RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.
 The most prominent subject of general interest which has occupied the public mind of this town, during the past week, has been of a religious character. Monday last, being set apart by the Pastors of the different denominations of this place, as a day of fasting and humiliation, the request was almost universally complied with. The stores, with but one or two exceptions, were closed, and business generally, throughout the town, was suspended. Religious services were held in the churches of all denominations in the morning and afternoon. In the evening a union meeting, for prayer and conference was held in the Baptist Church, that being the largest in Bridgeton, seating about one thousand persons. At an early hour it was densely crowded.

As hundreds were leaving, who could not gain entrance to the audience room, it was thought advisable to hold a similar meeting at the 1st Presbyterian Church, for the accommodation of those who could not obtain seats in the Baptist Church.

Rev. Mr. Hubbard, of the 2d Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Mr. Hill of the Commerce street Church, who were to have taken part in the meeting at the former place, conducted the services in Dr. Jones' Church, Rev. Mr. Hill presiding. The exercises of the evening, we understand were very interesting, and the congregation much larger than was anticipated under the circumstances.

At the meeting in the Baptist Church, Dr. Jones presided. The exercises of the evening were commenced by reading a passage of scripture, after which prayers were offered to a throne of Grace by members of the different denominations. Appropriate hymns were sung, and addresses made by the Rev. Mr. Webb of the New Brunswick Baptist Church, Mr. Harris of the Trinity M. E. Church of this town, Mr. Diver of the Presbyterian Church of Cedarville, and Mr. Kennard of the Baptist Church of this town, all of which were interesting and appropriate. The remarks made by Dr. Jones, at the commencement, and during the progress of the meeting, were not only interesting and appropriate, but were truly eloquent and sublime; coming, as they did, from the lips of one who is so highly respected for his learning, piety, and devotion to the best interests of the souls and bodies of his fellow men, they evidently sank deep into the hearts of the people. A more numerous and respectable congregation, perhaps, never assembled in any Church in this town, which has always been noted for its morality. The early settlers having been not only men of wealth and influence, but "men of God," their benign influence still lives, manifesting itself in the lives of their descendants, who exert a direct and powerful influence over the entire community.

Never, perhaps, in the history of this place, has there been such a demonstration of united Christian effort by Churches of all denominations. While each church is working in its own sphere of usefulness, the barriers of sectarian prejudice and bigotry are withering beneath the genial rays of Divine light, shed abroad upon the entire brotherhood of man. The "strong arm of the law" has taken hold of many of the haunts of vice and iniquity which have infested this town, and they are now broken up, and others will either be compelled to cease their wholesale destruction, or suffer the same fate.

During the past week or more, a series of meetings have been held by the Baptist denomination, under the charge of their young and worthy pastor, Rev. J. S. Kennard, assisted by Rev. Mr. Webb of New Brunswick. Good results will undoubtedly follow the labors of such arduous and efficient ministrations.

Extra meetings have been held at the Trinity M. E. Church, for more than a week past, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Harris. Scores have presented themselves at the altar for prayer, many of whom have professed conversion.

Rev. C. E. Hill, Pastor of the Commerce street M. E. Church, has been conducting a protracted meeting in that charge, for about eight weeks past, preaching nearly every night. Many have professed a change of heart, and united with the church. The altar is nightly crowded with penitents, some of whom are converted daily, and their places filled by others. The Commerce street Church has been favored with some of the first ministerial talent in the N. J. Conference; men noted for their ability and untiring zeal in the cause of Christ, the fruits of whose labor has been made manifest in the vineyard of the Lord. But for ability, zeal, untiring effort and perseverance, the present pastor has never been surpassed.

The Icelanders.
 The Icelanders are a remarkably moral and religious people, and are by means of domestic instruction, better educated than the inhabitants of almost any other country in Europe. In this island no war has occurred for 600 years, and no military force has been raised in all that time.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.
 It is not our purpose at this time to comment on any extent upon the message of Gov. Newell. It is admitted by liberal minded men of all parties, that the message is a masterly production, highly creditable to the mind and heart of its author, and an honor to his native State.

Our readers may have wondered how it was possible to lay it before them at such an early day in last week's Pioneer, before it appeared in some of the papers published at Trenton. A word of explanation is sufficient.

On Monday morning of last week, we left Bridgeton, and the same evening, at Trenton, had an interview with the Governor, personally, and made an arrangement with him, by which the message was on its way here a day in advance of its being read before the Legislature. The document in due season arrived, with the respects of the Governor, for which we return our thanks, and would venture an opinion of the man, but as his excellency is so generally known, and his virtues admitted by all who are acquainted with him, that we forbear adding our testimony in favor of one who is not only a scholar, but a true gentleman.

Almanac for 1859.
 The "Pioneer Almanac and Business Directory" for the year 1859, is now out and may be procured at most of the stores in Bridgeton. As its title indicates, it is a directory for men of business, and the public may rest assured, the various articles mentioned therein are just what they are represented to be, and may be purchased at the places designated. We are glad to see that the business men of this town are becoming fully aware of the advantages of advertising extensively, and we firmly believe that those who advertise most liberally will reap the richest harvests. Owing to a mistake of the printer, it will be observed that the Almanac contains one card without a signature. By placing the name of Samuel B. Elbirt at the bottom of it, the public will learn that he is the owner of the "Cheapest and Best Blind and Window Shade Manufacturing in the United States," and that his establishment is in Commerce Street, 2 doors East of D. B. Thompson's, and if you one wishes to know where that is, see Pioneer Almanac.

It is with much regret that we notice the death of Mrs. Rebecca Brice, wife of the Rev. A. L. Brice, formerly Pastor of the Fayette St. M. E. Church. She departed this life in Hudson City, N. J., on Monday evening, Jan. 9th, after an illness of several weeks. At her death she was 80 years and 5 months old. In all the relations of life, as wife—mother and friend, she was highly esteemed. Many in this place will recollect her as a Christian lady, whose adorning was that of the mind and heart. She was known only to be loved, and her many excellencies of heart and life will not soon be forgotten by the people among whom she lived and labored. Her disease was consumption. She leaves behind her a husband and three children.—"Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord."

A village in Gloucester County, N. J., has recently had its name changed to Monroeville, in honor of Rev. S. Y. Monroe of this town. A new church recently erected there has been called the Monroe Church.

We congratulate the inhabitants of "Monroeville" for their good taste. "A good name is more to be desired than riches."—As they have chosen the "better part," may they have all things added unto them. A prettier name, and one more worthy to be the namesake of, could not have been chosen. May all the inhabitants of that village follow in the footsteps of the embodiment of virtue, piety and true excellence which adorn the life of their worthy Presiding Elder.

Brutal Conduct.
 Millville was the scene of another disgraceful act on Sunday night last. A young lady, returning from church, was accosted by some one, asking the privilege of seeing her "safe home." The person by whom she was thus addressed, being an entire stranger to her, she of course treated his offer in the manner it deserved, whereupon he best her unmercifully, broke two of her ribs, and otherwise injured her person. The nature of this atrocious act is unknown; it is to be hoped, however, that the individual guilty will soon be discovered and speedily brought to justice. Surely, 1859 will fair to prove a memorable year to our Millville friends.

Unprofitable Stock.
 Two of our prominent farmers, John S. Holmes, and Archibald Minch, accompanied by our young sheriff, Mr. J. Fithian, started from here on Wednesday morning last, "bright and early" with six head of unprofitable stock, which for a short time past have been fattening in the county pound. Their sentence, which appears in another column, will give them ample time for meditation and reformation, in a more extended field of labor, where they will find exercise enough to keep them in a healthy condition.

We are requested to announce that the young men, connected with the various Churches of this town, are most earnestly invited to attend a union meeting, on Monday evening next, after the services of the Union Prayer Meeting, at the Town Hall, are over, to take into consideration the subject of organizing a Young Men's Christian Association.

We learn from a friend residing at Cape Island, that a bark was boarded by one of the pilots of that place a few days since, which was found destitute of anchors. The strong north westerly wind has since driven her to sea. A telegraph dispatch has been sent to Philadelphia for a steamer to go out in search of her and render assistance.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY COURTS.
 (Reported for the West Jersey Pioneer.)
 We published last week a report of the proceedings in Court up to the time of our going to press. We now continue the report.

Thursday, 10 o'clock, A. M.—State vs. John and David Racemiro—Larceny—tried and committed.

State vs. Daniel English, for assault and battery. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty. The grand jury came in and was discharged.

State vs. Isaac Washington, for burglary and larceny. Jury rendered a verdict of guilty without leaving the box. (adj.)

Friday, 10 o'clock, A. M.—The court called the case of State vs. John Stratton, indicted for rape—tried and convicted.—John Randolph was convicted of an assault with intent to commit a rape. Elizabeth Keen was acquitted of the charge of an assault and battery. William P. Coombs, tried for assault and battery, was convicted.

Saturday, 10 o'clock, A. M.—Daniel English, indicted for burglary, was tried and convicted—Allen for State, J. G. Hampton for defendant, verdict guilty. The prosecutor then informed the court that all the indictments to be tried this term had been disposed of. The following persons were then brought up and sentenced:
 Casper Smith $10 and costs of prosecution.
 J. Randolph, two weeks in County Jail.
 John Soyle $5 and costs.
 Robt. Gould "
 Charles Pierce two weeks in County Jail.
 Henry Seymour $1 and costs.
 Wm. S. Coombs "
 I. Washington 5 years and 3 months in State Prison and costs.
 D. English 4 yrs. and 3 mos. in State Prison.
 L. Stratton, 9 yrs. and 3 months in State Prison and costs.
 John Henry, 6 yrs. in Prison and costs.
 Rebecca Calkin, 1 week in County Jail.
 John and David Racemiro, each 1 year and 3 months in State Prison and costs of prosecution.

The Court then adjourned for the term.

Bad Roads.
 The continued wet weather of the past few weeks, has reduced our roads to a condition, scarcely realized in the memory of "the oldest inhabitant." Turnpikes, roads gravelled, clayed, ridged, ploughed, furrowed, ditched, drained, improved or unimproved, if travelled much are reported "hub deep" in all quarters. Horse racing seems beautifully at a discount, and all hands contented to jog quietly along. Carriages from the same neighborhood partake heavily of the complexion of the soil. Turnpikes are no better, hardly as good as other roads, and gate keepers are released from their weary vigils. If the weather should become suddenly cold and the ground freeze so the breaking up in the spring would render some places almost impassable. But ten clear days have been predicted for the winter, and it really bids fair now to realize the prediction. But if the wet weather continues, what will become of the travelling? If our common roads become impassable we must hurry up the railroad so as not to be entirely excluded from the world.

N. J. LEGISLATURE.
 Tuesday, January 11, 1859.
SENATE
 The Senate was called to order by A. B. Chamberlin, Esq., Secretary of the last Senate.

Mr. Cordery nominated Hon. THOMAS H. HERRICK for President of the Senate, who was unanimously elected.

Messrs. Chickner and Abbott were appointed to conduct the President elect to the Chair.

Upon proceeding to the Chair, the President addressed the Senate as follows:—

SENATORS:—I appear at this desk impressed with sentiments of the most profound gratitude for the distinguished honor you have just conferred by unanimously electing me to preside over the Senate during our ensuing session.

The unanimity with which it has pleased you to accord me this position—embracing, as the Senate does, so considerable a number of gentlemen offering with me on great points of political policy, is as generous on your part as it was unexpected and is eminently appreciated on mine.

With limited legislative experience, prudence might suggest to me a hesitation in assuming the responsibilities its acceptance involves. But, confessing to but little acquaintance with the duties which confer so much honor, I am emboldened to its acceptance by the remembrance that the preservation of order and decorum in the Senate of New Jersey is the natural result of inherent causes; its innate sense of its own dignity having ever been sufficient for that object; and the farther confident reliance that the friendly appreciation and favor to which I am indebted for this distinction, will be continued to me in aid and forbearance to enable me to discharge the duties devolving upon me, with credit to myself, satisfaction to the Senate, and usefulness to the public service.

Assured, gentlemen, that all the abilities within my gift shall be devoted to such discharge, with fidelity to the rules established for our regulation fairly and impartially, and my high sense of the obligation under which this generous manifestation of your good will has placed me.

John C. Hafferty, of Haverdorn, was then unanimously elected Secretary of the Senate.

D. L. M. Moore, of Essex, Assistant Secretary.

George V. Chickner, of Hudson, Engrossing Clerk, and John McGowan, of Morris, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Jas. Johnson, of Camden, was elected Keeper of the gallery by a vote of 11 to 7.

Mr. Ayres offered a resolution that a committee of three be appointed to co-operate with the Secretary in procuring stationery for the use of the Senate to an amount not exceeding $20 for each member—adopted, and Messrs. Ayars, Campbell and Roberts appointed said committee.

HOUSE.
 At 3 o'clock—after the usual preliminaries, Mr. Ayres moved that the House proceed to the election of a Speaker. Agreed to.

Mr. Van Houten nominated Edwin Salter, of Ocean.

Mr. Wright, nominated L. A. Chandler, of Morris.

The vote was taken, and Mr. Salter was elected, receiving 35, and Mr. Chandler 24 votes.

On motion of Mr. Hewitt, Mr. Marsh of Union, and Mr. Chandler, of Morris, were appointed to conduct the Speaker elect to the Chair.

On taking the Chair, Mr. Salter addressed the House as follows:
 Gentlemen of the House of Assembly: I am in clothing you to preside over your deliberations during the ensuing session. I return you my sincere thanks. Sensible of the arduous and responsible duties involved in the position and conscious that my want of experience in legislative practice, may cause me to fall into errors, yet much of the diffidence and distrust I would otherwise feel, is allayed by a belief that I shall confidently rely on your forbearance and aid, and that nothing will be wanting on your part to maintain that enviable reputation for good order and harmony which this body has always maintained.

We are assembled here, in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution—elected by our constituents as representatives into whose hands not only the immediate interests, but the interests of the State at large, may be safely confided; we all, doubtless, fully appreciate the confidence reposed in us, and will endeavor to act so as to promote the best interests of our constituents, and preserve unimpaired the reputation of our beloved State.

I trust that while, by carefully examining the various measures presented to us, we may avoid causing any of the proverbial evils incident to hasty legislation, yet that by close application, our labors may be brought to a speedy conclusion; and I confidently anticipate that courtesy and consideration will characterize our deliberations, as well as our intercourse with each other.

I return to you, for your kindness, my grateful acknowledgments.

Mr. Harker of Camden, was elected Clerk.

Thoughts on Railroads.
 A matter of great importance in the selection of a route for a Railroad, is the class of villages through which it will pass. Whether they are of a kind which affords reasonable prospects of remuneration, or whether their population will likely be of the stay at home kind, will likely improve under the influence of the road, or will be as Col. Will pronounced Burlington, completely finished, needing simply fencing in and whitewashing? Sometimes a proposed route will leave one village three miles to the right, and another one mile to the left, and the likelihood of freight and travel must be nicely calculated before it can be decided in favor of the added expense of attaching the village the farthest off, or the propriety of passing it by altogether. The former is, however, the most important and perplexing of all.

It is not often that it can be found ready-made to hand as in the case of the Camden and Amboy Company, New York and Philadelphia, with a Jersey between them, are not scattered in prodigal confusion through the country, and the points selected from which to commence and where to end are of the least importance; and whether it will answer best to run it a half dozen miles to the Mount Holly and Burlington, or nearly as far in the Camden and Amboy, is often sorely perplexing to the brains of directors and superintendents. It was an easy question to settle the New Jersey Central from New York to Somerville. But the extension to Easton, though projected at first, yet was virtually abandoned until the prospect became clear and decided of extension of their terms from other roads, thus allowing them to make connections, which would secure a fair proportion of the travel then passing upon other trunks, and even then, the expense of construction and equipment was so enormous as to render remuneration upon some portions of the road between Somerville and Easton almost an impossibility. It is not always the mere question of laying a few miles of track, but in some places the grade can be accomplished and track laid for ten or twelve thousand dollars a mile, and in other places it cannot be done for less than half a million, and the difference in the mere natural interest of these sums is enough to afford full employment for the most astute intellects in the country.

The route proposed for the West Jersey road is singularly free from embarrassments of the kind alluded to. There is no difficulty in the selection of points at which to stop. There is no difficulty in deciding the fair remuneration of the towns and villages through which it would pass. A split, level country, with but few creeks and those not difficult to bridge, but few valleys and those not difficult to fill up, few hills and those not difficult to level, are all that are to be made, while here is a country which could be made among the most productive in the State, with an easy market for all the produce that could be raised.—Woodbury Constitution.

HOUSE
 Mr. Ball, from the committee to invite the clergy of the city to open the daily sessions of the House with prayer, reported that they had extended their invitation to the clergy of the city and that the arrangements would be made public through the newspapers. Mr. Aiken, from the minority of the committee, presented the following report:

"In my opinion, the majority of the committee appointed by your body yesterday, to invite the clergy of the city of Trenton to open your sessions with prayer, have not complied with either the spirit or the letter of your resolution, as they have invited only a portion of said clergy, whereas, in my opinion, it required your committee to invite them all."

Very Respectfully,
 Robert Aiken, Minority of C. M.

Mr. Aiken moved that the committee be instructed to invite all the clergy.

Mr. Van Houten inquired if the resolution was intended to include Catholic as well as Protestant clergymen.

Mr. Aiken said that it was intended to include all.

Mr. Van Houten said that in that case, he should object.

Mr. Seal moved to lay the resolution on the table. Agreed to 23 to 18.

Friday 14th. Both branches of the Legislature adjourned this morning till Monday afternoon. There was no business transacted beyond the mere formality of meeting and adjourning.

SENATE.
 3 o'clock.—Prayer by Rev. Mr. Perry.
 Present.—Messrs. Ayars, Buckley, Edmonds, Hendrickson, Herring (Prost.), H. H. Moore, Perry. No quorum being present. Adjourned.

It will be seen by the above proceedings, that there is but little business of interest to our readers, being transacted in Trenton. Nothing of importance on the 18th and 19th.

Rabel has never ceased to have his artificers; neither has the Providence of God ever ceased to throw down every thing that such workmen raise, and to show them that what he will have to be raised and standing is effected in quite another way, and a way moreover, totally inconceivable to the natural man, from the very intricacy, humbleness, and simplicity of its quiet gradations.—Kely.

The day is fast approaching, when all will be felt to be a dream, a bubble, without the durable riches of the Christian. Nothing else which we may acquire, can be retained when we enter the eternal world. And may I not say nothing else can ensure us happiness in the present world!

Great Cure after the Physicians had Failed.
 Russellville, Ohio, Jan. 10, 1855.
 Dr. C. M. Jackson. Dear Sir:—We would inform you that we are out of Hoofland's German Bitters, which we very much value. Our neighbors have been doctoring for some time, but could not cure me. I have consulted with you about two years, with all the doctors in the country, but all of no avail. He looked as much like a dead man as I did. I was told we could compare him to. His disease appeared to be an overflowing of the gall. With hard persuasion we prevailed on him to try your Bitters, with the promise to him, if it did no good, we would charge him nothing for it, provided he took six bottles according to the directions, which has done, and is now entirely cured, and has become a well man. This cure has created a great sale in this neighborhood.

EDWARD B. BROWN.
 Ask for Hoofland's German Bitters, and take nothing else. See that the signature of C. M. Jackson is on the wrapper, and that the name Bitters are manufactured by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418 Arch st., Philadelphia, and are sold by L. A. Fithian, Bridgeton, and B. F. Lee, Port Elizabeth, at 75 cents per bottle.
