Oh! when the heart is lonely, Musing on joys gone by-When memory's mournful tribute Is the whisper of a sigh-Still, still, all is not sorrow: With sadness pleasure blends, As from the past we borrow,

The smiles of absent friends. How oft, when gently stealing Alone neath twilight ray, When every harsher feeling Is chasten'd by its sway, Will memory softly ponder, As o'er the past she bends, And erring fancy wander

To greet our absent friends. When joy and pleasure lighten The bosom by their power; When peace and comfort brighten The social evening hour; The heart, still true to priendship, Its kindly wishes sends To those by distance parted, Our much loved absent friends.

We think on those who've left us; We see their vacant seat: We feel, had they been with us, Our bliss had been complete. To hours by sorrow shrouded Their presence joy could lend; We would that skies unclouded

Still brought each absent friend. But oh! the sweet emotion This thought will oft excite, That in the heart's devotion With us they may unite; That the same arm which guards us. O'er them in love extends. That the same eye beholds us And cherish'd absent friends. Cedarville, March, 1855.

A DISCURSIVE LETTER.

Рипладелента, Feb. 28, 1855. Dear Editor: - By the almanae we are at the end of winter. The weary months have vorn away, and unless cold weather means to go with us into Spring and Summer we shall certainly before long be rid of it. The tenacity though with which the old monarch, "ruler of the inverted year" holds on to his sceptre amazes us. Not one bright sun-shiny day straved from its place in April, has gladdened our hearts with its foretaste of the good clear tide been free of its burden of ice. No crocus has broken through the soil yet (I'imagine not, I am out of the way of seeing such things) and the blades of those impatient early flowers that thrust themselves into sight in the mild intervals of this month are still hidden and kept down by the stiff crust of earth. There has been no relaxation. no violding at all. Overcoats are buttoned as tightly about the figure as they were at midwinter, and foot passengers hurry along actively as they always do when stimulated by colds. This winter his been a memorable one in our city. we find in one of Leigh Hunt's papers: "It is a delicious moment, certainly, that of being well nestled in bed, and feeling that enough to render the remaining in one posture delightful; the labor of the day is gone. A gentle failure of the perceptions comes creep ing over one; the spirit of consciousness dis engages itself more and more with slow and jushing degrees, like a mother detaching her hand from that of her sleeping babe; the mind seems to have a balmly lid closing over it, like the eye-'tis closing-'tis closed. The mysterious spirit has gone to take its airy rounds."

A SMART DOO.

"A friend of ours has a dog which used to be very smart. He says: There was n't anything in all Kentuck that could begin with him, 'cept once. One day we started a bar, a regular snorter. He put right off and the dog after him. an' I brought up in the rear. They were soon out lobbying. There seem to be no particular of sight, but I follered on for a mile or so, and came out at lost on a clearing, where was a log hut, an' a feller down an' smoking his pipe as comfortable as nossible. "Did you see anything of a dog an' a bar going by here?" sez I to the feller. "Yes I did." sez he.

Our Correspondents have been very kind to us, and in consequence of the continued sickness of our assistant editor and the press of work, preparatory to Town Meeting, which comes off next Tuesday, we have occupied much of our space, with their interesting productions.

We have received from the State Lunatic Asylum, their annual report, which we shall take occasion to notice hereafter. The State Prison report we are indebted to W. R. Thomas, Esq. for, and for various other State papers, to our worthy friends of the Senate and resort, the lessee of which for the ensuing 3 House of representatives.

JOHN R. GRAHAM, next door to the Post Office, has just received a new and well selected assortment of Carpets, Rugs, Mats, &c.; now is the time Ladies to get choice goods. Call and examine them.

European Intelligence .- The Canada's mails furnish a succint account of European matters'up to the time of the departure of the steamer. A full report of the ministerial statement of Lord Palmerston to the House of Commons is given in the English journals, with the reply of Sir James Graham to the furious attack made by Sir Charles Napier on the late English Cabinet, and on Sir James in particular. Lord John Russell was prevented by illness from setting out on this important mission to Vienna. The opposition of the London Times against the ministry and its war against the Aristocracy continues. Lord Palmerston is not supported by the great organ, and therefore people begin to think that the present Administration cannot be durable. The Russian Grand Duke were taken sick in Sebastopol, and great alarm pre-vailed at the Court of St. Petersburg. A list of the new appointmenes to the command of the English Baltic fleet is given. It appears from an Irish journal of good repute that the emigration from that country will be seriously checked during this season, owing to the deplorable accounts sent out of the existing distress in our cities. The Catholics of Ireland look with distrust on the new Cabinet.

The London Correspondent of the New York Tribune writes to that Journal as follows: A gentleman of high respectability informs me that toward the end of December he arrived here in London, by the Baltic, from New York, and on board of ship made the acquaintance of a naturalized American citizen, Mr. S. Behm, of New York city, who teresting. had come to Europe on business in the cutlery line, with a regular passport from the Secretary of State at Washington. Toward the end of January both gendemen left London for Berlin, but had scarcely arrived at the railway terminus at Berlin, when Mr. S. Behm was seized by the police, together with his baggage and money, and imprisoned. His companion, the gentlemen from whom I got the information, wished to speak to him in prison, in order to be able to give some information to his friends in the United States, but he was not admitted. Mr. Vroom being informed of the affair, said diplomatically that he would do whatever he could for the release of Mr. Behm, but until now, his applications, if indeed he has made any, remained without Trenton, Tuesday, March 6. The House were engaged during the after-noon in discussing the bank question, the bill under consideration being the recharter of one of the bast institutions in the State, the Farmers' Bank at Mount Holly. The debate was quite thorough, but being prolonged until the hour of adjournment, no vote was takon. The result is still doubtful, but may be telegraphed before to-morrow. The passage of the bill will indicate the probable success of the recharters, but will not insure the passage of the new charters.

No farther investigations in relation to the alleged bribery affair have been made to day. Navigation-Steamboats.-For the past five days we have been in the enjoyment of delightful Spring weather, and old Winter has been fairly put to flight. The ice in the creek has been moving, and an inclination is manifest in the steamboat men to follow its example. They are only waiting for the upriver ice to pass down, to resume their trips. The Miantonomi has been under repairs at Philadelphia during most of the winter, and the improvements upon her were made with an eye single to the "comfort and convenience" of passengers. The bulk-head of the ladies' saloon has been moved forward, making the saloon nearly a third larger, which expense we predict will be fully compensated for by the increased amount of "precious freight" she will be enabled to carry. cal Supports, owing to derangement of the Inter-nal Organs, inducing Falling of the Womb, Vocal, Pulmonary, Dyspeptic, Nervous and Spinal Weakness, are informed that a competent and experienced LADY will be in attendance at the Rooms, (set apart for their exclusive use,) No. 114, TWELFTH St., 1st door below Race. Philadelphia, June 24, 1854.-Iy Ritter's Compound Syrup of Tar & Wild Cherry. I S the safest, cheapest, and best of all Cough Medicines now in use. Of this fact a single trial will convince the most skeptical. It contains no mineral or narcotic ingredients, and causes no inconvenience during its administration; is very palatable, will be taken freely by the youngest children, and will afford instant relief in croup and whooping cough, if given according to the directions. A few doses will allay the irritation of the bronchial tube, incident to cough and sore throat, and by removing the cause will in a short time produce the effect desired—a permanent cure.— One bottle, the price of which is 25 cents, will in nearly every instance cure a cough, however in veterate and of however long standing.

For sale by storekeepers generally in this and adjoining counties, and wholesale by the proprietor.
