PARODY.

We find the following paredy upon McKay: Tell Me, ye Winged Winds," going the rounds: Tell me, ye winged winds,. That round my pathway roar,

Do ye not know some spot Where women fret no more? Some lone and pleasant dell, Some holler in the ground. Where babies never yell, And cradles are not found? The loud wind blew the snow into my face, And snickered as it answered--" Nary place."

> Whose billows round me play, Knowest thou some favored spot, Some island far away, Where weary man may find A place to smoke in peace. Where crinoline is not. And hoops are out of place?

MORAL.

ECONOMY OF TIME.

The comparative shortness of human existence, which the most untutored mind may observe by the aid of proper reflection, is a question sufficiently answered in itself, that our time should not be spent in vain. When we look about us and see the old man of four score years, and the infant just budding into life; the lovely maiden in the prime of youth. ful beauty, and the young man rejoicing in his strength, however promising and however useful, passing through "the valley of the shadow of death," should we not say, "Lord, so teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom"?

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.

A correspondent in Washington, D. C., The other day, in company with a few friends; I visited the Washington Monument which structure, though not yet finished, is still a noble beginning of a noble work. The slightest noise made on the monument is echoed and re-echoed on every side, until it sounds through the lofty edifice like deep muttered thunder. All of us had descended the steps to leave the place, when I went back to take another, perhaps a last look, at the interior. Standing at the entrance and glancing inwards, my attention was attracted by as beautiful and touching a scene as it has ver been my lot to witness. Standing in the centre of the space enclosed by the four walls, stood a fine looking young man, in the dress of a U.S. Marine Though young in years he had followed the gallant General Taylor through the long and dreary marches over the arid plains of Mexi-co, and under that brave leader he periled his noble life to save from dishonor the glorious flag of our country at the bloody battle of the hostile Indian amid the entangled everglades and noisome death-damps of Florida, and braved danger and disease to humble the savage pirates of China; and, ere this, is bounding over the blue waters of the mighty Atlantic on the deck of a noble vessel of war, once to vindicate the rights of American citizens against the despotic power which would fair oppress them in a far-off land

He entered as we left, and doubtless thought himself alone. Gazing reverently around him for a few moments, he at length fixed his eyes upon the platform which covers the building at the top, and which, shutting out the light, causes the spacious edifice to wear an aspect of gloom, as if mourning over the apathy which permits the American people to leave this beautiful testimonial to the virtues of the Father of his Country, so long unfinished,-and from his lips, as it seemed, spontaneously burst forth the following beautiful stanzas:

WASHINGTON'S GRAVE. Disturb not his slumber, tread lightly a-disappointments; but notwithstanding we are Then disturb not the hero, his battles are o'er,

> While the stars and the stripes of our country shall wave O'er the land that can boast of a Washington's Grave.' The air was a beautiful one; it was enrapturing to listen to the mollow tones of that manly voice, resounding through the lofty edifice, until the blending echoes seemed the voices of the great and good of times long ing words, as they fell from the lips of the singer, now swelling in thunder-like reverberations, and anon dying away in the distance.

Quietly turning, as the last notes died way, I joined the party below, with a thankful heart that Columbia's flag never need fear dishonor, while the hearts of her youth ful sons are animated by such reverence for the memory of her best and noblest—the immortal Washington.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AN UNWELCOME PASSENGER.

A cold winter's night found a stage load of us gathered about the warm fire of a tavero bar-room in a New England village. Shortly after we arrived, a pedlar drove up and ordered that his horse should be stabled for the night. After we had eaten supper we repaired to the bar-room, and as soon as the ice was broken the conversation flowed freely. Several anecdotes had been related, and finally the pedlar was asked to give us a story, as men of his profession were generally full of adventures and anecdotes. He was a short, thick set man, somewhere about forty years of age, and gave evidence of great physical strength. He gave his name as Lemuel Viney, and his home was in Dover, New Hamp-

"Well, gentlemen," he commenced knock ing the ashes from his pipe and putting it in his pocket, "suppose I tell you about the last thing that happened to me? You see I am now right from the far West, and on my way home for winter quarters. It was about two months ago, one pleasant evening that I pulled up at the door of a small village tavern, in Hancock county, Indiana. I said it was pleasant-I meant it was warm, but it was cloudy and likely to be very dark. I went in and called for supper, and I had my horse taken care of, and after I had caten I had sat down in the bar-room. It began to rain about eight o'clock and for a while it poured down good, and it was awful dark out doors.

Now I wanted to be in Jackson early the next morning, for I expected a load of goods there for me, which I intended to dispose of on my way home. The moon would rise about midnight, and I knew if it did not rain, I could get along very comfortable through the mud after that. So I asked the landlord if he could not see that my horse was fed plied. about midnight, as I wished to be off before two. He expressed some surprise at this, waiting for me at Jackson, and I wanted to be there before the express agent left in the the detention of a notorious robber, named

About ten minutes after this I heard a motion in the eart, followed by a grinding noise, as though some heavy force were being applied to the door. I said nothing, but the idea struck me that the villian might judge where I sat and shoot up through the top of the cart at me, so I sat down on the foot board.

ENERGY.

We like a man of energy. With the poor contemptible drones, who seem to need assistance in drawing their breath, we have no sympathy. Young men, who start in life with the idea of dragging out an existence, and who exhibit a total want of energy in their actions, may expect to be speedily buried in oblivion. But when we see a young man resolutely marking out his course in the occupation which he has chosen, and then going straight forward in a spirit of determination, fighting with opposing influences, and breaking down obstacles by firm perseverance we augur for him brilliant and glorious success. FOURTH OF JULY.

appear next week.

Notice having been given that a meeting would be held in Grosscup's Hall, on Saturday evening last, accordingly a large number of the patriotic inhabitants of Bridgeton as sembled at that place, showing that the real spirit of 1776 had again broke its slumbering chains, to exhibit itself on the approaching 85th anniversary of American Independence Adrian Bateman, Esq., was called to the Chair, and N. Ayars appointed Secretary. F. F. Patterson, G. W. H. Whitaker, R. B. Potter, T. C. Ware, S. R. Fithian, E. M. Hood, P. Ludlam and N. Ayars, were unanimously elected a committee to solicit contributions, and make arrangements for celebrating that day.

On motion adjourned to meet at the celebration on the 4th of July, 1857.

N. AYARS, Secretary. Bridgeton, June 12, 1857.

By the above it will be seen that the "glorious fourth" is to be celebrated in Bridgeton once more. We are pleased to lives and burns in the hearts of our people. It is befitting that it should. It is right that our people should assemble together once a year, and hear recounted the deeds of our fathers in "the days that tried men's souls;" to listen to the soul-inspiring tales of Bunker Hill, Monmouth and Yorktown, related in "thoughts that move and words that burn." It is right that the wide-mouthed cannon, the peeling bell, and the "thundering minute | proved fatal had he not been so near. gun," should be heard from the mountain tops and through the valleys, announcing the anniversary of our nation's birth, and calling the young-the hope and pride of the country-to action, long before the herald of day walks forth in glory from the gates of Heaven. It is right that the spirit of seventysix should be kept burning in our hearts, and our children taught to lisp the names, and sing the praises of Washington and his noble compatriots.

Come, then, fellow-citizens, from all around, to our celebration of the fourth, and show to the world that you are worthy sons of noble sires. But a gloomy pall o'er-shadows the brightness of our hopes and joys, when we think of the debauchery and rowdyism which | merchants and professional men, who have will disgrace our town and country on that day, caused by that instrument of perdition. Rum! It is a burning shame that our pleasures must be marred by this fell destroyer. Let us hope, for the reputation of our town, that it will not be so this time.

A large and desirable lot on the North East corner of second and Maine Streets, was purchased by the building committee, who will at once proceed to make arrangements for the speedy construction of a Bank Building, at that place. We congratulate the citizens of Millville and those of the lower harmonious tones of the organ, played by counties who are interested, in being able to Miss Mary C. Fithian. The annual sermon procure a special charter for an institution was preached by Rev. W. B. Gillette of Shiof the kind at that place. The popularity loh, from John 2, 22—"And they believed which our Cumberland Bank, has secured the Scripture and the word that Jesus had both at home and abroad, for its soundness, safe and correct manner of transacting business the politeness and accommodating disposition of its officers, undoubtedly aided our Millville neighbors in procuring the only special charter that was granted by the last legislature, notwithstanding applications were made for banks in other parts of the State.

That an institution of the kind is needed in the large and thriving town of Millville, not only for the accommodation of her citizens, but those of the adjoining Counties, is very evident, and we doubt not the increase of busines in this part of the State will warrant the undertaking, without materially interfering with the long established and reliable institution in this town.

For the West Jersey Pioneer. Meeting of the Cumberland County Bible Society.

The day being somewhat rainy, there was not as full a representation from the remote parts of the County as was desirable, but the people of the place showed a commendable interest in making up a respectable congregation.

The singing was excellent, conducted by the choir, led by Dr. Fithian, who has, for many years, been the leader of the singing in that church. The singing was enlivened by the sweet and said." The speaker, after showing the grounds of their belief in the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, according to the declaration of the Prophets, pointed to some of the advantages those enjoyed to whom the Scriptures have been given, and the work imposed upon them to give the Bible to the whole world. The encouragement they have to work, from the increasing call for the word of life; the facilities to aid in the work, and the encouragement given from the success already attending past efforts. The discourse was listened to with marked attention.

At the close of the sermon, Rev Dr. Jones of Bridgeton, being the Vice President, took the chair, (the venerable President, Rev. Mr. Osborne, not being present,) and proceeded Truly yours, A CITIZEN. MANAGERS' REPORT.

There are to be presented at this meeting several special reports which, together, will cover the whole ground of the Society's proceedings during the past year, viz: Those of the Treasurer and of the Society's exploring agent, togother with a minute, by a committee appointed for the purpose, in reference to the death of our late Tresurer, Mr. F. We are thankful that we have been permitted to labor another year in this good cause. We deem it a great privilege as well read the Bible for herself.

as a binding duty. It will be seen by the reports to be presented, that our operations during the year, so far from exhibiting symptoms of decline and flagging interest, have been characterised rather by increased activity. We report with great satisfaction, that the purpose of exploring the County, and supplying its destitutions, has, within the past year, been prosecuted to a successful accomplishment. Cumberland County is now thoroughly supplied with the Word of God. In this respect at least, we have done what we could. The report of our exploring agent, (Mr. Harris) was listened to by the Board of Managers, with lively interest, and we doubt not will be read through the County with equal pleasure. In the judgment of some of the oldest members of the Society, the exploration just completed is the most thorough that has ever

Our conviction of the importance and ne cessity of the work in which we and all other Catholic Bible Societies are engaged, so far from in any way diminishing, is becoming, if possible, deeper and stronger with every rolling year; and we cordially adopt the sentiment expressed in the last received report of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and "assuredly believe that the Bible is the chosen instrument of the Most High, whereby he will enlighten, purify and save the world." Our own prayer and hope is that it may speedily be sent abroad through all the nations. The Lord hasten it in his time.

Mr. Harris' Report. Having been employed by a committee of the Cumberland County Bible Society (appointed for that purpose) to explore the County and supply its districts, I entered upon the work the 10th of December, 1855. I canvassed the township of Fairfield pretty thoroughly, and part of Downe, when the win-

Still in the Field. At Reeves & Davis' is the place Where shoes are got with ease; They're made to button or to lace, And warranted to please. We have the largest stock in town; We're not afraid to tell it: Come friends and neighbors, all around, For we are bound to sell it.

Now, gentlemen in want of shoes, Of gaiters or of boots; We send to you the cheering news, We have them just to suit! The ladies, too, have heard the news, They look so very sweet. Then rush to Reeves & Davis' where They make their fits so neat. Old people, too, with tender feet, They rush to Mr. Reeves,

Because they know he can't be beat In making shoes for ease. For forty years he's kept the course, 'Tending to people's feet; By some he's called the great war horse That never can be beat! Come, rich and poor, come young and old;

Come every one that can;

We're bound not to be under-sold By ANY LIVING MAN! To be continued as circumstances require. REEVES & DAVIS. [Cheap Boot and Shoe Store, Commerce st.

CHEAPER GOODS.

Having procured the services of a first rate set of hands, and made durfungements for manufacturing the most of the ready made clothing that I sell, I have now on hand a large and splendid stock of clothing, manufactured under my own supervision, of the most durable materials by the best workinen made equal to customer work, and warranted to give satisfaction to all that try them, and at the same time are enabled to sell cheaper than any other house in Brudgeton, as there is but one small profit on my goods, whilst those goods that are manufactured in the city must have two profits; the manufacturer must have a profit, and the retailer must have his so it must be obvious to all that I have the advantage over those who sell city-made work.

All I ask is a call before you purchase elsewhere, and if you are not satisfied that my goods are better made, and cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. I do not ask you to buy, nor do I consider it any trouble to show you my goods.

BARBER'S NEW JERSEY COMBINED

MOWING AND REAPING MACHINE! For the Harvest of 1857. ARBER'S Machine has taken the premium at several of the County Fairs, and has been placed in competition with some of the most celebrated. It is simple, of light draught, less complicated, and not liable to get out of order, and will cut all kinds of Grain or Grass, equally as well as any Combined Machine ever offered the nublic. It is so constructed that all side draught (which is so great in most machines as to require three, ease for the team as plowing, and at a slower gait than any other Machine ever in this region.

No Real is required in moving any kind of grass. It has been fairly tested by a number of practical farmers, and quite sufficient to prove its complete adaptation to moving as well as reaping. I have received many certificrtes from practical farmers and competent judges, establishing its merits over any other machine ever used in this State.

the Agricultural So. at the Reaping and Mowing Machine, at Bowentown, July 9, 1856, at which time and place were entered one of McCormick's with four horses, three of Manny's with two horses each, two Ketchum's with two horses each, and one of mine with two small Mules: "Your committee have came to the conclusion, after taking all the circumstances into consideration, the clearness of the cut, and least clogging to the kuife, that Rarber's Machine, worked by sired length of swath, from 4,42 to 5 feet, as may be ordered. WEST JERSEY ACADEMY. BRIDGETON, N. J. DAVID THOMPSON, A. M., Principal and Instructor in the Classics.

B. WOODARD, Instructor in Mathematics and the English Branches. HENRY NEFF, Instructor in Music. THIS institution is located near the pleasant and healthy town of Bridgeton. It is beand nearthy town of bridgeton. It is be-lieved that it possesses advantages enjoyed by few similar institutions in our country. Being in the outskirts of the town, it furnishes retirement to the student, and withdraws him from many temptations to which he would otherwise be exposed, yet is sufficiently near to allow a punctual attendance at church on the sabbath. The building is of recent construction, and has all the modern improvements designed to promote the health and comfort of the pupils.

Fucilities will be furnished for acquiring a thorough English, mathematical and classical educaion, preparing the student either for college or for the more active duties of life. Students will find all the comforts of a home in the family of the principal, with whom they will be required to attend church on the sabbath, unless a wish to the contrary is expressed by their parents.

For board and tuition in the English and Classical branches, together with light and fuel, $80 per session of 22 weeks. Washing $5.
The next session begins on Wednesday, May 6. For circulars address Rev. Samuel Beach Jones, D. D., Wm. Elmer, M. D., or the principal. Bridgeton, March 14, 1857-3m.
