cented zephyrs were filling the air, and the birdlings were warbling their choicest ant There came to my home a Mar-Flower so fair. Twas a sweet little flower on which angels did gaze

With a longing desire to pluck from its stem, And carry with pride to their far distant home, To deck the bright realms of glory with them. With what feelings of pride did I gaze on that flower, As calmly it lay on its mother's fond breast, And returned with a smile our tender caresses Or folded its petals in aleep's gentle rest.

With what joy did we take her among the fair flowers That grew by our home in the warm days of Summer And felt in our hearts that our little MAT-FLOWER Was the sweetest and purest of all in that number. How fondly its dear little brother and sister

Would engerly watch it to catch every motion, And vie in their efforts to pay to our loved one, Their fondest affections and tender devotion. and when to my home I'd return from my labors, ly little Mar-Flower would sit by the window And watch for my coming on her fond mother's knees. Then labor went easy, and life seemed a blossing, I felt I had something for which I could live, nd labor, and think, and pay my devotion-The loveliest present that Heaven could give. And oh! with what feelings of pride I caressed her-So cheerfully held her in a fond father's arms,

And prayed to my God that he would protect her, From the sorrows of earth, its troubles and harms But when the cold winds of winter blew o'er her, My little May-Flower, too tender for earth, Too pure to remain in this garden of thistles. Was transplanted with angels to a heavenly birth. Oh! 'twas hard to part with her, my little May-Flower, That had twined its young tendrils so close round my

But I have yet a companion and children most dear, God grant I may lead them in Wisdom's sweet pathway, And guide them at last to the haven above. Then when we have filled our mission on earth, And life, with its sorrows and troubles, is o er, O, God! may we meet with our little Mar-Plower,

BY OUR MOSE.

[The following lines are in reply to the "Song of the Village Belle," published in the Pioncer of the 2d inst.]

> I think I like Miss Nancy Ann. She seems so frank and candid; And puts forth her matured plan, That to my mind is splendid.

If it is in sincerity. Instead of girlish vanity, I rather think her scheme will do, If we can have an interview.

I have some hopes of Nany Ann, Because she's out so early: If she secures a clever man, No doubt she'll love him dearly. If her's is sterling honesty,

Instead of cunning coquetry, My pleasure is that we shall be Acquainted soon intimately. I have some doubts of Nancy Ann, Though I dislike to show it.

That after having formed her plan, She lacks the vim to do it. If she is in reality, What she appears professedly, She only needs the word to say.

And I'll be with her any day. I have some fears that Nancy Ann Is rather smart than winning, And would beguile a simple man, Just for the fun of sinning.

But if my doubts and fears should wrong her She need not keep me yearning longer, But speedily the fact disclose That she's the girl for OUR Moss.

An Independent, Upright Judge. The first of last April, Judge McClure, o Pittsburg, in a charge to the Grand Jury, spoke of intemperance and crime in the following emphatic manner.

"I have kept a docket and table of contents, cause, time, &c., in my own way, collatteral to and independent of the usual records of the court, and without wearying your patience with the process I have gone through, will give you the result, which is, that had | their miserable huts. t not have been for the use and abuse of ardent spirits, in Allegany county, every case in the October calender would have been disposed of in one week, (and the district attorney confirms the statement) with the utmost ease, and the cases would have been of a trifling nature. These would not have been one case in the Over and Terminer. I shall cease to prate to grand juries about this omnipotent parent of crime, Alcohol. If a century of imbecile legislation has not sufficed to convice reasonable men, if crime and poverty, before their faces, have failed to convince, if a ceaseless drain upon their charity, from destitution caused by drink, if their increased taxes, if men's eyes and cars will not convince, if the evidence of our senses will not enlighten our understanding in this be- fore them but miscrable defeat. balf, and cause, in the community, corresponding acts, prompted by duty and common sense, then to talk upon this theme longer here, is time thrown away. If society chooses to indulge in this costly luxury of woe, and in the causes that produce it, I have no more to say, for society has the power to select its own peculiar enjoyments, and indulge itself therein. Its right to do so, is more questionable." Here it is in a nutshell. Proscribe intoxicating drinks, and crime, poverty, and domestie misery are, at once, diminished 75 per cent. Well does the Judge characterize the drinking custom of the times; "costly luxury thy soul are gendered pure thoughts and hoof woe." Why should we hesitate to combine our efforts to banish the ruthless destrover from our statest? What claim has: ardent spirits upon the forbearance of an intelligent people? As a beverage for persons in health, they are needless, injurious, and dang rous. They multiply paupers and orphans, rouse bad passious, promote petty feuds, and more serious brawls, and do evil, and that continually. Let us confine them where they belong, in the druggists' shops, labelled "Touch not, tasto not, handle not."

The most perfect one at present is still about ten feet high, and probably one hundred feet square, with a dividing ridge running diagonally from one corner to the other, forming two apartments of equal size, with but one narrow entrance. It all remains quite perfect, and the walls or banks are covered with trees. The tents of the soldiers were made of poles, which seem to have been twelve or fifteen feet long, built in the form of a pen, with dirt thrown up on the outside to keep out the storm. Their remains are still to be seen, situated in little groups here and there over the inclosure. While down near the old Forge we were

And it is here that Washington is said to have shed tears like a father, while beholding their sufferings, while they gathered round him and plead for bread and clothing, and he had not the means to furnish them. Yet, although everything seemed so discouraging, it was near here that the "Friend" went home surprised, and exclaiming "the Americans will conquer yet! The Americans will conquer yet, for I heard a whisper in the woods, and a looked and saw their chief upon his knees, and he was asking God to help them."

It may be great to lead a powerful army on to victory, but surely it was greater to preserve the shattered remnants of a discouraged band together, when the enemy was trampling over them, when their Congress could do nothing for them, when starving families at home were weeping for their return, and when there seemed no prospect be-Numerous graves have recently been open-ed, and the bodies of many of the officers have been removed by their friends to other burying-grounds in their native States. EAT TO LIVE.

Nearly all the ills of this, our first life, can be legitimately traced back to one source, viz: intemperance in eating. When man first awakes into earth-life, when he first in hales the pure milk-white ether of heaven he is a lovely being; pure as light, innocent as the lamb who skips upon the hill-tops .-It is no wonder that his maker rejoiced over him as the greatest of all his works. Everybody loves him; everybody has a kiss for his brow. His friends are as numerous as the iuhabitants of earth, and his enemies are nowhere to be found. He is the centre of all domestic conversation, and the pride of happy progenitors. Who would, naturally surmise that this little angel-being could posssibly be developed into a fiend that would sometime, curse himself and his brother too Who, that has ever observed an infant, with an eye of keen perception, has not doubted i his very soul the hypothesis, that it contains the elements of depravity in its own constitu tion, which is manifested to such an extent in after life? It seems to us that all think ing minds must coincide with me in the opinion that the new-born infant is in possession of primitive purity, and nothing but the follies and perversions of early life, could render him what he too often is, a shame to himself and a disgrace to his race. As he grows up, if perchance he lives, he is afflicted with every kind and variety of disease under the sun. It is estimated that one-half of the average mortality of our country, are children who die before reaching their fifth year and a large proportion of the remaining half, do not survive their twentieth year. This is a serious fact, and one which should command the attention of philanthropists, and health reformers; in short, every lover of his kind. But this is not the worst phase of this subiect. Those who have the hardihood of constitution to withstand, to some extent, the antagonizing forces to infantile life, grow up dwarfs in both soul and body, compared with what they might have been, did parents and nurses properly understand the true relation world, and the structures of our bodies. The progress, development of healthy, happy men and women, being early neglect, or the manner which they are taught to cat and live. Long before the young child is developed so as to help itself to what is necessary as nutriment, it is literally stuffed full to "overflowing" from morning until night, and from night until morning. Its young appetite is salted, pepered, pickled and sweetened, and propensity, which is never satisfied, except when there is a stream of nutriment, like a "mill-tall," constantly flowing down the alimentary canal, converting its little stomach into a chemical labratory, where all sorts of of obnoxious compounds are generated, disordering its physiology, and destroying the delicate membranes of which that organ is composed. If the child cries, it must have a cross and troublesome, give it a piece of sugar. quieted for the time. Every physioligist must well understand how melancholy are the effects of thus pampering the appetite of a human being. Intemperance, with all its called at our office with a roll of dry goods in horrors, is just as certain to be the result, as their possession. The first inquiry made by morning is to succeed the night. We would not be understood as representing actual drunkenness as sure to follow, but what is just as bad, habits of living which tend rapidly to degenerate the vital powers, and plunge the victim into a premature grave. Nature is always found to be true to herself. She faithfully records every blow struck at her vitals. She never takes vengeance upon the wrong-doer, until she is forced to do it, for self-perpetuation. And so the undeveloped man or woman struggles through the few brief years of childhood, into youth and maturity, standing forth a perfect representation of the effects of every condition through which he or she has passed. What those effects are. the most idle observer cannot help seeing .-Reader, turn your attention whichever way you will, you observe disease and premature death abound. And especially is this true of "civilism." where so great a number "live to eat instead of cating to live." There is not one person in a hundred, throughout the length and breadth of our vast country. We verily believe, but what are suffering more or less, with diseases connected, primarially, the best manner, we refer them to the estabwith excessive alimentation. Were a pro- lishment of Mrs. E. There is nothing left on the part of parents to de, but to send their children to the schools, where they will be under the training of teachers, who are well fitted for the stations they occupy and who feel that interest and solicitude for the welfare of those under their charge, that will warrant the expectation that they will be gaining a knowledge that will fit them for usefulness in life, instead of acquiring habits that shall make them a curse to their friends, and a bane to society. Ought not our State pass laws like some of our sister States, scholl laws, that will compel parents, under severe nenalty, to keep their children in school, from to 16 years of age? Some may think such measures too stringent, but persons of property who tax themselves for support of schools. have a right in solf defense of life and property, to exact it at the hands of the careless. There have been several robberies, within a few weeks, committed in Bridgeton. One has been detected, and what is the result?-Are parents warned by this, that they should so train their boys, that they need not fear they will be guilty of like misconduct? On the contrary, at the time, many were waiting with anxiety the return of the officers of justice, with the culprit. The assembled mass of boys, not exceeding 14 years, made night hideous with their yells, and were a perfect nuisance to all well disposed persons, wishing to pass on the sidewalk. Then again, there are almost daily complaints against this rabble of idle boys, of destroying or injuring property, to the detriment of honest, industrious citizens. Parents, will you allow a continuation of these nightly convenings of your boys, in the street, and thus wink at their downward progress, or will you determine that notwithstanding what others may do, your boys shall not graduate with criminal honors from our county jail, or State penitentiary, with this class who receive their and desperate characters, instead of training it is a trust of momentous responsibility, as the Schate adjourn, it adjourn until te-mor- Mr. Snyder is a gunsmith and has within that exists between the external material of our town, have taken pattern after some the shoulders of the committee, a Resolution great obstacle that impedes the harmonial nized, where they can make men of them, after the conductor should be chosen by delethere is another class who need a word of lent arrangement, for where each and every seen lounging at the corners of the streets, about shop and hotel doors, on the sabbath.

"O yes!" replied we, very innocently supposing they wished to have the roll of goods dyed a pink color, "you can get it done perhaps, at Dubois' Woolen Factory!" By this time the fair ones began to see that we were "non-plussed" and did not understand what they meant by wishing to have the goods pinked. We were however, soon enlight ened when it was explained to us that what they meant by pinking, was only a new style of scolloping, or fancy edgework. instead of dyeing, as we supposed. For some weeks past revivals have been in progress in the Commerce and Fayette street the great annoyance of buying new books for M. E. Churches of this town, some twentyfour having recently united with the Commerce street Church, in which the gracious work is still progressing. At the Fayette at Church, scores of anxious penitents have presented themselves at the altar, which has been crowded during the past week; twenty-four being forward as penitents on Wednesday night last after the preaching of a powerful sermon by the Rev. S. Y. Monroe, Presiding Elder of this District.

A series of meetings are being held in the 1st Presbyterian Church of this town, which are well attended both morning and evening.

If much good does not result from these extra efforts of Dr. Jones and his able and faithful coadjutors who have labored so arduously, then indeed must the hearts of the impenitent be hardened. Altho' no extra series of meetings are being held in other churches of this town at present, yet a work of grace is being manifested by numbers of conversions which are taking place under the faithful ministration of able and zealous advocates of the cross of Christ.

Capt. WILLS, of the Steamer Express, ionored us with a call a day or two since, at which time he left "A Card" from Messrs. Reybold, Clark & Co., to which the attention of our readers is directed. It will be seen that the Express will resume her trips early in March next, when a liberal support from the public will be merited.

MUSICAL.

We would call the attention of the choirs of the different churches in our county to a Musical Notice in another column, in which meet the Executive Committee of the Musical Association on next Thursday afternoon.

The Marion, 16 gans, is preparing at Norfolk to join this squadron. The total, on her arrival. will be four sailing vessels, carrying 76 gans or four guns less than required by the Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842. Great Brittain maintains on the same station a fleet of twenty steamers, besides several sailing vessels, and about 200 guns. Now that the slave trade is externated by Liberia, a ded by the cruisers, from the West Coast, we can imagine ro good reason why it shoud not be broken up on the South Coast if the na val armiment of both powers be centered there. Let steamers be substituted for the sailing vessels now employed, and the disgrace which our flig has attached to it because of its constant illegal use, would, with the suppression of the accursed traffic, be speedily removed.—North American.

JUSTICE BY MISTAKE -In Philadelphia. n Tuesday evening, a thief stopped into a law office, and slipped on a valuable Riglan belonging to a student, with which he deptrted without detection. A young man, whose sister had been insulted by the aforesaid law student, was lying in wait to flog the off inder, and seeing the thief come out, with the over coat on, supposed him to be the victim he was in search of, and gave him a terrible whipping before the policeman stopped him, or the mistake in the proon was made known, by the cries for mercy of the thief, who supposed the punishment was for his crime. The young man was very much mortified when he found that he had been flogging a common thief for an undeveloped

A CARD. The undersigned avail themselves of this methd of conveying to the friends and patrons of the Steamer Express, their grateful acknowledgements for the generous encouragement extended to her, through her first season to Bridgeton. With no design to censore or complain of others, we cannot withold the expression of our especial thanks to the farmers, truckers, and agriculturalists generally, for the spirited interest manifested by them in support of this enterprise.

For the better accommodation of this branch of business, crates will be provided for the more bulky articles of freight, such as melons, potatoes, cabbagas &c. In the officers of the boat, we hope and believe the public will ever find men of courtesey, integ-rity, and capacity for the several stations they occupy, and who on all occasions will regard the safety and comfort of their passengers, paramount to all other considerations. For eurselves, we promise to spare no pains or expense, consistent with a prudent and economical system of management, to make this line worthy the patronage of all within its reach.

The Express will resume her trips again early, Mar h, and we respectfully ask for her, a coninued and increasing support REYBOLD, CLARKE, & Co.

Newport, Jan. 12, 1858. The Great Electrical Remedy.

In the hands of Science, Magneto-Electricity is robbing death of its thousand stings, and the grave of its terrble vierings. This sublime and mysterious agent is part and parcel of the same Almighty power that sets the physical worlds in action, and gives vitality and vigor to erry class of animal organism. Magneto-Electricity, when artificially applied to a constitution vitally impaired or broken down by disease, will specify tend to those organs that possess the least of it, and by restoring the proper flow of the nervous fluid, or magnetic current through the nervous system, will specify romove all morbid obstructions, and restore the organs to sound and vigorous health. Among the numerous diseases in which magneto-Electricity may be applied with beneficial results and certainty of cure, a few only of the more formidable ones are named, Asphyxia, Apoploxy, Asthma, Bronchitis, Billious complaints, Fever and Ague, Dropsy, Chorea, or St. Vitus's Dance, Ctalepsy, Constipation, Cancers, Catarrh, Croup, Cholera, Consumption, general Debility. A CARD TO THE AFFLICTED. Magnetic Electricity, when properly applied, is found of great value, bringing back or restoring any diseased organ to its normal condition. I find it applicable in nearly every form of disease, particularly in cases of Paralysis, Rheumatism, Nervous affections, &c. I would therefore recommend my friend, Mr. Thomas P. Williams, who has a very superior Battery, as a scientific electrician, one who has made it his study for the last three years, and his research in that branch has surpassed my most sanguine expectations. You will also find Mr. Williams a perfect gentleman. Residence Commerce street, west of the bridge.

The Lotteries of Samuel Swam & Co., are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superinted their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for fivestment, the interests of the parties at a distance being as well protected as though they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all porsons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co., are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are 10 dollars; halves, 5, quarters, 2,50. Not ticket sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from 40 to 50, thousand dollars; every prize being diawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing; in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashvillo Democrat Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Week-1y Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to
