From the Country Gentleman. A FAREWELL TO SUMMER.

BY MRS. SARAH S. SOCWELL.

Alas! for thee, O, Summer, With thy wealth of brilliant bloom; Thou art passing, slowly, surely hence, In thy beauty to the tomb. We welcomed thee with gladness, O! Summer bright and gay; And we pine for thee as for a friend Who hath journeyed far away.

Where now are the bright roses With which the earth was wreathed; Whither have fled the gentle winds Which thou hast o'e us breathed? The alder-shadowed brooklet Sings now a sadder tune, Than when it was fringed and crowned with flowers, In the glorious month of June. Thou art bearing hence, O! Summer, The beauty of the year-Naught wilt thou leave of thy rich gifts, Our lonely hearts to cheer. With thee bath fled the music Which filled thy hours with glee, The quivering thrill of whispering leaves, And birds' sweet melody.

And with thy fading beauty, How many hopes have fied! How many homes are desolate. O'er which thy bloom was shed! Many a voice of gladuess Which greeted thee of yore, When music rang through the festal skies, Shall greet the nevermore.

O'er milliy a form of beauty The violets will bloom; In many a home, on thy coming back, Thou wilt find a shade of gloom. Alas! hew frail, how fleeting, Are the lovely things of earth! A low, sad tone of grief and woe. Mingles with all our mirth! But we'll welcome thee with gladness, O! Summer, bright and gay, For we pine for thee as for a friend Who hath journeyed far away. Shiloh, N. J.

THE IVY IN THE DUNGEON.

In silent gladness evermore. I The ivy felt a tremor shoot Through all its fibres to the root; It felt the light, it saw the ray, It strove to blossom into day.

It slept upon the grateful floor,

It grew, it crept, it pushed, it clomb-Long had the darkness been its home; But well it knew, though veiled in night, The goodness and the joy of light.

Tis clinging roots grew deep and strong, It's stem expanded firm and long, And in the currents of the air illts tender branches flourished fair.

It reached the beam-it thrilled, it curled, It blessed the warmth that cheers the world; Tolt rose toward the dungeon bars, It looked upon the sun and stars.

It felt the light of bursting Spring, It heard the happy sky-lark sing; It caught the breath of morns and eves, And wooed the swallow to its leaves.

By rains, and dews, and sunshine fed. Over the outer walls it spread. And in the day beam waving free Il grew into a steadfast tree. From that solltary place Its verdupe threw adorning grace: The moting birds became its guests, And sung its praises from their nests. Would st know the moval of the rhyme? ### AGRICULTURE.

From the New Jersey Farmer. GUR AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES.

The Agricultural resources of New Jersey

though in a great measure, undeveloped, and altogether undervalued by the citizens of other states, are surpassed, when all things are considered by, perhaps, no state in the Union. Some States may indeed have soil more fertile, and some advantages which she has not: but when the geographical situation, the soil, limate, and fertilizing facilities of New Jersey are brought into the account, it must be pparent that she has few superiors in general agricultural resources. The geographical situation of our State is remarkable. The occan, with all its facilities and aids, on one side. The Delaware River and bay with the phere gives out its moisture in sub-soiled land advantages they afford to the business of far-ming, on the other. What the farmers of New Jersey raise, finds a ready market, at but small cost of transportation. New York, one of the best markets in the world, and which the great increase of population promises to keep ong so, is of easy access to the farmers of East Jersey, and accessible to those of West, while the latter have the Philadelphia market, which in most respects is equal to that of New York. And railroads now in contemplation, when finished, (a consumation, we trust, not far in the future) will open up the central and south-eastern parts in such a way as to put farmers of those regions on an equality with those of the most favored sections. The soil of New Jersey, as to productiveness, has been much underrated by people of our own State, in many instances, and almost always by citizens of other States. In many localities it is exceedingly fertile by nature and has long been in a high state of cultivation. In most others it is susceptible of a high degree of improvement, as experiments or of "his ring" at the door, or perchance in seem to have led many to suppose the State in producing strawberries, melous, &c., for the above named markets. ### A Fixed Fact in Agriculture.

High farming is not ornamental farmingit is deep ploughing and increased manuring. This is what pays the greater profit. The analysis of soils and crops teaches what the land needs. Who ever heard of a crop suffering from drouth in a field well drained and sub-soiled, say two feet deep? The atmoslow plowing. Many men have a better farm under the one they plow than that on the surcan get soluble silex to make long straw.

They cannot get it in shallow plowed land and thus they escape the frost. Sandy soil,

In all families, rich or poor, the bread ought to be made at home, and the ladies of the family ought to make it themselves, or at least know how to make it, so as to instruct and oversee the servants. And if ladies would go into the kitchen, in order to acquire the art of bread-making, they would soon repair there for other purposes connected with the culinary art, from a growing love for such pursuits. Still further. By their proficiency in preparing little delicacies for the table, they would make home still more attractive to the males of the family, and materially lessen the influence of the tavern, the restaurant, or the club. ### The Wheat Crop-Prices, &c.

The accounts from all quarters agree in representing the wheat crop of the present season, as much exceeding that of any previous year. A greater number of acres was subject in Sheppard's Town Hall, on Saturday sown, while the yield per acre unprecedented evening next, when all who wish to hear a in the history has been more than the usual average. These tavorable circumstances in connection with the prevailing high price, will add millions to the agricultural resources of the country for the current year. This be ing one of the chief articles of food, exerts controlling influence over other kinds of diet; because the high price, compels the industri al classes, who are large consumers, as a matter of economy to use more of the cheaper kinds of food. And this in turn has the direct effect of raising the prices of them, all to the direct benefit of the farmer. As far as we have been able to ascertain, the corn crop of the country promises an unusually abundant vield. It has heretofore but rarely occurred that large crops and high prices have so generally prevailed the same season to shower a double blessing upon the labors of the husbandman. Will these high prices continue? We are not a prophet and cannot certainly foretell. But we can point our readers to some prominent indications both of a rise and decline. The existing condition of things in Europe is regarded by many as tendto advance to still higher figures the price of have them replaced with new and substantial American produce. The war now raging and carried on, on such a gigantic scale absorbs the energies of upwards of one million of men. Of this number, more than one-half-are pro bably drawn from the usual industrial pursuits of these countries, and converted into non-producers and consumers, while thousands of others, are taken from the peaceful occupations of life, to manufacture and transport the vast amount of military material consumed by the destructive mode of warfare.-In addition to this the Black Sea country, the best and most productive wheat growing part of Europe, is ravaged by hostile armies and the cultivation of the soil prevented, while the peaceful fleet usually employed in its transportation, is either entirely swept away or used to convey provision to the ports from which it ordinarily takes grain. Again, according to the usage of war, thousands of bushels are wantonly consumed, to prevent their use by the opposite party, while to supply the drain thus occasioned, provision must be transported from such distant countries as have been fortunate enough to secure a supply beyond their own wants. For men must Our correspondent who gave the description be supported with the staff of life, even when of the launch, has by some means unknown engaged in slaughtering each other. seat. The IN A IR DA

Contains 154 acres, more or less, upland and banked meadow, about, 90 of which is tillable, all of which is in a high state of cultivation. The and is a loam that is well adapted to trucking; but as each field has a spring of water on one side, the subscriber has paid more attention to grazing. There is 20 acres of theadow, joining the Farm-land, the remainder is Woodland and Swamp. The Farm-land is divided into eight fields, by good order fenger and it is as clear of briers and all wild seeds as can be, as the subscriber has labored for 30 years to destroy them; the whole is enclosed first, by a hedge of black thorns, which extends over 1 of a mile along the der by a stream of water. The Improvements consist of a Double TWO STORY DWELLING. With shade trees around it, a large Barn, Wagon-house and Granary and other Out-buildings, with two never-failing wells of water at the house and barn; Also, a young and good apple orchard of choice fruit, with a variety of peaches, pears, plums and cherries. It is within one mile of Baptist, Presbyterian and Hix Friends Churches, and within 2 miles of an Orthodox Church, and 21 miles of Readstown, where is one Euptist and one Metho-dist Church, a good mill within a mile and sever-al schools within a short distance. Taking in view its beautiful and healthy locaon, its productiveness and access to market, renders it worthy the attention of any person wishing to follow the farming business or has money

A large proportion of the purchase money can remain on the property, if desired. Five percent. vill be required on signing the conditions.

Dr. Morgridge's Family Medicines

THE success of the subscriber in the treatment of Diseases of the Boneds, on botanic painciples, during the last twenty years, and especially in that of Cholera at Millville in 1848, where more than thirty cases were cured under his direction without a failure, has induced him to prepare a set of medicines from innocent vegetable substances, for the cure of this class of diseases.

These medicines have become exceedingly popular in every section of country, where they have been introduced. Within the last two years they have been placed in the hands of hundreds of families for the purpose of having them thoroughly tested; and the result has been most satisfactory. I have called personally on hundreds of those families to ascentain the success of my medicines, and have found that wherever they have been fairly tried they have given entire satisfaction. fairly tried they have given entire satisfaction They seem to set as a specific in Dysentery as well as in all the family of Bowel Complaints. In my travels during the last two Summers, for the purpose of introducing and testing my medicines, I prescribed them in humerous cases of Dysentery with great success; many were cured, and I have not heard of a single failure where my medicines alone were read at

Improved Patent Body Brace,

Cholera Pills and Anti-Bilious Pills for adults. and Lis Bowel Corrector, Childrens Cordial and Aperient for Children. These will be sufficient in all ordinary cases, but there are some violent attacks of disease, and some critical cases in which DR. MORGRIDGE'S Emelic Syrup and Communities Tincture are employed. For further particulars on this subject see bill of directions accompanying each set of the medicines.

For the cure of sundry other forms of disease are the following compounds, viz:—
Dr. Margridge's Cough Syrup and Pectoral Elizar, for Coughs, and all affections of the throat, breass and lungs.

Dr. Morgridge's Liniment and Elizir, for Khumatism, Sprains, Tumors, &c.
Dr. Morgridge's Alterative Pills and Elizir, for offections of the hearf, liver, kidneys, &c.

A liberal discount will be given to wholesale dealers. Merchants would do well to lay in a stock of my Bowel Medicines early in the season, as in-dividuals are already sending for their family supply for the Summer, from every direction where a know edge of them has gone.

All orders accompanying the cash will receive prompt attention. RECOMMENDATIONS:

E the undersigned, having used Dr. Mos-Guidge's "Family Medicines" more or less in our families within the last few years, have found them exceedingly efficacious in the cure of the different forms of disease for which they are recommended, and decidedly the best we have ever used. And believing as we do, that they are the best medicines now in use, and that their general use would prove a great blessing to the comfor the benefit of our friends and the public. JOHN S. SWAIM.

In Millville, is now exhibiting to the people somest, cheapest and best assortment of goods ever before offered in that place; premiums are awarded to the best purchasers. Having just returned from the city of Philadelphia, I have purchased a large and beautiful assortment of goods of all the latest styles and patterns, and I will just say to the young men if they want to shine among the ladies as they go through the Jersey sand, just come along with their daugh to the cheap hat store and purchase one of my Shanghai hats and they will put you right thro a few more left of the same sort—and I will also say to my Bridgeton friends, that the turnpike is nearly done and if they will just gear up some of those 2-40 nags that they have there and come down to our place we will sell you hats that wil do you good as long as you wear them. I have silk hats from $1 25 to $4 00; caps from 12 cts, to $1 50; wool hats 62 cts, to $1 37; fur hats from $1 121 to $2 75; childrens' fancy bats from 81 12 to $2 50; also all other kinds of hats accordingly cheap, together with a good assortment of trunks, valises, carpet bags, umbrellas, &c., all of which I will sell 5 per cent. off for cash. YS now constantly receiving and opening full and complete assortment of new and desirable goods for Spring and Summer wear, to which he would respectfully solicit the citizens of Bridgeton and surrounding country. And though I may regret I have said it; I am going to sell for cash, barter or short approved credit. Thus insuring my customers that they may always depend on what goods they buy of me shall be of the very lowest prices, knowing that persons who either dealers or farmers. give long long credits must necessarily get higher prices for their goods besides losing a great deal by bad debts. (and as all trades must pay or there could be no trade,) good paying customers must pay for the losses by bad ones. Or in other words, if Mr. A. fails to pay his bill, you must charge Mr. B. increased prices for the goods he buys; so you see, Mr. B. has to redouble his efforts to make up for the fraud of Mr. A., which are the evils of the long credit system.
