GERMAN SONG. MANSLATED FOR THE PIONEER BY L. KAISER.

Music Never Dies!

It is to me a pleasant thought, Music never dies; It was from heaven by angels brought, And introduced to Paradise. To every living being taught, That creeps the earth and flics-

Then all in their peculiar strains Sent melody o'er hills and plains, And roll'd the members back again, Up to its native skies. 'Tis living still o'er earth and seas;

Music never dies-It warbles sweetly in the breeze, And sings our evening lullabys; And murmurs gently through the trees

In Nature's harmonies. And then in loud and solemn form, Is blended with the thunder storm, It fills our souls with dread alarm, Then sinks-but never dies. O'er all the broad expanded sea,

Music never dies: The jolly sea boys sing with glee, The gale hums mournful as it flies, The billows roar in harmony, Expressive of their joys; And when the mighty tempest plays On occans deep resounding keys, His grand, terrific symphonies, That music never dies.

It is to me a solemn thought, Nusic never dies; When it is into being brought, It takes its wings and off it flies, In airy rounds to meet us oft, Again in after days; Then takes its everlasting flight, And mounts with us to realms of light, And sings among the angels bright, Where music never dies.

It chilled it with its wintry frosts; it wilted it with its scorching heat; it blew hot and it blew cold; it parched it with its arid dryness; it drenched it with its pouring rains; but still that wonderful tree - it lived on, it lives still. It has become a great tree; under its shadows we to day sit with great delight. Its fruit is the bread of life for hungry souls; its leaves are for the healing of the nations-still its growth is onward and upward; higher rise its branches toward the heavens; deeper and wider strike set in the temple with names theron, in order, its roots into the earth; thicker hang the first, Apostels, second, Prophets, then Teachlealing leaves and the saving fruit upon its ers. Mr. Editor:-When crossing the mountains in Pennsylvania, that in settled fashion rise high in air, I was struck with their singular inverse position at Meadville, where their sides go down deep in the ground, having creeks running along their hollow peaks Singularly, too, in Western New York the river Genesce, in dislike to usual horizontal crook and bend, departs from general usage of other streams, and takes frequent course num down towards the nadir. But these were not the only oddities there to be found. The doctrine one Miller taught, was rare and grand, that demonstrates the certain time the end of this great world would come to puny man, who now in faith need not apprehend the grave nor remaining long in the tomb, as did ancient Job and other men. In that enlightened place the faithless, unbelieving race, soonest believe what none believed before, that civil spirits politely rap and seek communion with the irreverent, (infidel) without the burden of solemnities. There too I passed the ground where Mormon golden oracles were found, that soon revived old patriarch times, of "prophecies and revelations," whence eprang the rough "saints" who journey to Salt Lake, dwelling in Babel and Sodom, and arm themselves for battle, the less to fight the greater. In one place in Canada, I found a singular curiosty and anamolism in religion. Some forty miles north of Toronto, I came to Sharon, or "Town of David," where David was, and where his temple is built. A devout old Quaker poet, with capacious faculties for constructiveness. and causality, in great roverence for ancient architectural plans, has devised and taught some peculiar doctrine of temple worship, which in other ages was made known to the sons of men. A Thorn in the Memory.

A SKETCH FOR THE TIMES.

Hartley Bancroft was, in the general acptation of the term, a kind hearted man. His feelings were easily reached, and these gave, usually, a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has, in most cases, a two-fold range, now warming into kindly emotion, and now burning with sudden anger. Your so called kind-hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words, and even cruel actions. But there is merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides they repeut, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Bancroft. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine; but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect

One day Mr. Bancroft was sitting at his desk, with a pile of cheeks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking, preparatory for a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be fitting up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Wouldn't Marry a Mechanic.

A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, when the young lady began to inquire where he had been. "I had to work to-night."

"What! Do you work for a living?" she inquired with astonishment. "Certainly," replied the young man. am a mechanic." "I dislike the name of mechanic," and she turned up her pretty little nose.

That was the last time the young mechanic visited the young woman. He is new a wealthy man, and has one of the best of women for his wife. The young lady who disliked the name of mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool and children. You dislike the name of mechanic, ch? you whose brothers are dressed loafers? We pity any girl who has so little brains, who is so verdant and soft, as to think less of a God's noblemen—the most dignified and hon-orable per hage of heaven's creatures. Beware, young lady, how you treat the young men that work for a living, for you may one day be menial to one of them yourself. Far, far better discard the well fed pauper, with all his rings, jewelry, brazenness, and pomposity, and take to your affections the callous handed, intelligent, and industrious mechanic. Thousands have bitterly regret-ed their folly, who have turned their backs to honest industry. A few years have taught them a severe lesson. In this country, no man or woman should be respected who will up their lips with scorn when introduced to a hard working man. The curse of God and every human being who has the least amount of common sense, ever rest upon such ladies who despise the noble mechanics.

Our engagements at a distance being such as compelled us to forego the pleasure of being present at the late Anniversary at Shiloh, we requested a friend who was present, to give us a report of the proceedings, which he complied with. The article referred to, appeared in the Pioncer of last week, over the signature of "W. B. J." It appears that some of our Shiloh friends have taken exceptions to the remarks made by our correspondeat in his communication, and look upon it as a criticism gotten up by one who is unfaverable to the success of the Institution at Shiloh. We have been waited upon and requested to publish the "Programme:" this of course, was not complied with; we should consider it derogatory to these interested .-We can, however, assure the friends of the Institution, that the article reported for the rational, and meral exhibitions, in this town. MR. EDITOR:-You recently noticed th death of Mr. Thomas Bateman, of Fairfield. He died on the 26th ult., and was in the 80th year of his age, as was correctly stated in your journal. Perhaps a few words additional may be interesting to many of your readers, as Mr. B. had become widely known.

His personal worth entitled him to high ganized in this town, and kept up during the having a large family connexion, it was and Mechanical arts. chiefly, no doubt, his office and labors as sexton of the stone church near Fairton, that had caused him to be so widely and favorably known through the county. He had held that office and discharged its duties for more than half a century, and the number of graves which he had digged is remarkable, Just before the extraordinary storm of January, he made the fourteen hundredth grave. numbered according to a record kept by himself. He has probably made as many as five and twenty since then. Have you any knowledge, Mr. Editor, of a man in a rural district who has digged anything like so large a number of graves? Mr. B. once told me that he had at one time six measures for graves in his possession before he had began to dig the first of the six: and that at another time, he made three graves for three members of the same family, in one and the same day. Other hands have st length made one for him. I do not know how long Mr. B. had. heen professor of religion, probably but little, if any less than fifty years; having been brought into the Church under the labors of the venerable Father Osborn, who exercised so long and honored a ministry in Fairfield, and who still survives, as is well known, at the extraordinary age of 99 years and 4 months.

Mr. Bateman's life was consistent with his profession. He was regularly at the house of God, absent only when positively prevented by Providence, and present often, no doubt, in circumstances which would have kept many at home. He was a diligent New Testament through fifty-seven times. In this respect, certainly, his example may be safely followed. His death has severed another link that bound us to a former generation. "The fathers, where are they, and the prophets do they live forever." We would atrive to be followers of them who. through faith and patience, have inherited the promises.

Economy is Fern.—Silver's Altright Gas Burner—Improved by James Spean, January 15th, 1867. I would particularly call attention to this cell-most Stove for Parlors, Halls. Draing Rooms, Chambers, Stores, offices, &c. The heating qualities of this excellents Stove are so well known, that it is useless to make auther comments. But the great objection to the old pattern is that the holes where the air enters the cylinder to ignife the gas; frequently become stopped with ashes and enderstand when this takes place, the gas burning qualities of the Stove are destroyed, and there is no way of clessing them out without taking the stove apart, and frequently the cylinder has to be renewed. To prevent this objection, I have placed on each side of the stove a perforated cast iron plate, with slides to upon and close at pleasure; with this improvement, the gas burning qualities of this stove, as there is no difficulty in keeping these openings free from aches or cinders.

The Evening Star Parlor, with double radiating base, warranted to heat any double parlor. Please call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

EFOREANT DICCOVERY CONSUMPTION And all Diseases of the Lungs and Throat are positively Curable by Inhalation.

And all Diseases of the Lungs and Throat are positively Curable by Inhalation.

Which conveys the remedies to the carities in the lungs through the air passages, and coming in direct contact with the disease, neutralizes the tubercular matter, allays the cough, causes a free and easy expectoration, heals the lungs, purifies the blood, imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving that tone and energy so indispensable for the restoration of health. To be able to state confidently that Consumption is curable by inhalation, is to me a source of unalloyed pleausre. It is as much under the control of medical treatment as any other formidable disease; ninety out of every hundred cases can be cured in the first stages, and fifty per cent to the second; but in the third stage it is impossible to save more than five per cent, for the Lungs are so cut up by the disease as to bid deliance to medical skill. Even, however, in the last stages, Inhalation affords extraordinary relief to the suffering attending this fearful scourge, which annually destroys ninety-rive thousand persons in the United States alone; and a correct calculation shows that of the present pepulation of the earth, eighty millions are destined to fill the Consumptive's graves.

Truly the quiver of death has no arrow so fatal as Consumption. In all ages it has been the great enemy of life, for it spares neither age nor sex, but sweeps off alike the brave, the beautiful, the graceful, and the grided. By the help of the Supreme Being, from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, I am enabled to offer to the afflicted a permanent and speedy ture in Consumption. The first cause of tabercles is from impure blood, and the immediate of tabercles is from impure blood, and the immediate of tabercles is from impure blood, and the immediate of tabercles is from impure blood, and the immediate of tabercles is from impure lood, and the immediate of tabercles in inhalition is a local remady, nevertheless it acts constitutionally, and with more power and certa that a limb may be amputated without the slightest pain; inhaling the ordinary burning gas will destroy life in few hours.

The inhalatien of a ammonia will rouse the system when fainting or apparently dead. The odor of many of the medicines is perceptible in the skin a few minutes after being mhaled, and may be immediately detected in the blood. A convincing proof of the constitutional effects of inhalation, is the fact that sickness is always produced by breathing foul air. Is not this positive relieues that proper remedles, carefully prepared and judiciously administered through the lungs, should produce the most happy results! During eighteen years practice, many thousands, suffering from diseases of the lungs and threat, have been sinder my case, and I have effected many remarkable cures, even after the sufferers had been pronounced in the last stages, which fully satisfies me that consumption is organal, and founded on long experience and thorough investigation. My perfect acquaintsmo with the nature of uncertainty of disease that simulate consumption, and apply, the proper remedles mrely being mistaken even in a single case. This farmilisarity, in connection with certain pathological and interocoppe discoveries, embles me to relieve the lungs from these case. This farmilisarity, in connection with certain pathological and interocoppe discoveries, embles me to relieve the lungs from these case. This farmilisarity, in connection with certain pathological and interocoppe discoveries, embles me to relieve the lungs from these continuous consumptions in the pathological and microscopic discoveries. The cure would be more certain if the pathological should be affected by pathons commitmicating their symptoms by letter.
