DARE.

For the West Jersey Pioneer. Hymn for an Agricultural Anniversary.

Praise ye the Lord! let joyful songs Rise gladly from this band; Praise him for all the blessings given By his unsparing hand. 'Tis he that gives the gentle rain, The sunshine bright and clear-His mercies are forever new, His goodness crowns the year. Another year, since here we met.

On time's swift wings hath fled, And still upon our happy homes Rich blessings have been shed. Spring brought the fresh and verdant grass, The swelling buds and flowers, The tender shoots of springing grain, The soft refreshing showers.

Then came fair Summer bright and gay, With plenty in her train, Clothing the farmer's fertile fields In robes of waving grain. Acrown of blossoms on the earth Her fairy fingers shed; A rich and ever yaried feast Of luscious fruits she spread. Now Autumn comes with gorgeous robe,

Of brilliant changeful dye, Seeming as if it caught its hue From the bright sunset sky. With rustling sheaves of golden corn, His car is thickly bound; With purple clusters of the vine

His brow is righty crowned And thus, through all the changing year, The ever circling train Brings joy, and peace, and plenteousness, In each mild gentle reign. Then, praise the Lord! let joyful songs Ring on the Autumn air; Praise him for plenty which hath crowned Our plains and vallies fair. Shiloh, August, 1855.

"Scenes must be beautiful, which daily seen Please daily, and whose novelty surmises Long knowledge and the scrutiny of years;"

It was a fine evening in the early part of Summer, the moon not yet at its full, shone dimly upon the stream that hemmed Mr. Lenhart's garden and lawn, lining each little ripple with silver and bringing each object indistinctly to view by its pallid light. A fresh and delicate verdure was on the hawthorn hedges and the soft summer air brought a grateful breath to two individuals who were promenading and conversing of the beauty around them. At length they turned in an opposite ditection from that in which they had been walking, pursued a path which led through a piece of woodland and arrived at a grassy opening which lay in delicious repose in the moonlight.

"What a night! What scenery! See these transparent clouds that float about the moon. All things conspire to make this place en chanting, Emma."

He saw by the moonlight which fell directly upon her face that she was pale, her hair dishevelled, her brow corrugated and her eyes indicated strong mental excitement. When Radeliffe was with her she strove to be composed, cheerful and entertaining, when he arose to depart, not knowing how many long, long, weary days would elapse ere she should see him, she would hold him with a convulsive grasp, smooth his hair, and pressing his cheeks with her chilly palms, beseech him to stay a half hour longer if he frowned in her a friend, but she could not sacrifice her upon her during the time. Her beauty failed; to the physician's accustomed eye it grew ordinary, but alas instead of exciting his sympathy and love, it hastened their expiration. Strange, mysterious idiosyncrasy! Radeliffe's visits became less and less frequent and he no more at parting threw a ray of sun-light into her soul by calling her his Emma. But the sweet girl was constant to her traitor. "Willie" she would say, the big tear of sorrow standing in her half-closed eye, "Willie, I am not interesting to you any longer. Teach me what will be acceptable in your sight, you will find me a willing and docile pupil.-

"I give thee all I can no more, Though poor the offering be, My heart and lute are all the store, That I can bring to thee."

Emma never murmured nor complained to she was a lovely girl."

"Yes, a sympathizing, beautiful girl, Sheppard; too fair to be covered by the clods of earth."

"Dr. Rudcliffe," said Sheppard, flashing

"Then why have you invariably showed me the utmost kindness--aye even more marked favor than before?"

"Emma, in unfolding the sorrows that were consuming her life, requested me not to retaliate, but esteem you for her sake."

The physician bowed his head and sighed heavily-his spirit seemed broken. Did he at last see the siufulness of his cruel desertion? Did he feel his bloodguiltness? From that day Isabel and Addie were his constant companions. He was never coldly repulsed by them, nor indeed by the parents, in whose tion of pre-eminent and immutable inhabit- hearts he had created a source of the profoundiveness surprised me and elicited it sans cere- est grief. How opportune was this letter; it led Isabel to reconsider her dangerous position and eventually to recant. Should she become Radcliffe's wife, doubtless her worst apprehensions would be realized; everybody concurred in avowing it. He should ever possess life's happiness upon the altar of sympathy.

The suitor came but not with importunity; the tidings were received gladly rather than with disappointment. He bade the sisters farewell without the usual evening walk and never appeared at the cottage again.

The Winter passed away and Spring came, bringing no change in the family of Jabez Lenhart. The name of William Radcliffe was seldom mentioned, and Isabel never reproached herself for refusing his hand. The announcement seems to correspond with a recent manifesto of Mazzini, which was as follows:

"The hour is supreme! Austria is dissolving the compact of the 2d December, in diminishing her army so as to serve the Czar. and leave him at liberty to concentrate his force against the allies, has lost all right to the support of England and France. She stands alone? If you do not rise now, you say to Europe "we are incapable of opposing an enemy whom we are not certain of defeating; we have no faith in our right. ENGLAND AND THE WAR. War is a very great calamity, in its way, but it is a consoling reflection that we are oc-casionly afforded some evidence that it is not always an unmixed evil. The terrible conflict now going on among the firstrate powers of Europe, we are too apt to view in connexion only with the gloomy pictures of the battlefield and the multitudinous bereavements, of which these are the melancholly product. Now, it so happens, that there are already certain results of this war, which every true philanthropist, and every well-wisher of liberal principles, can afford to contemplate with satisfaction and pleasure. For example: we dare say it has een the means of bringing about a better understanding between the people of Great Britain and the people of the United States, than ever obtained before. The British na tions have learned to prize the value of our riendship; and, instead of abusing and valliying us, -as they were only too prone to do, formerly,--the language, we both speak, would seem hardly to afford terms sufficiently gentle and complimentary, to express, now, the full measure of affection and respect, Members of Parliament, and the Newspaper Editors, are anxious to mete out to us. It were an ungracious task to pause to enquire, to what extent this amiable disposition has a selfish rigin, or how much of it is born of the persuasion that it is good policy to cultivate as friendly a relationship as possible with the United States, in view of that growing hostile disposition, towards England and Englishmen, which some of the most powerful late years, have been at no pains much to con-Whether the motive of the thing be selfish or otherwise,-it is enough for us to know, that the thing in and of itself is good. As Americans, we cannot be supposed to be over much enamored with the British Government, nor over solicitous as to the changes, modifications, or revolutions, even, to which the progressive liberalism of the day may be destined to subject it, -but we do confess to a desire to see John Bull and Brother Jonathan anin the Ministry and Membership are invited | imated by a mutual desire to live on terms of peace and good will, all the days of their lives. For, after all, one cannot get along well without the other. Apart from the close business

As Americans and Republicans, therefore, we should regret, if, when this Russian war does come to an end, it leaves her a less commanding position, relatively, than she mainained towards other nations of Europe, which till admit allegiance to Rome. It is a great mistake some of the London Journals are L. No Relief for Dr. Beale.—It will be seen that the Supreme Court, recently in session at Bedford, refused the new trial asked for by sals until the 10th of September, 1855 for the Dr. Beale, Judge Black being the only one exclusive privilege of furnishing refreshments in its favor. The decision was delivered by Chief Justice Lewis. The only result, therefore, gained by this movement is that Dr. Beale will have to be brought before the Court of Oyer and Terminer for a new sentence. What the terms of that will be we have no ditions, viz: The money to be paid before the means of judging, though it is fair to presume that they will be little if any less lenient than the original ones.—Daily Sun.

There are circulation bills of Milford Bank. of the State of Delaware, which bank failed some months since, altered so as to purport ficient quantities to accommodate the crowd to be issued by the Milford Bank, Massachusetts, the word, Masschusetts being pasted over the word Delaware. They are very likely to being finer, will act with greater facility, and deceive. Counterfeit five-dollar notes of the Ocean Bank, of New York city, extremely well calculated to deceive, are also circulated. They may be detected by noticing the figure "5" on the left hand upper end. Rather Hasty.—The Temperance men in this County are moving early in the selection of Legislative candidates. They held a meeting in this town, on Monday last, and nominated James D. Shreve, as their candidate for this District, comprising Northampton, Westampton and Pemberton townships. A convention to nominate a Senator, will also be held in a short time.—N. Jersey Mirror. Mr. Richard R. Coriell, says the Plainfield Jnion, has shown us one-sixth of an acre of and on which he sowed onion seed this spring. The onions now cover the ground in the drills growing as large as they have room, and crowding the smaller ones completely out of the ground. It is estimated that that bed of onions will yield 80 bushels, besides it has on it about 200 cabbages. When ascertained, we will publish the yield, the cost and the profits.

Bread by Weight .- We discussed this important question at some length, a few days ago, since when we perceive that Mr. Oliver Holden, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a letter to the Brooklin Star, states that when flour is six dollars per barrel, bread can be sold for three cents per lb.; with flour at eight dollars, bread can be sold for four cents; at ten dollars, five inches in circumference, and weighing two cents, at twelve dollars, for six cents, affording, pounds. The State Temperance Convention met a Camden, on Thursday last. Mr. John M. Brown, of Burlington, was elected temporary chairman, and P. T. Slack of Burlington, secretary. A committee was appointed to nominate permanent officers, duing whose absence, the convention was addressed by Mr. Nicholson, of Philadelphia at the conclusion of whose remarks the committee reported the following nominations, which were concurred in: President, P. T. Slack; Vice Presidents, S. H. Weatherby D. Ripley, and Jossie Paterson; Secretaries, H. B. Howell, and Wm. B. Snowdon.

Addresses were delivered by Mr. D. Ripley f Newark, and Rev. J. Townley Crane of Connington, who severally denounced the li quor business and advocated prohibitory meaures. At the conclusion of the latter address, the Convention adjourned to $1\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock, at which hour they were addressed by Rev. Pennell Coombe, Chairman of the Temper-

WHEREAS, The true design of government is the promotion of the happiness and prosperity of the people; and whereas the object of law is to minister to this end by commanding what is right and prohibiting what is wrong; and whereas all experience shows that of the despotic powers upon the continent, of the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, wars directly against the best interests of the community, therefore Dirty Work .- A couple of fellows came into our town a day or two ago, and took lodgings at the house of Mr. P. L. Jaques. They represented themselves as very respectable persons, who were desirous of settling here and engaging in business. Accordingly they called upon Mr. John Bambridge and rented a store, upon which he has a lease, for the purpose of starting the tobacco and segar business. On Monday evening they called at the Drug Store of Mr. Stratton, and purchased a number of articles which they had charged, representing their money to be of large denominations and on Southern banks. On Tuesday morning they arose early, fastened their room door on the inside and after robbing the house of Mr. Jaques of various articles, to the amount of between thirty and forty dollars, they proceded to hire a horse and wagon of Mr. George Clift, with which they took their departure. A similar dirty piece of rascality was played off at New Brunswick last week, by a couple of fellows, who robbed a widow lady of a weeks board each, and then decamped with a horse and wagon belonging to Mr. James Coenhoven. should not be much surprised if the rascals were the same in both places.

Since writing the above Mr. Clift, who has been in pursuit of the men has returned. He states that he found his horse and wagon at a livery stable in Camden, where they had been For the curing of Prolapsus Uteri; Spinal props left by the rascals, with directions to use them | and Supports, Patent shoulder braces, chest exwith good care and they would call for them in a few days. No Military in Louisville .- The following unusual state of things in Louisville, Ky. is vouched for by a resident of that city, in a letter to the New York Courier. He says that Louisville has no military force, and that that Louisville has no military force, and that this was the cause of the little efficiency shown ness. Apply at the CUMBERLAND NAIL & IRON by the Mayor of that city on the awful day of WORKS, Bridgeton N. J. riot. This certainly is a rather singular fact. An American city like Louisville, of some seventy thousand inhabitants, without a single military corps in regular organization. It is at variance with all idea of the American Streets, a large GOLD MEDALLION, with Pencil character. It appears some years ago military trainings, required by a law of the State, had the effect of breaking up of the volunteer companies, with the exception of a few German organizations, and these, on the commencement of the Know Nothing movement, also disbanded, and surrendered their arms to the State, so that when the riot commenced it was found that, with the exception of a single piece of ordinance and twelve or fourteen muskets to guard it, there was no military force in the city.

We learn from the Gazette, that there are ten houses of worship in Plainfield, viz: 3 Baptist, (1 seven h day,) 2 Presbyterian, 2 Friends, 1 Methodist Episcopal, 1 Episcopalian, and I Roman Catholie. Allowing the population of the town to be 4,000, there would be one place of worship to every 400 inhabitants. There is also a denomination who hold regular meetings, but as yet have no house of worship of their own. There are 2 churches at New Market, one at Samptown and one at Scotch Plains, all within three and a half, and two of them within two and a half miles from Plainfield. The Guzette thinks there are more places of worship in proportion to the population of Plainfield and vicinity, than in any other part of N. Jersey.

The Newfoundland Telegraph .- It is stated that the company who are about to connect Newfoundland with Halifax, by a submarine telegraph, propose to furnish the foreign news to the American press in anticipation of the arival of the steamers, for the sum of about $200,000 per annum, or $2000 per steamer; calculating that they shall anticipate the arrival of about one hundred steamers a ton, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. year. The news by the steamer bound to New York could be anticipated several days; and by that to Halifax ten or eleven hours. The cost of the Halifax despatch of foreign much under $30,000 per annum.

The extent of well adapted to trucking, and is within 4 or 5 land under oats shows little difference; but bar- miles of Millville. ley has decreased about seven per cent Potatoes, while they show an increase in acres of about two per cent., have increased in produce about forty-five per cent. since 1850, the produce of 1853 crop being 10,000,000 barrels more than that of either 1851 or 1852, and more than that of 1850.

Real Life. - A letter from Paris says: -"An individual, condemned some time ago to much less than last year's prices, by ten years' hard labor for robbing a church, having served out his time, and having, by good conduct, recovered his reputation, was last week married, at the age of sixty, to a girl of eighteen, who was totally ignorant of his antecedents. Hardly had they retired for the night, when a scream was heard, and the bride fainted. She had seen upon the shoulders of her husband, in deeply branded she had lost her reason." This incident contains an evident moral. It teaches that bad reputation, once attained, can never be entirely lost, but that the sins of youth will come back to plague our age. come back to plague our age.

H. R. MERSEILLES, July 1855.

THE success of the subscriber in the treatment of Diseases of the Bowels, on botanic principles, during the last twenty years, and especially in that of Cholera at Millville in 1849, where more than thirty cases were cured under his direction without a failure, has induced him to prepare a set of medicines from innocent vegetable substances,

These medicines have become exceedingly popular in every section of country where they have been introduced. Within the last two years they have been placed in the hands of hundreds of have been placed in the hands of hundreds of families for the purpose of having them thoroughly tested; and the result has been most satisfactory. I have called personally on hundreds of those families to ascertain the success of my medicines, and have found that wherever they have been fairly tried they have given catire satisfaction.

They seem to act as a specific in Dysentery and Dysentery as a specific in Dysentery and Dysentery as a specific in Dysentery as a specific i well as in all the family of Bowel Complaints. In my travels during the last two Summers, for the urpose of introducing and testing my medicines I prescribed them in numerous cases of Dysentery with great success; many were cured, and I have not heard of a single failure where my medicines alone were used and persevered in according to directions:

The articles principally relied on in the cure of Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Bowel Consumption, Cholera Infantum, and the Summer Complaints of Children, are Dr. Morgridge's Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture, Cholern Syrup, Cholern Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults and his Bowel Corrector, Childrens Cordinl and Aperient for Children. These will be sufficient in all ordinary cases, but there are some violent at tacks of disease, and some critical cases in which Dr. Morgridge's Emetic Syrup and Carminative Tincture are emplayed. For further particulars on this subject see bill of directions accompanying ach set of the medicines. Has removed to the North side of Commerce st For the cure of sundry other forms of disease are the following compounds, viz:—

Dr. Morgridge's Cough Syrup and Pectoral Elizir, or Coughs, and all affections of the throat, breast and lungs.

Dr. Morgridge's Liniment and Elixir, for Rhume

tism, Sprains, Tumors, &c.

Dr. Morgridge's Alterative Pills and Elixir, for Dr. Morgridge's Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture and Pills, for Dyspepsia with all its distressing symptoms.

Dr. Morgridge's Hyve Sgrup, for Croup, Asthma, Hooping-cough, &c., in children. Dr. Morgridge's Carminative Tincture. This expels wind, cures pains, Colics, Cramps, &c.

Dr. Morgridge's Anti-Spasmodic or Emetic Syrup, for all violent attacks and critical cases of disease. These as well as my Bowel Medicines have been tested for years, and have won for themselves a eputation which will not easily be effaced. For sale, wholesale and retail, at my office in Commerce Street, next door east of the Cumberand Bank, Bridgeton N. J.

Price 25 cents per bottle or box.

A liberal discount will be given to wholesale dealers. Merchants would do well to lay in a stock of my Bowel Medicines early in the senson, as individuals are already sending for their family supply for the Summer, from every direction where a knowledge of them has gone. All orders accompanying the cash will receive prompt attention. E the undersigned, having used Dr. Mon-gripge's "Family No. RECOMMENDATIONS:

GRIDGE'S "Family Medicines" more of less in our families within the last few years, have found them exceedingly efficacious in the cure of the different forms of disease for which they are recommended, and decidedly the best we have ever used. And believing as we do, that they are the best medicines now in use, and that their gen eral use would prove a great blessing to the com-munity, we cordially give the above testimonial for the benefit of our friends and the public. Patent Air-tight Corpse-Preserver. E were shown the subscriber's Patent Airtight Corpse Presever, whereby the form and features of a departed relative or friend is preserved without the usual mode so repugnant to the feelings, of placing the body in Ice. This difficulty has been overcome by the preserver, in which cold air is the medium used, acting as a preservative in the warmest weather, for any ength of time before burial; at the same time the body is entirely secure from nocturnal depra-dations, while a glass reveals at any moment the features of the departed; thus arranged it can be conveyed hundreds of miles with perfect safety and in a good state of preservation. This valua-ble article has been used in some of the most respectable families in Philad's to whom as also to Physicians references can be given when required. After examining the above Patent we were fully satisfied that it is admirably adapted for the purpose to which it is intended, and it reflects great credit upon the Inventor thereof; and to which we would call the attention of our friends and the public in general, it being in our opinion one of the greatest inventions of the present age.

Economy Combined with beauty & Service. SAMUEL L. FITHIAN, TAVING purchased the right of making, AVING purchased the light spatent paint using and selling, Cyrus Buler's patent paint mixture; would hereby offer it for sale to the citizens of Bridgeton and vicinity, having used and experimented with the mixture, I feel perfectly safe in saying, that it is decidedly to the advantage of any person having painting done to use it. The mixture being a new article to the Public, I lo not expect or ask them to use it at their own risk; but am willing in every instance (where it is used according to direction) to warrant it; and if at the end of two years after the paint is put on, the person using it is not satisfied, I will reor the best Zine, at their own option. Now the advantages, to a person using it are, as follows, viz:-First, they save 33 per cent on the first cost. Second, the paint mixture gives the paint a very beautiful gloss, consequently, they have a much handsomer job of work done by using it. Third, it will last from two to three years longer than pointing done in the old way of mixing .--Fourthly and last they run very little or no risk. All further necessary information will be given by calling at SAMUEL L. FITHIAN'S Drug & Chen. Il Store, sign of the Big Mortar, nearly opposite E. MEXICAN GUANO. THE attention of Farmers is requested to the following Analysis and statements of this luable manure. It is the richest Mexican Guand that has been brought to this country in Phosphates. Phosphoric Acid is the valuable element of all manures, and this Guano contains nearly 34 per cent., being much stronger than the Peruvian Guano. The peculiarities of this Guano, are: It is not injured by the sun, and is not washed out of the soil by the rains, in less than 30 years. It will double the crop of Corn, if Phosphoric Pocket Books, Acid is deficient in the soil.

Sep 30, 1854. MATCHES! MATCHES! JOHN DONNELLY

Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Squar Upright Wood Box Matches. No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. TATCHES having become an indispensable V article in housekeeping, the subscriber, afer a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy man-ner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Safety red ush, Schuylkill &c., of all sizes at the Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far notice and on the most reasonable terms preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, to Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or my other mode of conveyance. These matches are packed so that one gress or more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and examine for themselves

These Matches are WARRANTED to be uperior to anything heretofore offered to the public. JOHN DONNELLY. Dec. 9-1v-w 106 N. 4th st., Phila.
