The Greemsman to his Mistress. BY WM. CULLEN BAYANT.

Every welling, says the proverb, Makes another, soon or late, Never yet was any marriage Fatered in the book of Pate. But the names were also written Of the patient pair that wait.

Blessing, then upon the morning When my friend, with fondest look, By the solemn rites' permission, To himself his mistress took, And the Destinies recorded Other two within the book.

While the priest fulfilled his office, Still the ground the lovers eyed, And the parents and the kinsmen, Aimed their glances at the bride, But the greomsman eyed the virgins Who waited at her side.

Three there were that stood beside her. One was dark and one was fair, Save her Arab eyes and hair; Neither dark nor fair I call her, Yet she was the fairest there.

While her groomsman-shall I own it? Yet, to the, and only thee-Gazed upon this dark-eyed maiden If he was fairest of the three. Thus he thought, " How blest the bridal Where the bride were such as she!"

Then I mused upon the adage, Till my wisdom was perplaned, And I wandered, as the churchman Dwelt upon his ho'y text, Which of all who heard his lessen

MORALL.

For the West Jersey Pioneer. THE SLANDERER.

Slander is a false report, maliciously uttered, tending to injure the reputation of another; and a slanderer is one who maliciously defames another by a false report

A viler thing than a Slanderer does not walk the carth. The highwayman, or even the midnight assassin is an angel of light compared with him.

entered any human soul, than that which has taken possession of the Slanderer. This is the foulest whelp of Satan-the off-pring of word, and maliciously maligned his character; and by the vile slander deceived, and led astray our Mother Eve, from duty's path; cur woe."

And though well nigh sixty centuries have passed away, since the advent of this vile has done a vast amount of mischief; enough one would think to inspire every human soul with intense hatred to him; yet, we find him, living, and active, in his work of murdering reputations, still dwelling in human with all possible good.

In almost every neighborhood, some one is found, into whom this foul spirit has entered, wandering from house to house, blasting with his foul breath the good man's name, and scattering the mildew of death over the reputation of the innocent-thus robbing them of that which is above all earthly price

He that steals my purse, steals trash! Twas mine, tis his, and has been slave to thou

But he that filehes my good name, takes that Which not enriches him:

to the slanderer is partaker of his sin, and alike deserves to be dispised. And, yet, how many are there, who, (if they speak the lished every SATURDAY Morning, at $1.00 truth,) "would not themselves a slander raise, per year, in ADVANCE, or $1.25 at the end of no: not for the world: -are very sorry to hear it-hope it is not true-cant believe itthink it impossible that it should be true;" Will be inserted for 40 cents a folio of 100 and yet will circulate it; and thus wound Saviour, "Whatsoever ye would that men them." ## BRANDY DROPS.

It sppears, says Life Illustrated, that the brandy-drops mentioned by us a week or two since, are not only sold at our fashionable confectioneries, but in the streets to boys!-A morning paper has some just remarks upon the atrocious practice:

"It is difficult to conceive a more depraved net than this, and there should be very prompt measures taken to suppress the dangerous business. These brandy-drops were originally got up for those very refined women who could not endure the fatigue of an hour's shopping, without a stimulant which, it is to ompared with him.

The Presbyterian Church at Millville was re-opened with appropriate services on last Sabbath, it having recently been enlarged and otherwise improved. Rev. Dr. Jones of our town was present and preached three sermons on that day, and two on Monday. This looks very much as if the Doctor is not afraid of work. We are glad to learn of such improvements in our county, as they strongly indicate the growing intelligence and virtue of the community. We learn that a second Methodist Church is to be erected in the northern section of that town during the coming season.

We are very much amused at the movements of our neighbour of the Chronicle on the Temperanee question. He seems to have a special pique at Gov. #### PROHIBITORY LIQUOR LAWS.

That our neighbor of the Chronicle should re-publish everything he can find in the newsridicule upon prohibitory liquor laws and destroy the confidence which the public have in their efficiency, is not to be wondered at. He is too much interested in the trade, and has too long fattened upon the miseries of the poor deluded victims, of his business, to permit him to look with composure upon the prospect of our being blessed with a law which will interrupt his destructive business. A proper respect however for that portion of his readers who look upon the temperance cause as a subject of too serious a nature to be ridiculed and made light of, should teach our neighbor better than to insert in his ediorial columns such articles as that in his last paper about the sale of liquor in Hartford, and in such a way too, as is evidently intended to produce the impression that all this athe pretence that it was used for sickness. facturing and chemical purposes, as well as that: used for medicine; is he not aware that large quantities are used for making burning fluid, manufacturing varnishes and other useful purposes, and that Hartford is a commer cial depot for the State of Connecticut, supplying the country round about it, and that consequently what might appear a large quantity without a knowledge of these facts, dwindles down to a small matter upon proper investigation. We do not know whether the amount of liquor sold in that city as given by the Chronicle, is true or not, one thing howto prove that drunkenness and all its attendant evils have been in a great measure removed from the State by the operation of the We have had full faith that the West Jersey law; that great good has been accomplished, the traffic in alcoholic drinks in the State. The proscribed tour was completed about 5 o'clock, when the party dined at the Astor House; after which a meeting was held to discuss the various encroachments which have been made, and to devise means for their prevention. Gov. Clark presided, and Messrs. Johnson and Seymour of New York, and this State were secretaries. Speeches were made by Gov. Price, Gov. Dutton, Mr. Hoxie and others. The only definite action taken, was the adoption of the following resolution, after which the meeting adjourned sine die.

Resolved, That the committees on Commerce of the Legislature of New York, and the Special Committee of Conference, of the New Jersey Legislature, be requested to take iuto consideration the best mode of preserving the North and East rivers from further encroachments.

The Troy Budget says, Captain Simeon Hicks the last of the Americans who fought at Bennington, died on the 24th ult., aged 95 years. He was the oldest of twenty-two children. He served under both Washington and Stark, and after the close of the Revolution, settled in Sunderland, Vermont, where he resided sixty years. Capt. H. was a remarkable man, physically. For seventy years he had no experience of bodily ailment, and his death and extreme old age was unattended by sickness or pain. Vitality and consciousness gradually left him, so that the moment of his final departure was hardly perceptible! His remains have had a quiet burial place among the Green Mountains.

The suit of the executors of Daniel Webster and Greer B. Duncan against the city of New Orleans for fifty thousand dollars, for professional services in defending the suit of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines against the city of New Orleans, and some three or four other defendants, was tried last week in New Orleans. The case was given to the jury on the 19th, who after being out all night, returned into court on the 20th, and reported that they were unable to agree upon a verdict, and were discharged. So the case will have to be tried over again.

The Post's correspondent says: The British claims were vastly more numerous, and although many of them had been righted, yet, so far as the decisions have transpired, the amount of the awards to each government appears to be nearly equal. The British government entirely perverted the commission from its original design, and presented every conceivable claim, and pressed all with equal pertinacity. It is the English rule in controversics with foreign governments to claim more than they believe to be due.

Emigration to California has fallen off largely, in consequence of the expense of reaching that State, and the fact there is less chance of speedy prosperity on small means there than in any other part of the Union.— During the year IS54, the whole number of persons arriving at San Francisco by sea was but 47,730, and the departure by the same route 24,477, showing a net gain of only 23,-253. Of this gain but 10,135 was composed
