For the West Jersey Pioneer. LINES Inscribed to the friends of Charles Noble, dec.

BY S. S. SOCWELL.

Mourn for the early lost, Who hath died in his youthful prime; Whose form lay cold in the sleep of death, Ere he lived out half his time.

Mourn for the silent voice. For the glance of the flashing eye, For the heart with its wealth of truth and love And its aspirations high.

Mourn, for the bowed one fallen By the wayside of life; Who so soon hath laid his armor by. And passed from this world's great strife.

Mourn mourn, for nevermore, In sadness or in mirth, Shall that that low voice, or beaming smile, Shed gladness round the hearth?

Be hopeless in their woe; For in the world of light he lives and reigns, Where tears shall never flow.

The Father called him hence. When his work on earth was done; Then while ye grieve, rejoice that now His work in Heaven 's begun. Shiloh, 1855.

TEMPERANCE

From the New York Life Illustrated. Our new mayor continues. Sunday liquor selling has nearly ceased in this city, and the barber shops have mostly been closed on the day of rest. The number of Sunday arrests has strikingly decreased, and the popularity of the mayor is unbounded. A gentleman describes in the Sunday Times, an interview with that busy and efficient functionary. He

'I got to the door, where a neat, gentlemanly M. P. stood at the entrance. He scanned me over, and, slightly bowing, motioned me in. There were two or three gentleman with big books before them, whom I took to be the mayor's marshals. At the other desks were others-clerks and commistalk was in whispers. I requested to see the mayor, and was referred to a doorkeeper of a policeman, who bade me wait a moment, as 'his honor was engaged." I did so. Presently a table bell was struck, and the door swung open "Walk in," said the officer, and in I went. A tall, spare, but eminently graceful gentleman, with a most winning smile, rose and bowed. "The mayor, I presume?" said 1. Another smile and another bow. "a have a complaint, sir." Smile number three and bow number three. Just then a policeman rushed unbidden into the sanctum. The smile went away in a moment, and the mayor, at his full height, said:-"You forget yourself, sir, and are intruding. Have the goodness to wait outside." And out went Mr. Refractory, M. P. "Unless you desire to bring something very specially to my notice, I must refer you to my clerk, Col. Ming, who has charge of the complaint book." All I want said I. Touch of the bell. Door opens like magic. "Introduce grass, and making the hay the following seathis gentleman to Col. Ming and the book," said the mayor. Bows all around. Bell stroke. Enter another stranger. All as or-

Now, we are no great sticklers for pomp, ceremony, or etiquette, but, on the contrary, think the line between these and the ridicalous very thin and narrow oftentimes; yet self respect in himself, dignity toward his office, and orderly behavior from subordinates are very essential in the chief magistrate of the Empire City. We have known farmers who cut them down with the scythe every year, raked them up, and carted them off the field, making but little account of them either as fodder or manure-while others have considered them valuable as a fodder for sheep, when well cured, or useful as a manure, when brought up green and cast into the cow yard, or put into the compost heap.

—a much better material—is at hand. A log house ought never to be built. Sun dried bricks may easily be had and are already in use for building. If sawed timber should be desired for building, the question then arises, at what distance from timber lands can a prairie farm be successfully cultivated? The authors of "The Journey" reply, that they inquired of Illinois farmers, whose answer was, that farms, ten or twelve miles from timber lands, may be profitably occupied. Taking this as a guide, hey proceed to examine particularly the belts of timber lining the rivers and elsewhere throughout that region, and finally arrive at this conclusion, "That these statements, in their opinion, are sufficient to show that few, if any, points in Kansas are so remote from timber as to be valueless-that, in fact, there need be little apprehension of serious difficulty on this account." The cost to the settler of a farm in Kansas of 160 acres, is, of course, at $1.25 per acre —$200. The crop, before the land be enlered, though he is entitled to it under the preemption law, will more than pay for it.-The first ploughing will cost at present two dollars and a quarter an acre. And the crop

BREDGETON: Satarday Morning, Feb. 24. CIRCULATION 1.300 Only $1 00 per Year! FRANKLIN FERGUSON, EDITOR.

Notice to Agents and Advertisers. WE ARE PREPARED TO SHOW THAT

The West Acusey Pioneer Has a Circulation of at least 300 more than any other paper printed in Cumberland County. Its Circulation, (in the County,) is nearly double that of any other paper.

This notice is called for in self-defence. The BRIDGETON CHRONICLE" falsely conveying the impression, that its Circulation is larger than that of the PIONEER.

The indisposition of our assistant editor will account principally for the scarcity of editorial, our time necessarily being taken up with other duties.

The present number of the PIONEER completes the seventh year since we embarked in this enterprise. We have been successful beyond our expectations. We are repaid for our toilsome life by the reflection that this prosperity is indicative of the merits of the publication. We have endeavored to keep the Pioneer, a useful and interesting local Newspaper, and are persuaded our exertions have not been in vain. We feel thankful to and to our varied correspondents for their liberal contributions, and to the press in general for their exchanges, and hope the long continued good will of our brethren has met with a welcome response.

Fourteen years of our life have been spent in Cumberland County, in the publishing business and we are happy to say, no year of that time has been more prolific than the one just past. We shall so endeavor to arrange our affairs, as to increase the interest and value of the Pioneer, and hope to receive from the citizens of this and Cape May Counties a continuance of their kind favers.

The Hon. N. T. Stratton will accept our thanks for public documents.

The Hon. J. Wells has sent us a suppleics, laborers, &c., presented by him in the R. Thomas, Esq., for public documents.

Who are They?

We will make a long story short. We have found by sad experience, that by coming in contact with filth, we are liable to have a portion of it stick to us. The tongue of the slanderer is to be dreaded, as well as the pen of the traducer, and when combined they form fit subjects for the Penitentiary.

We shall occupy as little space as possible with this matter. We shall lay a rod in pick le, and if compelled, in self-defence, we shall

SUDDEN DEATHS .- We leps Compton, wife of James Campton of Mauricetown, died very schenly on Monday the 12th inst. See had left home on a visit to her sear's near Buckshutem, and while more. aere, a brother, who is subject to convulions, was taken with a fit, whereupon she became frightened and ran to the barn for help. It being icy, she fell in her haste and slightly hurt her head, but the injury was not deemed serious. On returning to the house she complained of being sick, and after lying about three hours in an unconscious state, expired. Her death is attributed to the influence of her fright combined with the

We are reminded by this solemn occur rence, of the still more sudden death of Mrs. Keen of this town a short time since, who, while taking her breakfast in usual health, was seized with a paroxism and expired in a few minutes. How deeply should such instances impress our hearts with the truth so oft repeated but so little heeded, "In the nidst of life we are in death."

SUDDEN DEATH OF A MINISTER.-A distinguished minister of the British Wesleyan Church, the Rev. JOSEPH BEAUMONT, M. D., died on Sunday morning, January 21st, while conducting divine service. He was to preach on that morning at a Chapel in the city of Hull, Eng., had commenced the exercises, and was giving out the hymn, and while repeating the line.

"Then while the first archangel sings," he suddenly sank down in the pulpit. He was immediately removed into the vestry, where, after a few moments, and without evidencing any symptom of remaining life, beyond a faint and scarcely audible sob, the silver cord was loosed and the golden bowl was broken. His death is a severe blow to the Church, as he was a highly gifted and efficient preacher.

We also observe that BISHOP CAPERS of the M. E. Church, South, died at Anderson, our various friends, for their kind support S. C., on Monday morning, January 30th, after a very brief illness. His family, residing in Charleston, heard nothing of his indis- present, to enable them to follow suit. One position until they received news of his death.

The Editor of the Quincy Herrld, a short time since, made the following complaint a gainst the Prohibitory Liquor bill, recently adopted by the Illinois Legislature. "A nigger may manufacture whiskey, sell whiskey, and guzzle whiskey, whenever he pleases; but these things are all denied to the white man." To which the Editor of the Rock Island Advertiser replies thus:

"We have no doubt but that the above is special grievance to such men as Ans. Brooks. It is a pity, they could not all be legally made equal with a "nigger" in every respect-particularly the one complain of .-It is an outrage upon their nature, thus to be deprived of what they consider their greatest ment to the act for the protection of mechan- privilege. They have expended over $160,000 in preparing their orks at Franklin Furnace for the manufacture of this iron. The chief obstacle to its production hitherto has been the difficulty of culated that the zine produced will pay the expense of manufacturing the iron. Should his anticipation be realized, the company has a splendid future before it. The Franklin ite mines are inexhaustible and the establishment of a fine home market would be the nasystem of iron and zine manufacture. The flowers of zinc, as yet produced, have a yellow tinge, caused, it is thought by some, by years. the copious use of yellow clay, in smelting.

Newark Daily. Another New Invention to benefit Farm ers.-Mr. Wm. Pierpont, of this town, has succeeded in furnishing another great evidence of his inventive genius and mechanical skill, in the completion of a new machine which is a grain thresher, separator, carrier and fan combined. It threshes, separates and cleans the grain, and carries off the straw, at one operation. It occupies no more room than the common thresher and separator, is just as portable, is simple in its arrangement, and works admirably. We understand that Mr. Pierpont has had a part of this machine patented, and part secured. - Sunbeam.

The passengers on the steamer Commodore which got fast in the ice in Long Island Sound last week, were relieved through the nstrumentality of four of their number, who heroically volunteered to go on shore for assistance. They were gone over four hours, and made a circuitous route upon the broken ice and "plash," and succeeded in reaching the vessel on their return, by the sound of the bell, which Capt. Frazee kept tolling for their guidance. The Captain and passengers were all alarmed for their safety, not believing it possible for them to get back. They broke through the ice several times.

> A Singed Cat.—The following scene occurred on Thursday of last week at the office of the New York and Eric Railroad. in the city of New York. It is worthy of record, not only because it contains a good joke, but because it bears on its face a moral:

An old man enters the office -in age apparently verging on three-score; his clothes are of coarse texture, ventilated in some places, and rather dingy withal; his head, with its long gray locks, is covered with a hard-worn beaver; his face, the lower part of which is ornamented with a grizzly-gray beard, has an humble appearancs, and his dull eyes have an imploring expression; he has a folded paper in his hand, and, advancing to the desk of the first clerk, he extends it.

JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box Matches, No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. ATCHES having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, after a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the filmsy manner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more coom than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, to Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spon-taneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance.
These matches are packed so that one gross or more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and exmine for themselves. Per These Matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything heretofore offered to the public.
