THE RAILROAD DISASTER.

Only $1 00 per Year?

Our readers are already advised of the terrible slaughter which occurred at Burlington on Wednesday of last week, Aug. 29. It resulted in the death of twenty-three rersons of various ages and conditions, and the wounding of about eighty others. Nothing like it, for the extent of the injury done, has occurred on any railroad in the country since the Norwalk disaster in 1853. As is natural, much indignation has been excited. But much idle speculation also has been indulged; nor can we hope that this question will be we observe there is considerable discrepancy in the statements of the various witnesses who have given testimony in the case. But even if the jury succeed in fixing the blame upon the right person or persons, we suppose that will be the last of it, as usual. In our judgment, those who had the man-backing was allowed by the laws of the Company and had often been practiced before, besides which the New York train must be in Philadelphia at a certain hour to connect with the train for Baltimore—but because the bell rope was disarranged and out of order, or at least too short to extend the whole length of the train, and because sufficient care was not taken by the managers of the train in looking out for obstructions upon or near the track. road from a quarter to a half-mile. What Bridgeton, September 3d, 1855. then could the men whose business it was to watch for obstructions-what could they h been about not to have seen Dr. Heineke horses and carriage in time to prevent a lision? Surely the brakeman at the rear of the train, or the man in the gig-top, or fireman whose duty it was to keep a look on the left-hand side of the train, must, on all of them, have been culpably negligent allow the train to dash on, full speed, to crossing, without giving notice of danger the engineer. But notwithstanding this parent lack of vigilance, it seems proba that the calamity would have been avoid had the bell rope been of sufficient length a properly adjusted. The rear brakeman states, that after the train had commenced backing signal to the engineer, the bell-rope not being Moore; Maurice River, Joel S. Robinson. long enough to reach over the rear car; before he got to the front platform the cow was out of the way and he did not give the signal."-But had the rope extended over the last car as it should have done, the brakeman would doubtless have rung the signal bell at once and the engineer in holding up for the cow, would have allowed Dr. H. to pass over the track without injury to himself or any one

In the second place we think great blame attaches to the Doctor. True he supposed the train had passed some time before and was then quite out of reach, but this supposition was based solely upon the fact that its time his father-in-law testify that they had neither seen nor heard it pass along. Basing a positive conclusion upon this simple circumstance, he "jerks" his horses on at a gait of from seven to ten miles an hour, never once halting for danger, till he marches them directly across the track of the ill-fated train. Now this good doctor's common sense and observation ought to have taught him that railroad trains cannot always make their time, and may therefore in some cases be ten or fifteen minutes later in passing a given point than in other cases. He should consequently have slack. ened his speed on approaching the railroad, and made careful use of his eyes and ears, in which case we doubt not he could have both seen and heard the train. As it was his looking amounted to nothing.

Finally, underlying all these causes of the fearful tragedy is inhuman and inexcusable neglect on the part of the Company. Though this road is one of the greatest and most profitable thoroughfares in the country it has but building at once. The portions of the road a single track. How comes it that a double a single track. How comes it that a double track has not been laid long ago? Does it arise from want of ability on the part of the so as to have those two sections done by the Company? This cannot be, for their busi- 1st of July next. -N. J. THE BURLINGTON TRAGEDY. Coroner's Verdict .- The jury declare that the engineer did not observe the rools of the company and the laws of the State, in regard the train. They exonerate the conductor, and sensure the forward brakeman. They say one of the immediate causes of the collision was the carelessness and recklessness of concerning the question. He also requires to see specimens of the products of others. He should see all the improved tools of the day, and these are not only to be met with at fairs, but they may there be seen in operation so that he can judge fairly of their effects, value, etc. Indeed, an Agricultural Fair 18 to the farmer, what the Exchange is to the merchant, and it is scarcely possible for him to blowing the steam whistle while backing to post himself up even with the day, without visiting these exhibitions. The more prominent men connected with agriculture are here to be met with, and addresses are often delivered, which fully compensate for the expense

Where else can the farmer see so large collection of improved stock, and, indeed, ner in which the train was backing, at a rate how else can he supply himself with the best specimens for his own farm? Beyond the interest of the farmer, it is a duty he owes to society to encourage, by his presence, such exhibitions as tend to elevate his craft. He should remember that his vocation is more important than all others, and, therefore, as a citizen, he should give it his best thought and entire exertions.

We have never visited a fair without learning some new practical fact, or at least without seeing a variety of results which would go far to endorse or refute those we were our selves trying; and we doubt much if any farmer can visit any state fair without receiving some benefit. He can either obtain some improved implement, some valuable animal. or some improved seed, as compared with those he already possesses.

No class of men require association more than the farmers; their vocation generally debars them from mixing with the world at large. The remedy is to be found at fairs. At such places they meet with others, who, ike themselves are in search of novelties, and thus they may exchange ideas, form new and valuable acquaintance, and above all, make resolves which will add new impetus to their future success. A few dollars so spent is not badly invested. We intend to visit as many of the State fairs as practicable. We have agreed to deliver addresses at some of them. le shall be glad to meet our friends at Indianapolis, Indiana, on the 16th of October.

Dear Brother Abbott:-I hardly dare trust myself to speak what I feel and therefore write a word to say that I thank God I am spared to this day to see accomplished by one so near and dear to me this last best work ever done by one of our name, which will prove a better title to true nobility than any from the potentates of the world. It is more honorable and more to be coveted than the highest public station in our country, purchased as these stations often are by time serving. It is to impress on unborn millions the great truth that our talents are trusts committed to us for use, and to be accounted for when the Master calls. This magnificent plan is the great thing you will see carried out, if your life is spared; and you may well cherish it as the thing nearest your heart. It enriches your descendants in a way that mere money can never do, and is a better investment than any one you ever made.

plantation, after having received pledges of secrecy, revealed the existence of the conspiracy to an overseer, and requested him to repair to a certain place, in the midst of a dark unfrequented swamp, and see for himself .-The overseer did not go, but the next morning he took with him some friends and went to the spot designated by the faithful negro. There they saw every indication of a large crowd having been assembled; horses had been tied up, fires kindled, and from appearances, they calculated that upwards of one hundred negroes had there assembled on the preceeding night. They left the spot, and the neighborhood was quickly alarmed. Several negroes were taken up, and among them the leader. The greatest excitement was prevailing in the country; a council was held, and it was decided that the negroes should be hung immediately; ropes were procured, and the sentence of the council was about to be executed, when the crowd relented, fearing lest the innocent should perish with the guil-

The negroes were then severely whipped and they confessed that the conspiracy exterded throughout a large section of country; that there existed several other organizations, which they called 'schools,' in the neighborhood, and that their object was to organize in sufficient force, and march, increasing their force as they went, to a free State. No arms or amunition of any kind could be discovered; but the negroes confessed that they were to meet at Garlandsville next Saturday night to make a start. When asked why they selected that place as a rendezvous, they could give no reason, and the presumption is that they intended to sack the place and murder the inhabitants. Two white men, they say, have been amongst them, but their names were not known to the negroes, nor was anything developed which could identify them. Arms and amunition are probably concealed somewhere, as such a scheme would never have been attempted without them.

Northern Mexican States .- A Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, says the Northern States of Mexico will now avail themselves, it is thought, of the downfall of teen acres salt marsh and meadow, and the balthe Central Government to form a seperate Federal Republic, upon the model of the United States, and to adopt our liberal commercial system, which is so necessary for the devolupment of their resources. They may be aided in that object by volunteers from the United States who may entertain the design of bringing those States, ultimately, under the folds of the American flag. It would not be a bad movement for the Mexican States though for us it would be a poor bargain, both politically and financially. We can no longer, without much sectional agitation, annex foreign Territories to the Union, or even organize Governments for the Territory al- them for examination to ready possessed by us. Every one must however, hope for Mexico, that out of her present confusion she may emerge a well constituted Republic. That may be impossible at present-but certainly, it is not difficult for her, whether under one or many governments, to promote the developement of her great resources, by removing restrictions and exactions from her commerce and all her industri- On Tuesday, the 25th day of September, 1855, at al pursuits.

New States .- There are four Territories whose population will, probably within a year, entitle them to admission as States. The ratio of Congressional apportionment is now All situate in the township of Fairfield, County of one Representative to every 93,420 inhabi- Cumberland, and State of New Jersey: tants. But it has been customary heretofore to admit Territories as States with a single Representative when their population amounted to 60,000. Minnesota, it appears by her recent census, has a population of over 55, 000, and is rapidly growing. Oregon last year had 48,000 and probably now equals Minnesota. New Mexico had, at the time of the formation of her Territorial Government, (in 1850) 61,500 inhabitants. They then framed a Constitution, but as it prohibited Siavery, it was of course thrown overboard by the 'Compromisers.' Her population now must be near 100,000. Kansas falls behind either of the others in population, but the facilties of emigration and settlement there are so much greater, that if the preservation of Law and Order were guaranteed, it would soon overtake them. Oregon and Minnesota or less. are past the possibility of being made Slaveholding States Hence the auxiety to counterbalance them by forcing Slavery into Kansas, dividing California, setting new States off ers shall rule the republic among us, and men of Welch blood have played an importani part in our history. Says Dr. Alexander Jones:

"Seventeen of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were of Welch origin corner at the bars by the woods; also a corner of Josiah Ogden and Daniel Parvin's lot, and runs among whom Thomas Jefferson was one, Other eminent Ameeicans of Welch descent were John and Samuel Adams, Jonathan Ed. wards, Yale, the founder of Yale College, Gen. Harrison, Richard Henry Lee, and John Marshall. No less than six of our Presidents have had Welch blood in their veins. Jefferson, Monroe, Madison, Harrison and two Adamses. Fourteen of the Revolutionary Generals were of Welch origin, of whom Gen. Wayne was one. Martha Washington was the grand-daughter of a Welch Clergyman." He adds that there are fifty thousand native

Welch-men in the United States, and not an office holder among them! Even "Sam" must admit that this is a class of foreigners not to be proscribed.

Stopping Newspapers .-- A certain man hit his toe against a pebble stone and fell headlong to the ground. Vexed, under the influence of anger and active self sufficiency he kicked the old mother earth right saucily. With imperturbable gravity, he looked to see the globe itself dissolve, and only his poor toe was injured in the encounter. This is the way of man. An article in an newspaper touches him in a weak place, and straightway he sends word to stop his paper. With great self-complacency he looks on to see a crash, when the object of his spleen shall cease to be. Poor fool, he only hit his own toe against a world that does not perceptibly feel the a world that does not perceptibly feel the half degrees, west two chains and fifty links to a shock, and injure to no extent any one but stake for a corner, by the edge of the road that purpose of introducing and testing my medicines, I prescribed them in numerous cases of Dysentery with great success; many were cured, and I have not heard of a single failure where my medicines alone were used and persevered in according to directions.

The articles principally relied on in the cure of Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhosa, Dysentery, Bowel Consumption, Cholera Infantum, and the Summer Complaints of Children, are Dr. Morgender's Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture, Cholera Syrup, Cholera Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults; and his Bowel Corrector, Childrens Cordial and Aperient for Children. These will be sufficient in all ordinary cases, but there are some violent attacks of disease, and some critical cases in which tacks of disease, and some critical cases in which Dr. Morganoge's Emetic Syrup and Carminative Tincture are employed. For further particulars on this subject see bill of directions accompanying each set of the medicines.

For the cure of sundry other forms of disease are the following compounds, viz:

Dr. Morgridge's Cough Syrup and Pectoral Elizie, for Coughs, and all affections of the throat, breast and lungs.

Dr. Morgridge's Liniment and Elixit, for Rhumatism, Sprains, Tumors, &c.

RECOMMENDATIONS: E the undersigned, having used Dr. Mor-obloge's "Family Medicines" more or less in our families within the last few years, have found them exceedingly efficacious in the cure of the different forms of disease for which they are recommended, and decidedly the best we have everused. And bolieving as we do, that they are er used. And believing as we do, that they are the best medicines now in use, and that their general use would prove a great blessing to the community, we cordially give the above testimonial for the benefit of our friends and the public.

Sep 30, 1854. MATCHES! MATCHES!

JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box Matches, No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. ATCHES having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, after a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy man-ner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, to Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance.

These matches are packed so that one gress of more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and exmine for themselves. These Matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything heretofore offered to the public.
