For the West Jersey Pioncer. THE VISION OF JACOB. BY SARAH S. SOCWELL.

The twilight shades fell dim and solemnly, Veiling the splendor of the sunlit day, And stealing softly through the lofty palms, The evening breezes sang their mournful lay.

And like rich gems, in the blue Eastern heaven Glowed in magnificence the starry train, While the clear moon, fair queen of that bright

Shed waves of glittering light o'er Bethel's plain Beneath that glowing heaven, whose watching

Looked brightly down, like eyes of spirits blest; Wearied and toil-worn with his journeyings, A lonely wanderer laid him down to rest.

He had gone forth, alone and sorrowing. From his beloved ones, and his childhood's

Fleeing before a brother's bitter wrath. Upon his forehead and his clustering hair,

Sad tears of fore and grief a mother shed; And like a holy talisman round him thrown, A father's blessing rested on his head. Softly the gentle angel of sweet sleep

Wood the tired traveller to a deep repose; But glowing visions floated o'er his soul, And radiant forms of beauty round him rose.

From that blest land where sorrow never reigns, Where brightness never yields to shadowy night, A throng of holy angels, pure and fair. Descended to the earth on wings of light.

And ringing through the midnight's misty gloom From the far arching heaven, a thrilling voice Spake words of blessing, peace, and holy love, Making the sleeper's fainting soul rejoice. Shiloh, April 1855.

A short and pleasant walk up Chesnut Street cannot describe, I entered that place which occupies a prominent position in a history that is unparalled. The noble paintingsold sofas and chairs—the pew which was formerly in Christ's Church and occupied by the Wather of his Country, while in Philadelphia: A portion of the marble step on which the Secretary stood, while he read that declaration which nerved its hearers to "noble deeds of daring." Nerved them to despise the proffered honors of a King; sacrifice home To all its ease and luxury, wade through seas of blood; suffer every privation that man could possibly inflict on man, and after seven long years -years that "tried men's mouls" -succeeded in giving to us the precious boon of freedom. Ah well may we say,

"The love of liberty with life is given And life itself th' inferior gift of Heaven." Ah, Liberty,

"Eternal spirit of the chainless mind!"

How we love to dont upon it, and we have a right to do it; may we as true sons; ever adhere firmly to that Goddess, and may every sword leap from its scabbard, ere we suffer any incringement either from foreign, or any other corrupted influence, toward our. consecrated Goddes; but we must not forget to notice that bell which proclaimed liberty throughout the land, although it is cracked; old, and presents a very unprepossessing appearance, yet there is something about it that is interesting, the words of prophesy in connection with it were signally fulfilled: no doubt the hearts of those veterans leaped with heart of the Christian thrills with pleasure at the sound of the "Sabbath going bells."

"How soft the music of those Village Bells; Falling at intervals upon the ear In cadence sweet! now dying all away, Now pealing loud again and louder still, Clear and sonorous as the gale comes on. With easy force it opens all the cells Where Mem'ry slept."

Sale of Daniel Webster's Marshfield Property.-The sale of the late Mr. Webster's estate and stock at Marshfield, on Wednesday last, was well attended. The right and title of the mansion house, and 310 acres surrounding it, was bid off by J. W. # WATCH.

I have now in my hand a gold watch which very valuable appendage to the person of a gentleman. Its hands, face, chain and case, are of chased and burnished gold. Its gold self from kind firiends, for a long journey to seals sparkle with the ruby, topaz, sapphire, be gone an indefinite period of time, can emerald. I open it, and find that the works, without which this elegantly furnished case would be a mere shell; those motinless hands, and those figures without meaning are made of brass. Investigate further, and ask what tion, made of? I am told it is made of steel. I ask, what is steel? The reply is, that it is Iron, which has undergone a certain process. So then I find the main spring, without which the watch would be motionless, and its hands, figures, and embellishments but tors, is not of gold—that is not sufficiently good; nor of brass-that would not do-but of iron. Iron is therefore the only precious metal; and this watch an emblem of society. Its hands and figures which tell the hour, resemble the master spirits of the age, to whose movement every eye is directed. It's useless but sparkling thought of except when it is disorderly, broke, or wants winding up, symbolically, the labor-ing class, which, like the main spring we wind up by the payment of wages, and, which classes are shut up in obscurity, and though constant at work and absolutely as necessary to the movement of society as the Iron. mainspring is to the gold watch, and never thought of, except when they require their wages, or are in some want or disorder of some kind or other.—Edward Everett.

SCARCITY OF FOOD.

This is strange language to be used in country like ours, a country essentially a producing one, a country preeminently blessed with! abundance of land, either in a state of cultivation, or easily susceptible of being made so; the soil naturally good or readily improved by agents easily procured, the climate and soil so varied, as to fit it for productions of every kind, and for being productive in some of its great staples, in every varied season; yet such is the language we constantly hear, the truth of which is painfully feit by those of us, who are compelled to purchase food for the sustenance of ourselves and families. We are naturally led to ask. "why this scarcity?" why are such prices demanded and obtained for every article of necessary consumption? Has there been a great failure of crops? has the agriculturist had his attention drawn off from his legitimate business, and neglected to plant and cultivate the usual amount of agricultural products? We are answered No! the seasons have been favorable, the crops generally, throughout the Union, good, a very general improvement in agricultural practice has taken place, which has secured increased pros ductiveness of our old lands, and immense bodies of new lands have been opened to culture. Why then we repeat this scarcity, and these high prices? Has there been an unusual call for provisions abroad? again we an-

Cumberland Mutual Fire Insurance Company,

The annual meeting of the members of the Cumberland Mutual Fire Insurance Company, was held at the Hotel of E. Davis & Son in Bridgeton, on Monday the 12th day of March, 1855.
PROVIDENCE L. WHEATON, Esq. Chairman. Directors reported that since last annual meet-ing there had been a continued increase of members and strength to the Company.

The plan adopted for renewals of first issued

Policies has given general satisfaction, and nearly all have again become insured, often with much larger amounts of property, and such changes have been made in many instances, that a ner survey was needed and ought to have been had. By requiring every policy to be cancelled at its expiration, equality of expense is had with all nembers, and inducement to renew is much great er than it was to have become insured at first, as they now come into a Company of nearly 3,000 members, a cash fund of some amount and so large a sum of Premium notes as to make a large per estage assessment upon them, an event altogeth er improbable. Every policy new issued, is exempt from any assessment for one year from its

HIS Machine is simple, of light draught and not liable to get out of order and will cut all kinds of Grain and Grass equally as well as any other Combined machine ever in this region. It is so constructed, that all side draught, (which is so great in most Machines as to require three, and some machines four horses to do the work of two) is entirely overcome and seldom, if ever requiring but two horses in any kind of grain or grass. An Extra Platform is so constructed, that the gavels can be laid at the side, entirely clear, when the Machine comes around and obviates the necessity of binding after it. This Machine has been tested the last harvest, by a number of practical Farmers and quite sufficient to prove its complete adaptation to Mowing as well as Reaping. It is so constructed, that it can be changed in twenty minutes into a Mowing Machine, and then again altered back for Reap-ing, in the same time. It leaves the stubble from twelve to fourteen inches high.

With this Machine you can mow an acre per hour, the whole day, though with but two horses, and with the same ease for the team, as ploughing; is warranted to cut Salt Grass equally as well as Fresh, and work as well in the Salt Marsh as These Machines are Manufactured at Bridgeton, by the subscriber, where all Repairs can be done at Short Notice. An extra knife, with each Persons wishing to purchase, can apply to the subscriber, at Bridgeton, personally or by ROBERT BARBER.

nakers, by L. W. TOMLINSON & Co. Fairton, April 22, 1854. "WONDERS NEVER CEASE." Ware Dalrymple & co,

WOULD respectfully announce to their friends and patrons, that they have taken the Shop lately occupied by S. M. WARE, opposite M. Bowen & Bro's. Livery Stable, where they design carrying on the Carriage Business, in all as various branches, and as they are determined to use none but the best material, & employ none but the most experienced workmen, they flatter themselves, that their work will bear a favorable comparison, with that of any of their competitors. All we ask, is a fair trial, & we pledge ourselves, to give, as far as possible, general satisfaction. Especial attention will be paid to all kinds of jobbing and repairing.

Come on then, friends, with your orders and P. S .- Wood, Grain, Country Produce and Cumberland Bank Notes, taken in exchange for work.

MATCHES! MATCHES!

JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Squa Upright Wood Box Matches, No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. ATCHES having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, afr a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the filmsy manner in which Matches are generally packed in pa per, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention. succeeded in getting up a Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, o Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and sponancous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance. These matches are packed so that one gross or more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and ex These Matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything heretofore offered to the public.

Philadelphia July 8, '54. Ritter's Compound Syrup of Tar & Wild Cherry Is the safest, cheapest, and best of all Cough Medicines now in use. Of this fact a single trial will convince the most skeptical. It contains no mineral or narcotic ingredients, and causes no in convenience during its administration; is very palatable, will be taken freely by the youngest children, and will afford instant relief in croup and whooping cough, if given according to the directions. A few doses will allay the irritation of the bronchial tube, incident to cough and sore throat and by removing the cause will in a short time produce the effect desired—a permanent cure.— One bottle, the price of which is 25 cents, will in nearly every instance cure a cough, however in veterate and of however long standing.
