JAMES B. FERGUSON, - Editor.

SHILOH.

The following true and graphic sketch of one of the best portions of this county, is from the pen of our friend C. H. T., it appeared in a late number of the Western Echo. We endorse the sentiments, and can assure our readers that it is no overdrawn picture. The inhabitants of Shiloh, for good morals, intellectual culture, and agricultural skill are not behind the age. In speaking of Shiloh, he says:—It is a small village of West Jersey, situated about one hundred and twenty miles W. of New York city. It was settled about a century since, by the Seventh day Adventists, of whom it is mostly composed. The principal buildings in the village, are a church, an academy, a store a carriage & blacksmith shop, &c. The inhabitants are chiefly farmers, who are scattered over quite an extensive territory. The soil is naturally rather light and stony, yet by the application of Marl, and by the strong arm of industry, it ranks in fertility scarcely second to any in the State. Would that some of our Rhode Island farmers, who have never been more than a thousand miles from home, could just now pass through some of our corn fields. Instead of measuring the corn by the height of the shoulder, you would find the ears themselves, far beyond the reach of your brawny arms. You farmers think that a yield of fifty bushels, of corn per acre, is a wonderful exhibition of agricultural skill, and almost worthy to be treasured up in the memories of your children; but here it is little more than an average crop. What is true in respect to the corn crop is likewise true of the various other productions. We had the pleasure only three days since, of attending the third annual exhibition of the County Fair, held three miles from this place. We have witnessed similar Fairs in the States of Rhode Island and Connecticut; we have seen there larger cattle, superior horses, and a better display in the fine arts, but we never witnessed before anything approaching a parallel in the agricultural department. There were specimens of potatoes, turnips, ears of corn, cabbages, pumpkins, melons, &c., which for size and beauty would quite have astonished some of the Western farmers. In this fair, which taking all things into consideration, was one of the most remarkable we ever before witnessed—Shiloh was well represented.

Perhaps one of the most remarkable features of Shiloh is seen when viewed in its moral aspect. We do not intend to flatter the good people here, yet we honestly think that the moral atmosphere which pervades the place, is far more pure and healthy than in any other portion of the State with which we are acquainted. This happy state of affairs is doubtless owing in a great measure to one fact—there is no rum shop here! It has been our privilege to pass through almost every county and town in the State, and yet Shiloh is the first village we have ever seen that is not cursed with a rum hole! Let it be proclaimed abroad for the honor of Shiloh, that the accused rum-shop with all its untold unsanctified, and unwholesome influences has not yet been established here. True it is that a few individuals who would efface whatever is fair and noble in man, who convert society into a pandemonium and banish from earth the very name of virtue, have labored hard to erect a building here, where they might let in a swarm of man, this monster-demon—where they have succeeded in erecting a building, but just then the people said, "thus far shall thou go and no further." A part of this same building is now occupied by a worthy female teacher and several industrious students. We are happy to say that in Shiloh and vicinity there are at present only two or three persons at all addicted to intemperance, on a portion which we guarantee cannot be made in respect to a like quantity of territory anywhere else within the limits of Jersey.

Finally another remarkable feature is seen in the intelligence of the inhabitants, and the general interest manifested by them in the cause of education. It is a fact that one virtuous generally accompanies and prepares the way for another. If a people are industrious, temperate and moral, we might naturally expect to find them intelligent and happy, as desirous that others should enjoy like blessings. Such is the case with the people here. We question whether a more intelligent class of individuals can be found elsewhere in the State; so well known is the fact, that they have acquired quite an enviable reputation among the surrounding population. The common schools in the place are conducted by efficient teachers, and are well attended. Some six years since an Academy was established by an industrious, energetic son of Rhode Island—one of the regular stamp—Mr. E. P. Larking. The Academy has since its successful operation most of the time since its establishment. There is connected with the building a very extensive apparatus, designed especially to aid in the progress of that valuable and interesting science—Agricultural Chemistry. Some time since, a course of lectures were delivered here on this subject, by Prof. Evans, which drew crowds of attentive listeners, not only from the immediate vicinity, but from the surrounding country. During the year that has passed the Academy was most ably conducted, under the superintendence of Wm. A. Rogers, a native of Waterford, Ct. and now a worthy member of Brown University, assisted by Mary C. Fish, a native of this country.

Thus, Mr. Editor, we have given you a brief, and we think nearly a correct account of Shiloh and its inhabitants. If we have presented an overdrawn picture, you will pardon us for having erred on the safe side.

Rowdism in Bridgeton.

The peace-loving and law-abiding portion of our citizens have frequently, of late, been shocked to learn that fighting and rowdism has become so frequent in the streets of Bridgeton. On Sunday afternoon last, officer Sonder, arrested three colored men; one being intoxicated, and two others engaged in a fight with some white rowdies near the African Church. One by the name of Robert Gould, (not a Gouldtown), and a white person, whose name we did not learn, was engaged in a regular ring fight, near the African Church, in the afternoon of the arrest, Gould made resistance, but was finally captured and carried to prison with the other darkies who interfered with his arrest.

Part of our county is burdened and cursed with a gang of blacks, who should be sent to state prison or placed in a work-house, where they would not be such a burden to the community and disgrace to all of their color, as they now are.

What we need in Bridgeton is a County Work-House, where prisoners shall be made to work, instead of tagging hard working mechanics, as is now the case, for the support of lazy, drunken negroes and whites, who would prefer being in our county jail, on good fare, at the expense of others, than to work, and earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. In other counties of this state, where work-houses are erected and prisoners from the county jail placed in them, the number of criminals has diminished, and we apprehend this would be the case here. Jail-birds seldom like hard work and avoid the cage of industry.

There is another class of rowdies in our midst who are nearly as bad as our blacks. They are addicted to insulting unprotected persons as they pass along the street at night, seldom being so bold as to attack any one in the light of day. They are what are commonly termed half-grown boys, many of them being "boys of large growth," and when intoxicated as they frequently are, may be appropriately termed "funds in human form." Bridgeton is not the only part of our county cursed with such characters; they may be found in most of the surrounding villages, though not so numerous, bold and daring.

A specimen of rowdism was exhibited at Cedarville and Fairton on Saturday night last, as a number of the American party of this town, were returning from Cedarville, about ten o'clock. Several of their transgressions were broken by missiles thrown at them by the rowdies, and a large stone passed through one of their carriages. Such outrageous conduct should be nipped in the bud, or dangerous consequences may follow.

Cedarville Town Clock.

If we are not mistaken, this once valuable time piece was placed in its present location through the influence of several public spirited individuals of that village, and who need only to be reminded that it would be a source of gratification to the inhabitants, and visitors passing through the village to see the moving hands of the old clock, and hear the melodious voice once more echo thro' the village, and tell correctly the time of day and night, to induce them to wind her up once more. This would change the present inquiry so frequently made in Cedarville. Why has the town clock stopped? Who carries the key? &c; to the inquiry of who had the public good so much at heart as to start the clock again. The key that would start the days of yore will wind her now, if those who so liberally used the means once, will use it now.

Every time we look at the clock in that village, we find her pointing to the same hour. On the North and South sides always about a quarter of six, and on the West side about a quarter of nine.

We hope the next time we have the pleasure of visiting that attractive place, to be greeted by the merry voice, and see that the hands on the face of the Cedarville Town Clock, are pointing "all right!"

LAUNCH.

The new and handsome Schooner, LYDIA H. SHARP, will be launched from the shipyard of Mr. LEHMAN BLEW, of Maurice-town, on a portion which we guarantee cannot be made in respect to a like quantity of territory anywhere else within the limits of Jersey.

Finally another remarkable feature is seen in the intelligence of the inhabitants, and the general interest manifested by them in the cause of education. It is a fact that one virtuous generally accompanies and prepares the way for another. If a people are industrious, temperate and moral, we might naturally expect to find them intelligent and happy, as desirous that others should enjoy like blessings. Such is the case with the people here. We question whether a more intelligent class of individuals can be found elsewhere in the State; so well known is the fact, that they have acquired quite an enviable reputation among the surrounding population.

Large Potatoes. We acknowledge the reception of a basket of the largest and best looking potatoes that has raised our soil this season. They were raised by Mr. D. R. Moore, of Dividing Creek, and are hard to beat. If all of our subscribers were to treat to us, we might have potatoes six times a week and on Sunday for a variety.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Gov. Fris, of this State, has recommended Thursday, the 29th of October, to be set apart as a day of public thanksgiving, to Almighty God, for his mercies, bounties, and all other blessings of his merciful Providence.

Our readers will bear in mind the lectures of Rev. J. C. Fletcher, to commence in this place on Tuesday evening next. See advertisement in another column.

NEWS.

The following from the Herald-Examiner, New York, dated Nov. 7, 1856. It says:—Mr. Daniel Shinn, at the Plant of Santa's Creek, township of Monmouth, had a visit from four bears on Friday morning, the 14th ult. Their objects seemed to be to procure some fresh pork for their own special use, agreeing no doubt to butcher the pig to meet expense. Mr. Shinn's dog, hearing a great noise among the pigs, gave the alarm to the inmates of the house; and therefore running instantly with his musket in his hands to the assistance of his two dogs that had raised the cry of war, Mr. Shinn deliberately fired at the first bear, wounding him severely. With the assistance of his two dogs, he pursued the other three till he succeeded in driving them up a tree, and kept them there till daylight next morning, when he shot the whole three, and one after the other, in the space of ten minutes. The fourth that was severely wounded and has not since been heard of.

NOTICE.

A course of lectures on Phrenology will be given in Grosvenor's Hall, by J. N. Fowler, of New York, of the firm of Fowler and Wells. Commencing on Monday evening, the 24th inst., and continuing every evening through that week. Particulars will be given in due time.

THE CAPE MAY AND ATLANTIC RAIL ROAD PROJECT.

The Cape May and Atlantic Rail Road project is progressing, and the people of the County have already subscribed $12,000 toward the enterprise.

THE CAPE ISLAND STAGE.

Mr. Wm. J.
