changes, but this universal law extends also to every department of science. There are things constantly being brought to light which were never dreamed of by the "philosophy of the ancients." Changes startling perhaps in their nature but nevertheless true. Could the spirits of our ancestors be called forth from their long sleep, methinks it would need almost a super-human being to convince them that this is the same stage of action upon which they were actors only a century ago. We cannot prevent these changes, nor would we if we could. We come now to speak of another charge which every true philanthropist desires, labors and prays for, a change destined to burst upon us in all its glory, for already a few straggling rays of light fall upon us, thing creates a love so ardent that seemingly

And when we see the feeble, flickering light which she or others have thrown upon one side of the subject, eclipsed by the brightness and splendor of truth brought forth by master-minds upon the other side, shall we be deluded to believe a lie? No into which put a spoonfull of salt at the bemy friends it has been decided that from the ginning, then stir the cream lightly each alpha to the omega of our laws, nothing has or can be found conflicting materially with the passage of the Maine Law in this State. Preparing for the Election.

The American party held their district convention in this town on Monday last, the fact was announced by the firing of cannon, the display of flags, the exhilerating sounds of music, &c.; the turn out was large, and respectable; Doct. Clawson, of Woodstown, received the nomination. In the evening the assembled citizens were addressed from the front of Messrs. E. Davis & Son's Hotel; an excellent band of music filling up the intervals between the speakers, much to the satisfaction of the hearers; as usual, and as is to be expected, while the temptation is placed before the people by legal enactment, there pressing the legalized traffic in intoxicating credentials. drinks.

We suppose the old parties will, in que time be on the ground, and have all things arranged for active contest when the time for voting shall come. The American party have not yet formed a county ticket, but it is expected they will do so. Well it is an ill wind that blows nobody good; the more parties the more tickets to be printed, and consequently Wood, and Ward Pierce, were appointed to then gentlemen, marshall your forces, each party for itself-no amalgamation, that spoils trade-you may do the quarreling, but let us have the profit-by amicable arrangement.

For the West Jersey Pioneer. The Rev. Dr. Duff's Views of Temperance.

Mr. Editor:-The Christian community of this country, has recently been much cheered and encouraged in the work of Foreign Missions, by a visit from that talented and indefatigable missionary of the Scotch Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Duff, who has been laboring for many years in India. The Dr. is one of those whole soul Christians, who, rising above the petty distinctions, and sectarian jealousies, which in these days disgrace our common christianity, is ready to embrace in Christian love, all, who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. His large neartedness drew around him, thousands of Christians from various denominations, who were highly gratified and edified by his public addresses, and social converse, and who now, that he has left us to return to the heahen, will long remember him, and follow him with their prayers. But the Dr. is not only the eloquent advoeate of Education and Missions among the beathen; he is no me idea man, but is equally the friend of every good work. Of that heaven approved Reformation, which for more than a quarter of a century, has been progressing in these United States and throughout the world, he is also the zealous and fearless advocate. Of this we have an evidence, in an address delivered by him, in the Town Hall at Calcutta, April 23d, 1841, for the lar pupose. According to the report of a formation of a Calcutta Temperance Society. From this Address we have taken the following extract:-"Dr. Duff began by remarking that from the Resolutions which he had the honour of proposing, it would be seen that one main bject of the Society would be to enlighten the public mind as to the real nature and pernicious effects of ardent or distilled spirts. He then went to show that, though all motives and arrangements suggested by rea-son and experience would ever be appealed to, Corn Meal and Rye Flour remain inactive at the distinguishing feature of this society previous quoted rates. Wheat continues would be its constant reference to the Divine plenty and dull at former prices, and only Oracles—to the decisions and commands of the everlasting God. The Dr. then enquired, why are the ministers of the gospel not here in more impossealed by the demon of spirit drinking?

Where are our guardians of the public peace—our conservators of the public morals? Our Judges, our Magistrates, where are they all this night? Alas, alas, luxuriating in all probability on the richest bounties of earth; and over the cups of a merry companionship throwing out hints as to the necessity of raising new taxes to strengthen the iron bars of our prison houses, extend the bounds of our infirmaries, and establish and multiply new alms houses! Ah! if they could only be persuaded to come and join us, we should unitedly soon ease them of half their labors and the community of half its taxes. As prevention is better than cure, ours is the true preventive service; and we freely invite all Judges and Magistrates and Rulers to come and enroll their names as members thereof. By means of the true prophylactic which we wish to apply, we should soon, through God's grace Liberal Donations .- A number of the coal operators of Schuylkill county had subscribed up to Friday last, from forty eight to sixty thousand dollars to advance to John Tucker, Esq., as a loan to relieve him from his present difficulties. The trade at Richmond has agreed to raise $40,000 for a simicommittee who examined his affairs, the advance of the sum of $100,000 would place his affairs in a position, by which none of his creditors would suffer, and a portion might be saved from the wreck. - Sun.

Ladies, will commence on the first Monday in lotober, 1854, and continue four months.

The System of Teaching, here pursued, is entirely new, and is more comprehensive, thorough, liberal and practical, than that of any other Medial School in the country. It is based, as far a possible, upon the positive Sciences, consequently, free from all sects and dogmas. The branches of study are divided according to their natural order of succession, and taught in four progressive courses of four months each; there are two courses in each year, thus enabling the students to pass successively through all four courses within two years. By this arrangement the study is rendered easy, and possessed of daily increasing interest.

Ladies desiring a thoroughly scientific Medical Education, or any part particularly interesting them, have facilities here nowhere else to be found. For Announcements containing Terms, (which Mechanics, Inventors and Manufacturers. $570. IN CASH PRIZES. $570.

Volume Ten of the "Scientific American" commences on the 16th of September. It is chiefly devoted to the advancement of the interests of Mechanics, Inventors, Manufacturers and Farmers, and is edited by men practically skilled in the arts and sciences. Probably no other journal of the same character is so extensively circulated, or so generally esteemed for its practical ability.— Nearly all the Valuable Patents which issue week y from the Patent Office are illustrated with Engravings, and the claims of all the Patents are published regularly in its columns as they are issued, thus making it a perfect Scientific and Mechanical Encyclopedia of information upon the subjects of Mechanical Improvements, Chemistry, Engineering and Sciences generally. It is published weekly in quarto form suitable for binding, and each volume contains Four Hundred and Sixteen Pages of Reading Matter, Several Hundred Engravings, with a full and complete Index. Its circulation on the last Volume exceeded 23,000 copies per week, and the practical receipts in one volume are worth to any family much more than the subscription price.

The following Cash Prizes are offered by the Publishers for the fourteen largest lists of subscribers sent in by the 1st of January, 1855:—$100 will be given for the largest list; $75 for the second; $65 for the third; $55 for the fourth; $50 for the fifth; $45 for the sixth; $40 for the seventh $65 for the sixth; $75 for the seventh $65 for the sixth; $75 for the seventh $75 for the seventh $75 for the sixth; $75 for the seventh $75 for enth; $85 for the eighth; $30 for the ninth; $25 for the tenth; $20 for the eleventh; $16 for the twelfth; $10 for the thirteenth; and $5 for the fourteenth. Brewster's Cholora Mixture. In a great majority of cases the cholera is preceded by Diarrhoea or looseness of of the bowels; which being neglected under the false but too common opinion, that it will work its own cure by a little abstinence, has resulted fatally in numerous cases.

Thousands of persons in New Jersey and throughout the United States have borne testimony to the efficacy of Brewster's Cholera Mixture as a remedy for Diarrhoea, Bowel complaints and Tholera Morbus, the premonitory symptoms of

During the last eight years it has been very extensively used, nearly two thousand bottles have been sold within a month past, we have no hesitation therefore in recommending it as a safe and effectual remedy if administered in the early stages of the disease, according to the directions on the bottle, every family and vessel, as well as travellers should have a bot-

FEARFUL RIOT AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. Louis, Aug. 8. A dreadful riot occurred in this city this

About five o'clock at the Fifty Ward polls during an altercation, an Irishman stabbed an American. This was the signal for a general attack in which pistols were fired, stones thrown and other missiles freely used.

The mob destroyed a large number of drinking bouses, and broke the furniture to atoms. The crowd supplied themselves with axes and smashed everything that would yield to blows. It is rumored that five persons have been killed, and a large number wounded. The mob threatened to attack the College. The office of the Anzerger has been attacked, and is now threatened again.

Motives of Emigration. - A lawyer from a railroad town in the country, after reading our remarks of Saturday last on the Naturalization question, confirmed from his own experience the truth of the statement that Lu opean emigration is not influenced to our shores the " priceless boon." It is a fact well known to those conversant with these matters, that emigrants become naturalized, unless through of interest from Washington for some time. the officious intervention of political agents, who thus purchase their votes. Our natur alization system is in practice but a machine for manufacturing voters to order, for the exigencies of an election. In the residence of our legal friend above alluded to, and in other places, where the court sits after instead of before the election, we are assured that very tew foreigners are ever naturalized.

An Extraordinary Arrest .- Mayor Conrad issued a warrant on Saturday for the arrest of a man named George W. Coleman, the proprietor of a vile dance house, located in the third story of the house at the S. W. corner of Fifth and Callowhill streets. Marshall Murphy accordingly detailed under the charge of Lieut. A. W. Blackburn, with instructions to arrest said Coleman and all found in the dance room. The Lieutenant selected six of the officers who were unknown to the select crowd who frequent the place, and participate in the giddy maze of the dance, when these gentlemen waked up stairs, and after paying the admission fee, 25 cents; entered the room for the purpose of sceing if an exit could be made by the back part of the building. After reconnoitering the premises without exciting the least suspicion of the worthy hoster his guests, they gave a preconcerted signal, which was promptly answered by the Lieutenant, walked in and arrested 63 persons, who were conveyed to the Adelphi Screet Station

At 11 o'clock, on Saturday evening, we visited the Station House, when we beheld the most motley group were congregated in a police office this side of Japan. There was the finely dressed nymphs du puve, here the less tastely arrayed working girls, then the maids of pot hooks and hangers, after which came the excursion girls, and others whose means of subsistence is known only to themselves Sun bonnets, silk bonnets, calico efforts, strong as they were, have been unsuedresses, silks and mousseline de laines, were cessful. The b'hoys, with their pants rolled up to the calf and the tops of their boots painted red, with the soap lock turned up a la spit curl, while the bussum of the shirt was full of horse heads, frills, &c., with a forty-two inch rolling collar, were about and some as to quantity, and acted in as jakey a style as though they were on the ball room floor. Dodging around, trying to keep out of sight, were the sly youths who had never been at the dance before, did not know what kind of a place it was, and had been in the room but five minutes, when the cruel officers arrested them, and if their bosses and friends found it out they would be ruined, poor innocent souls. Quietly scated in a corner was a gallant youth aged 68, who came from away down in Maine.

After examining the specimens above described, we proceeded to the private office, where we found Alderman Ogle busily engaged in taking bail. Coleman, the master of ceremonies, was requested to furnish bail. which he did to the tune of $2000. Many others were taken in charge of officers to their friends, who came up and fiddled them out to the note of $300—all to appear before his honor the Mayor, at 11 o'clock this morning.

A large number of unfortunates who were friendless, or whose friends were not comeatable, including our Maine strippling, and two gentlemen from Texas, were considerately ridden to Moyamensing Prison. The worthy Alderman was kept busily engaged until 6 o'clock on Sunday morning before he could make out all the bail pieces and commitments the exigencies of the case required.

Wonderful Preservation of Life.—The recent collision between the ships Trade wind and Olympus at sea, resulting in the loss of both vessels, will long hold a prominent place in the annals of shipwrecks and disasters.— A Liverpool date of the 17th ult., says that the American ship Empire, from New York, arrived that day at Liverpool, reported having fallen in with the foremast of the Trade wind longitude 58 deg. west, with one man on it, who had been in that position for six days .-His sole nutriment during that period consisting towards the point threatened, and a number have formed in line to protect the Anzered of a small piece of tobacco. The lady, however, appeared to have but little confidence in him. She told him of several girls to whom he was interested and the remains and that the results are repulsively as a country of which the less was known by a Prussian Prince the better. THAILS Cutter is superior to any now in use, for STRIFF Cutter is superior to any now in use, for strength, durability and simplicity of construction; it cuts taster, and is the only self-sharpening Hay, Straw and Corn Stalk Cutter ever made. It has but one straight Kniff, which any person can grind and set with ease; but in ordinary cases is ground in the Machine. Thousands have already been sold, and the demand is daily increasing. In most cases an examination is sufincreasing. In most cases an examination is sufficient to convince one of its superiority. No one after a short trial would part with it for any other.
