BRIDGETON Saturday Morning, June 6.

The Pioneer has a LARGER Circulation than any weekly Paper in this State!

JAMES B. FERGUSON, -EDITOR.

THE BRIDGETON CHRONICLE.

The first part of the following article was in type last week, and refers to the week previous. Being foiled in his attempt to procure a copy of the Fioneer last week, until after they were circulated throughout the county, he manufactures a few more lies in a paragraph placed at the head of a half column or more of scandal, prepared by himself, or his paid writer, several days previous, and then says of it, "We have barely time to give him a passing notice, but next week we will speak to him in language that he under-

We shall wait patiently for this specimen of the Cironicle man's choice language, but doubt very much whether the honorable editor himself, or any other blackguard which he may hire, can excel the low and infamous slang which has already appeared in the Chronicle. The scribblers in that sheet have descended so low in manufacturing scandal and lies of so base a stamp, that even their degraded adherents, who at one time sustained them in their villany, have deserted them, and now unite with the respectable part of the community in denouncing the infamous and disgusting faischeeds and slander which none but the most degraded and vile blackguards, such as grace the columns of the Chronicle, would utter. Among other false charges made against us is, that we printed the Pioneer "sometime in the middle of last week, and refused to circulate it until after the Chronicle had gone to press, so that we, the scribblers in the Chronicle, might not refute his base lies."

If the editor of that sheet can point to one false assertion in the Pioneer, we will show him a score which has appeared in the Chronicle within the past month. That the Pioneer was printed 'sometime in the middle of last week," is a falsehood on a par with others from the same source. It was printed on Friday last, our regular publication day, and has not failed to be a single day behind time for several years past. It is customary, and has been for years past, for some one from the Chronicle office to be waiting at our office for one of the first Pioneers printed, so that they might copy news items from the Pioneer and insert them in the Chronicle, without credit.

As the editor of the Chronicle appears to know so little about editorial courtesy, we were requested to give him a short lesson last week, by refuswere distributed in proper order. For this lesson we were favored with a few more of his falsehoods and attempts at ridicule. He continues to harp and prate about a letter which was published in the Pioneer several months since. The letter was opening it. There being nothing in it but a few other, worded in such real darkey style as to be quite ludicrous, and containing nothing which could possibly injure any one by being published without giving the name of either of the parties, we had it put in type, according to copy, orthography, punctuation, &c., and immediately sent word to the person to whom we supposed the letthe belonged, that it was at our office and would be handed to him with explanation and satisfactory reasons for publishing, if necessary. Now the unprincipled scribbler in the Chronicle represents the case in his own pathetic style, and asks would be guilty of such meanness as this? Is there anything too low to which he would not stoop?" In reply, we would remind the honest and honorable editor of the Chronicle, of a transaction of his own, which we consider quite as mean, low, and dishonest too, as any of the mishas manufactured against our character.

About eighteen months since, soon after the cditor of the Chronicle came to this place from much praise for this long needed improve-New York, (having emigrated to that city and tarried long enough to become familiar with and practice their mean and dishonest tricks) he perpetrated one on an honest and respectable Jerseyman, residing in Maurice River township. The facts in the case are as follows:-The gentleman was tax collector for that township, and wished some blank notices printed; he was informed by those who had preceded him in that office that the usual price for printing such notices was two dollars and a half per thousand, (at the Pioneer | they are not to be seen." It was himself, as degraded as themselves. office) With this understanding he addressed a and not us, who was so troubled about that letter to the publishers of the Pioneer, enclosing a specimen copy, with directions to print one thousand and forward them to him. The letter was through mistake of the stage driver, handed to the editor of the Chronicle. It was not only directed correctly on the outside, with the names of the publishers of the Pioneer in full, but also on the inside, in a manner that could not be mistaken or overlooked. Did the honorable and honest editor of the Chronicle send this letter to the persons to whom it was directed? No! The stage driver was to pay the bill for printing, an opportunity was afforded to take advantage of an honest man, and the editor of the Chronicle was the man (?) to do it. He tock the five dollars (just twice the usual price for printing that number of notices) and appropriated it to his own use. In a week or so. after having his patience wearied by waiting, the gentleman received only a portion of the printing which he raid such an extravagant price for. Not being satisfied with the manner in which they were printed and the exhorbitant price charged, the gentleman called on the editor at the Chronicle office. informed him that the letter was not directed to him, and that he had charged twice as much as they could have been printed for at the Pioneer of the Squatter Sovereign, formerly the office. Did the editor of the Chronicle produce most ultra pro slavery paper in Kansas, and the letter which was directed to the publichers the organ of Stringfellow. It has deserted of the Pioneer? No, he would not do it. When its old friends, and now has "Free State" emthe gentleman demanded as his right, the extra two dollars and a half, which the editor of that paper had wronged him out of, did he refund that which he had filched from another? No! When he grasped for and pocketed money which he had reason to know did not belong to him, he was not aware that the individual whom he thus treated would testify against him, (being an humble and unassuming farmer) who, sooner than show the least appearance of what the editor of the Chronicle did in that case, and is habitually guilty of, dishonesty-handed in his bill to the township

ble editor of the Chronicle pocketed. The above specimen of dishonesty was related to us last week by the gentleman himself, and he will face the Chronicle man with the same statement of facts. If the editor of the Chronicle has forgotten the ircumstance, we can furnish him the name of River township to be free from that degrading from me. propensity of lying, which the editor of the Chronicle is noted for where he is known.

After descending (if it be possible for individuals so debauched and degraded) to manufacture the meanest kind of filth, and perpetrate the most slanderous and libellous insinuations against our must soon become perfectly disgusting."

"With the individual we have no relation what ever, of any character." We do not thank the ed. itor of the Chronicle for his pretended friendship, friendship, as we consider him and his paid wri ter, two of the most degraded and debauched in dividuals that infest the town of Bridgeton, and doubt very much if their equals in degradation and crime, can be found this side of the State Prison walls. In fact men with more principle, and for less low cunning, have been incarcerated in State Prison for years, who would consider it beneath their diguity to descend to the perpetration of the infamous and unprincipled acts which the editor of that paper and his paid writer are guilty of. Being reminded that the threats made to "flog us if it cost him his life," had as lit tle weight with us as their appeal to the Grand (but in vain) to arraign us before them, they crawl out of their unpleasant position, by asserting that we expect a flogging from their paid writers. If their paid writers are as confirmed in their lying and drinking propensities as the editor of the Chronicle has proved himself to be, they would have no better sense than to attempt what they have already threatened they would do. A drunken unprincipled wortnless wretch, i aired to do what the editor of the Chronicle dare not attempt himself, might be fool enough to get himself into more difficulty than he would get out of very safely, in a hurry. The 5th chap, of Acts plication went too near home to his case. He concludes his mess of filth, scandal and unmitigated lies, by copying four lines from his favorite poetaster, and palms it off as one of his own original and witty productions. Space forbids a reply to any of the slang and false charges contained in an unprincipled attack upon one whose character cannot be deteriorated by the scurrility and unqualified falsehoods of the scribblers in the Chroicle, who not seeming content with lying about us, have commenced the same game towards one whose moral principel and intellectual qualifications are far more appreciated by an enlightened and discriminating public, than are those of the intellectual and moral debauchee who presides over the Chronicle.

MR. MILLER's card, and a letter from Millville, which appears in another column of this week's Pioneer, speak for themselves. If the honorable editor of the Chronicle cannot "appreciate" the talents of the scribblers in the Pioneer, we advise him to continue his faverite and becoming occu- kindred associations. pation of manufacturing scandal and lies, (which acording to his re-liable word, is original with himing to let him have a copy of our paper until they self and perhaps he will succeed in obtaining some plainer facts before he is dismissed.

The so much longer duration than usual, and than had been calculated upon, that, hundreds of farmers have been compelled to buy back their tucky, there will be a larger crop of wheat grain at a greatly increased price, to preserve the lives of even a remnant of their stock .-If this is true, and it comes from sources heretofore entitled to credit, a large portion of last year's surplus in the west will be absorbed there, instead of passing eastward. In ordinary seasons the failure of the winter crop can be in a great measure supplied in many of the wheat growing states, by sowing an increased amount of spring grain. But the present spring has been unusally late and unpropitious there as well as here, so that probably a much less quantity of spring grain has been sown than if the season had been more favorable. Still as with each year there is an increased amount of land cultivated, it is probable that more wheat has been sown than in any previous year; so that it would seem safe to predict an average number of bushels for the United States, the present year. If this theory is correct, the fact would seem to be established that all of this year's crop will be needed for our own consumption, allowing the population to increase in the same ratio as fermerly, and taking into account an increased foreign and domestic im. | and warranted to give satisfaction. fore highly probable that the prevailing price | price for Wool. of grain for the coming year, will be consid-

More Goods! Better Goods, and CHEAPER GOODS

Having procured the services of a first race set of hands, and made arrangements for manufacturing the most of the ready made clothing that I sell, I have now on hand a large and splendlid stock of clothing, manufactured under my own supervision, of the most durable materials by the best worknen made equal to customer work, and warranted to give satisfaction to all that try them, and at the same time are enabled to sell cheaper than any other house in Bradgeton, as there is but one small profit on my goods, whilst those goods that are manufactured in the city must have two profits; the manufacturer must have a profit, and the retailer must have his; so it must be obvious to all that I have the advantage over those who sell city-made work.—All I ask is a call before you purchase clsowhere, and if you are not satisfied that my goods are better made, and cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. I do not ask you to buy, nor do I consider it any trouble to show you my goods.

Cheap Spring Clothing! Clothing, clothing, clothing for all, At the United States Clothing Emporium Hall! Come, then, men and boys. And you can have your choice. There was once a stranger calling at my hall,

And he will tell you what happened to him all. He was getting such a nice suit that nobody knew him: Friends politely passed and spoke not; And arriving at his dwelling, He kissed the smiling matron. She repulsed him, and informed him, If such liberties were taken, She should surely tell her husband. One more look and all was settled; In the gay, genteel intruder, She beheld her own dear husband, So completely changed by clothing That at first she did not know him. Then the wife asked questions: Tell me, dear, where the suit was purchased, Tell me where they got that style of making, Where, and when, and how they got you Arrayed in such a handsome fashion? Tell me, tell me, all about it,

Tell me, tell me, tell me all. Did he answer? No, sir-ee, Bob, As the questions thus did fall But he murmured at BAMBERGER'S. Bamberger's Clothing Emporium Hall. E. BAMBERGER, [U. S. Clothing Emporium Hall, Bridgeton, two loors above the Post Office, sign of the big red April 11.

THE Letteries of Samuel Swam & Co., are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have swora commissioners appointed to superinted their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of the parties at a distance being as well protected as though they were present. The Managers would respectably call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of famuel Swam & Co., are anthorized by the Legislature of flat State, A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are 10 dollars; halves, 6, quarters, 2.50. No ticket sunt unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from 40 to 50, thousand dollars; every prize being diamen, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchases.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize sentitled to, will be published after every drawing in the following papers:—New Orieans Delta, Mobile Register. Charleston Sandard. Nashville Democrat Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainfy, and direct to S. SWAN & Co. Atlanta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries. LOTTERIES.
