The result has been frightful in the states where the experiment has been tried, and most stringent laws have been invariably re-enacted within two or three years after their repeal. Money is not increased, and does not become plentiful & cheap when relieved from the restraints of usury laws, nor does competition among money-lenders reduce the rate of interest, as it is urged. If it did, the money would be, in times of plenty, at a less rate then allowed by law, there being no obstacle to competition below it. These arguments may do for the lenders, not the borrowers, of money. The effect is to increase, instead of diminish, the rate of interest.

It must not be forgotten, that money is created by government, and merchandise and produce by individual labor and industry. Money is made a standard of value, a currency, and a legal tender for the payment of debts, which is necessary for the convenience of all, to conduct trade. The citizen who travelled a few miles over the sands of Camden or the marshes of Amboy, returned to the city with the idea that the poverty stricken soil would produce only sweet potatoes and sand burs. A better acquaintance with the State has however, gradually induced a rather more favorable opinion among outsiders generally, and travellers are occasionally found willing to admit that some good things can come out of Jersey. Within the last twenty years, large portions of the southern section of the State, have increased in agricultural productiveness in a ratio equal to that of any other section of the Union. The Duty of a Mother. By the quiet fireside of home, the true mother in the midst of her children, is sowing as in cases of earth the seeds of plants that shall sometimes give to heaven the fragrance that she can make through the ever ascending and expanding souls of her children to her Maker. Every word that she utters goes from heart to heart with a power of which she little dreams. Philosophers tell us in their speculatious that we cannot lift a finger without moving the distant spheres. Sol. omn is the thought, but not more solemn to the Christain mother, than the thought that every word that falls from her lips, every expression of her countenance even in the sheltered walk and retirement of home, may leave an indellible impression upon the young souls around her, and form as it were the underlying strata of that education which peoples Heaven with celestial beings and give to the white brow of the angel next to the graco of God its crown of glory.

Have you ever thought of what that man is who teaches children? You go into the work-shop of a wheelwright; he is making wheels enter the house of a weaver who is making cloth, and you say he is a valuable man; you visit the blacksmith's shop, where you find him making pickaxes, hammers and plowshares, and you say this man is essential; you salute these skllful laborers. You enter the house of a schoolmaster, salute him more profoundly. Do you know what he is doing?-He is manufacturing minds.

Correspondence of the Newark Daily Advertiser. TRENTON, Tuesday, Jan. 15.

The Democracy are in a lively state of fermen tation on account of some symptoms of dissatis-faction, exhibited by the Roman Catholic portion of the population of this city, because their clergy were not invited with the Protestant ministers, to officiate at the morning religious exercises the two Houses. The Committees—a majority of whom were of course Democrats—made and published an arrangement, according to which, for six successive weeks the Protestant clergy are to alternate in the performance of these exercises.
The two Catholic elergymen of the city were not even invited. The "Americans" have, as might be supposed, seized the opportunity with no little alacrity to expose the emptiness of the professions in favor of the largest religious liberty and of friendship for foreign born citizens...the majority of whom are Catholics...so frequently made by the Democrats. The result will probably be that the Committee will feel compelled to invite the Catholics...so from the above named place.

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION .- Camden & Amboy IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION.—Camden & Amboy Company, not answerable in Pennsylvania.—The Philadelphia Ledger says a suit was brought recently into the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania against the Camden & Amboy Railroad Company, or the program of demagrae claimed by Lewis Court of Pennsylvania and Camadana an for the recovery of damages claimed by James C. Whildon, for injuries sustained by the Burlington accident. The amount exceeded the sum of $600 and the Constitution and laws of Congress authorize suits for amounts above that sum com-menced in a State Court, by a citizen of the State menced in a State Court, by a citizen of the State in which the suit is brought against a citizen of another State to be removed on petition into the next Circuit Court. The Company, at the time of appearing, filed a petition, serting forth that they were a corporation solely created and established by the laws of the State of New Jersey, and having their chief place of business within the State of New Jersey, and that the corporation was and is a citizen of said State, and that the plaintiff is a citizen of Pennsylvania. Security was tendered is a citizen of said State, and that the plaintiff is a citizen of Pennsylvania. Security was tendered and the removal of the cause into the Circuit Court was prayed for. The plaintiff alleged in answer that defendants owned property and transacted business in Philadelphia. The Court, however, considered the latter fact a matter of no consequence. It could not constitute the corporation a citizen of Pennsylvania. Every cornoration a citizen of Pennsylvania. consequence. It could not constitute the corporation a citizen of Pennsylvania. Every corporation not holding its charter from this State is forcign. If any Company can be in the sense of the Constitution a citizen of Resolvania, the mother house of the Sisterhood of St. Josephis, Emmession of New Jursey, and the plaintiff being confessedly a citizen of Pennsylvania, the jurishiction of the Circuit Court would follow as a necessary consequence. The suit might have been brought n that Court in the first instance, and is removale there at the instance of the defendant. The prayer of the petitioner was therefore granted, the security offered accepted, and the cause dis-continued in the Pennsylvania State Court.

Bridgeton, Dec. 29, 1855.

Ladies' Mid Gloves.

UST received a new assortment of Ladies' kid gloves, all sizes from 61 to 8, which we are selling at less prices than they can be bought for at any other place. We are selling BEAUMONT'S BEST QUALITY for FIFTY-SIX CENTS, they are a good article and can't be bought elsewhere for that price.
We also continue to sell the VERY BEST AR-TICLE of LADIES FRENCH KID GLOVES for SIXTY-NINE CENTS, and warrant them equal to any glove you can buy for 871 cents. This is no vain boasting—we know what we say, and all we ask is an examination and trial of our gioves, which will prove them to be all that we recommend them.
