Chaire Poetry.

Thoughts, on receiving a Bouquet from a Friend

How blooming flowers cheer the heart, Worn down with silent weeping; And raise the drooping spirit up From the depths in which 'tis sleeping. They tell us life hath still some aim.

Some object worth our winning; If but to soothe a troubled breast, Or keep one soul from sinning. Ah! flowers are angels from above,

A holy song they're singing, Of a better love, and a purer faith, And a Heav'n to which we're winging They tell, too, that altho' this earth

Hath many an hour of sadness, Kind Heav'n in loving mercy wished To make it full of gladness.

They whisper-not forsaken;

Once more, sweet peace; within my heart, Their presence doth awaken. And yet, like earthly friends, they fade, Too soon their beauties dying; In Heav'n alone can friendship last,

Or sad hearts cease their sighing. December 25, 1851.

From Life Illustrated. REWS. BY S. H. DADDOW.

From East and West, from North and South, The hasty tidings come-The ship, the wire, the iron horse Bring untold wonders home-Swift as the shafts that pierce the morn, The thrilling news is hurled. And tales, untold within the hour, Electrify the world!

A thousand ready pens await, To spread the news afar: And twice ten million beating hearts The rumbling of the car. The trembling wires with lightning haste The message swiftly flings, From East to West, from North to South,

Upon their silent wings. To nations, crouched in fear beneath Some gloomy tyrant's thrall, Whose cherished hopes and boding fears Those tidings raise or fall; To kings and queens, and lords and slaves, Momentously they come, From East and West, from North and South,

To thrill or strike them dumb! The fate of armies, battling for Their nation and their name; And trusty friends, whose swords are out To justify the same;

Of northern hordes, and thundering fleets, Of cities sieged and razed; To East and West, to North and South, With lightning wings are blazed!

Of murders, frauds, and buccaneers. And droughts that parch the corn; Of floods, and fires, and fearful storms, And plagues by waters borne: And thrilling scenes that chill the blood, By river and by rail.

From East to West, from North to South, On land and sea prevail. ... Some Holland on an Arctic's deck-Some Birkenhead goes down; The occun waves their monument Of good or ill renown.

And still a thousand pens await The ship, the wire, the car, From East and West, from North and South, To spread the tidings far! Bellasylva, Wyoming Co., Pa.

We would like to impress this single fact upon the mind of every laboring man who may peruse this short article—that it is possible for him to rise above poverty, and that the path to independence, though beset with toils and self-sacrifices, is much pleasanter to the traveler than any one can enter upon .-The man who feels that he is carning some thing more than he is spending, will walk the streets with a much lighter heart, and enter his home with a much more cheerful countenance than he who spends as he goes, or falls

Where 180.000 does he end? Often in insolvency, rarely in riches. To this every merchant can testify. A young man is bred a mechanic. He acquires a distaste for his trade, however; thinks it a tedious way to get ahead, and sets out for the West or for California. But in most cases, the same restless, discontented, and speculative spirit which carried him away at first, renders continuous application at any oud place irksome to him; and so he goes wandering about the world, a sort of semi-civilized Arab, really a vagrant in character, and sure to die ieselvent. GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE. - We did not receive the message in time for our paper last week, and we now think, that as we have coe piedinotices of its principal topics from other papers, it is hardly necessary to occupy so much of our room as would be necessary for its insertion.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, it will be recol- the honor and welfare of the State at heart, lected, will be held in our town next week. will not welcome such a spirit pervading the In addition to the election of the officers of mittee appointed for that purpose will report a draft of a Constitution, and By Laws for the action of the Society, the adoption of which will be more satisfactory, if it should receive the approbation of a large meeting of the members. The schedule of premiums to be offered by the Society for competition at the next Exhibition, will be reported and should receive proper consideration by the Society. The operations of the Society for the first year has been so successful, that they should feel encouraged to persevere in their laudable enterprise with increasing energy. Our County may well be proved of what it has done, and should feel bound to show to our neighbors that we have the energy and Militia-Somers, Cowperthwaite and Frankthe means of doing still better.

It so happens that the meeting of delegates from the County Societies to be held in Trenton, comes upon the same day as our County meeting and will probably prevent some of our members from attending the meeting at Trenton; this is unfortunate for we should be well represented.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY .-- Amongst the documents and reports, accompanying the Governors Message to the Legislature, there is none, probably, more interesting or of more importance than that of the State Geologist. The amount of four thousand dollars appropriated by the legislature last year has been expended. A foundation has been laid for future operations, and some considerable progress made in a portion of the State. A much larger appropriation will become necessary for the coming year, if the objects of the survey is to be secured. We suppose, that no hesitancy will be felt on the part of the Legislature in appropriating the necessary funds for successfully finishing the survey. Our State is rich in minerals and marls, the knowledge and nature of which will by this survey be accurately ascertained. Our part of the State is not so rich in min real resources as the upper portion of it, still a practical and thorough examination of its character and resources will be both interesting and profitable.

This survey will furnish us a reliable and useful map of the State, and the counties, which will be of vast importance.

Its importance as an agricultural work will not be the least important feature of the survey; the productiveness of our soils, are to be sustained by lime, marl and other mineral substances, we cannot depend upon vegetable manures produced in the barn yard, to keep up the value and productiveness of our farm land. Chemistry has unfolded the mysteries of nature, and by its analisys has pointed out to the agriculturist the material necessary for the successful production of crops, and practical experience has confirmed the teachings of science. We may hereafter refer to this matter aingain, and make some extracts from the reports, we trust that the legislature will not be backward in making a liberal appropriation for carrying on this enterprise. SHAVING SALOON. - We can speak experimentally of the neatness, cleanliness and ease, with which Mr. Otis Bellows performs the operation of shaving; there is no danger of having a dirty, soiled towel placed under your chin, or having your face used as if it belonged to a block-head; there's no hurrying over the operation, as if the only object was to get the fip and get clear of you; the operation is carefully performed and properly finished.

We have devoted a large portion of our paper this week, in giving the proceedings of our Legislature, and different views of letter writers, of the various matters of interest now before it, believing it of the most interest to our readers.

DEDICATION. The new M. E. church in Glassboro', will be dedicated to the worship of God, on Thursday February 1st. Preaching at 10 o'clock M. and 7 P. M., by Bishop James, D. D. and the Rev. Mr. Ryan, of Philada. The community generally are invited to attend.

The First Week of the Legislature. As will be perceived by our Legislative reoort, both bodies adjourned yesterday morning, having fully organized for the business of the session. We need not inform our readers that we are pleased with the condition of things in Trenton, and with the conduct of all sections of the opposition. There is a strong determination that the legislation of the session shall go on without interruption from the strong influences which have of late years controlled the course of the Committees, and we are confident that its action will be generally approved by the people. In the House of Assembly there is a majority, which cannot be swayed from its convictions of right and which will faithfully stand by the great interests of the State. We believe that the Legislature of New Jersey ought to be guided by the highest principles of action-that legislation should proceed from those just arguments which ought to have weight upon it—and that all measures should be brought before the two Houses unclogged by the artifices of committees. If this be done, we shall have measures adopted upon their merits, instead of being forced upon the Legislature by the dictation of outside committees. TRENTON, Jan. 16, 1855. It is almost certain that a prohibitory liquor law bill can pass the House. At an informal caucus of temperance men, a few evenings since, 26 members appeared, several known friends of the measure were absent, and the requisite majority-61-it is believ ed, can be found. Only some 6 or 7 votes in the Senate are thus far certain, but more are thought to be favorably disposed towards the measure. If the bill should not pass this year, some course will be pursued which will leave it in a position to become successful next year, unless in the meanwhile an unexpected and improbable revolution in the public feeling should occur. The weight of sentiment throughout the State is undoubtedly in its favor. Men of eminence are advocating it, Courts have recently taken high ground in favor of temperance, whole communities have adopted the principles of opposition to the li quor traffic. Well informed men deem that its ultimate success is certain. Even in this capital, where drink prevails to a great extent, there is less ostentatious parade of it than heretofore, and lobby members have discovered that it is not the wisest method, in all cases, to approach a legislator for the purpose of securing his vote through the introductory graces of a bottle of Martell or Heid-

Considerable discussion is going forward among the friends of the proposed prohibitory bill now before the House, as to the best me thod of obtaining the sense of the people upon the measure. A direct appeal to the po-pular voice to decide whether an enactment shall go into force or not, is believed to be unconstitutional. Some method is therefore Treasurers' Accounts-Perry, Logan, Di- to be devised, by which the desires of the people may be understood, without encountering this difficulty. Ritter's Compound Syrup of Tar & Wild Cherry. Stic safest, changest, and best of all Cough Medicines now in use. Of this fact a single trial will convince the most skeptical. It contains no mineral or narcotic ingredients, and causes no inconvenience during its administration; is very palatable, will be taken freely by the youngest children, and will afford instant relief in croup and whooping cough, if given according to the directions. A few doses will allay the irritation of the pronchial tube, incident to cough and sore throat, and by removing the cause will in a short time produce the effect desired—a permanent cure.—
One bottle, the price of which is 25 cents, will in nearly every instance cure a cough, however inveterate and of however long standing. For sale by storekeepers generally in this and adjoining counties, and wholesale by the proprietor.
