Friends and Fellow-workers! such a meetling as this on such a stormy night as this, means something. It is the first of a series of meetings in which the new duties that are about to devolve upon us-must be seriously and gladly considered. This morning when I ened that good live Temperance paper, hich comes to my door every morning as gularly as my milkman-and comes smelng just as little of alcohol as the milk itself when I opened that live Temperance paper thing before and quite another thing ofter a temperance canvass, I saw my own humble nearly 300 bushels, about 150 bushels per name in the list of your speakers. For weeks past we have had our anxious ears. We feared pecuniary bribes and party ntrigues. The law is a self-sustaining one. It kills ward. It drives men out of the traffic, who in turn will pull others out, for "misery loves company." (laughter.) The fields of Kansas we will keep thee informed. Will wave with grain raised by the hands of men driven from this vile business. What remains of the traffic will be obliged to burrow under ground. It will hide itself in holes and corners and no longer flaunt its seductive colors on Broadway and every tho-

To enforce the law elect good officers and magistrates. When you want a good Mayor see that he is made out of the right sort of Wood (loud and repeated applause,)—wood that has no dry rot in it, and that will not bend like a supple-jack. There is a Wood of that sort—he is called Fernando. (great applause.) Choose a man that is not afraid to do right—one that will serve our interests and we will serve his. If a few mistakes should be made by a man whose intentions are good and whose general course is right do not mind trifles, but sustain him. Do not mind his ante-cedents but look to his pre-cedents and support him accordingly. Have faith in the law. Have faith in truth and the God of truth. Let us not speak in a besitating manner about the law and its enforcement; when you are asked say boldly—" the measure can and must be sustained!" We can refer you to the Governors of Maine and Connecticut far the proof of its workings else-where; while they say it works well, let us be confident of success.

Seeing the Elephant.-Passengers who travel by the New York and New Haven cars have a grand chance of 'seeing the elephant.' Going from New York, the cars pass the farm of P. T. Barnum, a mile or so before reaching Bridgeport, Ct. On that farm, and in plain view from the railroad, an elephant may be seen every pleasant day, attached to a large plow, and doing up the 'subsoiling' in first rate style, at the rate of about three distinct double-horse teams. The animal is perwhile a colored man guides the plew. The ele-phant is also used for carting large loads of gravel in a cart arranged purposely for him, and in drawing stone on a boat or drag, in piling up wood, timber, &c., and in making nimself generally useful.

This same animal was used in India some years since, to work on the roads, pile timber, c., and it is said that he don't stick up his nose at any reasonable work that his Yankee owner places before him.

Verdict against Barnum .- A verdict of $1.500 has been rendered against Barnum in the Supreme Court. The great showman, while President of the Crystal Palace Association, covenanted with Orrin D. Munn and others to pay them $17 per share for an amount of Crystal Palace stock, not exceding 223 shares, provided they would discontinue a suit brought by them against the concern.

The stock was to be paid for within six months, but Barnum did not toe the mark, and hence the suit which has just terminated adversely to the notorious autobiographist. The cutest operators occasionally get bit—witness Barnum's "fire annihilator," Illustrated News, and Crystal Palace speculation. By these three sprees he cannot have lost less than $30,000.

FIRE. - Our quiet town was aroused from its repose on Saturday morning about half past two o'clock by the unusual and exciting cry of fire, sounding through the streets, followed by the ringing of bells and bringing into action our extensive fire apparatus. .

The alarm proved to come from the burning of the Foundry and Pattern Manufactory of our enterprising and worthy townsman, Robert Barber. The destruction of this property was complete, everything combustible, everything but brick mortar and iron appears to have been consumed. It is probable that the fire had gotten so completely underway before it was discovered that with the hest organized fire department the destruction of these buildings would not have been prevented. Our fellow citizens deserve, we think, much credit for their industry and perseverance in saving the Grain and Hay House of Mr. Young, with the imperfect means within their reach, it must have required good management and determined will to prevent the sprend of the fire to that building.

While a portion of our citizens were exerting themselves to prevent the extension of the fire, another portion were actively and fearlessly employed in efforts to save machinery, patterns, &c., from destruction. What will be the amount of Mr. Barber's loss we have no means of knowing; we learn that there was a partial insurance, and that his business of manufacturing mowing and reaping machines will not be seriously interrupted. His loss, however, in machinery, patterns, &c., together with the derangement of business which must necessarily follow, will be to him one.

Cumberland Bible Society, and Father Osborn.

We attended the annual meeting of the Cumberland County Bible Society, at Cedarville, on Wednesday afternoon. This society which is auxiliary to the American Bible Society, has now been in existence forty years; it has steadily, though quietly pursued the great object of its founders, the distribution of the Bible; and we are gratified to be able to say, that the prospects for usefulness are encouraging. The meeting on Wednesday was large, the largest it is believed for sixteen years, and much credit is due to our Fairfield friends for their spirited attendance at a time too, when so many of them were busily engaged in their agricultural pursuits. Amongst those in attendance, were some who had been members ever since the organization of the Society, of this number is John Moore, of Hopewell, and John Howell, of Fairfield, and the venerable President of the say last Sabbath in each, in some convenient Society, Father Osborn. ANNUAL REPORT.

The 39th Annual Report of the Board of Managers of the Cumberland County Bible Society for the year ending May 1st 1855.

The Managers in presenting their report edge the goodness of their Heavenly Father the action of the Society, and the farmers in permitting them to labor another year, however feebly, in this portion of His heritage. There has been received into the Treasury during the year from various sources the sum of $313,42, as follows, viz:

". Individual donations " 2d Presbyterian Church, Bridgeton 25,17 ". Balance from last report

There has been paid to the American Bile Society for books and freight $86,67; for printing circulars $2,00; leaving a balance in he Treasuay of $244.03.

At the last Annual Meeting 168 bibles and 26 testaments were reported on hand.

The number distributed by donation and sale during the past year is 616 bibles and testaments, remaining on hand at this time 204 bibles and testaments. Sold or donated by the society since its organization 6641.

It will be perceived that the collections from several of the Methodist Churches in our bounds have been paid into our treasury, instead of the Parent society as formerly, which is understood to be in accordance with resolution passed at their Annual Conference last year. The Board would express their gratification that the change has been made, as it will more fully show what is yearly contributed by the different churches and members of the Society.

They regret exceedingly that collections have not been made in all our churches. In order to stimulate them to do so in future. the Board of Managers at their last meeting passed unanimously the following resolution, in the county, making collections for the bi-ble cause and paying the proceeds to the Cumbibles and testaments for gratuitous distribu-

He asserted the pro-slavery claims of the South. He also declared that Gov. Reeder had done his duty ably, and that he would and should be sustained both by Pennsylvania and the country at large. If the South refuse, the solemn duty would devolve upon the North to take up the matter, so that the rights of her sons who have settled in Kansas, on the faith of solemn compacts, shall be vindicated and sustained. > Depreciation of Gold .- The U. S. Econmist estimates the amount of gold furnished to the commercial world during the six years, since the new mines were discovered, at $400. 000,000. The influence of these vast gold supplies is proved to be very different from the anticipation of many financiers, who predicted a great immediate depreciation. relative value of gold to silver by the English law of 1816 was 1 to 14,2875, and the actual value has been as followes: In 1851 1. to 15.1399; in January, 1855, 1 to 15,1499; in March 1855, 1 to 15,2326. It will be seen that, as compared with silver, gold- has been increasing in value. This anomaly is attributed to the great demand of silver during a period of a war in Europe and China, increased supply of gold has scarcely been sufficient to fill its place and consequently that mosel has not only required its value but shows considerable appreciation.
