For the West Jersey Pioneer. "Weeping may Endure for a Night; but Joy Cometh in the Morning."

BY SARAR S. SOCWELL.

Struggler in the world's great strife, Fainting, worn and weary; Yield thou not to dark despair, Look up and be cheery! Rest succeeds to weariness, Gladness follows sorrow-Weeping may endure to-night, But joy will come to-morrow.

'Tis the darkest, heaviest cloud, Has the bow's adorning-After every gloomy night, Comes the gladsome morning; Then remember, though earth's cares Fill thy soul with sorrow-Weeping may endure to night, But joy will come to-morrow.

If affliction bows thy soul, Hope's bright garlands withering, Hushed the voice of gladness; Rouse thy doubting, fearful soul! Shake off thy load of sorrow! Weeping may endure to-night, But joy will come to-morrow. Shiloh, April 1855.

SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY. Messas. Editors:-On Monday evening of last week we attended the Exhibition of the scholars of the Trinity M. E. Sabbath School. It was quite late when we entered the Church, the exercises were progressing and the room was well filled with an attentive audience; a large and commodious platform had been erected for the accommodation of the scholars; in the background were the Pastor, Superintendent and another gentleman, so well known in this community as the Prince of singers, at least among the juveniles, as to render the mention of his name superfluous; suffice it to say that no small portion of the praise awarded to the scholars for their excellent singing, on that occasion, was due to the previous labors of their teacher.

The room was well ventilated, (rather a unusual thing on such occasions) and would probably have remained very comfortable had not the politeness of a gentleman interfered with his better judgment of the laws of respiration and thus caused the windows to be closed for the benefit of the audience.

The exercises were interspersed with the soul-stirring music of the children, assisted by the choir. We feared the Temperance feature of the exhibition would be slighted, as the first speech on the subject was exceedingly ed. We were pleased with the delivery of a beautiful and familiar piece of Poetry, entitled "What I Live For," composed by G. Linnœus Banks, the last verse of which is as follows:-

"I live for those who love me, For those who know me true, For the Heaven that smiles above me, And awaits my spirit too: For the cause that lacks assistance, For the wrong that needs resistance, For the future in the distance And the good that I can do."

Other peices were worthy of especial no tice but we will not particularize. Most of the scholars were very young, and when their age and opportunities are taken into consideration we should pronounce their effort very creditable. The pieces were well selected and appropriate for the occasion; committed and delivered in excellent style, and the entire arrangement reflected much credit on all concerned and could not easily be surpassed.

condition of the schools that have come under our own immediate knowledge; we find, with an average of five schools to the township, that we have twenty-five in five townships; six of them will support a teacher by the year; of those six there is but one married man teaching, and but one where the teacher has remained more than two years in the same place. All of them are young men, who make the schoolroom the stepping-stone to some other more lucrative and agreeable business. How often have I heard the exclamation, "You will never catch me in the 'I don't intend to made teaching my busican't support a family upon the fickle pay demust look out for another school or something next after the date of the bond, and such else to do! such business I don't like!" We hold out no inducement for a man to prepare himself for one of the most noble and responsible, laborious, thankless callings that he can engage in; the consequence is, our schools are all in an uprear, and we make but money, and as he expects to engage in some more permanent business in the spring, thinks the schoolroom as good means as any to procure it. Mr. B. has just returned from attending lectures, spending-money is rather scarce, thinks he will take the "district school," and with an eye-single to the pay The absurdity of following the fashions too does not care a fig whether their minds make any progress whatever. New Jersey can boast of no son more deeply interested in general intelligence than I am, and I highly appreciate any effort made, but are we ready for a Normal School? Would it not have been better, if that money had been appropriated for the purpose of elevating and preparing our schools for the reception of Normal Teachers? Casting a "Devil" out of a Church—A Methodist Minister Arrested for Assaulting a Distiller.

We are indebted to our friend, J. M. Bell, Marrietta, Ohio, for the following graphic sketch. We are assured that the facts trans pired substantially as narrated:

A Methodist clergy who has been laboring in this vicinity, was, not long since, preach ing to his people on the miraculous power of the Apostles over the demoniac spirits of the day. As he was pursuing his theme, the auseals, commanding a constable to sell said dience was suddenly startled by a voice from some one in the congregation, demanding in a due, at the time and place therein named, due half-querulous, half-authoritative tone, "Why don't preachers do such things now-a-days?" signed by said constable, at such places and In an instant every eye in the house was turned upon the individual who had the effrontery thus to invade the sacredness of their sanctuary.

The speaker panced for a moment, and fixed or persons entitled thereto, (if claimed by such suming his subject. He had not proceeded person or persons within two years,) upon the far with his remarks, before he was again inorder of a judge of the court of common pleas terrupted by the same impertinent inquiry. Again he paused for a time, and again resumed claims, and if the same is not claimed in two his subject. Not content with a silent rebuke years shall pay the same into the school fund our redoubtable questioner demanded again, Why don't the preachers do such things now-a-days?" and curling his lip with a sneer of self-complacency, drew himself up pompously in his seat.

Our reverend friend (who, by the way, is a young man of great muscular power,) calmly Dictionary for the use of the common left the desk, and walked deliberately to the pew where the interrogator sat, and fastening one hand firmly on the collar of his coat, the other on the waistband of his unmentionables, lifted him square out of his seat, and bore him perintendent of public schools be authorized him down the aisle to the entrance. Pausing fears and distates; and adversity is not without and directed on the most favorable terms to for a moment there, he turned his eyes upon purchase for the use of such of our common his audience, and in a clear full voice, said and they cast out the devil in the form of a tendent of public schools, their desire to distiller." and suiting the action to the word, have said book, a copy of "Webster's Unadistiller." and suiting the action to the word,

The good pastor quietly returned to his desk, and completed his discourse. After closing the services, as he was passing out of ionary to be furnished by the state superin- the church, the outcast distiller, with an officer of the law, escorted our elerical friend to the office of a magistrate, to answer for an assault upon the person of said distiller. After hearing the case, the magistrate dismissed the clergyman, and after roundly reprimanding the complainant, fined him for molesting the services of the sanctuary.

Since that day we believe he has never doubted the power of Methodist preachers t cast out devils, at least within the limits of the Ohio Conference.

RAILROAD BRIDGE AT EASTON.

The Central Rairoad which now crosses our State, passing through some of the most wealthy and flourishing counties, our readers are mostly aware, is to form a junction with the Lehigh Valley Railroad; now being built. The Central Road crosses the Delaware bridge at Easton; and the bridge has been under way for several months. When completed, it will have no superior in the country. The Easton Argus of last week speaks of it as follows:

"The stupendous structure across the Delaware River at this place, designed to connect the New Jersey roads with those of Pennsylvania; is in a state of great forwardness. Two spans of the five are up. The third is nearly completed. In a couple of months more the whole will be up and finished. Once done it will compare with any thing of the kind in the United States. It is to be a double bridge with tracks above and below for the purpose of uniting with corresponding tracks on the Jersey Road. Not the least curious feature about it is, the ingenious construction of the fulse works on which the spans are carried up from the piers. There is a wire suspension bridge between the piers, sixty feet above the surface of the river, on which the force work with equally as much firmness as on terrs firma. Thousands of people have been on the ground to inspect it. It is a novelty, and is the first thing of the kind ever designed in the United States. It is the invention of Mr. J. W. Murphy, who is putting on the super-structure of the bridge, and reflects great credit on his ingenuity, as indeed the whole work does to his intelligence and ability. The piers are considered as fine a specimen of ma-In a short time the iron horse will be puffing and blowing along the Lehigh, when we may bid good bye to old fashioned teaming.'

PROSPERITY AND ADVERSITY. The virtue of prosperity is temperance; that of adversity, fortitude. Prosperity is the blessing of the Old Testament; adversity that of the New, which carrieth the greater benediction and the clearer relation of God's favor. Yet even in the Old Testament, if you listen to David's harp, you shall hear as many hearse-like airs as carols; and the pencil of the Holy Ghost hath labored more in describing the afflictions of Job than the felicities of Solomon. Prosperity is not without many comforts and hopes. We see in needleworks and embroideries, it is more pleasing to have a lively work upon a sad and solemn ground, than to have a dark and melancholy work upon a lightsome ground; judge therefore of the pleasure of the heart by the pleasure of the eye. Certainly virtue is like precious odors, more fragrant where they are inceused and crushed; for prosperity doth best discover vice, but adversity doth best discover virtue. [Lord Bacon.

SPRING.

Already has nearly one half of the period set apart as the Spring passed away. So accustomed are we to regard Spring as the season of pleasureable emotions, so naturally do we associate with it green fields, and swelling buds and opening flowers, the re-animation of vegetable life and activity, the return of genial sunshine and mild and balmy atmosphere, that we illy brook the long continued and protracted endurance of the cold and inclement weather, which, with so little intervals, we have experienced since the commencement of the Spring period. .The season has so far been unusually cold, records of the temperature for March determine that the average temperature for the month, was several degrees lower than the average of thirty years past, though in that time the cold for the month has been still greater in three or four different years. April so far has continued to sustain the same character, the swelling of a few lilac and other hardy shrubs, the appearance of a few crocuses, daffys and other kindred flowers, and the almost vain attempts of the early grass in favorable localities to start forth from the slumbers of winter is all the evidences of Spring exhibited by the vegetable world, except the springing of the hardy wheat; spite of the cold the wheat fields have green. How the wheat can grow so and look wintry is a mystery.

But Spring is the season of hope, seed-time and harvest has been promised from a source which never fails, therefore we all confidently

EVIDENCES OF PROSPERITY.

That times with most of us are rather hard living high, and the call for labor, of some kinds at least, less urgent than it has been; money searce and hard to be procured by any but the farmer, is generally coneeded, but that we as a people are rich and prosperous, in comparison with the people of the many other places, and have much cause for thankfulness for the comparative plenty we enjoy is also true. That the cry of pressure and hard times in this community, or in our county, is not altogether real, or at least of a character to be permanent or followed with disastrous results, is sufficiently demonstrated by the improvements still going on amongst us; that such was the fact in our neighboring cus Company. towns and villages, and throughout the rural districts, still there has been constant activity amongst the builders during the year in putting up and enlarging the means of accommodation, building is still going on actively in our town and not only here but all around us. In our rides in the country we are forcibly impressed with the assurance that our county, although considered by some people, a little outside of creation, is rapidly growing in wealth, population and productiveness; and comforts, conveniences and useful improve- his motto.

With such roads as we may have in our county, and with the improvements in our farm buildings, fences, &c., which is in progress; with the continued use of manures and other means of increasing ention to the education of our children which is now so generally felt, we may rest assured that a few years will give our county a standing with our sister counties which we shall not be ashamed of.

Cumberland County Medical Society. The annual meeting of this Society was held at Davis' Hotel, in this town on Tuesday. Doct. I. H. Hampton, was elected President, Doct. Eli E. Bateman, Vice President, J. B. Potter, Secretary, and B. R. Bateman, Trensurer. The meeting although not as well attended as usual was highly interesting, and those of the medical faculty who allowed other engagements to keep them away from the. meeting missed a rich treat of intellectual enjoyment. Few things are more pleasant and at the same time more useful than these semiannual re-unions of the medical men of the county; and then the practical lessons upon diet taken at Messrs. Davis' well set table are worth a considerable effort to partake of.

The Society was disappointed in not having an opportunity of listening to the expected address from Doctor Richman, but will look impression, that its Circulation is larger than for it at the meeting in the fall. that of the PIONEER.

She has accommodations for sleeping on board, so that passengers may sleep on board and be ready to go on shore in the morning. In returning, she leaves Philadelphia in the evenining and arrives at Greenwich early in the morning .-This will no doubt be a great convenience to many of our friends not only of Greenwich, but of the west side of the creek generally, and if there was a connexion with the Boat, people from Bridgeton might often find it a pleasant as will as expeditious way of travel-

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE for April an excellent number; the tone, as usual, is moral, and elevated above most of the literature of the day and is one of the best and cheapest monthlies in the country. For sale by S. PARKER, at the Cheap Book Store in Commerce Street, three doors below the Pioneer Office.

Fires.-There has been a remarkable number of fires, destroying a considerable quantity of property within the last few weeks, in this country.—Woodbury Constitution.

Another Fire.—The dwelling house of William Moore, at Glassboro', took fire on Sunday afternoon the 1st instant, about two clock, and destroyed the upper story before t could be arrested. The fire was carried by the wind to the new house of Joseph Izard Esq., and got into a quantity of lumber destroying about 2,000 feet of boards for him, nd endangering his house.

More Fires. - A fire broke out in the N. corner of the farm of Mr. Ira Gibson, near Mullica Hill, about one o'clock on the same day, from a brush burning, which spread into the timber of Jonathan Colson, Charles Batten and Lewis Atkinson, over running about 150 acres, killing the timber and destroying quarter of a mile of fence for Mr. Batten .-The loss is estimated at $1,200 or 1,500.

The above fire was scarcely subdued, before the fire mentioned last week, was observed in the same vicinity. It broke out from a coal pit on the lands of Samuel E. Moore, Esq., but did not destroy his barn as stated; but it extended into the large timber near William S. French's, thence through to Maskell Bates, and burning his barn, 5 or 6 tons of hay, &c. but little being saved. His loss is probably about $400, on which there was a small insurance. Mr. Bates was himself absent, fighting the fire at Mr. Moore's.

Another Barn Burnt -On Monday afterus with letters of introduction from some of noon of last week, about 2 o'clock the barn on the farm of Mr. Woodward Warwick, near Bethel, took fire from some unknown cause, and, with its contents, was totally destroyed. courtesy and business habits will insure for towards the house, and it was with difficulty bushels of corn, 6 or 8 tons of hay, a light

The are was carried nearly half a mile, and ignited the grass in several places, which communicated the flames to a quantity of schider wood, belonging to the Messrs. The exercises in the church were suspended where a more general fight ensued between Catholics and Protestants, in which the former came off second best.

The priest was arrested and is now in custody, as also are several more of the rioters. No firearms were used, and no lives lost, but many persons were badly injured. All is quiet this morning, and the examination of those arrested is being proceeded with. Terrible Accident at Progress. - The Glass House of Julius Kelter, situated a few rods outside of the ucw town of Progress, was blown down during the gale on Monday morning last, and sad to relate, 7 persons were killinches in thickness and the roof slated. The spirits from other parts of the State, will be loss to the owner, who was absent at the time, Rumors are rife of the establishment of gambling houses, drinking houses and houses of ill-fame in Jersey City, and the Law and Order party, as it is termed, is worwill doubtless be pretty well sprinkled with groggeries when Prohibition goes into operation in New York, and hence it is that the defeat of the Prohibitory Law in our State is particularly to be regretted. Native American Review .- The second number of this magazine has made its appearance. The leading article discusses the erraic course of Orestes Brownson, under the title of "Jesuitism unmasked," and does it ably and convincingly. Roman Catholic Progress in the United States is another powerful article. Other papers on the vegetable productions of Cuba, the Valley of the Amazon, as described by Lieutenants Herndon and Gibbon, of our Navy, the passing events of the month and literary notices are full of interest. The speech of Mr. Smith, on the Naturalization Laws is continued. This work is calculated to do much good, and we again recommend it to the attention of our readers.

little below the maximum height attained since the foundation of the city. The Supreme court adjourned on the 5th inst., having rendered a number of very important decisions. One decision was to the effect, that persons who inclose lands in the mining region for agricultural purposes cannot hold them against miners. In the Legislature, the most important subject of discussion has been the Fee billreducing materially the fees of Sheriffs, Clerks and will very probably pass the Senate. A bill to fund the floating debt of San Fran cisco has also passed the House. As the whole debt, which now amounts to nearly 2, 000,000, is entirely contrary to the charter, and consequently illegal, the policy of funding it all is strongly objected to by a considerable body of tax-payers.

The Sunday bill, prohibiting barbarous and noisy amusements on the Lord's Day, has passed both branches of the Legislature, and gone to the Governor for his signature. A bill to prohibit public gambling will very likely pass the Legislature; and the friends

Cumberland Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

The annual meeting of the members of the Cumberland Mutual Fire Insurance Company, was held at the Hotel of E. Davis & Son in Bridgeton, on Monday the 12th day of March, 1855. n Monday the 12th day of March, 1855.
PROVIDENCE L. WHEATON, Esq. Chairman. Directors reported that since last annual meet-ing there had been a continued increase of mem-

the very lowest prices, knowing that persons who survey was needed and ought to have been had give long long credits must necessarily get higher prices for their goods besides losing a great deal expiration, equality of expense is had with all prices for their goods besides losing a great deal by bad debts. (and as all trades must pay or there members, and inducement to renew is much great could be no trade,) good paying customers must be than it was to have become insured at first, as pay for the losses by had ones. Or in other words, if Mr. A. fails to pay his bill, you must members, a cash fund of some amount and so large members, a cash fund of some amount and so large charge Mr. B. increased prices for the goods he buys; so you see, Mr. B. has to redouble his efcentage assessment upon them, an event altogeth er improbable. MATCHES! MATCHES! JOHN DONNELLY, rer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square

Upright Wood Box Matches,
No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada.

ATCHES having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, after a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Chapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy manner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, to Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and sponancous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance. These matches are packed so that one gross of more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and exmine for themselves. These Matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything heretofore offered to the public.
