SELF-EXAMINATION.

"My dear friend, do you attend to the duty of self-examination?" I asked of a professed Christian lady, who was giving me some traits of her religious experience. "Certainly, I do," was the reply.

"You cannot take me for a heathen. You should see my closet, and what a comfortable nice one it is. I set there at least two hours daily, and strive by quiet meditation and questionings of my conscience to come to a knowledge of myself."

"And have you attained it?" I asked.

"Not altogether," and she seemed inclined to drop the subject. Now, I doubt not, that many are in the exact condition of my friend, but let me tell them self-knowledge never comes in that manner.

Among its other frailties, "the human heart is deceitful above all things," and it never deceives anybody else with half the case it does its owner; and conscience, unless enlightened and instructed by God, is not better. Some people argue that a man who obeys his conscience, is sure to do right, and it doubtless is so, after the heart has become regenerate, though not before.

St. Paul verily thought he was doing God service while persecuting the Christians, and we doubt not that thousands have committed a similar error. It is conscience that causes the Unloved mother to cast her babe to the crocodiles, or prostrate herself beneath the wheels of Juggernaut. In our own land it is conscience that makes waging scuffles of hundreds and thousands of people, who were designed to be merry and genial as the pleasant sunshine, and which makes prison houses of so many homes that should be gay and delightful as the spring.

Conscience, unannointed by the finger of God, is a graceless bight, hardened, stony, and self-willed; never was tyrant more relentless, never was fanatic more savage or despotic. Therefore, you should be careful how you depend upon conscience in your work of self-examination.

A person shut away in solitude and silence, with no one near to tempt or annoy him, must necessarily feel calm, meek, patient, and quite in conformity with all mankind, and feeling thus, he is sure to forget the other half of himself, or what he is when surrounded by the vexations, perplexities, and disturbances he is sure to meet when he mingles with the world.

One says, perhaps, "well, really, you must think us exceedingly foolish."

I answer "to be sure I do. You are, perhaps, half a century old, and yet must consult a mirror every morning to be reminded of the looks of your own face."

It is said that the Queen of France, Marie Antoinette, never forgot the parting interview with her fair young sister.

DEERFIELD, Dec. 7, 1859.

MR. EDITOR:—In reading your last issue, I was very much interested in the very able production of Professor "Iago." He seems to amuse himself, together with many others in Warren Co., at J. S. L. L.'s description of their Agricultural Fair.

In regard to the attendance, I am quite sure I stated 20,000 in the manuscript sent to the Pioneer, instead of 2,000, and the error was with the Printer. Therefore "Iago" was not a little amused, as every one who is acquainted with this section of the State must have been. "I am pleased, Mr. Editor, to show you so large a circulation in the audience, I quite fear, that this will be a great original!"

"I must confess that I should not want "Iago" to select land for me. I must also beg to differ with him in regard to truth. He says, "I might in truth have said, &c."

Many of the farmers in Warren Co. have never been out of their own county, consequently have never seen the land in "Old Cumberland," having as it does "with Milk and Honey."

They imagine that their little home among the hills—where each field has two stones to one dirt, is the only place fit for the abode of man—hence the high valuation.

"Iago" says 175 and 200 dollars per acre. He also says, "We can easily conceive how a home sick youth should fail to see or learn the real worth of Agricultural districts." What a burst of eloquence!

Although I must say I was quite home sick, I found the contrast so great between our rural districts, and the forest country above referred to.

I like the tone of "Iago's" article, and hope to see more from the same source. I suppose after his regular hours of teaching art, he has plenty of time for writing.

After I left Newton I stopped at Morristown a week or so, found it a very brisk, enterprising place. I also found within its prison walls a man charged with murder.

A Story from the Life of Mary Antoinette.

While the beautiful but unfortunate Queen of France was quite a child, her elder sister was betrothed. There was a custom then, that the evening before the bridal ceremonies were consummated, the future bride should descend to the Royal vault, and there, amid her long-dead ancestors, pray for a blessing. This custom was confined to the Royal family.

It was the day before the nuptials of the Princess were to be celebrated. Rich robes and delicate fabrics were arranged around her gorgeous room. Jewels blazed in their rare caselos, and fragrance filled the room. Two figures are in it—the young bride and her mother—the proud, imperious Marie Louise.

To-night was the last evening of her maiden life, and her mother had come to bid her prepare for entering her father's tomb.

A short time before, her brother Joseph's wife had died of that loathsome disease—the Small Pox. To enter that tomb, would be, to ray alien to life. The stern mother would hear no expostulations, but the bride at the sunset's hour, to go alone to the vault, and there, in preparation, and we present you this day, fellow citizens, the statue of Webster, in enduring bronze, on a pedestal of granite from his native state, the noble countenance modelled from life, at the meridian of his days and his fame, and his person reproduced from faithful recollection, by the oldest and most distinguished of the living artists of this country. He sleeps by the tumultuous ocean, while, himself, so much resembled, in his mighty movement and mighty repose; but his monumental form shall henceforth stand sentry at the portals of the capitol; the right hand pointing to that symbol of the Union on which the left repose, and his imperial gaze directed, with the long and the short, to the boundless West. In a few short years, we, whose eyes have rested on his majestic person, whose ears have drunk in the music of his clarion voice, shall have gone to our rest; but our children, for ages yet to come, as they dwell with awe-struck gaze upon the monumental bronze, shall say, O that we could have heard the great original!

Two hundred and twenty-five years ago, this day, our beloved city received from the general court of the colony, the honored name of Boston. On the long roll of those whom she has welcomed to her, nurturing bosom, is there a name which shines with a brighter lustre than his? Seventy-two years ago this day, the constitution of the United States was tendered to the acceptance of the people by George Washington. Who, of all the gifted and patriotic of the land, that have adorned the interval, has done more to unfold its principles, assert its purity, and to promote its duration?

Here, then, under the cope of heaven—here, on this lovely eminence—here, beneath the walls of the capitol of old Massachusetts—here, within the sight of those fair New England villages—here, in the vicinity of the graves of those who planted the germs of all this palmy growth—here, within the sound of sacred bells, we raise this monument, with loving hearts, to the statesman, the patriot, the fellow citizen, the neighbor, the friend. Long may it guard the approach to these halls of council; long may it look out upon a prosperous country; and if days of disaster and trial should come, and the arms of flesh should fail, doubt not that the monumental form would descend from its pedestal, to stand in the front ranks of the peril, and its bronze lips repeat the cry of the living voice—"Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable!"

"I must confess that I should not want "Iago" to select land for me. I must also

Prof Harvey's Lectures.

The course of Lectures commenced in this place by Prof. Harvey, on Wednesday evening of last week, increased in interest until the close, the audience increasing each evening. This speaks well for the Dr., who by the way, is one of the most popular Lecturers of the day.

His subjects were treated in a dignified and philosophical manner, and at the same time characterized by a vein of humor, and ready wit seldom equalled by the most noted Lecturers. During the Dr.'s visit in this place, he has won many warm friends and admirers, who will at any future time give him a hearty welcome.

Our Millville neighbors will have an opportunity of hearing the Dr., as he has commenced a course of Lectures in that place, which will undoubtedly be well attended.—We can assure all who attend his Lectures, that they will be agreeably and profitably entertained.

Fatal Accident near Millville.

On Friday afternoon of last week, three children of Capt. Joseph Brannin, residing near Millville, where playing in the room in which there were three guns; two of them were loaded with powder and shot, the other with powder only. It appears that while playing with the guns, the little girl, aged about three years, must have had the muzzle of the gun, loaded with powder only, close to her mouth, when it was discharged, causing almost instant death. The mother, who was in the adjoining room and heard the report, ran to their relief, when, sad to relate, her little daughter was lying a corpse on the floor. The two brothers, who aged about six years, and the other about eight, were frightened so much that they could scarcely tell how it happened.

Read the card of Mr. J. Bates in this paper, and learn that a new enterprise has been started on Second street, that must result in gain to all who patronize his establishment, which is the largest and best regulated business house in Second street, Philadelphia. A large stock of ready made work always on hand, or made to order at the shortest notice, and on as reasonable terms as at any other establishment in Philadelphia.

Sale of Horses.

On Saturday afternoon of this week, there will be sold five horses and a Stage; the stock owned by F. Langley, who for a number of years past has been driving Stage between Philadelphia and Cedarville. Mr. Langley has given up staging for the present, and is now engaged in commission business in Philadelphia. Frank is a jolly, clever fellow, and will be missed in this part of the country.

Mr. Thomas H. Miller will please accept our thanks for a jar of superior syrup, manufactured by him from the Sorgbund or Sugar Cane, which has been raised quite extensively in this country for a year or two past. Mr. Miller, we believe, has made some valuable improvements on the Sugar Cane Mill, and has in use one of the best machines ever invented for the purpose of cutting and crushing the cane. If any of our farmer friends have a super abundance of this article, the quality of which they would like to have tested, we would remind them that by forwarding a small quantity of it to this office, it will be duly inspected.

We would again remind our readers of the "Old Folks' Concert," which is to come off on Thursday evening of next week, in Grosscup's Hall. This will undoubtedly be a concert such as is seldom given in this part of the country. The performers consist of some of the most noted in the country, and the concert given by them have received the highest commendations from the press, and amateurs in the science of music. All who wish to enjoy a grand musical entertainment, should be present on Thursday evening next.

No postponement on account of the weather.

The citizens of Millville and vicinity are reminded that Mr. Hoosa Sithens has opened a room in that place, where he is prepared at all hours of the day to take Americanos in the latest improved style, and at prices as reasonable as they can be found in Philadelphia or elsewhere. Mr. Sithens having operated successfully with Mr. L. Woodruff of this place, for some time past, is prepared to accommodate all who may favor him with their patronage. He is a clever young man, and the ladies especially would do well to give him a call, and procure a handsome picture.

An able and deeply interesting lecture was delivered by Rev. Mr. Hubbard, on Thursday evening the 6th inst., in Cedarville, and listened to with marked attention.

Rev. Mr. Annin will lecture on "the Educational Interests of our Community," on Thursday evening, the 22d inst., in Bate's man's hall, commencing at seven o'clock. Tickets for sale at the door.

Singular Manifestations.

On Saturday evening last, between seven and eight o'clock, a man was discovered under the sofa at the residence of Thomas Clifford of this town. A few minutes previous, the girl living in the family went into the shed near the back door, to procure some fuel; as she came into the house, the door opening into the parlor creaked, and she heard a noise in the room. At first she went out into the street to give the alarm, but could see no one near, and not being much of a coward, took a hatchet, went into the room and ordered the fellow out, at the same time threatening to give him the weight of the hatchet if he did not leave. He pushed aside the sofa, and rushed for the door, having a large scarf over his face, he could not be seen very distinctly. On the following Tuesday a man called at the front door and enquired for Mr. Clifford. "Oo being told that he was not in, the suspicious looking individual inquired if they kept a dog at the house or store. He also inquired when Mr. C. would be at home, and asked about the circumstance that occurred there on the Saturday night previous. On being questioned how he knew anything about it, he replied that he heard it on Monday on his way to Philadelphia, in the stage, and had just returned; offering her a small package which he said contained jewelry for Mr. C. This being refused, he left and has not been heard of since. Whether the package was one of those "infernal machines" which explode on being opened, it is not known, but the whole of the circumstances look rather suspicious. It is seldom that a robbery occurs in Bridgeton, and we would advise the public to be on their guard. Attempts have lately been made to break into stores in this place, but as yet they have proved unsuccessful.

The Holidays.

As the holidays are rapidly approaching, everybody will be purchasing something for "the occasion," and we would advise our readers to examine the advertisements of our own townspeople, and purchase of those, who by keeping their business before the public, and increasing their sales, can afford to sell better goods at a less figure, than those who do not advertise, and who are not very extensively known to the public, consequently receive but limited patronage.

The Pioneer Almanac, and Bridgeton Business Directory, will be out during the holidays, and ready for distribution.

Most of the prominent business firms in Bridgeton will be found advertised in it.

The Winter term of Union Academy, at Shiloh, will commence on Monday next, Dec. 19. We are pleased to announce that the last term was more successful than any previous, and that the prospects for a full school, the coming term, are quite encouraging. Under the superintendence and control of such teachers as have charge of this institution, it cannot do otherwise than prosper.

Healing on its Wings, say all who have made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and by such use cured themselves of coughs, colds, and consumption.—The prudent will always keep this remedy by them.

There's a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, which has the written signature of I. BUTTS on the outside wrapper.

The next meeting of the State Teachers' Association will take place at the Court House, in Camden, on Wednesday next, the 28th inst., at 2 P. M.

From Washington.

An interesting debate took place in both branches of Congress, on Monday last—Mr. Iverson, of Ga., in the Senate, provoked some bad feeling among the Northern Democrats, by declaring the party at the North abominated. Mr. Trumbull, representing the Republicans, made a distinct declaration against the political equality of the negro. In the House the most interesting speeches were by Messrs. Haskin and Hickman, Anti-Leecomposition Democrats, who assailed the Administration severely.

The correspondent of the Herald says that the speeches of these two gentlemen were "received as an indication of the sentiment of at least five of the Anti-Leecomposition Democrats, namely: Haskin, Hickman, Swartz, Reynolds and Clark, and I am authoritatively informed that they can be depended upon to vote for Mr. Sherman whenever their votes will elect him; and I have good reason to believe that when actually needed, Davis, of Maryland, and Adriain, of N. J., will also vote for Sherman. This being the fact, Sherman will be elected on the next ballot, he only wanting 116 votes.—The above calculation gives him 117 votes, without his own."

With the view of uniting the Democrats, Southern Oppositionists and Anti-Leecomposition on a candidate acceptable to them all, the name of Mr. Clermont, of Illinois, was yesterday proposed by some of the members in connection with the Speakership. Nobody, however, seems to anticipate an election during the present week; and it is not thought the House will be organized till after New Years. The Americans have resolved to stand by Mr. Gilmer.

There is but little news from California. The tax on goods owned abroad and sold by San Francisco commission merchants, had been decided to be unconstitutional.

Twenty thousand francs worth of diamonds recently smuggled into San Francisco, had been forfeited to the government.

The steamship Atlantic, from Aspinwall on the 5th, arrived at New York last evening, with 528 passengers and $1,505,429 in treasure. The California mails are to the 21st ult., and were brought by the John L. Stephens.

Among the passengers is Lieut. Gen. Scott, who arrives very unexpectedly. He is much improved in health. The San Juan affair has been settled, it is generally understood on the basis of a joint occupation, leaving the question of ownership to future negotiation.

All the American troops have been withdrawn except a sufficient number to protect the settlers.

Prof Harvey's Lectures.

The course of Lectures commenced in this place by Prof. Harvey, on Wednesday evening of last week, increased in interest until the close, the audience increasing each evening. This speaks well for the Dr., who by the way, is one of the most popular Lecturers of the day.

His subjects were treated in a dignified and philosophical manner, and at the same time characterized by a vein of humor, and ready wit seldom equalled by the most noted Lecturers. During the Dr.'s visit in this place, he has won many warm friends and admirers, who will at any future time give him a hearty welcome.

Our Millville neighbors will have an opportunity of hearing the Dr., as he has commenced a course of Lectures in that place, which will undoubtedly be well attended.—We can assure all who attend his Lectures, that they will be agreeably and profitably entertained.

Fatal Accident near Millville.

On Friday afternoon of last week, three children of Capt. Joseph Brannin, residing near Millville, where playing in the room in which there were three guns; two of them were loaded with powder and shot, the other with powder only. It appears that while playing with the guns, the little girl, aged about three years, must have had the muzzle of the gun, loaded with powder only, close to her mouth, when it was discharged, causing almost instant death. The mother, who was in the adjoining room and heard the report, ran to their relief, when, sad to relate, her little daughter was lying a corpse on the floor. The two brothers, who aged about six years, and the other about eight, were frightened so much that they could scarcely tell how it happened.

Read the card of Mr. J. Bates in this paper, and learn that a new enterprise has been started on Second street, that must result in gain to all who patronize his establishment, which is the largest and best regulated business house in Second street, Philadelphia. A large stock of ready made work always on hand, or made to order at the shortest notice, and on as reasonable terms as at any other establishment in Philadelphia.

Most of the prominent business firms in Bridgeton will be found advertised in it.

The Pioneer Almanac, and Bridgeton Business Directory, will be out during the holidays, and ready for distribution.

Most of the prominent business firms in Bridgeton will be found advertised in it.

The Winter term of Union Academy, at Shiloh, will commence on Monday next, Dec. 19. We are pleased to announce that the last term was more successful than any previous, and that the prospects for a full school, the coming term, are quite encouraging. Under the superintendence and control of such teachers as have charge of this institution, it cannot do otherwise than prosper.

Healing on its Wings, say all who have made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and by such use cured themselves of coughs, colds, and consumption.—The prudent will always keep this remedy by them.

There's a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, which has the written signature of I. BUTTS on the outside wrapper.

The next meeting of the State Teachers' Association will take place at the Court House, in Camden, on Wednesday next, the 28th inst., at 2 P. M.

PATENT POCKET COIN DETECTOR.

FOR TESTING THE VARIOUS KINDS OF Gold and Silver Coins.

It is admitted by all to be the most perfect thing of its kind ever invented for public use.

Every Mechanic should have it! It detects the same coin as any other instrument.

Man in business should have it! It detects from a Half Dime, to a dollar in silver, and from a cent up to twenty dollars, besides Foreign Gold and Silver, and is simple, compact, durable, economical, and perfect.

A Guarantee goes with every article.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR.

Postpaid to any part of the United States.

SEE WHAT THE NEWSPAPERS SAY:

The possession of it is a perfect guarantee against being imposed upon in buying or selling.

Detection is sure, even impossible.

A blind man with one in his possession may defend himself more skilfully counterfeited than the day before.

We pronounce it without hesitation to be the most perfect instrument ever offered to the public—Price, One Dollar.

It is worth its price ten times told.—"City Item."

Proof Safes, Steel, Brass, Copper, Iron, Sash, all marks of Locks,

Five Safes in Gold, Silver, Copper, Right with contents in good condition.

The Remande Safe of Philadelphia against the Evans & Watson.

Have had the surest demonstration in the following certificate, that their manufacture of Remande Safes has been fully warranted the representations which have been made to us, and we are satisfied with the quality of the article.

Philadelphia, April 18, '60.

Messrs. Evans & Watson, New York, it affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Remande Safes which we have in our possession, we have been able to save a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., exposed to the fire, and find it remanded intact.

When we refer to these Safes, we locate in the fourth story of the building, where the business is conducted, in the heart of the city, where the greatest concentration of heat caused the glass plates to melt and burst, and the preservation of what was most valuable to us, was most difficult, and the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall make plain, in recommending them to men of business, the value of your Safes.
