THE USEFULNESS OF BIRDS.

It takes mankind a great while to learn the in the abodes of joy to execute the gracious ways of Providence, and to understand that will of Him, "who ruleth among the armies things are better contrived for him than he ple are beginning to learn that they have mistaken the character of most of the little birds, and have not understood the object of the Almighty in creating them. They are looked upon as the friends and very great friends of those who sow and reap. It has been seen that they live mostly on insects which are among the worst enemies of the agriculturist, and that, if they take now and then a grain of wheat, they levy but small tax for the services rendered. In this altered state of things legislatures are passing laws for the protection of these little birds, and increasing the penalties to be enforced upon the bird-kilters. An illustration of the value of some of the winged tribe is now before us in a paragraph from a paper in Binghampton,

A farmer in that neighborhood wished to borrow a gun of a neighbor, for the purpose of killing some yellow-birds in his field of loan the gun, for he thought the birds useful In order, however to gratify his curiosity, he shot one of them, opened its crop, and found in it two hundred weevils, and but four grains of wheat, and in these four grains the weevil had burrowed! This was a most instructive lesson, and worth the life of the poor bird valuable as it was. This bird is said to resemble the canary and to sing finely. One of exclamation discouraged her, and she turned our citizens, a careful observer and owner of to wide through the mud caused by a driving wany farms, called our attention to this paragraph, and wished us to use it as a text for sermonizing, for the benefit of the farmers' and others who may look upon little birds as inimical to their interests. He says he has studied the subject, as a lover of natural history as well as a hunter and a farmer; and he knows there is hardly a bird that flies that is not a fried of the farmer and the gardener .-We think the gentlemen is right, and hope his suggestions will have their due weight. The Fever at Norfolk and Portsmouth.

The accounts from Norfolk and Portsmouth still present the same appaling catalogue of suffering and death. The pestilence, which at one time, it was earnistly hoped was checked in its violence, appears again to have broken out with a fatality, entirely beyond the power of human effect to subdue. Favored, as we in this section have been with the enjoyment of general good health, even during the seasons when the Asiatic scorge was sweeping over the country and decimating the population, we can scarcely form an adequate conception of the daily suffering and anguish in the doomed cities. The dearest ties of the household—the tenderest bonds of social life; are snapped suddenly in sunder. No rank-no age-no sex-no condition of Families. nurtured in the lap of affluence, hour completed the work assigned them. and but yesterday basking securely in the sunshine of wealth and independence, are to day suddenly prostrated on the couch of suffering, beseeching in vain for the commonest comforts and charities of life, and for want of | Coombs of Bridgeton, the third. these, sinking prematurely to a loathsome and illy provided tomb. Even to the dead are to frequently denied those simple and heartfelt rites of decent burial, which in all his corn, the ears measuring 12½ inches, well els. christian countries, form the last sad tribute filled with perfect grain. from the hands of love. Down in rude holes in uncerimonious confusion, encased in rough coffins, and mingled together, lay the last remains of old and young, faded youth, and decaying beauty, but hastily covered by the half frighteded few, who have the hardihood to attend such mournful scenes.

Of twenty-two hundred people now Portsmouth, it is estimated that two thousand are sick or convalescent, and the fover still raging with the same malignant type. While so great is the scarcity of nurses, that the same individual usually has charge of five or six patients. Under the burthen of such toil and anxiety, and weary watching, constantly inhaling the noxious vapors from the sick and dying, it is not to be wondered that the nurses themselve, rapidly fall victims to the disease, till even the wretched sufferers feel a dread to see a new face come to their assistance, so certain is the expectation that they too must become added to the list of suffering. To escape the horrors of their firesides. many of the wretched inhabitants have sought refuge in other neighborhoods, to find too often, alas! that the seeds of death had already been too deeply implanted to be removed. Such is the present condition of Norfolk and Ports. mouth, and such it is likely to remain, until the frosts of autumn shall interpose a healthful barrier to the farther progress of the pestilence.

To their pressing calls for succour the cities of the Union are most nobly responding. All questions of domestic policy, of North or South, of birth, or religion are forgotten, and to the world is revealed that secret cord wherin lies the strength of our Union:-that feeling, which regarding man as our brother in sympathetic impulse contributes to the relief of the suffering. Scattered as families in the states become, no general calamity such as this, can happen to a city without striking cords that will vibrate from one end of the Union to the other. Hence in distant places the weeds of mourning for personal friends or relatives, are mingled with national sympathy, imparting to it an intensity and reality of grief. But notwithstanding sympathy and treasure have been profusely poured out, and numbers of nurses and physicians have been willing to sacrifice their lives and health in support of suffering humanity, it must be borne in mind that the cause for this manifestation of feeling, still exists, and if possible, with more need for assistance than ever; and it is to be hoped that no abatement of interest will be shown till the two cities shall have entirely regained their usual health. In addition to the pestilence, a scarcity of food and clothing and most of the comforts of life is felt, which will require a constant supply of treasure to prevent a still greater amount of suffering. Hundreds of suddenly made orphane are to be provided for, and to these who are willing to undergo the risk of attending the sick, a compensation must be provided in some small portions to the danger encountered. The citizens of this county have shown a generous willingness to assist in this work of alleviating discussion willingness which we know will be more in-creased by the increased knowledge of the

THE EXHIBITION.

We shall not be able to give our readers the particulars relative to the premiums a warded on Wednesday last, the Secretary not having had time to arrange and correct any errors which may have occured. In all departments, the display seemed to give satis faction. In fruits and vegetables there appeared to be a general expression of satisfaction, and an agreement that none could exce old Cumberland. There was a good display of Stock, particularly Horses. The trotting was well performed and created much interest, being one of the most attractive features of the Exhibition. Farming Implements and Mechanics Tools were well represented. The Ladies departments were well filled with choice articles, and to be brief, it was an honorable and full display of the rich products of Cumberland County. As soon as it can be prepared, we shall give a list of the premiums awarded. We are indebted to the Hon. LEWIS HOWELL, for furnishing us with a copy of his Address for publication this week. It is a stirring and applicable appeal to Farmers, among whom he is perfectly at home and universally respected.

For the West Jersey Pioneer. Address of the Hon. Lewis Howell, At the 2d Annual Exhibition of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, My friends and fellow-citizens: We have met this day to exhibit the fruits of the earth: specimens of our horses and cattle. The most improved implements—together with all that is elegant and useful—to render home pleasour County. In view of what is here displayed-and the knowledge we possess of the abundance of our entire country-our hearts should rise in gratitude to that God who hath given us the early and the latter rain, and inreality filled our horn with plenty.

In no year within the memory of man, have all the crops been so abundant! I have no doubt but at the present moment, there is greater amount of the fruits of the earth in Cumberland County, necessary to sustain man and beast, than there ever has been since the day it was inhabited by the Aborigines of the soil. This fact should assure us that our all wise Creator understands what we need, much better than we do ourselves.

Who would have believed that the general and unprecedented drought of-last year had any thing to do with the present abundanceyet men of science and research tell us that roughts are necessary to resuscitate the soil. The minerals necessary to the growth of plants near the surface, by a succession of fruitful seasons, become exhausted.

In time of great drought the surface beomes entirely dry -- the water from the lower strata rises and carries the minerals therein contained, within reach of the roots of the plants, and thus renews the soil and renders t again fertile.

The great productiveness of this year in all the crops, after the great and general drought pare with your sister county, but your horses of last season—goes far towards establishing for beauty, usefulness and speed would do the truth of the position.

Why, so much altered that were there not many witnesses to drawn, it would be hazardous to make such an aspect of beauty and fertility which will compare favorably with the best parts of the State; nay with other States, for men from the West unhesitatingly say that much of our corn equals theirs. Our old commons are fenced in, and immediately beautify the scene by yielding abundant crops of that flowing grain so much prized for making the most elegant cakes. Then it yields grain and grass and is no longer unpleasant to the eye of the traveller or unremunerating to the possessor. Instead of 5 bushels of corn per acre you see 40, 50, 60 and 70, and some fields it is thought by good judges, will yield 100 bushels per acre; many furmers the present season have raised over 30 bushels of wheat per acre; some over 40; one farmer in Roadstown raised between 900 and 1000, the same farm will probably produce 2000 bushels of wheat. This farm is some of the 5 bushels to the acre corn I have toldyou of.

THE success of the subscriber in the treatment of Diseases of the Bowels, on botanic principles, during the last twenty years, and especially in that of Cholern at Millville in 1849, where more fairly tried they have given enters satisfaction.

They seem to act as a specific in Dysentery as well as in all the family of Bowel Complaints. In my trevels during the last two Summers, for the purpose of introducing and testing my medicines, I prescribed them in numerous cases of Dysentery with great success; many were cured, and I have not heard of a single failure where my medicines alone were used and persevered in according to directions.

The articles principally relied on in the cure of Cholere, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Bowel Consumption, Cholera Infantum, and the Summer Complaints of Children, are Dr. Mon-gribge's Anti-Dyspeptic Mixture, Cholera Syrup; Cholera Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults Cholera Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults, and his Bowel Corrector, Childrens Cordial and Aperient for Children. These will be sufficient in all ordinary cases, but there are some violent attacks of disease, and some critical cases in which Dr. Morographic's Emetic Syrip and Cormination Tracture are employed. For further particulars on this subject see bill of directions accompanying each set of the medicines. each set of the medicines.

For the cure of sundry other forms of disease are the following compounds, viz:—

Dr. Mergridge's Cough Syrup and Pectoral Elizar,

These as well as my Bowel Medicines have been tested for years, and have won for themselves a reputation which will not easily be effaced. For sale, wholesale and retail, at my office in Commerce Street, next door east of the Cumberand Bank, Bridgeton N. J. Price 25 cents per bottle or box. A literal discount will be given to wholesale dealers. Merchants would do well to lay in a stock of my Bowel Medicines early in the season, as individuals are already sending for their family supply for the Summer, from every direction where a know edge of them has gone. All orders accompanying the cash will receive prompt attention. RECOMMENDATIONS: E the undersigned, having used Dr. More critical's "Family Medicines" more or less in our families within the last few years, have found them exceedingly efficacious in the cure of the different forms of disease for which they are Economy Combined with beauty & Service.

SAMUEL L. FITHIAN. AVING purchased the right of making, using and selling, Cyrus Buler's patent paint mixture; would hereby offer it for sale to file citizens of Bridgeton and vicinity, having used and experimented with the mixture. I feel perfectly safe in saying, that it is decidedly to the advan tage of any person baying painting done to use it. The mixture being a new article to the Public, I do not expect or ask them to use it at their own risk; but am willing in every instance (where it is used according to direction) to warrant it; and if at the end of two years after the paint is put on, the person using it is not satisfied. I will repaint at my own expense, with either Pure Lead or the best Zine, at their own option. Now the advantages, to a person using it are as follows, viz:-First, they save 33 per cent on the first cost. Second, the paint mixture gives the paint a very beautiful gloss, consequently, they have a much handsomer job of work done by using it.— Third, it will last from two to three years longer than painting done in the old way of mixing. Fourthly and last they run very little or no risk. All further necessary information will be given by calling at SAMUEL L. FITHIAN'S Drug & Chemical Store, sign of the Big Mortar, nearly opposite E. Davis & Son's Hotel, where will always Dedge tools, shovels, tongs, &c., a large variety of hardware of all kinds, forks, hoes, seythes, White Zine, ground in oil or Demar Varnish, Par-White Zinc, ground in oil or Demar Varnish, Paris Green, ground or dry, Mineral Green, Verdi-gris, Lamp Black, Chrome Yellow, Prussian Blue, Venitian Red, Yellow Ocher, Ohio and Silvers Mineral paints, Linscod Oil, &c. &c. MATCHES! MATCHES! JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Box Matches. No. 106 North Fourth St. (above Race), Philada. ATCHES having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber, after a great sacrifice of time and money, is enabled to offer to the public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy manner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new steam machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up a Sufety Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferrable, inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred per cent more matches, which, to Shippers, is considerable advantage. It is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of railroad, steamboat or any other mode of conveyance. These matches are packed so that one gress or more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets, that have ever been invented. Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and examine for themselves. These Matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything herclefore offered to the public.
