

The West Jersey Pioneer.

A Family Newspaper: Devoted to Morality, Education, Science, Arts, Amusements, Merchants, Agriculture, Commerce, Domestic and Foreign News, &c.—Superintendent of Printing at Bristol.

$1.00 IN ADVANCE!

BRIDGETON N. J. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

VOL. XI—NO 625

Ten O'clock Line.

THE 10 O'CLOCK LINE of Stages will leave Bridgeton every morning (except Sunday) at 10 o'clock, passing through Deerfield, Polo Tavern, Whigwags, Mullins Hill and Carpenters Landing, connecting with the Cars at Woodbury, at half-past four.

Leave Philadelphia at the Ridgeway House, at 11 o'clock, and Walnut street wharf at half-past eleven.

All arrivals carefully attended to.

FERRELL HANS,
WM. S. SPUDER,
Proprietors and Drivers.

Bridgeton, July 8, 1859.

CHANGE OF HOURS.

BRIDGETON AND PHILADELPHIA MAIL LINE of Stages will leave Davis & Son's Hotel, Bridgeton, on and after Monday, Sept. 15th, every morning at 8 o'clock A. M. Ridgeway House, Phila., at 9 o'clock, and Walnut St. wharf at 9 1/2 hours. (Sundays excepted.) Through in 5 1/2 hours. Good accommodations and quick time will be the motto of this line.

L. H. DOWNEY,
E. PANCOAST,
Proprietors & Drivers.

Sept. 11th, '59.

TO THE MEDICAL FACULTY OF BRIDGETON AND SURROUNDING COUNTRY.

Gentlemen, you cannot do more to add science, than to advise parents, in those families you practice, to have their children's heads shaved of some of the hair. To have it done neatly, Waters, No. 3 Grosscup's building, is one of the places.

Waters carefully shaved.

LOOKING GLASSES.

Newest Styles of Frames, AT
A. S. ROBINSON'S
LOOKING GLASS AND PICTURE FRAME SHOP,
No. 910 CHESTNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

Constantly receiving supplies of the finest descriptions of the line FRENCH, ENGLISH, and GERMAN BRASS GLASS.

A CARD.

J. C. KIRBY, Surgeon Dentist, respectfully offers his professional services to the inhabitants of Cumberland County and the public generally.

Office in the row of brick buildings, five doors west of E. Davis & Son's hotel, formerly occupied by J. D. Harbert.

Mar. 28, 1857.

Henry Nest, SURGEON DENTIST.

COMMERCIAL ST., a few doors east of the Presbyterian Session Room, and directly opposite the new Baptist Church, will continue to practice dentistry in all its various departments.

I have been using electricity in extracting teeth, and it does more good than any other method. I have extracted the teeth with the most satisfactory results.

Bridgeton, June 27, '57.

C. E. EDWARDS, SURGICAL AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

CORNER OF MAIN AND SECOND STREETS, MILVILLE N. J.

WALTER DIMORE & CO. Gallery of Photography, 700 Chestnut Street, PHILADELPHIA.

WALTER DIMORE, CHAS. W. WARRICK, ILLUSTRATORS, AMBROTYPES AND DAGUERTYPES Beautifully Colored. Photographs in Water Colors, Pastel and India Ink.

The Public are respectfully invited to call and examine specimens.

April 25, 1859.

DOCTOR BENDER

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

An all and experienced physician, of the old school system, having permanently located in this place, offers his professional services to the afflicted. He has had extensive experience in the treatment of all kinds of chronic and acute diseases, particularly in those of long standing, such as consumption, dropsy, rheumatism, &c.

Office in the row of brick buildings, five doors west of E. Davis & Son's hotel, formerly occupied by J. D. Harbert.

Mar. 28, 1857.

PEDRICK & CHEESMAN, DEALERS IN IRON, STEEL, AND BLACKSMITH COAL, BRIDGETON, N. J.

SPRINGS, AXLES, ANVILS, VICES, &c.

ISAAC PEDRICK, JOHN CHEESMAN, Jr.

C. S. HILBER & CO. CHEAP FANCY DRY GOODS

AND TRIMMINGS, GROSSCUP'S BUILDING, CORNER OF MAIN AND SECOND STREETS, BRIDGETON, N. J.

J. R. HOGLAND, Attorney at Law, Solicitor, Master & Examiner in Chancery, BRIDGE ST., N. J.

Office on COMMERCIAL ST., near the CHANCERY OFFICE.

EDWARD R. MORGAN & CO'S Photograph Rooms, No. 1021 Chestnut Street, PHILADELPHIA.

Rebbs, Davis & Co., Boot, Shoe and Leather Store, No. 11, CARROLL BUILDING, BRIDGETON, N. J.

J. B. BUNTING & BRO'S. Furniture Warehouse, 221 & 223 SOUTH SECOND ST., PHILADELPHIA.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
May 21, 1859-ly.

NOTICE.

THE Firm of McBRIDE & SMITH, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said Firm, will call on Lewis McBride, and settle their accounts.

McBRIDE & SMITH, Bridgeton, Dec. 5, 1859.

FOR SALE.

TWO Bookways, one light square wagon, one buggy, and one trotting Sulky. All new, and warranted, and will be sold low, to close the concern. Also, two second-hand carriages.

McBRIDE & SMITH, Dec. 17.

CHOICE POETRY.

For the West Jersey Pioneer.

THE LOST SHIP.

BY G. E. TOMLINSON.

The light of the sun glowed over the land
And glittered the glorious sea,
When a gallant bark and a glad band
With quivering hearts saw the lessening strand,
Like a beautiful vision fleet.

In many a clime, on many a shore,
Since first they began to roam,
They had mingled their voices with oceans roar,
But soon their handshakes would all be o'er,
And gained a sheltering home.

The ship rode forth on the sounding main
When the sunny skies were blue;
But gales were waiting in the watery plain,
The wild winds chanted a sad refrain,
As it the clouds took a sombre hue.

When the tempest came and the billows were high
And the misty winds went sweeping by,
And the storm-furrows shivered in the murky sky,
Wide opened the yawning gulf.

The morning came with its skies serene,
And the sea was as bright and fair,
As the golden time of a beautiful dream,
And the air was as soft and as bright the scene,
As if death had not been there.

The wife for her husband is waiting in vain,
The mother for her darling boy—
And their gathering tears fall fast as the rain,
And their hearts are racked by an endless pain—
Forever departed their joy.

A maiden sits by the shore of the sea,
And watches the restless main;
Ah, maiden, how soon life's beauties flee!
Thy rover will never come back to thee,
He sleeps beneath the watery plain.

Thy heart is sad and thy cheek is pale,
Why stay by the barren sea?
Full many a sail will spread to the gale,
But the months will roll on and thy hopes will fail—
May strength ne'er be wanting to thee.
Shiloh, Feb., 1860.

ECONOMY.

"Equality is the Daughter of Prudence, the Sister of Temperance, and the Parent of Liberty."

Economy is one of the most useful and practical of the virtues that contribute to the comforts, wealth, independence, and even luxuries of mankind. Still it is merely relative in character and application, and its rules are not equally applicable in all cases. For instance, a rich man who lives in his means, although he may disburse very largely, yet he is as relatively economical as the comparatively poor man, who by a system of extreme caution, finds it difficult to make both ends meet; and perhaps the safest guide for all classes is, when possible, for persons and families to live within their income. Even the affluent should not too lavishly waste the man of moderate means should never attempt to rival an opulent millionaire, such being the notorious swelling out of the frog in the lake, which would fair imitate the ox. Dr. Franklin says:

"Vessels large may venture more,
But little tonnage seek near the shore."
A judicious economy, however, is a source of integrity, liberty, and ease, and commonly results in the good fruits of temperance, cheerfulness, and health; while profuseness involves man in a perpetual debt, and the means enter into his very soul. It is a familiar maxim, and we think, also, a frequent error, in the world, to confound the meaning of the word to the mere amount of money. This, to say the least, is taking too narrow a view of an all-important subject. For ought we are not likely to economize time, reading, study, our appetites, leisure, and even the allowable indulgences of business enterprise? Certainly, for time is money—too much reading and study confuse rather than enlighten the intellect—an inordinate indulgence in eating and drinking injures the health—imprudent leisure promotes idleness—and an excessive grasping after business usually leads to enterprises that are ruinous. There would be little objection to our free expenditure, if judicious, great as it sometimes is, if its objects were worthy; its effects were lofty and ennobling. Nobody finds fault with that extravagance which endows hospitals, promotes science, or aims to make men happier or better. Of this kind of outlay there is no superfluity, and no complaint. But the expenditure deserving of condemnation, and of the most unparalyzing kind, is that which lavishes on useless decorations of person, furniture, houses, horses and equipage. We speak not now of extreme cases, but of the fashionable extravagance which sometimes pervades that portion of the community improperly (in this view) styled "respectable." We refer to that waste of money, which knows no stint, when self-interest in all its forms is the object; that lavishes on the appetite, in eating and drinking; that seeks to astonish by large public benefactions, neglecting obscure want and woe, the relief of which will make no sensation. Such ostentation may reveal in a palace, and make a great name, but it is not a meteor like—no society, but it hath neither eye, nor ear, nor hand to aid the sick and suffering in its immediate neighborhood. Besides, the very fact of a family living in such gorgeous and half-hearted style, is a bad example, an offence against virtuous morals, and injurious even to political economy, for it diffuses a profligacy of expense upon easily luxuries and useless objects, which undermines the public welfare, because it tends to corrupt private integrity and industry. At the same time, even an affluent style of living, on the part of those favored sons of Plutus who can afford it, should not be disapproved, for the industrious poor are ever benefited by the expenditure of the rich—even the extravagance of the latter furnishing profitable employment for the former. The furnishing of a house that costs seven or eight thousand dollars, enables a million of cabinet-makers, carpenters, plasterers, masons, painters, gas-fitters, and many other mechanics and tradesmen to support their families. So with ladies' dresses, however costly, for it may be fairly presumed that out of every thousand dollars thus expended, at least six hundred dollars on an average, are consumed by the wages of skilful operatives, over and above the raw materials. Judicial outlay, therefore, however liberal on the part of the few, conduces to the evident benefit of the many, and if the incomes which are the springs of the rich, still be practiced in just economy, which, while it ministers to his own comforts, at the same time does good service in promoting the industrial and tasteful arts of mankind. To have a course there can be no rational objection. But unfortunately, men are apt to run into extremes; and where temptations are strong, and personal vanity is likely to be gratified, a taste for extravagance and pomp having been fostered, men will overstep the boundaries of prudence and safety, and launch their bargains upon a sea of debt, difficulty and danger.

To succeed in the world, a young man must not only content himself with being industrious, at first in a small way of business, but he must also be steady, settled and careful—transacting as far as possible, his affairs with his own hands, and at any rate overlooking them with his own eyes. To such an aspirant after independence, an economy of his time is of the highest consequence; for as there is of all things the most precious—meaning that any portion of it lost can never be recalled—so the wasting of it in idleness or folly involves a degree of reckless profligacy, that is injurious to the community in which he resides, and even criminal to himself, his wife, and children. People are constantly complaining of the dullness of trade, &c., but how seldom do we hear of men ascribing misfortunes to the true sources of their own indifference, neglect and extravagance, when by the practice of a judicious frugality, they might break in the sunshine of fortune and the smiles of the world! It is a wholesome and a wise maxim, never to run in debt for superfluities, and if possible, to avoid the same evil, even for necessities. In matters of trade and commerce, we are aware that debt cannot very well be avoided, for it is mingled up with the affairs of a mercantile nation, and many of the vast interests of mankind could not be successfully nourished without the obligations of good faith. Yet even here, a wise economy is to be exercised, as the surest road to success, in a safe trade, and an easy conscience. In Holland, it was formerly a rule with merchants, never to trade beyond their means, never to contract a debt that could not be certainly met by the capital of the purchaser, and never to insure of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority, and to an extent of liability that is in no sense justified by the circumstances that occur. Hence the periodical panics that sweep every now and then, but which rarely teach wisdom, for in a few years thereafter similar extravagances are practiced, and without incurring of the risks and contingencies of after dealings. In this country and England, however, the contrary custom prevails—we fear with a majority,

BRIDGETON.

Saturday Morning, Feb. 25.

The Pioneer has a LARGER Circulation than any weekly Paper in this State!

Only $1 00 per Year!

JAMES B. FERGUSON, Editor.

Should all in Church Unite in the Singing?

We have no doubt, in the earlier days of the Church, this part of public worship was conducted entirely as a congregational devotional exercise, in which all the people took a willing part.

Who has thought it necessary to have a choir to do the singing for the thousands that daily gather in the large noon-day meetings of our cities and towns?

In the usual weekly services of the lecture, the prayer meeting, of the social prayer-circle, or in the business meetings of the church, it is not considered indispensable that there be a choir of selected singers to do a part of the worshipping for the congregation, while the people are freely permitted to take an active part in all the other exercises.

Who has thought it necessary to have a choir to do the singing for the thousands that daily gather in the large noon-day meetings of our cities and towns? Who doubts that the singing there is done with the spirit and with the understanding?

The anxious friends of these worthies will perhaps be wondering why their favorite names do not appear conspicuously among the Congressional orators, whose sayings are recorded daily in the papers, when under his frank will be received a pamphlet containing under glaring colors the speech of the Hon. —, delivered in the House of Representatives on the — day of — month, which said speech never was delivered.

The responsibility of conducting the music being thus thrown upon these self-constituted choirs, it soon became their pride and boast to select, and execute pieces of music in which the congregation, of the common people, could take no part.

The great hindering cause to congregational singing at the present day is the determined and persevering obstinacy on the part of choirs and their leaders to select and make use of tunes that are new, strange, and difficult, for the avowed purpose of preventing the congregation from joining in this highly interesting and profitable part in the public worship of the house of God.

Baugh's Raw Bone Super-Phosphate of Lime.

We call the attention of our agricultural readers to the advertisement of Baugh & Son's, in the Pioneer. This is a fertilizer in which there is no deception. It is manufactured from bones that have never been boiled or burned, and consequently, contains all the organic matter originally in the bones, and is considered by those who have used it, to be unequalled by any other fertilizers now in existence.

THE DEFENSES OF NEW JERSEY.—The Quarter-Master, General of New Jersey, reports that the number of organized military companies in the State is ninety-two. Only forty-three of these have made their returns to this office.

CONGRESS—The Franking Privilege.

Those of our readers, and we trust that their name is legion, who are in favor of curtailing the extravagance of Congress, will be pained to learn of the failure of the bill abolishing the franking privilege to become a law.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column. A pair of valuable match horses, several superior cows, among which is the mother of the large calf that took the premium at our last Agricultural Exhibition.

Our old friend Noah Robinson who for some years past has been farming the old Stall property, above Deerfield, slaughtered a pen of hogs this season which surpasses anything in the pork line in this neighborhood.

The efforts to raise this favorite boat are, as yet, we regret to say entirely unsuccessful. She lays in a very exposed condition, sometimes entirely encased in firm ice, and at others exposed to the large cakes of floating ice that are driven by the winds and tides with violence against her.

We are authorized to say that the Steamer Patuxent will leave Bridgeton on Monday afternoon next, (weather permitting) and continue to run according to announcement during the season.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

We are authorized to say that the Steamer Patuxent will leave Bridgeton on Monday afternoon next, (weather permitting) and continue to run according to announcement during the season.

The main feature of interest in the N. J. Legislative proceedings lately, is the Railroad controversy, caused by application being made by the Hoboken Land Improvement Company, for a charter for a railroad from Hoboken to Newark.

There is a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston, which has the written signature of I. B. Ruts on the outside wrapper.

There is a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston, which has the written signature of I. B. Ruts on the outside wrapper.

There is a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston, which has the written signature of I. B. Ruts on the outside wrapper.

There is a vile counterfeit of this Balsam, therefore be sure and buy only that prepared by S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston, which has the written signature of I. B. Ruts on the outside wrapper.

Rev. A. A. Willits.

This distinguished orator will deliver a lecture in Bridgeton on Friday evening next, the 23d of March, in Grosscup's Hall. Mr. Willits is admitted to be one of the most eloquent and effective speakers in this country.

The lecture was one of the best we have ever heard in Reading, and certainly one of the most enjoyable, judging from the hearty applause of the audience.

Mr. L. H. Downey, the accommodating and popular stage-man of the Mail Line, is entitled to the thanks of all the readers of the Pioneer, (and ours in particular), for delivering two valuable packages to this office, containing four reams of paper.

Every body, we suppose, who learned the A B C's, some 40 years ago, has read the story of the milk-maid in Webster's spelling book, who, when under a train of reflections about her green gown, and her appearance at the fair, when she would disdainfully refuse the offers of the gallant, in this mood acted out her part with her head, dropped the milk and spilt all her hopes.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Allen & Needles, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

For the West Jersey Pioneer.

Mr. Edmond.—It was my pleasure to attend on Tuesday evening, the 7th of February, a festival given by the members of Ariel Lodge, No. 66, of the I. O. of O. F., at Marlborough; and it would have done your eyes good to have been there, to say nothing of the inner man.

About six o'clock the order met, and after going through the business appointed for the evening, we all proceeded to the festival board to do ample justice to the good things provided for the occasion.

The lecture was one of the best we have ever heard in Reading, and certainly one of the most enjoyable, judging from the hearty applause of the audience.

Mr. L. H. Downey, the accommodating and popular stage-man of the Mail Line, is entitled to the thanks of all the readers of the Pioneer, (and ours in particular), for delivering two valuable packages to this office, containing four reams of paper.

Every body, we suppose, who learned the A B C's, some 40 years ago, has read the story of the milk-maid in Webster's spelling book, who, when under a train of reflections about her green gown, and her appearance at the fair, when she would disdainfully refuse the offers of the gallant, in this mood acted out her part with her head, dropped the milk and spilt all her hopes.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Allen & Needles, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Thomas W. Cattell, which appears in another column.

Selling off Cheaper than Ever.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

EVERY One who has seen the large stock of Boys and Children's Goods, offered for sale by the undersigned, will be glad to learn that the goods are being sold at a great discount.

REV. A. A. WILLITS, OF PHILADELPHIA, WILL DELIVER A POPULAR LECTURE, IN GROSSCUP'S HALL, BRIDGETON, ON FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 23.

SUBJECT: "SUNSHINE," Or the True Philosophy of Life. This is a new lecture, never delivered in this part of the State, and is considered one of Mr. Willits' best. Those who wish to hear one of the most popular lecturers in this country, will have an opportunity on this occasion, of the reputation of the speaker is sufficient to draw a large and respectable audience.

Admission 10 cents. Children 5 cents. Lecture to commence at 8 o'clock.

B. F. FERGUSON, ARTIST, No. 604 Arch Street, PHILADELPHIA. Photographs taken after L. G. DeGenerer's, and colored in the most beautiful style; Call and see Specimens.

THE SALE of the real estate of E. Davis & Son's Hotel, on the 23d inst., is postponed on account of the illness of the parties to Saturday, the 24th of March, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Persons having any article for sale, or to be sold, call on Jacobus Woodruff, at the residence of the same.

THE following change has been made in the arrangement of the sessions of this institution. The present session will be continued till Wednesday, July 11th, after which there will be a vacation of seven weeks. The annual session will hereafter commence on the first Wednesday in September, and continue till the 22d Wednesday in July.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

On the 22d inst., by the Rev. I. D. King, Mr. Peter S. Mattison to Miss Angelina B. Gandy, both of Bridgeton.

THE TOWER GRATE.

I've lived in Maine, my native State— I've lived in the tower grate. A plump and hearty country girl, Well known as Bessy Brown.

A Yankee lad for Bessy sought, And with her heart he sought. He won a carriage—'twas a cart, From which he peddled tin.

A suit of clothes that can't be beat, Unless my pretty wife Should use the broom-stick on her bed, For woman's right is a trial.

Being determined to close out the entire WINTER STOCK in its season, we offer inducements never before offered; such as place the best winter garments within the reach of ALL.

A Blacksmith Shop and DWELLING HOUSE TO RENT. In a neighborhood where there is plenty of work and plenty of money to be made, a good workman need apply.

ROMAN CEMENT, ROSENDALE CEMENT, CALKED PLASTER, Ground Hair, BUILDING LIME, PLASTERING LIME, etc., at low rates.

Works on Embroidery. Illustrated. $1 25. CHARTERED by the American Society of Embroidery.

PHYSIOLOGY. Anatomy and Constitution of Man. Youngman's Anatomy. Physiology of the Human Body.

PHOTOGRAPHY. Hand-Book of Amateur Photography. A Self-Instructional Course. For Beginners and Others.

