For the West Jersey Pioneer. MR. EDITOR:—In a late number of the Pioneer you publish an interesting extract from Arnot's Elements of Physics, under the head of Hydrostatics, commencing thus: 'It is a general truth in nature, that substances contract in proportion as they cool.— There is, however, in water a curious exception to this rule, which operating through the principle of specific gravities, effects most important purposes in the economy of nature. Water contracts only down to the temperature of 40 deg., below which, towards 32 deg., or the freezing point, it goes on dilating again, and as ice is much lighter than as a fluid, it therefore floats on the surface of the water." &c.

Some light has lately gleamed upon that mitted an essential error in the excellent work above referred to.

Some years since, when in my boyhood, I was astonished upon witnessing the fact that piece of cold iron would float upon a body of melted iron, in fact, showing considerable buoyancy. A MODEL SPEECH.

The following model speech was made by professing Christian out West, at a meetng of the Church to which he belonged, at which the question that was mooted was what "it ought to cost the peacher to supply his table and crib:"-

Mr. President-I don't want yo to think, I don't want this quarterly conference to think, I don't want my beloved pastier to think that I would do anything to oppress him. God forbid that I should do anything to oppress my pastier or any other good man. But I do think, from the nicest calkilation that I can make, one hundred and forty dollaas is an ample amount to support his family and keep his horse. I want to do justice to my pastier, but I must do justice by the people too, and I do think, Mr. President. one hundred and forty dollars is an ample mount, and I can't vote for any more; but I want you to understand that I would not willingly do anything to wrong my pastier, for I do love my pastier.

There is some interest attacked to a portion the subjoined Biography, from the record of the members of the court that tried Andre. Major Biddle has nobly returned the arguments of Lord M'Mahon, degrading the court for want of knowledge of Vattel and Puffendorf, &c. PARENTS AND CHILDREN. - How full of lelight is the thought that the whole family may meet again in the world of rejoicing and everlasting joy, where sorrow and sighing shall forever flee away. DRESS .- But whatever they have been aught to think, my young friends may rest assured that their dress is not a proper subject of eagerness, care, or pleasure. If they mean it to make them look better, it does not; if they mean it to make them more highly estimated, it does not; if they mean to pass this waste of time and thought upon the world and themselves for the virtues of industry and economy, alas! what will they think of the mistake when, their years told out and time about to be no more, they look back and say, "Ten hours, eight hours, six. five of each one of my numbered days have I expended in clothing and adorning my body, now about to perish, naked and loathsome, in the dust .- The Listener.

THE WORLD.—The world, in which we ojourn for a season, appears to us not in an unpleasant view at first. The spirit, and the things of it, are congenial to our depraved inclinations; and especially in early life, our unexperienced hearts form high expectations from it; and we rather hope to find it a paradise than a wilderness. But when the convincing power of the Holy Spirit opens the eyes of the understanding, we awake as from dream; the enchantment by which we were deluded is broken, and we then begin to judge rightly of the world; that it is a wearisome wilderness indeed, and that our only important concern with it is to get happily out of it.—John Newton.

The Mother Moulds the Man.

That it is the mother who moulds the man. is a sentiment beautifully illustrated by the following recorded observation of a shrewd writer:

When I lived among the Choctaw Indians, I held a consultation with one of their prineipal men in regard to their progress in the art of civilized life, and among other things, he informed me that at the start they fell into a great mistake—they only sent the boys to school. These came home intelligent an intense love of sobriety and strict tempermen, but they married uneducated and un- ance, yet willing, even desiring the fair trial of civilized wives; and the uniform result was, the children were all like their mothers; the father soon lost all his interest in both wife and children: "and now." said he, "if we would educate but one class of our children, we should choose the girls; for when they become mothers they educate their sons."

This is the point, and it is true. No na tion can become fully enlightened when mothere are not, in a good degree, qualified to discharge the duties of the home-work of

The Court then adjourned.

The Charge to the Grand Jury. Judge Van Dyke's charge to the Grand Jury was listened to with much interest, and though not having a previous knowledge of the peculiar cases which would come before the court, it was so complete a review of the duty incumbent upon them, that few cases could arise not compre hended within the extended charge. After referring to the claims which both good and bad make to the title of order-loving, law-abiding the harmony of the world." All things, he said. animate and inanimate are governed by certain laws, that is by law that they move on in their appointed track, with a precision, harmony and safety which can never cease to inspire us with sustained by a Law-giver whose ability to enforce is omnipotent and whose will there is no power to frustrate. The Supreme Ruler not only made law for the government of the natural and material universe, but also for man, the being endowed with mind and reason, and all those capacities which distinguish him as superior to the rest of God's created creatures. He cited many of the remarkable examples, of punishment, which is sure to follow sooner or later the violation of God's law. But the want of immediate and certain punishment, which alone appears to deter the wicked from the commission of crimes, made it necessary to devise positive expedients for the detection and punishment of them .-This it must be conceded, was no trifling matter. That nation from which we have derived nearly all of our jurisprudence, and whose love of liberty, and hatred of crime, are superior to all other nations, our own perhaps excepted, has furnished us with the best system of detection

The primary objects of the law and of the prohibitior of wrongs. Wrongs are of two kinds -Public wrongs and Private wrongs. Public wrongs with which you gentlemen have to do, though committed by individuals, against the rights, generally of individuals, nevertheless, effect the whole community, considered as a community; and which if not properly and promptly punished, would soon terminate in the utter overthrow of all human society and the forcing of man back again to a state of nature. After referring to the beauty of our criminal jurisprudence in theory, he desired gentlemen to set their faces againt destroying its grandeur in practice. He remarked it was not only the duty to secure a road from Cape Island to connect of the Grand Jury to hear the complaints, but of the State,) concluding that comfort was also to make complaints; that they were not to have any regard to the standing in society of the off his coat, boots and stockings. Neither fear nor favor should for one moment deter you from presenting the you the oath which you have each taken, and endeavoring to follow its very spirit, there need be no fear as to your deliberations, as it is so clear that it will be almost impossible for you to

He referred to the increasing disposition the law in their own hands, and to the fact that strong hand upon them, for there can be no real freedom when this system prevails, our own State fortunately has not been very prominently marked by the evils of which I have spoken, but it has not entirely escaped the stain. The remarks upon the rowdy gangs which collect around the corners, rum-shops and pest-houses, on the Sabbath and in the night-time, were exceedingly appropriate and well-timed. The evils which result from these gatherings call for the laws imright of personal security must be carefully guarded, and it will be worth but little to any of us, if we can enjoy it only around our own hearth stones, and with dark clouds overhanging the horizon of the future, threatening its destruction even there. The practice of gambling. and the houses and dens where this violation of the law is carried on, were referred to with evident determination on the part of his Honor, to impress the Grand Jury with the necesity of breaking them up-uprooting every species of that most enticing and daugerous practice .-That portion of the charge in reference to the Liquor Laws, was truly worthy of being long remembered. Temperate, yet firm, breathing our present Liquor laws. He said, the well being of society requires a faithful and vigilant attention to the enforcement of our Liquor laws. The friends of prohibition have for the time being, yielded their demands, that the advocates of more stringent license laws may be able to prove, if they can, the superiority of their system. Sad indeed will be our condition when that day of rest, dedicated by the Almighty ship, shall be surrendered to the purposes of the idle and vicious.

In our imperfect report of this excellent charge, we have given the leading features only. The C. E. Elmer and Judge Elmer for State, Hoag- true, legal, honest, temperate and moral spirit, which pervaded every sentence, can only be known by those who listened to it.

We suppose it is almost unnecessary for us to state that Judge Vandyke has made a very favorable impression upon our community.

Lectures by Rev. A. A. Willits.

We take pleasure in announcing to our readers that this distinguished lecturer will visit Bridgeton, and deliver two of his most popular lectures on Thursday and Friday evenings next. "The Man for the Age," which will be delivered on Thursday evening, is considered by many as Mr. Willits' best lecture, having been greatly improved since it was delivered before immense audiences in large cities, and pronounced unsurpassed by the most renowned. "The Woman for all Ages" will be the subject for Friday evening. This is a new lecture, never before delivered, and will doubtless be worthy of the highest commendation, not only by the ladies, but by all who have the pleasure of hearing it. It is not necessary for us, at this time, to add a word in favor of Mr. Willits as a lecturer; all who have heard him once will desire to hear him again. To those who have never had the admiration and awe; and which can only be pleasure of listening to his soul-stirring cloquence, we would say, by all means go and hear him on Thursday evening, and you will certainly desire to hear him again. This will be the last time Mr. Willits will visit this part of the country for a long time.-The price of admission has been put low. which will afford all who desire to hear him an opportunity. You are doubtless acquainted with the affairs in Canada, enough to know the political contention between the two United Provinces. The union made in 1840, unlike the union of the States, was an unnatural one Express. determined on as an act of imperial policy, and carried as such. It was not attended by natural affection, congeniality of habit, national character, religion or language; neither was it ever sanctioned by the people, but merely an attempt to unite what never can be united, being made as a matter of convenience on the part of those by whom it was negotiated, and has failed to answer the end for which it was designed. The two countries being wide apart and far removed from each other by the wide stretch of country inhabited; there being in them two distinct nations, the conquerors and the conquired; there being two different languages, English and French; there being two races differing in sentiment and creed; there being two distinct judicial systems differing in court and municipal regulations; and two different religions, Catholic and Protestant, with two separate school systems of education, make the two Provinces united with such differences as to make a true union impossible. In all local matters the two provinces are as distinct and independents as if they had never been united. Hence there are many invidious distinctions and rooted opposition of conflicting interests which have produced an unsatisfactory state of affairs. The English and French languages being used in all official documents and on the floor of Parliament, a large portion of the members of either section fail to comprehend what their fellow representatives of the other section say. Great abuses have arisen and deplorable evils have been produced by the attempt to govern the two provinces so separate and distinct under one legislature, and the disastrous effect of antagonism is stamped upon every act of the government.

By an arbitrary act in the conditions of the union, (made in 1791) which makes a geographical line the separating boundary, each of the two provinces was awarded an equal number of Representatives in the Church, in which the session of the convention | House of Assembly without regard to disparity of population present or future; no matter how great the population may become on one side of the line, or how small comparatively may be that on the other, the number of Representatives in Parliament remains the same for both. Very seldom indeed do we recom mend any kind of patent medicine, the country being flooded with all kinds of quack medicine, nearly all of which might appropriately be labelled "humbug." Yet there are doubtless medicines prepared and sold, the properties and beneficial effects of which, if generally known, would meet with much more extensive sale than they already do. Among these latter kind of medicines, we believe, from the testimony we have heard from those who have been relieved and cured by taking it, that the "Forest Pine Tar Cordial," prepared and sold by Manderson & Co., No 53, South 3d Street, Philada. stands A No. 1 on the list. Those afflicted can test the merits of this medicine for themselves.

Mrs. Partington's Visit to the "Tented Mrs. Partington's Visit to the "Tented Field."— Did the guard present arms to you, Mrs. Partington? "asked a commissary, as he met her at the entrance of a marquee. "You mean the century?" said she smiling. "I have heard so much about the tainted field, that I believe I could deplore an attachment into line myself, and secure them as well as an officer. You asked me if the guard presented arms. He didn't: but a sweet little man with an epilepsy on his shoulder and a smile on his face. did, and asked me if I wouldn't go into a tent and smile. I told him that we could both smile as well outside, when he policity touched his chatean and left me." "Ike," with a bran new suit on. from the "palatial store" of Ghanville Stokes, No. 607 Chestnut street, was in the meanwhile, turning "flip flaps," in the background.

The Original Gift Clothing Store.—Mes Rocksill & Wilson have frequently been asked why they do not start a Gift Clothing Store. They reply that they have built up their very large business by giving every customer the full value in fine clothing for his money, and thus give satisfaction, without resorting to humbing. The motion of the Great Brown Stone Clothing hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, is "quick sales and small profits."

"Good Coursel is above all Price."—Such was the counsel Franklin gave when he said. "Take care of the pence, the pounds will take care of themselves." "Beware of the little expenses," for "a small look will sink a great ship." "Be patient in adversity and humble in prosperity." "Be "ise patient in adversity and humble in prospecity." "Be mindful of things past and provident of things to come." "Be timely wise, rather than wise in time:" and they who are timely wise deposit their money in The Franklin Saving, Fund. [Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1860, y MANDERSON & Co., in the Clerk's Office of the District ourt of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.] CONSUMPTION.

CONSUMPTION.

WE cannot speak too highly of this TAR CORDIAL as a cure for Consumption. Many persons, once poof and emeciated, can testify that when everything else failed, and they were just ready to step into fine grave, as new light sprang up—they heard of the FOREST PINE. TAR. CORDIAL, and its wonderful cures; and as the strong man, grappling with the mighty waves, layer hold of every object that offers a shadow of assistance, they took the Tar. Cordial, and were restored to perfect health. To the Consumptive, then, we say, taker courage; the Forest Pine Tar Cordial has cured as hopeless cases as yours—it may cure you, at least do not despair until you have given it a fair trial.

Read the following:

cases as yours—it may cure you, at least do not deepair until you have given it a fair trial.

Read the following:

To Jonn D. Baller, Esq.—Dear Sir.—Being a great sufferor for fourteen years, from a c mfirmed Asthma, the bottle you brought me of the Forest Fine Tar Cordial prepared by Manderson a Co., restored me to perfect health, after being pronounced incurable by four of the leading loctors of the city. My sincere prayer is to let the world know it.

Northeast corner Twenty-third and Vibe Sig.

Philadelphia, March 15, 1860.

Read the following:
Gents:—Being of a Consamptive tendency, with weakness, pain in the breast and lungs, and general debility, I was induced to try your genuine Forest Pine Tar Cordial, and am happy to say it has been of the greatest benefit, as my pain and weakness have left me, and I am gaining in strength and flesh daily. I believe your Forest Pine Tar Cordial to be the best medicine known, and can with confidence recommend to those similarly afflicted.

Philadelphia, April 28, 1860.

Philadelphia, April 28, 1860 CAUTION.

CAUTION.

The success attending the sale of the Forest Pine Tar Cordial, and the wonderful cures performed by it, have induced others to imitate afid make an inferior article, so as to impose upon the public, and induce the unwarry to believe that in purchasing said Medicines, they were getting our celebrated and wonderful Forest Pine Tar Cordial. Therefore, to protect the public against all such spurious articles, they have had the words "FOR-EST PINE TAR CORDIAL, the Great Cure for Consumption, Bronchitis, &c.," and their name, "MANDERSON & CO..." blown on each of the bottles, which are of dark-green glass—none genuine without those words on.—kemember, we have no connection with any Ppreparation of Tar buthlits. on of Tar but this.

The enterprising proprietor of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKEY, (The Purest Medicinal Agent evet known.) has furnish ed the community a Stimulant, Fure, Healthful and In vigorating, at the same time a mild delicious beverage this calculated to do away with the vile drugged stuff that is palmed off on the community, and which is injurious to body and mind. In addition to the certificates beneath, he has received a Diploma from the State Agrientural Society, and additional testimony from DR. JACK-SON, of Boston, who testifies under oath to its absolute purity. Certificates. We have carefully tested the sample of Chemut trove Whiskey which you sent us, and find that it contains none of the Poisonous Substance known as Fusil Oil, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the whiskeys in general use.

On than any other disease, and the best physicians for many years have despaired of furnishing a cure, or remedy that would heal the lungs; yet for more than two hundred years the whole medical world has been convinced that there is a mysterious power and efficacy in the lime Tree Tar to heal the Lungs; therefore, they have recommended the use of far water, which in many cases had a good effect, but how to combine its medical properties so as to heal the Lungs, has ever been a mystery, until it was discovered by L. Q. C. Wishart: the proprietor of Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, and has been put in bottles patented by the U. S. Government. We say to the sick it-eleanses the blood of its gross impurities, touches every nerve, and restores the whole system to health and vigor. Many have been cured in a short time, that have singered for years without relief, and could you but stand at the camer's of the store, No, 56 South Third Street, by one week, and hear the afflicted tell of the won drous and healing power of the Pine Tree Tar Cordial, you would be satisfied that it does all that is claimed for it. This Cordial will cure Consumption, Inflammation of the Lungs; Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat and Breast, Bronchitts, Pyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Weak Stomach, Asthma, Gravel, Discases of the Kidney, Blind and Bleeding, Piles, Nervous Debility, Dropsy, Palpitation of the Heart,
