For The West Jersey Pioneer. SONG OF THE WIND.

BY MRS. SARAH S. SOCWELL.

I come from the fragrant myrtle bowers, I have stolen the sweets of the rarest flowers; I have revelled long midst their glowing bloom, And my wings are laden with sweet perfume.

I have kissed the cheek of the maiden fair, And played with the curls of her raven hair; I have sported around the merry child, And borne on my wings his laughter wild.

I come from the regions of ice and snow, Where scarcely is felt the sun's warm glow; And the piercing cold of my icy breath, Bringeth sorrow and pain and even death.

I come! I come! in fury and wrath, And grim desolation marks my path; The lowly cottage the princely hall, And the mighty forest before me fall.

Again I come in whispers light, Brushing the dew from the flowers bright; Stenling among the stately trees, And dallying playfully with their leaves. I sweep in soft breezes o'er ocean's wave, To bear from his home the sailor brave; And waft it away o'er the waters dark. But lo! I come in my might and power, And strong hands tremble and brave hearts cower I lash into fury the foaming wave,

Shiloh, N. J., June 1856. ALL MANKIND ARE BARBERS.

And the stormy sea is the sailor's grave.

I'll prove to you my friend, I hope, That none a doubt can harbor, That all the world's a barber-shop, And every man a barber.

Some shave to make themselves look neat, And some because 'tis funny; And brokers shave you in the street, And only shave for money.

Some shave their forcheads slick and clean, If with low heads they're bothered, But then 'tis plainly to be seen That they're the ones that lathered.

To court a girl with eloquence The dandy never frets her, But lathers her with compliments And shaves her when he gets her.

The maidens also, now and then, Who are so fond of sporting, Soft-soap the shallow-minded men, And shave them while they're courting.

But men and girls who thus will boast Of soaping while they tarried; Will find at last, with bitter cost, That both got shaved when married.

HOW TO PRESERVE WOMEN.

Under this head the Springfield (Mass.) Republican makes the following very sensible suggestions; which, if more generally adopted by the sex, would produce a class of women much better for the responsible duties of their position, than the great mass who are daily and hourly seen promenading the sidewalks. Let those for whose benefit it is intended, carefully treasure the receipt and apply the

There is nothing in this world that we think so much of as we do of women. Our mother is a woman-wife, sisters, pretty cousins, are all women; and the daughters will be, if (Heaven spare them!) they live long enough. And then there is the love of women in general, which we do not denv.-A fine, magnificent specimen of the sex, full of life and health-a ripe, red cheek and lip and flashing eye, is something that does one good to look at, as she illuminates the humdrum sidewalks of the everyday street. A North River steamboat, under full headway, with colors flying, is rather a pretty sightrather stirring and inspiring; and we pull up our firey nag on the shore to see her pass, and admire the swell she cuts. Comparatively, however, the steamer sinks into insignificance or some other very deep water, by the side of a well kept, well dressed woman. There's no charm, blessing, beauty and bliss of life,pickle them; vinegar absolutely spoils them.

Having the feet well protected, pay A woman never shivers from the effects of cold upon her limbs or hands; but let the cold strike through the clothing upon her chest, and off go her teeth in a chatter, and the whole organism is in commotion. One sudden and severe impression of cold upon the chest has slain its tens of thousands. Therefore, while the feet are well looked after, never forget the chest. These points attended to, the natural connections of dress will sunply the rest, and the woman is ready for the air. Now let her visit her neighbors, go shopping, call upon the poor, and walk for the good of it or the fun of it.

Keep away from the stove or the register. Air that is dry or burnt, more or less chargd with the gases evolved by the consumption of fuel, is poison. Go up stairs and make the beds with mittens on. FRIENDS AND PATRONS

Eight years have glided swiftly away since we became publisher of the WEST JERSEY PIONEER, and the hour has arrived, at which we relinquish the responsibilities, labors and anxieties of editor and publisher of a family Journal. No eight years of our life have been satisfactory results. When we unfurled our banner, we had much to contend with; yet, iant friends.

In seeking a respite, to recruit our energies, we feel confidence in recommending to the patrons of the Pioneer, James B. Ferguson, (our son,) who has been in the office ever since it has been in our possession; and who, for the past year, has had the principal control of its affairs, and hope you may find in him, one worthy of your continued support.

We return the gratitude of our heart, to our numerous subscribers, our friends who have favored us with job work and advertising, as well as our numeros correspondents and the brethren of the press, for giving us their friendly aid, and hope to cherish them us the privilege.

suming part of the important duties of editor and publisher of a widely circulating public journal, we deeply felt the responsibilities should not have entered upon the arduous duties connected therewith, had we not had the assurance that part of the labor would devolve upon one whose abilities amply qualified him for the laborious task of an editor. A few months passed pleasantly away, but alas! death claimed him as his victim, and the once noble and manly embodiment of virtue and excellence, was stricken down in the midst of his usefulness. Thus were we left to bear an editor.

Our intention, as expressed when entering and the top considerably injured. upon our duties, that we should occasionally try our hand in the editorial department, was of no avail. From the commencement of our connection with the Pioneer until the present, we have been compelled, more or less, to contribute to the editorial department; with what degree of satisfaction, we leave the readers to decide. No blame in charity it may be attributed to the head and not to the heart.

In denouncing error, hypocrisy and those measures and principles which we believed to be opposed to truth, justice and right, we may have incurred the disapprobation of some, yet we have never yet heard the unwelcome sound of "stop my paper," on account of any personal attack through our columns, or dissatisfaction with our course. On the other hand, the top of their speed, not looking to the right we have formed many pleasant acquaintances during our connection with the Pioneer-acquaintances and friendships never to be forgotten while memory endures. Recent explorations and observations in lower Jersey, seem to have established the fact, that the lower section of the State is now, and has for a long time been gradually settling below the sea level. Along the in other places than New York City. Per- whole line of sea coost, and the Bay shore, served a gradual encroachment of the water upon the land. The tides appear higher than formerly, and in many places salt grass now grows where it was formerly fresh, and the marshes seem to have extended inland. In many places the increased extent submerged within a given period is ascertained with considerable accuracy. At Cape Island, on the Atlantic shore, a full mile is known to have worn away since the revolution. Ever since the Island has been used as a bathing place one of the boarding houses has been moved twice on account of the wearing away of the bank. Dr. Leaming says that Ludlam's beach has moved inward one hundred yards within twenty years. At the mouth of Dennis Creck and for several miles along the Bay shore the marsh wears away about a rod in two years, and by comparing the early mans of the county with those of the present time, it appears to have been constantly worn away at that rate ever since the first settlement of the county. At Town Bank the solid gravel bank which is now from twelve to eighteen feet high wears away at the rate a foot a year; and the waters of the Bay cover the spot where the houses of the first settlers stood in 1691. Egg Island, which according to a map made in 1694 contained three hundred acres, and is reputed to have been so named from the vast quantities of bird's eggs found on it, is now entirely covered at high water, and at low water contains less than an

Mr. Brick of Port Elizabeth estimates that within the last fifty years one thousand acres of timber have been killed between Maurice River and West Creek, by the encroachment of the salt water. The amount is thought to be proportionally great upon all the low wooded shores both of the Bay and Ocean. That these changes in the coast line are caused by the settling of the land, is proved by the frequent appearances of stumps of trees found both in the salt and fresh water marshes, at a considerable depth below the ground beneath. In the Depository now there are five hundred and twenty, sold and donated the past year twelve hundred and thirty-six. The whole number sold and donated since the organization of the Society up to the present time, is seven ihousand eight hundred and eighty.

A particular account of the state of the finances of the Society, will be made in the Report of our Treasurer, but we cannot help but record here, that notwithstanding the difficulties during the past season for making collections, there has been a more general attention paid to the claims of the Scelety and consequently attended with encouraging results, we rejoice in the assurance that there are those to whose hearts this blessed cause is dear, and who are prompt to aid in person and property the objects had in view. Yet considering this great cause as one in which all are deeply concerned, we invoke a ready

We rejoice in the contemplated effort of the Parent Society to supply the whole country with the word of life, and considering its great importance we shall be glad as we have ability, to aid in this great and glorious work.

If we believe that the word of "God is perfect-converting the soul," and that " the wise the simple;" if it is our only sure guide to life and immortality, then surely every principle of gratitude and love to its author, every feeling that links us in sympathy with our fellow men urges to a wide dissemination of the precious truth of God's Word.

For the West Jersey Pioneer.

Saturday Evening, June 7, 1856. Agreeably to a public call, the citizens of Bridgeton assembled in the Court House, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of celebrating the coming Anniversary of our National Independence. On motion, James G. Hampton was selected Chair man, and F. F. Patterson Secretary.

The Chairman on taking his seat, addressed the meeting in a few pertinent remarks, dwelling on the necessity of celebrating the day in a National manner, casting aside all party sectarian feelings and uniting as one common brotherhood for that purpose.

On motion, the following, gentlemen were appointed a committee to make arrangements, with power to fill vacancies, viz: George W. Claypole, J. D. Harbert, Albert Elmer, Joseph R. Mapes, B. F, Elmer, Wm. G. Maul.

FIRE IN THE PINES.

Within a short time a large amount of val uable Timber has been destroyed by fire in the Jersey Pines. Last week the flames raged to a fearful extent a short distance from the village of Medford, in Burlington county approaching near many habitations, and exciting fears as to the safety of numerous buildings which had always been considered sufficiently remote from danger. The flames were happily quenched by a heavy rain before material injury had been done. We learn from the Monmouth Inquirer, that several destrucive fires have been raging recently in the low-er part of that county and in Ocean; the principle one of which broke out on Saturday, the 24th ult., and continued burning until it was quenched by the rain of the Tucsday night following. It destroyed about 2,000 cords of wood, and a large quantity of rails and young timber. A fire further down in Ocean county destroyed one thousand cords

Those who have never witnessed a large fire in the Pines, have no correct idea of its terriffic appearance. It rolls onward with almost lightning speed, its roaring in the distance sounding like the noise of cannon, and its brilliant flame enshrouding everything around, altogether presenting a scene which May 31, 1856. for awful sublimity can scarcely be equalled. With such a fire it requires but a very short time to destroy thousands of dollars worth of waluable timber. - Newark Mercury.

A Singular Story of New York Life .-The Diario of Madrid relates the following singular and rather tough story:

A few years back, according to the Diaro, an English nobleman, a grandee of the first water, and an ecceptrician of the wildest school, honored New York with his presence and his money. He lived strictly incognito, and his amusement consisted in wandering through the streets after nightfall, and relieving those of his fellow creatures who had experienced the pains of poverty or the penaltics of dissipation. While upon one of those human excursions, he encountered a young female, who tenderly solicited alms. Inquiring her history he found her to be an orphan, of surpassing beauty, with an intelligent mind and of excellent education, reduced to abject destitution by the death of her father, shot in the Mexican war. The titled Howard, wearied at his bachelor existence and won by the romance of the beggar girl's history, tendered to her his heart, his coronet, and his hand. The sequel, according to the Diario, is that at a recent ball given by the Russian Emperor a duchess, radiant with beauty and sparkling with diamonds, won the hearts of all observers. That distinguished lady was the ci deard moire antique Parasols, new styles, just received, ap. 26.

Lightning Rods.

ARMITAGE'S PATENT. THE subscriber calls the attention of the public to his superior Electric Magnet Light-ning Rods. It is now fully admitted on all hands that every building to be secure from the destruct tive influences of Lightning, should be provided with a good conductor.

The large number of worthless Rods that are put up makes it necessary for purchasers to examine the merits of the different rods offered for

I earnestly invite a rigid examination of the principles on which my rods are constructed. I have put up nearly 6,000 RODS, and have never heard of the loss of one dollar's worth of ing all the most desirable styles of Spring & Sumproperty by Lightning, in any building to which mer Dress Goods. feel great confidence in recommending them, not only as the best, but as the only safe rod in use. The following gentlemen having examined these rods and given them their unqualified approbation, have kindly given me their permission to WALTER R. JOHNSON, Commissioner of Patents.

A PRETTY FOOT. There's magic in a pretty foot, And well the Ladies know it,

And she who has a pretty one

Is very apt to show it." TES! all the Ladies might have a pretty foot I if they would call on the subscriber. Owing to the constant changes and the Great variety of designs now in vogue, the present season calls for a more critical and nicer discrimination than any that has preceded it. The subscriber would respectfully call the attention of the Ladies to his Spring and Summer style of Gaiters, which will surpass any thing of the kind heretofore offered to the public. Ladies in want of a splendid gaiter will do well to call at The Ladies Boot & Shoe Store. Where they will be suited in a style that will give credit to the wearer as well as the seller. Misses and childrens Boots & Shoes always on hand. All of my work is made under my own inspection, so the public may rely on getting the worth of their money.
