The Seaman to the Evening Star. Evening star with languid light, Glimmering richly pearly bright, Does my lady weep for me While I'm on the emerald sea? The billows pass and on the foam They seem to bear my lady's moan: Then evening star sweet gem of light, What does she in this solemn night? (STAR'S BEPLY.)

Thy lady kneels in silent grief, No words can give her heart relief: Beside the ocean's foamy tide Where first she wandered when a bri le And gathered sea-shells bright and fair To form a crown for her brown hair-Thy hand, that glittering crown which made, Has often 'mid those tresses strayed.

Yet never more-O never more Thy hand wilt pass those ringlets o'er: Thy darling now has sunk to sleep Beside the moining, sobbing deep, They've laid her on her bridal bed-Ah, seaman, mourn thy lady dead, She breathed a prayer—(it was her last) For thee-e're thro' Death's gate she pass'd

Sweet evening star, I go to find My lost one in that fairer clime, And ere thy silver rays have faded, The coral will my limbs have shaded, And sea maids will their watch be keeping Above my form when I am sleeping-Farewell, farewell, bright evening star, I go where-naught shall pleasure mar-And solemn music, rich swelled o'er the deep, Is in the waters cold—he sunk to sleep. A MANIAC'S SERMON

A Camp Meeting Incident. BY INVISIBLE GREEN, ESQ.

It was II o'clock on Sabbath morning .wo sermons had been preached during the llance being exercised over him. forenoon, and the "horn" had been blown, announcing the third. The people flocked into the meeting by thousands, for a very popular divine was to preach at that hour. Soon the rough seats beneath the tall forest trees were filled, then the sieles became crowded, and still there was not room for those who wished to hear the words of the eminent minister. The owners of the tenement slookto the living God, was striking and impres-

The elequent minister, who had swaved and read therefrom, softly, sweetly, musically, Kept on the European Plan. Meals at all a hymn, which he requested the congregation to sing.

The music of a camp meeting! Who that grandeur, yet softness and sweetness that can be heard no where else. The measured strains of a multitude of voices, united in charming melody, and unbroken by walls, swell in solemn grandeur, and roll deliciously through the forests, awaking re-echoing cadences on every band, and

"Untwisting all the chains that tie

The hidden soul of harmony." After the hymn had been sung, the minis ter offered up a brief, cloquent prayer, and then resumed his seat. He had taken the Bible on his knee, and was searching for his text, when he and the whole congregation were startled by the appearance of the maniac Smith.

The young lunatic, who was known to nearly all present, ascended the pulpit with folded arms, bowed head, and slow and steady pace. Facing the immense congregation, he gazed carefully around, and amid breath less silence, spread forth his hands, and in the most thrilling manner, said:

"Your music is the music of beaven. The pretty birds in youder tree tops are bearing it with their songs, to the lips of angels above, who will convey it as sweet incense to the omnipotent throne of God. Joy is thine, O Israel. You possess the living soul, that rejoices in the right of reason, that laves in the waters of love, and rejoices in the glory of immortality. My soul is dead! A cherished child of piety, I became recreant to the God who gave me being, and sold my life, my happiness, my immortality, to the Prince of Darkness. Like the traveler who has a cartilaginous sheet in which is contained the well-tredden path before him, but is attracted to dangerous places by the gaudy show of some poisonous flower, I have wandered. to my death! My feet were placed in the straight and narrow way, were covered with the sandals of piety, and the Christian staff was placed in my hands, and yet, O God! I wandered to my death. The gaudy baubics of vice, the showy, yet thorny flowers of wickedness, drew me aside. I left the smooth surface, and ascended to mountains of trouble, and yet I gained not the object of my pursuit. On I dashed, reckless and indifferent to my fate. The Wicked One, who sought my destruction, led me on, and I, cursed with remorse, followed. I knew I was plunging into ruin, but with a soul already accursed, what cared I? Voluntarily I had SPERM, SOLAR SPERM, AND the face, and I screamed piteously for help. No one came to aid me. My companions in vice listened not to my cries, and he to whom I had sold my soul' derided me in mockery. I was moved on nearer and nearer to the precipice. Frantically I grasped each shrub and rocky prominense which lay in my way, but they crumbled in my hands. I reached the edge of the precipice. I glanced in the deep abyes of death. "Oh! terror, terror! I plead Heaven for mercy, but great God, it was too late!

"My sin covered soul trembled with the agony it suffered, and was piteous in its appeals. But the thunder told me- Too late, and, gracious beavens, my own cowardly soul told me-'Too late!' I felt myself going over the precipice. I clung with tenacity to everything within my reach, but nothing could save me. I shricked! I groaned! Down to perdition went my soul !" Here the maniac paused. His vivid por-traiture of his career, had starded the whole congregation, some of whom shricked outright as he represented his soul's frightful descent into perdition. He paused a minute only. Then calm again, he softly said: "I am living without a soul! you people of God may sing your praises, for it is sweet inconse to your souls. But you sinners, and here he again became excited in manner, "but you sinners, must repent this day, or your souls will go after mine over that deep, dark, fearful abyss into hell! Will you repent, or go with me into cternal perditiou?" The effect of this was more than terrifin.

Going Home with the Girls. The entrance into society may be said to take place after boybood has passed away, yet a multitude take the initiative before their beards are presentable. It is a great ed into the space in a spirit of kindness, trial, either to a tender or a rough ago. For threw them open, and they, too, were filled an overgrown boy to go to a door, knowing with eager listeners. The scene pres need that there are a dozen girls inside; and to within that church of trees, a patural temple knock or ring with the absolute certainty that in two minutes all their eyes will be upon him, is a severe test of courage. To go before these girls and make a satisfactory tour thousands by the words of truth, who had of the room without stepping on their toes, caused the sinful to repent, and the reoffer to and then to sit down and dispose of one's cry out for mercy, arose. All was instantly hands without putting them in one's pockjushed, and the stillness of midnight reigned ets, is an achievement which few boys can in that rast assemblage. He opened a book boast. If a boy can get so far as to measure off ten yards of tape with one of these girls, and cut it short at each end, he may stand a chance to pass a pleasant evening; but let him not flatter himself that all the trials of has ever heard it, has not paused to drink the the evening are over. There comes at last rich melody into his soul? It comes with a the breaking up. The dear girls don their hoods, and put on their shawls, and look saucy, and mischievous, and unimpressible, ss if they did not wish any one to go home with them. Then comes the pinch, and the boy that has the most pluck makes up to the prettiest girl, his heart in his throat, and his tongue clinging to the roof of his mouth, and crooking his elbow, stammers out the words, Shall I see you home?" She touches her fingers to his arm, and they walk home about a foot apart, feeling as awkward as a couple of goslings. As soon as she is safe inside her own doors, he struts home, and thinks he has really been and gone and done it. Sleep comes to him at last, with dreams of Caroline and Calico: and he awakens in the morning and finds the doors of life open to him, and the pigs squealing for breakfast. Restoration of Drowned Persons. All testimony hitherto, is decidedly in favor of Dr. Murshall Hall's method, which is a very simple one, for it needs no apparatus; all that is required being that the body of the drowned person -be it man, woman, or child-be placed upon its stomach, with the arms under its forehead, and then turned from side to side, as one would roll a winecask or beer cask in process of cleansing, but of course more slowly and gently, and continuing this rotary motion until full inflation of the lungs shall have taken place. Those losophy, and at the same time having any knowledge of the structure of the bony and lungs, will at once perceive the reasons on which is founded the advocacy of this simple method for the recovery of persons apparently drowned.

Little or no water is found in the stomach of a drowned man; and when it is present. it can in no way have contributed to death.

The experiments of Orfila and Marc have and she had found them, interesting, she proved that water is never found in bodies | could read them over again, beginning at submersed after death; and that it cannot be January, and taking one a week clear made to enter the stomach without the assist through the year—they would just come out tance of a tube passed into the gulletr. THE NEWSPAPER.

The old farm-house wore a quiet, pleasant look, as the setting sun gilded its small windows, over which the luxuriant grape vines were carefully trained. In the open door sat the farmer, with a little morecco book in his hand, on which his attention had been fixed for the last hour, He was a man of method and order—old Richard Heath and aside from his regular account books, which he always kept with corupulous care. he always set down in this little book, in the simplest manner possible, all his expenses, (no very complicated account by the way,)

"Millicent," said he, "this has been a lucky year. How little we thought, when the was do-began to look down the road at sunset, lucky year. How little we thought, when the millicent don't go a visitin' all the little we have the wear of the knitting needle that was apt to put him out so, when he was do-began to look down the road at sunset, lucky year. "It does pay for a good deal of hard work," aid she, "see too, how different things look from what they did then." "Now, I am going to figure up how much we have spent," said Mr. Heath; "don't make but her looks belied her; indeed her husband a noise with your knitting needles, cause it declared she looked tired for a day or two

Very pleasant was the retrospect to Millicent Heath. The picture of the past had ou i some rough places, and some bard trials, but no domestic strife of discontent marred its suppy aspect. There were smiling faces on it-happy children's faces, without which no life picture is b auti ul. Sift blic eyes shone with unclouded gladness, and wavy hair floated carelessly over nuwritten foreheads. She forgot, for a moment, how they were changed, and almost fancied herself ing mather and ting hands nesled there as of old.

"I shall take the paper," remarked his wife, " If I have to go out washing to pay

This was not spoken angrily; but so firmly that Mr. Heath noticed it, though by no means remarkable for discernment in most matters. It sounded so different from her usual quiet "as you think best." that he actually stopped a moment to consider wheth ir it was at all likely she would do as she said. Mr. Heath was a kinds husband, as that indefinite description is generally understood; that is, he did not beat his wife, and always gave her enough to eat. More than that, he had a certain regard for her happiness, which already made him feel ashamed of his decision, but like many other men who have more obstinacy than wisdom he couldn't bear to retract anything, and above all to be convinced he was wrong by a woman.

However, with a commendable wish to remove the unhappiness lie exused, he suggested that as the papers were carefully filed,

Motives to Scepticism.

How does it happen that those who affect scepticism, are so ambitious to make their scepticism known? Because it is a short and easy road to distinction; because it affords a cheap means of gratifying vanity .-To "rise above vulgar prejudices and superstitions;" "to entertain enlarged and liberger; then question about the holy places and al opinions," are phrases of great attraction, especially to young men; and how shall they show that they rise above vulgar pre-judices; how shall they so easily manifest the enlargement of their views, as by rejecting a system which all their neighbors agree to be true? They feel important to themselves, and that they are objects of curiosity to others; and that they are objects of curiosity, not on account of their own qualities, but on account of the greatness of that which they condemn The peasant vbo reviles a peasant, may revile him without an auditor, but a province will listen to him who vilifies a king. Credulity, Scepticism, Testimony. While an unbounded credulity is the part of a weak mind, which never thinks or reasons at all, an unlimited scepticism is the part of a contracted mind, which reasons upon imperfect data, or makes its own knowledge and extent of observation, the standard and test of probability. An ignorant peasant may reject the testimony of a philosopher in regard to the size of the moon, because he thinks he has the evidence of lis senses, that it is only a foot in diameter; and a person, holding a respectable rank in society, is said to have received with contempt, the doctrine of the revolution of the earth on its axis, because he was perfectly satisfied that his house was never known to turn with its front to the north. When the King of Siam was told, by a Dutch traveler, that in Holland, at certain seasons of the year, water becomes so solid that an elephant might walk over it, he replied, "I have believed many extraordinary things which you have told me, because I took you for a man of truth and veracity, but now I am convinced that you lie." This confidence in one's own experience, as the test of probability, characterizes a mind which is confined in its views, and limited in its acquirements; and the tendency of it would be the rejection of all knowledge, for which we have not the evidence of our senses. Had the King of Siam once seen water in a frozen state, he would not only have been put right in regard to this fact, but his confidence would have been shaken in his own experience as the test of probabilty in other things; and he would have been more disposed for

Does Crime Increase.

We often hear the omnious cry raised that crime increases, rather than diminishes. and the enemies of reformatory progress seize upon this with avidity. It gives them good cause for saying "What good does al this hue and cry about reform do? There are more drunkards now, than in the days of our fathers, when temperance societies were un known; slaves are treated more severely nov than when no Anti-Slavery societies and pa pera existed; people are less deeply religious now, than in the good old times, when ministers, instead of preaching reform sermons, preached doctrinal ones with a score of 'heads'." But these "old fogies." who are forever sighing for "the flesh pots of Egypt," do not take into consideration the fact that any extra effort in the cause of truth, awakes a corresponding effort on the part of her enemics, just as the maneuvers of an army cause a corresponding movement in the opposing force for the purpose of counteracting its influence. There is the law of antagonistic forces in the moral and spiritual, as well as in the material world.

The present is a period of great activity among the adherents of truth, and her enemies are equally active, so that her real progress is often obscured by the mischiefs occasioned by their efforts to mantain their ground, and render her influence unavailing. So long as the army of truth remains inactive, there is no necessity for any unusual activity in the army of error. Its general likes nothing better than a dull inactivity "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" they is turned from the real issue, to some com- a reading member to arise. paritively insignificant circumstance connected with it, and thus hide their own weakness, and break the force of truth's efforts. The mischiefs and crimes which error occasions, are but partially app rent, until truth's brave soldiers have penetrated her secret teous cause, that did not conquer eventually? But if crime be increasing, as these croakers upon American citizens. say, are not means for subduing it increasing also? When were greater activity and zeal manifested by the champions of truth, than at the present day? Look abroad over the land and see. Thousands of societies are doing worthy service in the cause of truth; societies which scatter good books and gracts, like leaves from an autumn forest, in every nook of the land; societies which send religious, self-sacrificing men, to preach the gospel to every people under heaven; societies for reclaiming the debased and degraded of every kind and degree; societies to clothe the naked, to feed the starving, to educate the ignorant, and to give houses to the destitute. Sectarian prejudice and selfishness plant some roots of bitterness among them, 'tis true; but in the grand labor of reforming humanity, they work shoulder to shoulder, with a zeal and energy which ensure ultimate sucsess. Their education, the handmaidens of truth, is busily sowing the seeds of knowledge, and rich and sure mill be the harvest. Futhre generations will look back to this generation, and "rise up and call it blessed" for the enemy be busy sowing tares, which spring up and bear fruit plentifully; good seed is being sown also, and it will surely yield abundant increase. Let us then, when we hear

Another important fact connected with them and their delivery, was, that they were first carefully written and then committed to memory; thus allowing of greater elecutionary perfection and grace action. The practice of elaborately composing the discourse, and then committing it so memory, is certainly worthy of being adopted as an excellent precedent; and we will remember Lord Kinyon-no mean authorty, was unsparing in his laudations of

RELIGIOUS ANECDOTES.

Some thirty years ago, a young man, member of a Christian Church, left his home and friends, and entered a seminary of learning, to prepare for usefulness in the Christian ministry. After a year's bard toil, baving the pinchings of poverty to tussel with, he returned to visit the friends he had left. Going to meeting on the Sabbath, where a large congregation was accustomed to meet. the old pastor, who had occupied the pulpit for more than forty years; said: "my son, you must preach." Knowing that resistance was useless, he ascended the high pulpit steps, with fear and much trembling, and en gaged in the exercise. His sermon occupied only about twenty minutes, and he was pleas-brother, "give me your watch." Holding it up, he said, the young brother has occupied twenty minutes, it lacks an hour of being as long as we are usually together; I would like to talk a spell if the people want to hear me. One of the deacons said, yes, Elder, we would like to hear you. But the old man being hard of hearing, he did not hear him O well I know that I am an old man, and there can be but little interest in what I say. He spoke again, louder, and said: we do want to bear you." O. well, well, then I will speak. Pausing and looking around the house a moment, then to the right of the pulpit, where sat his own family, with three daughters, young ladies; and then on the left where were seated one of the Deacon's family, with four daughters, young ladies .-He then commenced with much earnestness, and said: "And now, if you will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me, and if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right: hand or to the left." The young brother that you have been hearing, has come here in pursuit of a bride. Looking to his own daughters, he said: "will you go?" pausing, as though he expected an answer. Then turning towards the deacon's pew. he said "young ladies, will you go?" After a long pause, during which time the risable faculties of the congregation began to be almost said, and will you go?" American Locomotives Triumphant

Two years ago, two splendid locomotives manufactured at the works of M. sers. Wil liam Mason & Co., in this town, for the Alexaudria and Suex Railroad, in Egypt. The Pasha, who is President, director, stockholder, and something else of his own road, also ordered two engines of English construction, and Yankee and English engineers went out to run their respective machines. The rivalry has not been trifling, but the result is another triamph for Johns.

The English engineers, through their Consul, undertook to flatter their patron, and to disparage Yankee workmanship, and tried every method to get rid of their competitors. At first they were successful. The Americans were told by ahe railway company that their engines were not going to be used, and that their services would not be needed. The excuse fir hading them up was that they were not strong enough to haul the heavy trains One of the American engineers, getting an opportu nity to speak with the Pasha, to could haul as many loaded cars as would reach from one end of the roul to the other Accordingly sevents five beavily founded pare (which was all they could muster) were put in a train, the Pasha's own car attached. and the whole taken through to Suz, a dis tance of 200 wiles, in twelve hours, making stoppages for fuel and water. Before the sun had fair-Walnut street theatre, and almost as soon as its portals were opened, the living throng Old poured in. In a shorter space of time, perhaps, than ever before, every scat was filled -parquette, gallery, and upper tiers of Oa boxes-all were packed with people, who stowed themselves away as compactly as so many figs packed in a drum.

When the gaslights were turned on to their full blaze, the spectacle was a fine one. The stage was carpeted, while the scene upon it represented a sumptuous parlor with au open alcove at the end, through which was shown a landscape sleeping beneath moonlight. The preacher occupied a small Resolved, That we believe a boat running table in front of the footlights, the reporters were assigned to tables on either side, while three rows of chairs behind gave accommodations to a number of prominent citizens and clergy. We almost forgot to say that, in a minutes after the doors of the house were pened, they were again closed, and for the very good reason that the house, like a full pitcher, could contain no more. As ve looked over the vast audience from our seat upon the stage, we did not see a single per son whom we thought required a homily upon the evils of intemperance, and we could not but regret that a stirring gaspel sermon and not been the programme of the evening. The audience, however, listened with mark ed attention. The parquet was occupied wholly by unles, but in the tier of boxes a bove were perhaps three buo leed ladies. In the second and third tier of boxes we could count only a doz in. The andience, we take ir, was about toe same sort of au andience as those we are accustomed to see at Jayne's Hall prayer meetings, and religious feeturein general; and we fancied from the furtive glances of curiosity cast by many of the people at the scenery and appurtenances of the stage, that the occasion in question was their first visit to the temple of Monus We recognized many prominent citizens am ng the multitude who last night assem bled to listen to Mr Willets, and it was not a little singular to behold their familiar faces in the third tier of boxes. The religious services commenced by singing and reading the Scriptures, and were continued by singing the hymn begin-"How sa I our state by nature ist-

Our sin, how deep its stains.

It was song from printed programmes, Nine Peet Wide, and Nearly a Quarter of a Mile which were liberally distributed among the audience. It was sung to a good old famil iar une, and never was orch stral symphony more grand or more sublime than the old time strain uttered by that multitude of uplifted voices. A collection was next taken up, but we think the amount thus real ized must have been comparatively very small. The next hymn began

"Hail sovereign love, that first began The scheme to rescue fallen man.

Mr. Willitts then preached a plain an earnest discourse, from Heb. 12, 2-"Who for the joy that was see before him, endured the cross, despising the shame." Mr. Wil let's did not preach a sermon adapted to inebriates, but to people who had the power of reclaiming inebriates. As we have already said, it was listened to with marked attention, and was followed by singing the "Rock of ages cleat for me." The exercises of the evening were the first of a series which are to be held for the same purpose. They are given under the auspices of the Dudley A Tyng Temperance Refuge. We are not advised as to the name of the next speaker, but doubt not that on next Sunday evening, an audience equally large and respectable will fill the louse. - North American.

Extension of the N. J. Central Railroad. The city of New York has two darling schemes; one the Sandy Hook Quarautine, the other the Central Railroad extension; the one contemplates destroying, practically, one of the finest harbors in the State, the other one of our finest bays.

It is in vain that Legislature after Legislatur leclare that these schemes cannot be entertain after winter, in the hopes that at length sublime impudence will have its reward. The extension of the Central road is about as "unmitigated a nuitance" as the Quarantine. Perhaps it would be well to have it also referred to a committee, ered and rejected, our expenses are increased, and our own local matters overlooked. It is full ures brought up year after year have been deliberately rejected, it is time for the people to frown down this expensive legislation.

The extension of the road, facetiously styled the

from Philadelphia to New York, and it is so well understood. The interest that New Jersey has in it is nul. It was designed for a through road, was built for a through road and will be run for a tarough road. If this extension should be granted, how speedily would our Somerville riends, who are looking for local advantages, be undeceived; they would find themselves in the situation of other stations, namely, the trains might stop, provided, however a red flag was hung out, Shou d they remonstrate they would probably be kicked out—the New Jersey Central eing particularly distinguished for courtesy.

What is New Jersey asked to do?

First-To ashndon and overturn her long established policy, one founded in wisdom and proved by many years of experience. Secondly-to destroy her own revenues; giving peculiar preference to those roads which pay no transit duty, over those who do pay:

Thirdly—to block up her own herbors and bays, and destroy or impair the business of housends of her citizens.
Fourthly—To impoverish and rain citizens o the State, who, upon the faith, of this corpora-tion, have invested their little all at the present

This imaginative writer has, however, in the affor of his advocacy, over estimated even this advantage. Well informed men place is at nine It was announced in the papers of Satural advantage. J. Bytes, feels it due to his numerous patrons, to render them his thanks for their liberal patronage for the past year. Newithstanding the extraordinary revulsions in the momerary aftars of the estimacy, or business has steadily progressed, showing that the style, price and kind of Clothing we manufacined, is just what is need, and that the course we have parsured for years of warranting all we sell to prove as represented, and freely excluding all we sell to prove as represented, and freely excluding all many partonage we have received. We shall ended to be conditioned out out the same time we are willing to grant to those of our customers who have heretofore paid us promptly, the usual credit at Cash prices. CUSTOMER DEPARTMENT

We have now on hand a very large and complete assortirent of Clotics, suitable for Overcoats, also fine goods for Under Coats, Rusiness Coats, &c. Also, a complete stock of Black and Fancy Cassimeres with our usual large assortment of fancy and plain vestings, the very choicest goods the market affords. Garments will at all times be ale at the shortest unice, and warranted to please Ready Made Clothing.

Our Stock this r'all will be found to contain an unusually I argenial super or assortinent of time goods. We have been conduct to take advantage of the deprosed state of the market and secure a full and complete asortiment at greatly reduced prices, we now think no house in the trade can offer greater inducements than we can to those who exire to purchase good and well made goods, for there is no economy in purchasing an inferior quality of Ready Made Clothing.

We keep a fall assertment of Boys' Cothing, and we think our styles of Boys' Garments cannot fail to please. We can at all times fit Poys from six to sixteen years old. FURNISHING DEPARTMENT. Our assortment of all the various styles of shirts, collars under sints, drawers suspenders, gloves, handkerchiefs, stocks, ties, sishes, &c. is most complete. We shall be happy at all times to show our goods, considering it no trouble, all ought to look before purchasing, and we are willing to help post them.

HAT AND CAP DEPARTMENT. We have a full and complete assortment of all the different styles and shades of soft hats and caps for men's and boys' wear.

DR. HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

FOR THE SPEEDY CUBE OF Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Pricumonia, Diseases of the Borcels arising from Cold, Incipient Consumption, and for the re-lief and (if at all possible) cure of Patients in advanced stages of the latter discase. This celebrated preparation, like the Bitters, may be confidentially relied on. It is designed for a class of diseases more general and more fatal than any other to which the people of this country are subject—those springing from a "slight cold." That emment authority, Dr. Bell, debts, or as the case may require from a "sight cold." That eminent actionity, Lin. Beingsays:

"I will not say that Colds are to our inhabitants what the Plague and Yellow Fever are to those of other countries; but I can aver confidentially that they usher in disease of greater complicity and mortality than these latter. A further proof of the terriable fatality of diseases re-Sulting from a "common cold" may be seen by a glance at the following statistics, taken from the records of the Hoard of Health of Philadelphia, confessedly one of the most healthy localities in the Union.

1852. Total deaths in Philadelphia, 10,201 Lied of Consumption, 1,912

Died of Consumption,
" " all other diseases (250 in num-1.912 8,349 1853, Total deaths, Died of Consumption, all other diseases 1854. Total deaths, Died of Consumption, " all other diseases,

From these figures, it will be seen that nearly one fourth f the total deaths in the country are caused by consuming, to say nothing of the numerous other diseases springing from a "slight cold."

Do not trifle with your health: but if suffering from a cough, or cold on the lungs, buy a bottle of HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL, And you may count on a cure. Thousands have done so, and have certified to its wond-rful effects.

Coughs sometimes proceed from a disordered or dyspeptic state of the stomach, in which case the German-Bitters should be used. In cases of weakness, or general debility of the system, resulting from a protracted cough, the German Bitters will be found of great benefit to those who use it.

PRICE REDUCED ONE HALF! NEW MEDICAL SALT INFLAMMATORY DISEASES! Omly Ome Dolllan Cironic Package $2 50.

See Advertisement. DR. COGGSWELL'S NOW MEDICAL Salt For Inflamatory Diseases Only. New Medical Salt! New Medical Salt

It is not a Cure-all.
FOR INFLAMATORY DISEASES ONLY!! Dr. Coggswell's New Medical Salt, instead of being a remedy for all ills, has control over but one ill, has but one aim, and accomplishes but one thing, to wit: Subdues Inflamatory Disease, whatever be its form or locality, whether in the head throat, abdomen, extremities

The pdculiar excellence of the New Medical Salt, is that without the useless loss of blood and strength it effectually cures inflamentory Diseases, (no others) by producing an equilibrium of all the fluids in the body, the want of which side cause of inflamation. INVALIDS TAKE NOTICE!!-The following to me which the unbalanced flu de assume and many not here mentioned, that have more or less sever or pain, are as easily subdued by the New Medical Salt as fire is extinguished by water, to wit Brain Fever, Headache, Rush of Blood to the Head and Heart, Fits, Inflamed Eyes, Ears and Nose. Canker, Neuraltis, Spinal Affections. E. sipelas, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Asthma, Inflamed Lungs and Liver, Healburn, Coulphs, Dyspepsia, Veneral Disease P. Leumalism, Gott, Scrofula, Salt Rheam and all itching, and other cutaneous employers.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL
SALT exerts, like the vaccine matter, an extraordinary influence over the venus and arteries, resulting in a gradual decline of inflamation as indicated by the pulse, which soon resumes its natural state, as the heat pains and fever

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT does just what it claims to do—no more—no less-equalizes the fluids by removing from the system all arterial and venous obstructions. Descriptive circulars may be obtained from any Druggist who has this valuable medicine for sale
