

The West-Jersey Pioneer.

BRIDGETON
Saturday Morning, May, 9.

The Pioneer has a LARGER Circulation than any weekly Paper in this State!

Only $1.00 per Year!

JAMES B. FERGUSON,—EDITOR.

THE PIONEER.

It will be discovered that we have placed at the head of our editorial column, this week, the assertion that "The Pioneer has a larger circulation than any weekly paper in this State." During the past year unprecedented success has crowned our efforts. The circulation of the Pioneer has continued on the increase, until it now out-numbers that of any paper in the State. Our advertising patronage has been more extensive than at any previous time since the paper has been in existence. Advertisers who wish to bring their business before the people of the five lower counties of this State, and especially Cumberland, are beginning to find the most advantageous channel by which to accomplish their object. Our rates of advertising are as low as other papers that have not more than half the circulation of the Pioneer. To our readers we would say, that instead of encroaching any farther on our reading columns, we have ordered a large quantity of smaller type, which, when brought into service, will afford more room for local and miscellaneous reading, all of which is given for the reasonable amount of one dollar per year.

THE BRIDGETON CHRONICLE.

It has been the policy of the publisher of the Chronicle heretofore, to avoid mentioning the name of the Pioneer in his paper, fearing perchance, that some of his readers might become acquainted with the fact that there was such a paper as the Pioneer published in the county, on more liberal terms and better suited to their individual wants than the Chronicle; consequently, (as many have already done) they might discontinue his paper and subscribe for one, which by the masses is more generally taken. Last week, however, the publisher of that paper, or his "paid writer" condescended to give the Pioneer a notice, for which we feel under obligations to reciprocate, and shall do, as occasion may require, yet we will not promise to use the same specimen of "cowardly, sneaking, contemptible, insinuating" language which the honorable and gentlemanly writer of the Chronicle indulges in, while under the influence of the reeling spirit which intoxicates his toxy mind, which "despise anything that creeps," and like Arch Bishop Hughes after having been used up, to some extent, by his American opponent, Mr. Brooks, foigns to thrust the "vile insect" from his presence, but the insect, though insignificant in the sight of his majesty, proves by the documents, something very unpalatable to the embryo Pope.

That the Chronicle is the advocate of Rum and Slavery, no evidence can be more satisfactory than the course which that journal has been for some years past, and is still pursuing. Where is the evidence to the contrary? Turn to one single paragraph in that paper for the past few years, which is calculated to advance the interests of the Temperance cause, or one word in opposition to Slavery if you can. Why are the names of Theodore Parker, Henry Ward Beecher, and others nearer home, vilified and defamed, week after week, in the Chronicle, unless it be that they differ in views with, and are the advocates of principles which conflict with those advocated in the Chronicle? With these facts before our eyes, no loop hole is needed to crawl out at. "A guilty conscience needs no accuser," and as they have taken home the charge of being the advocates of Rum and Slavery, they are welcome to appropriate it in whatever manner they deem most advisable. That it is a good fit, but sets us up unpleasantly, is very evident to others as well as to those who "know no more than the law allows." We might give the public a full explanation, and some reasons why the writer in the Chronicle has taken this opportunity to display his vocabulary of choice words which, with the respectable portion of this community, who know the source from whence they emanate, have about as much weight and influence as though uttered by one of the most foul-mouthed blackguards that frequent the dens and caverns with which our town is infested.

Those interested will please bear in mind that the books of subscription to the capital stock of the Millville Bank will be opened at that place on Tuesday next, the 12th inst.

Farewell Sermon.

Rev. Mr. Henzy who has had the pastoral charge of the Second Presbyterian Church of this town for some time past, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening last, from the 119th Psalm, 120th verse, upon which occasion he rebuked evil doers and denounced sin in its multifarious forms. Sabbath breaking, intemperance, oath-taking, and other monster evils prevalent in our land, received a portion in due season. The education and proper training of children, was dwelt upon at some length. The speaker concluded his remarks in a very pathetic exhortation to the members of the Church and his friends who had assembled to hear perchance for the last time, his warning voice. The occasion was truly a solemn one. His departure was sudden and unexpected, the circumstances of which we are unacquainted with, and trust that in his absence this branch of Zion may flourish in spiritual and christian harmony.

WORTHY OF IMITATION.

It always affords us pleasure to notice any of the improvements which tend to add to the beauty or prosperity of the town. We have before spoken of the handsome block of stores put up near the bridge by our enterprising townsman R. D. Carl. These stores are now nearly completed, with handsome ornamental fronts, and we believe are all taken, as they ought to be. One feature added by Mr. Carl, which is worthy of imitation by all, is the excellent wide pavement in front. Thus affording the occupants of the stores a chance to display their wares without the danger of their destruction by contact with passing hoops or shins of fair and masculine shoppers. It is really an advantage to the shop keeper or merchant to have more room in front of his building. The competition of business induces a display of goods in the outside, for the purpose of more readily attracting the attention of passers. When our streets are crowded as they are at times almost daily, it becomes a matter of some skill to pass and repass in some places without endangering the nether limbs to a contact with steps, cellar doors, boxes or wares of some kind. And that man is hardly likely to be a customer of a merchant against whose boxes his shins have come into concussion with a severity to make him perform strange antics, and say hard words. In some of our most business thoroughfares, the sidewalks are so shockingly narrow, and withal so obstructed with steps and other obstacles, as to be a positive inconvenience, which the grand jury would do a kindness to the citizens to abate. But in the failure of the grand inquest to act, let the public so distribute their custom as to show that they appreciate what comfort as well as economy is in their dealings. Buildings set two feet further back into worthless back yards, would add much to the yard and comfort of many parts of our main streets, as well as to the lasting advantage of both owner and occupant.

MORE EXCITEMENT.

Elopement in High Life.

On Tuesday evening last, as we were crossing the bridge, a crowd of about fifty persons assembled around a few carriages, attracted our attention. It was very evident that some kind of a muss or rumpus had been kicked up. Two of the carriages contained gentlemen and ladies of color, one of which appeared had more than his share (a favorite among the ladies, we presume) having two besides another man's wife, who seemed unwilling to leave her friend of color and go to her husband, who with her father, was in pursuit of them. It was a mixed up mess of color, and we did not make much effort to learn the particulars of the elopement. Some of the party were from Springfield. A few minutes after the excitement had quieted down a lady of color remarked "Lor-a-mass how I was skart, to see about two thousand peoples all around the colored folks, just looked as if they was gwing to kidnap the hull of us, but bress the Lord, Iwnt so." About ten o'clock the same night a noise in the street attracted our attention, upon whom emerging from our sanctum we discovered a crowd at least twice as large as the one above referred to, which if seen by the colored lady, would have been pronounced about four thousand strong, surrounding the same gentleman of color and a horse which was said to belong to the man whose wife the constable, a few hours previous at the bridge, helped from her friend's carriage and delivered unto her husband.

This gentleman of color was displaying his agility by jumping over the horses back and amusing the boys with his wit. Having spent a term of years in the State Prison, for shortening a man in Salem Co., he has graduated with high honors, and is consequently a gentleman.

Hand Corn Planter.

This being the season for farmers to plant their corn, we would refer them to the advertisement of B. & R. Ayars. The planter for which they are the agents, has been tested in this country, and those who have given it a fair trial, with proper usage, give their testimony in its favor. Labor saving implements in the agricultural department are becoming more common every year, and will continue to do so while the demand for farm produce and manual labor continue to increase as has been for several years past, and as corn is one of the staple crops of this part of the country, it stands the farmer in hand to have the proper kind of implements for planting, cultivating and preparing it for use. We were shown a short time since at the agricultural warehouse of Messrs. Troth and Begary, Camden, one of the most complete fodder cutters yet invented. Our farmers may have an opportunity of seeing it at our next Co. Agricultural Exhibition; but before the corn is ready for cutting it must be planted, and to all who desire a labor saving implement to do it with we recommend Ayars' Hand Corn Planter, which may be had of the agents, Head of Greenwich, or H. J. Mulford & Bro., Bridgeton.

BAPTISM.—We learn that several persons are to be baptised on Sunday next, by Rev. J. S. Kennard of the Baptist Church of this place.

We are requested by Mr. E. S. Bateman, to say that his stage will not leave Bridgeton for Cedarville during next week, (it being court) until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

CHANGE YOUR HALTER.

A few days since a balky horse attached to a light carriage, took a notion to stop in front of our office. A large crowd soon assembled and many plans were devised to make him go, but all proved unsuccessful, until at last one of the crowd who had seen such nags before, suggested and tried the plan of shifting the halter from one side of the horse to the other, when immediately he started off on a full gallop, giving an illustration of the old adage "more than one way to start a balky horse." The above fact is given for the benefit of any who may get in a like predicament.

GO HEAR HIM!

Rev. E. KINGARD, Missionary to Burmah, will lecture at Sheppard's Hall, Bridgeton, on Monday evening next, on the late War of Burmah, &c. Tickets 12¢ each.

The Salem Standard says the injuries sustained to the Major Reybold by the recent collision, having been thoroughly repaired, she resumed her trip on the Salem Line on Saturday. The Express has gone to Wilmington to repair, prior to commencing on the Bridgeton route.

Liver Complaint Dyspepsia and Piles.

D. C. M. Jackson, Dear Sir—As you have been severally afflicted with the Liver Complaint, dyspepsia, and piles, continually the pains and inconveniences attending it, are不堪的 to attend to my business. I used to have no apparent change until I used your "Hoof-Heel" Remedy, and now entirely free from pain and trouble. I would be glad to have you try it, and highly recommend your letters to Dr. Wm. Sheppard, Head of Greenwich.
