For the West Jersey Pioneer. WORSHIPPERS IN THE MOUNTAINS.

BY MRS. SARAH S. SOCWELL.

In the times of the terrible persecution of the Christians by the church of Rome, great numbers fled for security to the wild mountain fastnesses, and many a lonely spot is hallowed by the prayers of those devoted people of God.

A low and solemn anthem Rang on the mountain air, And neath the dark blue arching heavens The Christians knelt in prayer. Their temple was the mountains

All lonely drear and wild. While for beneath their native vale In peaceful beauty smiled. And there a splendid temple Glittered with gems and gold, And pealing through the sounding aisles, Rich solemn music rolled.

Thus clad in gorgeous vesture, Beneath the sculptured dome, The priests administered the rites Of the proud church of Rome. And here among the mountains, Upon the verdant sod, This little band of wanderers

But faith, true, strong, and fearless, Burned like a quenchless flame, Upon the altar of each heart, Through every ill the same. And like an ancient prophet Stood forth the leader there. And like a bugle rang his voice

Knelt down to worship God.

Upon the mountain air. "Wo! to the blinded millions Who bow beneath Rome's rod, For on her guilty head shall fall The vengeance of our God! "Then let us seek the mountains.

For here our hearts are free, Here we'll not feel the oppressor's power. Nor bow to tyrany. "Here we can pour our anthems

Upon the pure free air, Nor tremble lest our tyrants here The voice of humble prayer. "Here in this Alpine temple Our souls can worship God, Who still hath kindly strengtnened us When 'neath th' oppressor's rod. "His arm hath still sustained us

In danger, grief, and pain; This still small voice hath cheered our hearts When blood flowed forth like rain." Shiloh, Dec. 1856.

How I Became A Cambler. Although I belong to the despised fraternity of gamblers, I have always made it a rule to advise young men to shun the gambling-tables, that they may avoid the rock upon which I split; and I will now offer, through your paper some suggestions to the heads of families on the subject of social card-play-I was at least twenty years of age, and had lived some months in New York, before I ever knew the names of the ordinary playing cards-but the importance of a thorough education in the science of games was soon made apparant to me, and in a quarter whence I least expected it. Boarding in Broadway, I gradually formed an acquaintance with number of highly respectable families. By one of these I was invited to attend social party. The heads of this family I knew to be members of an evangelical church, and you may judge of my surprise, when made my entry into the parlor, to behold most of the company, together with my pious friends, deeply engaged at play-not the plays of innocence, but of depraved gamblers! The father of the family was engaged at chess; whilst the wife presided at a card-table: their children were among the whist players, and others of the company were engaged at backgammon, dominoes, and checkers. The wine circulated freely and all seemed happy but myself, who in such a party was barbarian. I could do nothing but look on and confess my ignorance, or occasionally engage in conversation with some old lady,

"The young and gay Were all engaged in play."

It is needless to say that I spent a very unhappy evening-and that I resolved at once to acquire an education so necessary to the maintanance of a respectable standing in good society! I was not long therefore, in mastering the mysteries of High, Low, Jack and he Game, and of Whist; and a slight knowledge of these led me to desire for further information; until at last I was an adept at a variety of games able to teach others, and ged at home and are under no restraint. was a favorite partner wherever I went. HOW TO SAVE CARROTS. A correspondent of the Country Gentleman

"I have had some experience in saving carrots for spring feeding. After they are pulled and topped, I make a smooth place in the field, and dig a trench, say two feet wide, six or eight inches deep; and then lay in two rails-leaving a space of eight inches between the rails—then lay carrots over these rails so as to leave the space open; then pile on the carrots, say three feet high and four wide.-In this way you can make your pit any desired length; cover it with a coat of straw and about four inches of dirt; but be sure that the

> SAGACITY IN A DOG. The subjoined incident is a sir king illus-

A short time after midhe was roused from his slumbers, by the howl of a dog. No menance on his part could rid him of the presence of the strange intruder. The dog continued to walk around the lar demonstration; Mr. Derge, at last hastily dressed bimself and unbolted the door, when a large mastiffrushed in. so peculiar and earnest were the dumb entreaties, that he finally yielded, and proceeded without the cabin. A joyful yell was the result, and the delighted brute, now capering and wagging his tail, ran before him, and now returning and gently seizing him by the hand and trowsers, induced Drege te follow him. "Their course was up the precipitous side of the mountain, and soon they were forcing their way through a snow drift that had settled in one of its numerous fissures. Here comes the wonder. Upon the snow lay the body of a woman, who had evidently perished from cold and exhaustion. Her limbs were already stiffened in death; but what was the surprise of Mr. Drege to see that living. A little inspection aided by the star-light and the brightness of the snow enabled him to discover that the person of the woman was nearly noked. With a mother's affant. The trusty dog had completed her work of self sacrifice.

"Mr. Drege immediately conveyed the child to his cabin, and, arousing some of his neighbors, proceeded again to the mountain to secure from the attack of wild beasts the person of the unfortunate woman. Her body how she happened to stray on the dismal mountain-side at such an unfortunate hour. The child is doing well, and is truly a handsome boy."

THE PRAIRIE CHIEF.

The Sacramento (Cal.) Journal gives an interesting account of a noted wild horse which has been captured in that vicinity.-The animal was known as the 'Prairie Chief,' or wild horse of Yalo, and is considered the best native trotter in the State, and the most enduring animal perhaps in any country. He had befiled for years any attempts to capture him, although every mothod that ingenuity could devise and man execute was tried years ago. More than forty horsemea, mounted on the very flower of the ranches, pursued him from time to time, often running him from sun to sun, and occasionally hunting him on the second day, when he proved as fresh as on the first day, and never, until at ast captured, even w could go around most horses galloping. Once he was decoyed, by means of other horses, into a corral. He was, after several attempts, driven into a narrow pass and there lassoed, but he snapped the lasso in an instant and escaped

The last organized attempt to secure him, however, succeeded, and the noble animal was robbed of the freedom he had so long and so gallantly contended for. A party of thirty persons, well mounted, assembled at the place where he was known to be grazingwhich was along a range of hills on the west bank of the Sacramento. A few of them, in the morning drove him to the mountains, when he was compelled to turn back upon the plain, where the party, scattered in squads for a distance of thirty miles along the country, dashed at him by turns, and thus drove him at full speed, back and forth. to the plains, until he was completely jaded

At the close, when hotly pursued, he broke into a gallop. It is estimated by those who know the ground well, that he traveled from 160 to 170 miles. He is a gray horse with a darkish mane and tail, about fourteen hands high, and is believed to be about 14 years of age, and is, withal, very fierce. A reward of fifteen hundred dollars

Those who Advertise in Pioneer. In giving the following puff in printers lied upon as equal to what it is sold for. parlance, we do not intend it as compensation for the liberal patronage which has been so extensively bestowed upon us during the past year. All persons who advertise their wares, merchandise or business of any description, do so believing that they will be benefitted accordingly.

It is a well established trueism that judicious advertising always accomplishes the end for which it is designed. Look at the number of fortunes that Lave been amassed in to them. large cities, by men who have attributed their success to the judicious application of printers ink, or in other words (advertising.) In large towns and even country villages, the beneficial effects of advertising is realized by those who make use of the means. The man at the present day who undertakes to succeed in business must make use of the right means, or fail to secure that amount of public patronage which his more liberal and enterprising neighbor does by Advertising.

It has been customary for years past to call the attention of our readers to those business firms in Bridgeton advertised in the Pioneer. The present season we shall do so by commencing with our neighbor, across the way-Wilson Silvers. He is a young man deserving all the patronage which can be bestowed upon him. At his store may be found at all times a large assertment of Dry Goods, Groceries &c., which are being sold at such prices as cannot fail to suit purchasers.

Next comes Messrs Maul & Clark. They are always on hand at their Venitian Blind Manufactory, ready to accommodate their friends and customers with anything in the shape of Blinds, Shades, Willow Ware &c., elsewhere. Shades of all qualities and patterns made to order by them, as they have in their employ an experienced artist ready to fulfill all orders at the shortest notice.

The firm of C, S. Miller & Co. cccupy the adjoining room as a Dry Guad's Store, in which they keep a larger and better assortment of goods than any other store in Cumberland County. Their attention being devoted to the purchase and sale of Dry Goods, exclusively, and being experienced salesmen, they are enabled to sell as good goods on as favorable terms as any in the county.

-C. C. Grosscup's extensive Clotning Store and Tailoring establishment, is the largest and best in the County. All goods made or sold there are warranted to give satisfaction. If experience in the business and good workmanship are sufficient recommendation then his goods are entitled to the premium which they took at the last County Exhibition.

The Dry Goods & Grocery store of Stratton & Harris, is admitted by all who deal there to be one of the best in town. There prices are low and goods equal to the best that can be purchased elsewhere. Persons dealing with them are sure to be accommodated in a gentlemanly manner, with goods equal to what they are recommended to be.

The old firm of J. B. Potter & Co., still takes the lead of all competitors. It is so extensively known throughout the country, that advertising would seem to less enterprising firms, as almost useless, yet notwithstanding this firm has been long established and has a high reputation, they are constantly receiving additions to their large stock which they make known to the public by advertis-

Franklin Dare's Confectionary, Drug and Variety Store, has been increasing in popularity from its first opening, until it is now in every department, one of the best in South Jersey. Its conductor is one who has had long experience in the business, and always gives satisfaction to those who deal with him. A better Confectioner, a more scientific, well qualified Druggist, a more polite and accommodating gentleman, cannot be found in this part of the country. It is not necessary to enumerate the multitude of goods for call at his store. His liberality and good judgment in circular form which will be seen by all of our readers in the town and country this week.

Mr. J. Bates is still on hand at his Hall of Fashion, where he is prepared to sell ready made or make to order, as good a suit of Clothing as any man need desire. He is a practical workman and knows what good goods are and how they should be made up. His fits are perfect and clothing from his store wears much better than that purchased from some other establishments.

J. D. Harbert, Surgeon Dentist, may be found at his office, day or evening, ready to fill all orders for part or whole sets of teeth, or to extract at the Shortest notice. Mr. H. is a good Dentist and the son of a good Dentist, and can get up a good set of teeth, worthy of exhibition.

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY! HY BE WITHOUT MONEY? when it is just as easy for any one to be around with a pocket full as not, if they only think so. I have got a new article, from which from five to twenty dollars a day can be made, either by male or female. It is highly respectable business, and an article which is wanted in every family in the United States: Enclose me two dollars by mail, at my risk, and I will forward by return mail a Circular, with full instructions in the art. The business is very easy—Try it, if you are out o employment, and you will never regret it; for i will be better for you to pay the above sum, and insure a good business, than to pay twenty-five cents for a spurious advertisement.
