THE EAST END. Gentlemen and Ladies' Boot & Shoe Store. BENJAMIN THOMPSON,

WOULD inform the citizens of Bridgeton and the surrounding country that he is still at the trade that he commenced learning in this place the day after Bridgeton was illuminated for peace, (1815), and has taken of Mr. Samuel Reeves his old established Boot & Shoe Stand, next door to Daniel Fithian's store. Being farthest east on Commerce street of any in the trade, I name it the East End Boot and Shoe Store,

East End Boot and Shoe Store, and as the sun rises in the east to enlighten and advance the day, so will I endeavor to enlighten my fellow-citizens where they can buy the cheapest and best Boots & Shoes, such as I made for many of you 27 years ago, while some of you were children, who are now heads of families & strangers to me; and feeling an interest in your welfare, I respectfully invite you to call and see me, that we may renew our acquaintance, and if you are in want of either Boots or Shoes, I would like to sell you, if I have the article on hand that will snit you, if not I the article on hand that will suit you, if not, I can measure and make to suit your fancy, at the shortest notice. My stock on hand consists of men's fine calf skin Boots, good quality, and 20 per cent. cheaper than I could make for the money now; fine kip of the same stamp, and others at a less price, but not so cheap; men's French calf, patent leather, and drab cloth top Gaiters, and a general assortment of men and boy's patent leather and calf skin gaiters. Prince Albert half Gaiters for men, and Queen Victoria for the ladies, and a fine assortment of children's Roots. ladies, and a fine assortment of children's Boots and Gaiters of different sizes and colors. Some of my work was made rather farther east than I am, and the brethren of the craft down there understand how to make beth good work and poor work, and I understand how to discriminate & inform my customers which to buy. Having had forty-two years' experience, I know what good stock is & when & how it should be made in good Boots or shoes; to prove this try me, & if I should be mistaken, I will make all right.

N. B.—Being a little hard of hearing, you will have to speak louder if you ask for credit, but if cash is talked of, my hearing is better, which makes it more pleasant for both parties, therefore I have invariably made my terms Cash on delivery of the goods, & I will put the price so as to make the inducement to pay the day taken. P. S .- Mending and repairing of all kinds done at short notice and as cheap as the price of stock will admit of.

To take an heiress for his bride. Though not in vain he had essayed Te win the favor of the maid. Yet, fearing, from his humble station, To meet her father's cold negation. Made up his mind without delay To take the girl and run away! A pretty plan—what could be finer?— But as the maid was yet a minor, There still remained this slight obstruction: He might be punished for "abduction!" Accordingly he thought it wise To see the 'squire and take advice-A cunning knave who loved a trick As well as fees, and skilled to pick, As lawyers can, some latent flaw To help a client cheat the law. Before him straight the case was laid, Who, when the proper fee was paid, Conceived at once the happy plan, And thus the counsellor began: "Young man, no doubt your wisest course s this:-to-night you get a horse, And let your lady-love get on; As soon as ever that is done, You get on too-but, hark ye, mind, She rides before; you ride BEHIND; And thus you see, you make it true, The lady runs away with you!" That very night he got the horse And put the lawyer's plan in force; Who found next day-no laughing matter-

As I advanced in years, I desired to leave Jersey sands, and travel away over the mountains to see some of those sublime wonders of Nature. Perhaps comparitively but few of the residents in that part of Jersey ever visited the great Falls. We have each and all of us something to do, but it can be done without much noise or trouble, if we only think so. Our words, actions, our every look, tone, smile, or frown, are exerting an influence upon those around us, and the sum of happiness they enjoy increased or diminished by us. POPULARITY.

Community in general have some moving object in all their pursuits, and the most of those are, hoping to make themselves popular in the surrounding community. "I desire popularity," exclaimed Lord Mansfield, "but it which is run after." Such popularity will never fail to do justice to the pursuit of noble means.

Some ardently pursue popularity, and succeed only in being extensively known. Many teacher's desk and wept. It was some time have enjoyed a wide-spread fame, and supposed they were popular; the world has given them their just due in branding their names with everlasting infamy.

pel faith; and yet who would covet the popularity of Judas? Bonaparte led on his armies to victory, and gained many notable battles; conquered, overturned, subdued and establised kingdoms; his fame is lasting upon the page of history; yet what is all his beloved and immortal Washington?

Men may become noted as thieves, robbers, gamblers, drunkards, speculators, spendthrifts. or libertines, and in all this wickedness, abomination and rioting, they may glory, and receive the applause of those who possess a kindred spirit, when but a moment's reflection shows them that "they are glorying in that of which they should be ashamed," and would not wish to entail their popularity upon any of their offspring.

With such a popularity can he be satisfied? Can he be willing to rest on it? Is it a fame that will follow when earth-scenes close with us? Such minds are in torment, and even their best friends, those who would do them good, they look upon as their enemies, who would deprive them of their enjoyment and of their liberty. There is a visionary glory that men often seek for and call it popularity, and often they obtain it; but it is only a ghost-a shadowonly the appearance and not the substance: and to the possessor it proves to be only vanity. Such is that popularity resulting from a noble ancestry; or from the possession of earthly riches; or from office, either obtained or sought for. These things are good in their place, and may assist a person in obtaining an honorable popularity, but they can never make him so of themselves.

A man may become noted as a declaimeranother as a great disputant, always meeting everybody and everything with an objection: thus he is ready to hinder every good enterprise; delights in tearing down and destroying, but is seldom ready to help build, because of the style of the architecture. #### Public School Anniversary at Shiloh.

Having had a special invitation to attend the exercises at the close of the district schoolat Shiloh, on Tuesday afternon last, which ommenced about half-past two o'clock, we 'made out'' to finish our day's work by three, and arrive there in time to bear part of the exercises of the children, and all the speeches of the "children of a larger grewth." The afternoon being a delightful one for the occasion, several hundred persons of all ages had assembled in the old brick building surrounded by ancient oaks, whose wide spread branches had for many years protected the sacred building from the scorehing rays of a summer's sun. The commodious room was apparently crowded before we entered, yet through the politeness of a few friends we were comfortably seated, and but little time elapsed before we were convinced that the children had been thoroughly drilled, for which the teachers deserve much credit. The pieces were well composed, displaying unusual attainments, for the age of the children by whom they were delivered, in a manner which would have done credit to much older heads. The singing by the children added life and interest to the occasion .-Among the last of the young orators, was is that popularity which follows, not that one who in the presence of his schoolmates and teachers had rehearsed his piece most satisfactorily, but when the little fellow was called out before such a large assemblage of strangers, he leaned, child-like, upon the before he could sufficiently command his feelings so as to proceed without heaving a sigh. At this juncture, Rev. Mr. Gillette. who by the way, is always prepared to make Judas was as extensively known as the a good speech on any important subject, prose apostles who remained established in the gos. by request, and entertained the audience with some logical remarks, calculated to interest and instruct. He commenced by re marking that many great men in their first attempts at oratory, had made quite as signal failures before much smaller audiences than the present one which that little boy glory in comparison to the laurels won by our had ventured to address. He spoke at some length upon the importance of cultivating in early years the faculty of oratory, and making known our views publicly without embar rassment, relating some instances in the lives of men who had had great difficulty in over coming this obstacle, and had actually failed in the attempt, but in after years became

He expressed his satisfaction and pleasure in being permitted to be present on such an interesting occasion. The exercises of the children that afternoon, and the advancement which they had made at so early an age, were surprising to him, although he was no stranger to the cause of Education. In speaking of the importance of parents visiting the school room. and thus encouraging their children and the teachers, he made some very appropriate remarks, and demonstrated to the satisfaction of those present, that the neglect of parents in visiting the school room, was an evil of much more magnitude than they had heretofore considered it to be. His remarks were evidently appreciated by the teachers and parents who were present on that occasion,

For some years past the soil has been very much neglected, the buildings and fences being much out of repair. The farm is now occupied by Mr. Noah Robinson, formerly of Salem Co. During the short time he has been living on the farm a vast change has taken place in its appearance, which is to be attributed partly to his superior management and to some extent to the depth of Mr. J. R. Minch's pocket, backed by his mother, who is able to replenish it and own several such plantations. On the day of our visit to the farm, nearly three weeks since, we had the pleasure of meeting Capt. Minch, who had come over to see how the grain looked -Nearly one half of a forty-five acre field of which this field would average, was variously estimated at from twenty-five to thirty five. Some parts of which would exceed the highest figure. Taken altogether it was not only he largest, but one of the handsomest fields f wheat we have seen this season. The same field but a year or two previous, produced a mere nothing. We have since our visit, been informed that the field yielded twelve hunired and sixty sheaves. The eighty acre held of corn looks exceedingly well, a small portion of which not being manured proved conclusively, that like part of the wheat field referred to and experimented with in the same manner, would not pay to farm without omething to stimulate it.

DIED.

At Mauricetown, Cumberland County, on the 6th ult., Mrs. HANNAH MARIAH, wife of George Fagan, in the 28th year of her age.

The deceased had been careful while in health to prepare for death. Some ten years since she sought and found the "pearl of greatest price"the pardon and favor of her God. Her piety did not seek to make itself known by making a great noise at certain times; but it made itself felt in the church of which she was a worthy member, by its unobtrusive and exemplary character. In the family, her piety had a consistency and charm that class who seem to think their duty all done simply because some of the most necessary domestic duties are performed, while many more are neglected; nor of that class who seem to think that class who take pleasure in keeping a perpetcare and trouble of their husbands. Every part of her duty received her care. To her husband there was in her neat, and well arranged house. always something inviting; if all was confusion without, all was order within; if storms raged without, a desirable, perfect quiet reigned within; here was shelter such as man should always find at his home—a place of quiet, wherein to fit up for the out-door rough sea Did want present itself on the part of the family, it either had been anticipated, or else the promptness with which her ready hands met it, made it more an ideal everything about her house presented an air of a mere name; that it was not to be seen busily employed in the conscientious discharge of home duties. She was a woman of prayer; and altho she made a religious profession, this was the least of her religion. She seems to have acted upon the fact that piety should, by its tangibility, recommend itself; and if it did not do so, it had nothing to recommend it.

As might be expected, when death approached her, it found her ready, and while a home was present that she had made attractive; a husband to whom she had en leared herself by her many virtues; two lovely c. ldren, one a babe; the upward attraction, within the circle of which she found herself, enabled her to piously leave them all, that she might seek and find the centre of that attraction—the throne of her God. A deeply afflicted companion mourns her loss. May Hea ven sustain him, and its blessing be with the little SECOND. It is so simple that any person can readily manner it.

Thind. It is so strongly and well built, that it cannot readily got out of repair.

FOURTH. It is neat and compact, occupying less space than any other.

FITTH. The frame is so evenly balanced that there is no weight on the horse's neck.

SIXTH. There is little or no side draft.

SEVEXTH. It will cut heavy and light grass equally well.

FIGHTH. It cuts wet grass as well as dry.

NIXTH. The new Cutter Bar Wheel acts like a charm, lessening the draft at last one fourth in moving.

TEXTH. Two horses will work it with ease in any kind of grass or grain.

ELEMBTH. It is the only machine with the cutter-lar directly opposite the shaft of the driving wheel.

TWESTTH. The open cutting blade effectually prevents clegging.

THE OFFICENTY. It is changed in a few minutes from a Mower to a Reaper.

FOURTESTY. It is the only machine with a Rear and side delivery for grain.

FITTELEXTH. It is the only machine with gives the Raker entire control of the grain, both before and after it reaches the platform.

Upon examining the composition of the best Peruvian Guanos, I can perceive no ground for assuming it to the best that can be made. On the contrary, there is always present more or less of the superfluous matter. sometimes in large quantity. The composition proposed by Odam & Hare's Patent, is, in my estimation, superior to that of the best Guanos, or to any other artificial manure of which I have heard, and I think my self the more entitled to give this positive opinion, from the unlooked for results of the action of sulphuric acid on animal matter, which I obtained in experiment, but which were anticipated which conveys the remedies to the cavities in the lungs through the air passages, and coming in direct contact with the disease, neutralizes the tubercular matter, allays the cough, causes a free and easy expectoration, heals the lungs, purifies the blood, imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving that tone and energy so indispensable for the restoration of health. To be able to state confidently that Consumption is curable by inhalation, is to me a source of unalloyed pleature. It is as much under the control of medical treatment as any other formidable disease; ninety out of every hundred cases can be cured in the first stages, and fifty per cent in the second; but in the third stage it is impossible to save more than five per cent, for the Lungs are so cut up by the disease as to bid defiance to medical skill. Even, however, in the last stages, Inhalation affords extraordinary relief to the suffering attending this fearful securge, which annually destroys ninety-live thousand persons in the United States alone; and a correct calculation shows that of the present population of the earth, eighty millions are destined to fill the Consumptive's graves.

More Goods! Better Goods, and CHEAPER GOODS

Having procured the services of a first rate set of hands, and made arrangements for manufacturing the most of the ready made clothing that I sell, I have now on hand a large and splendid stock of clothing, manufactured under my own supervision, of the most durable materials by the best workmen made equal to customer work, and warranted to give satisfaction to all that try thom, and at the same time are enabled to sell cheaper than any other house in Bridgeton, as there is but one small profit on my goods, whilst those goods that are manufactured in the city must have two profits; the manufacturer must have a profit, and the retailor must have his; so it must be obvious to all that I have the advantage over those who sell city-made work—All I ask is a call before you purchase clsewhere, and if you are not satisfied that my goods are better made, and cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. I do not ask you to buy, nor do I consider it any trouble to show you my goods. C. C. GROSSCUP, Mcrchant Tailor and Manufacturer of ready made clothing N. BARBER'S NEW JERSEY COMBINED MOWING AND REAPING MACHINE!

For the Harvest of 1857. DARBER'S Machine has taken the premium in several of the County Fairs, and has been placed in competition with some of the most cele- Cash funds, brited. It is simple, of light draught, less complicated, and not liable to get out of order, and will out all kinds of Grain or Grass, equally as well as any Combined Machine ever offered the or renewal, agreeably to By Laws.

It is so constructed that all side draught (which is so great in most machines as to require three,

You can mow an acre per hour the whole day through with but two horses, and with the same ease for the team as plowing, and at a slower gait than any other Machine ever in this region. No Real is required in mowing any kind of grass. It has been fairly tested by a number of practical farmers, and quite sufficient to prove its complete adaptation to mowing as well as reap-I have received many certificrtes from practical farmers and competent judges, establishing its merits over any other machine ever used in this State.

The following is the award of the Committee of the Agricultural So. at the Reaping and Mowing Machine, at Bowentown, July 9, 1856, at which time and place were entered one of McCormick's with four horses, three of Manny's with two horses each, two Ketchum's with two horses each and one of mine with two small Mules:

"Your committee have came to the conclusion, after taking all the circumstances into consider ation, the clearness of the cut, and least clogging to the knife, that Rarber's Machine, worked by Samuel M. Sheppard, did the best work." The above machine will be made to cut any desired length of swath, from 4.41 to 5 feet, as may be ordered. An extra knile accompanies each for sale by machine. They are manufactured and for sale by the subscriber at Bridgeton.
