THE LOVE OF LIFE.

BY LYDIA JANE PIERSON.

Where the river deep was flowing, Where the summer sun was glowing, Where the sweetest buds were blowing, Stood a maiden little knowing What life had in store: Little knowing, little caring, What the future was preparing, Young life's beauty she was wearing, Nature's joy and music sharing-Could she ask for more?

She knew not that calmly sleeping, With his wings of fragrance sweeping O'er the deep down well of weeping, From her heart all knowledge keeping

Of its presence there; Still this balmy breathing blending, With its murmured sobs ascending, And a light of glory lending Where its mists pale flow are bending. Lay an angel fair.

On his brow lay lily flowers Breathing peace on all the hours, And the roses of love's bowers. Drooping with the heart's warm showers.

Bloom'd upon his breast; O'er his form Hope's bow is shining, With his locks her buds are twining And her magical designing, Hues of Heaven and earth combining. Draped his place of rest.

She knew not-but by the river Dreamed of bliss that life should give her, As the wavelets dance and shiver In a diamond chain, forever,

Singing as it flows: She knew not those waves were keeping Strange and fearful mysterious sleeping, Where the dead that hear no weeping, Lie where long dark sea weeds sweeping, Curtain their repose.

When the summer flowers were dying, When the plaintive winds were sighing, When the latest birds were flying, And the sere and fall'n leaves lying By the river's shore; We beheld a lady straying, In her silken, rich arraying, Gold and dazzling gems displaying; Yet her famished heart was praying

For the faithful of yore. For the beautiful believing, Ignorant of all deceiving, Faith in God and man unweaving, With assurance of achieving. Pure and glorious things; Ere life's wisdom did awaken, Ere the carnest truth was shaken, And her bosom's fane forsaken, By the angel, who had taken

And her unveil'd heart was aching, At the holy one's forsaking, While the bitter will unbreaking On its altar stone was slaking All the pure fires there; She has tasted every pleasure From an overflowing measure, Here were fame, and power, and treasure; But her wealth, and pride and leisure

Heavenward, on his wings.

Oh, how vain they were! Now to childhood's haunt's returning, And life's brilliant falsehood's spurning, With her heart and spirit burning, With intensely painful yearning O'er the wasted past; Scorning all that life had taught her, All the pomp that wealth had bought her, All the bliss that love had wrought her, Since they every one had brought her,

A MOTHER'S TEARS.

There is a touching sweetness in a mother's tears when they fall upon the face of her dy ing babe, which no eye can behold without imbibing its influence. Upon such hallowed ground the foot of profanity dare not approach. infidelity itself is silent, and forbears its scoffings. And here woman displays not her weakness, but her strength; it is that strength of attachment which can never in its full intensity be realized. It is perenial, dependen on no climate, changes-but alike in storm and sunshine-it knows no shadow of turning. A father when he sees his child going down to the dark valley, will weep when the shadow of death has fully come over him: and as the last parting knell falls on his ear, he may say, "I go down to the grave of my son mourning." But the hurry of business draws him away; the tear is wiped from his eye; and if, when he turns from his fireside, the vacancy in his family circle reminds him of his loss the succeeding day blunts the poignancy of his grief, until at length it finds no permanent seat in his breast. Not so with her who has borne and nourished the tender blossom. It lives in the heart where it was first entwined in the dreaming hours of the night. She sees its playful mirth, or hears its plaintive cries; she seeks it in the morning and goes to the grave to weep there.

IS RELIGION BEAUTIFUL?

Always! In the child, the maiden, the wife, the mother, religion shines with a holy, benignant beauty-Never yet was the female character, perfect without the steady faith of piety. Beauty, intellect, wealth! all are comparitively dark in the brightest day, unless the divine light, unless religion throw her soft beams around them, to purify and exalt, making twice glorious that which seemed ali loveliness liefore. Religion is beautiful-in health or in sick ness, in wealth or in poverty. We can never forts of life, they are attended with few tempenter the sick chamber of the good, but soft music seems to float on the air, and the burden of their song is "Lo! peace is here."

AGRICULTURE.

From the Newark Mercury. THE APPLE AND ITS CULTURE.

Being a Jerseyman, I have always felt degree of State pride, and many years ago when at the South, it gave me much pleasure to hear Newark commended for its manufactures, and New Jersey for her fine apples .-But where, now are those fine apples, or where are the trees to produce them? Are they those neglected objects seen in some fields, whose roots are overrun with grass, and smothered and shut out from the rain by turf -and even in some cases to make their death more certain, covered with stone heaps? Are they those skeleton and mutilated forms whose trunks are scarred and marred in a way that nothing could have done except a brute, walking on four legs or two, and whose bark is spotted all over with moss, sucking the life-blood from the tree? Is it thought by any reasonable being that trees in this condition can produce fruit? Why, the very sight of them is sufficient evidence to any one who knows a tree from a post, that all the food that can enter the sap of those trees is barely sufficient to sustain life for a few years, while the tree like a tetliered calf, cats out all the food within its reach, and drinks what little of rain there can filter through the turf and of a large portion of the fruit trees of New MISTAKE OF YOUNG MEN.

It is a grand mistake into which many Anerican youth fall, that manual labor is not honorable. To be a merchant, a lawyer, a doctor, an engineer, a military or naval officer or a shipmaster is in their esteem, much more honorable than it is to be a mechanic or a farmer. It cannot be denied that all these other occupations require exertion. The docwork is done, as the farmer or blacksmith what hardships engineers are exposed as well thousand other unmentionable things. We as persons who follow the seas. We often see vigorous young men seeking places as clerks in stores. They all hopeand generally expect some favorable tide in to fortune." Other men have accumulated vast sums of mony in buying and selling goods, why not I? is the language they use. They rarely consider that but a very small number of those who embark ever complete their voyage. Where one succeeds fifty perhaps a hundred fail. But an industrious, thrifty farmer seldom fails to secure for himself and family the comforts of life-the skillful and practical mechanic, too, is generally sure of a remuneration for his labor, and, with common prudence he can secure a competence for the future.-That a princely fortune can be heaped up by the plow, the jack plane, or the sledge, we do not say: nor is it pretended that men are likely to acquire fame on the farm or at the work bench as at the bar. But the history of the world will show, that the men who have done most for the welfare of their race and whose memories are cherished with the most respect came from the hard working ranks. Princely fortunes are more easily wasted than the same anxiety depicted on their countenwon and while the moderate possessions of the farmer or mechanic supply all the com-tations to luxury or extravagence, and still fewer risks from the folly or fraud of others. There can be no doubt that agricultural employment is most natural to man, and there is no country on the globe in which the facilities for pursuing these employments are so great as in the United States. It requires but a very small outlay of money to obtain a respectable farm to begin with. A good knowledge of the methods of husbandry is easily acquired. The implements of labor are as good and as cheap as can be found the world over. The products of the earth are sure of a good market and one easily reached. The title of land is well secured, the large monopolies, such as some of the countries of the old world are burdened with, can never live comfortably and independently? The farmer—that honest, goodly farmer—is one of the most independent men in the world. He has the promise of the great Creator that seed time and harvest shall not fail. He may always plow in hope, and reap with oy. To till the earth, then, is really an honorable calling.

new dress and fresh garniture.

During the last war with Great Britian a very remarkable circumstance occurred in connection with the invasion of Canada. A company of Kentucky volunteers, destined for Shelby's army, had their rendezvous at Harrodsburg, in Kentucky, and formed a sort of nucleus or rallying point for the military recruits of that part of the country. When they marched from Harrodsburg towards the Ohio river, having got a mile or two on their way, they noticed two pigs fighting, and delayed their march to see it out. After they had resumed their march the pig which had been the victor in the contest was observed to

A celebrated character of the state of New York, holding a high post in law, was lately taken and confined to his bed for sevral days. His wife, who was an angel of a woman, (as wives generally are,) proposed to read for him, to which he readily assented. My dear, what shall I read?,

Childhood .- Let man enjoy what he will in after-life, if his childhood have been blessed with the care and kindness of a judicious mother, there will come moments when the cup of pleasure will be dashed from his lips as tasteless, in comparison with those hours of sweet and social intercorse, when he first learned to look for a prevading spirit in the realms of nature to welcome all the animated and joyous creatures of earth as members of his own wide brotherhood, and to hail the beams of morning as pledges of the inexhaustible beneficence which created both life and light, and ordained them as blessings to

EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Steamers of last week bring us very important news respecting the state of affairs in Europe and in the East. The Congress of the Nations at Vienna, whose deliberations were to give peace to the Nations, has broken up without having effected any object except to amuse and occupy the attention of the allies while Russia was carrying on her operations for defence and exerting her influence in drawing off or neutralizing Austria. It is now said that the Allies can no longer calculate on Austria to arm against Russia.

Louis Napoleon with his Empress have been making a royal visit to Queen Victoria and her husband. Their arrival was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm by the Nation; the English people, not usually easily to be excited, exhibited all the extravagance of show, of noise and extravagance of expression common to their excitable and mercurial neighbors of France. It is evident that Lewis Napoleon is at present, at least popular with the English people and that they value very highly the amity and friendship now existing between the two nations. They no doubt look to Napoleon and the French as the means of successfully carrying them through the expensive war. Somehow Louis has managed contrary to the general expectation of the world, not only to sustain himself, but to strengthen his position and render himself one of the most popular men of the day. While in England, he received the honors of the orders of the Garter, &c., from the Queen. And now, as report says, he and his Empress are to be off for the Crimea to finish the capture of Sebastopol. .

An active bombardment of Sebastopol has been carried on now for a number of days without material effect, it will, be it is said followed soon by an attempt to storm the city, with what prospect of success we know not; one thing is very certain, the Allies have found it a very hard nut to crack.

No peace to be obtained, the Allies will have nothing to do but to fight it out, they cannot go back, and must try some new tactics; their efforts to fight against the absolutism of Russia and at the same time court Austacks of liberalism and republicanism, thus between Russia, Austria, &c., and absolutism ciples: arm the Hungarians, reconstruct Poland, encourage republicanism in Germany and Italy and then they will make the Russian bear scratch his head and begin to feel it time to keep himself within his old - territories. And why not, the people of England and France are in favor of liberal government and it is fighting against nature for their rulers to attempt to array them in favor

> Provisions .- Potatoes have declined in price, suddenly and heavily, after having reached a most preposterously high figure. To what this is owing we cannot exactly say. By many it is attributed to the large importation of foreign and domestic potatoes from In September a connection will also be comevery point where the article was to be had at reasonable rates, and it is supposed that the sudden fall has been adopted by the potatoo conspirators with a view of putting a stop to the importations. During the recent protracted duration of high prices, it is a fact that potatoes brought from Bermuda and other distant places were constantly sold here in our retail markets at lower rates than those consideration in the history of railroad enterof domestic growth. We have just passed through one of the severest winters ever experienced in Philadelphia, when thousands of industrious workmen were thrown out of employ, and great distress prevailed among the poorer classes. At this very time, when the bearts of the benevolent felt keenly the necessity for exertion, in order to relieve the suffering, a set of sharpers have kept up the prices of many articles of food so high, as to

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

We cannot understand, says the Newark Mercury, all the changes of opinion which are continually going on in the press of the United States with reference to the present Euroe advertisements of the day (May 1855) in pean War. There cannot be an intelligent student of history who does not understand nes leaving Philadelphia daily to go through | how this war originated, and how reluctantly the Allied powers were drawn into it by the very necessities of the case. The great object of Russia, the passession of Constantinoers could leave Philada, and reach New York ple, was on the point of being achieved, by in three days and nights, wind and weather the conquest of Turkey, when France and permitting, if the roads were passable, and England stepped in to prevent the catastrophe. And well had the Sultan merited this succour by his chivalrous defence of the Exing, did not meet with an accident: now a man iles of Hungary, and his bold and manly exmay eat his breakfast comfortably with his ertions in behalf of his Kingdom. So great family in Philadelphia, go to New York, have was this feeling that the very same journals, which are now chronicling any disaster of the allies with apparent gratification, were then hours for leisure or pleasure after dinner, be taunting them with cowardice for their delay in taking up the quarrel. The chivalrous in good time, without being particularly hur- valor of the Turks at Oltenitza was made the on the Prohibitory Law. The war at the present time is a war be tween the Cossack and Civilization-hetweer nations which represent the highest stages of art and science and all of real freedom which there is in Europe, and a despotism the most abject and crushing which the world has ever known. It is a war of aggression on the part Sunday drove the fire over the river towards of Russia and of prevention on the part of Millville; the people of Millville and the sur- the Allies. Success with the former will rounding country turned out and exerted strengthen every tyrannical Government latter will strengthen weak States and place them above oppression from their more powerful neighbors. In no aspect of the case can we look at this war with any sympathy for the barbarian hordes, who know no virtue but obedience to the Czar and who march to death as beasts to their labor. It is true that we may have respect for the gallant and brave defence of Sebastopol, but that cannot change the nature of the contest in which the parties are engaged. We do not mean that criticism on the bad management of the war ought not surpassed us in this respect; but we are certhe full history of this war fresh in their memory, exhibit their Russian partialities. For our own part we trust to see Russia suing for a peace which shall ensure for a long period at least, the independence of Turkey as a European power.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

The steamer Asia touched at Halifax late on Monday night, on her way to Boston, but her news is not as startling or decisive as we expected it would be. The bombardment of Sevastopol has been continued, without mate-Fairfield-George M. Wreck and Loss of Life-More Paupers.

New York, May 7. Captain Button, of the bark Clara Windsor, arrived to-day, states that on March 19th he saw a wreck to leward, which proved to be the schooner John Clark, which had been struck by a squall and filled with water. Tho men were left without food or water, but on the next day obtained a keg of crackers that were wet with salt water, after which they got a bucket of vinegar, some shark-liver-oil, and some camphene. The fifth day after the catastrophe, the captain, mate, steward and two men died, and the two remaining men had nothing to cat for eight days previous to being taken off; those that died went crazy previous to death. They state that they saw two different vessels, one of which, a fishing schooner, came so close to them that they could see the man at the helm; the other came so close that they halloed to them, so that the vessel hove to and came close up under their lee, and after surveying them put their helm hard up and bore away, without offering any assistance. We learned last evening that a gentleman in this city has for a long time back been in the habit of paying postage on letters of this character, and the fact is highly honorable, as it was done without the slightest idea of its becoming public. The letters upon which the postage is paid are mainly foreign letters, and who can tell how many hearts they will gladden when forwarded to their destination. Dr. Morgridge's Family Medicines.

THE success of the subscriber in the treatmen of Diseases of the Bouels, on botanic principles, during the last twenty years, and especially in that of Cholers at Millville in 1849, where more than thirty cases were cured under his direction without a failure, has induced him to prepare bt of medicines from innocent vegetable su for the cure of this class of diseases. These medicines have become exceedingly popular in every section of country where they have been introduced. Within the last two years they have been placed in the hands of hundreds of families for the purpose of having them thorough-ly tested; and the result has been most satisfactory. I have called personally on hundreds of those milies to ascertain the success of my-medicines and have found that wherever they have been airly tried they have given entire satisfaction. They seem to act as a specific in Dysentery a well as in all the family of Bowel Complaints. my travels during the last two Summers, for the urpose of introducing and testing my medicines, prescribed them in numerous cases of Dysentery ith great success; many were cured, and I have alone were used and persevered in according to lirections. The articles principally relied on in the cure o cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoca, Dysentery but for it being before duylight, could have Bowel Consumption, Cholera Infantum, and the Summer Complaints of Children, are Dr. Mon GRIDGE'S Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture, Cholera Syrup Cholera Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults and his Bowel Corrector, Childrens Cordial and Aperient for Children. These will be sufficient in all ordinary cases, but there are some violent at tacks of disease, and some critical cases in which Dr. Morgridge's Emetic Syrup and Carminative Tincture are employed. For further particulars on this subject see bill of directions accompanying ach set of the medicines. For the cure of sundry other forms of disea are the following compounds, viz:—

Dr. Morgridge's Cough Syrup and Pectoral Elizir or Coughs, and all affections of the throat, breas ind lungs. Dr. Morgridge's Liniment and Elixir, for Rhums tism, Sprains, Tumors, &c. Dr. Morgridge's Alterative Pills and Elizir, fo affections of the heart, liver, kidneys, &c. Dr. Morgridge's Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture and Pills, for Dyspepsia with all its distressing symptoms.

Dr. Morgridge's Hyve Sgrup, for Croup, Asthma, Hooping-cough, &c., in children.

els wind, cures pains, Colics, Cramps, &c. Dr. Morgridge's Anti-Spasmodic or Emetic Syrup, or all violent attacks and critical cases of disease These as well as my Bowel Medicines have been ested for years, and have won for themselves reputation which will not easily be effaced. And though I may regret I have said it; I am going to sell for cash, barter or short approved credit. Thus insuring my customers that they may always depend on what goods they buy of me shall be at the very lowest prices, knowing that persons who give long long credits must necessarily get higher fices for their goods besides losing a great deal by bad debts. Or in other vords, if Mr. A. fails to pay his bill, you must charge Mr. B. increased prices for the goods he buys; so you see, Mr. B. has to redouble his efforts to make up for the fraud of Mr. A., which are the evils of the long credit system.

New Jersey Combined Mowing and Reaping MACHINE

THIS Machine is simple, of light draught and not liable to get out of order and will cut all kinds of Grain and Grass equally as well as any other Combined machine ever in this region. It is so constructed, that all side draught, (which, is so great in most Machines as to require three, and some machines four horses to do the work of two) is entirely overcome and seldom, if ever requiring but two horses in any kind of grain or grass.

An Extra Platform is so constructed, that the gavels can be laid at the side, eatirely clesr, when the Machine comes around and obviates the necessity of binding after it.

This Machine has been tested the last harvest, by a number of practical Farmers and quite sufficient to prove its complete adaptation to Mowing as well as Reaping. It is so constructed, that it can be changed in twenty minutes into a Mowing Machine, and then again altered back for Reaping, in the same time. It leaves the stubble from twelve to fourteen inches high.

With this Machine you can mow an acre per hour, the whole day, though with but two horses, and with the same case for the team, as ploughing; is warranted to cut Salt Grass equally as well as Fresh, and work as well in the Salt Marsh as Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box Matches, No. 106 orth Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. ATCH S having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, after a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy man-ner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, Shippiers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance.

These matches are packed so that one gross of more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and exmine for themselves. These Matches are WARRANTED to be uperior to anything heretofore offered to the public.
