For the West Jersey Pioneer. IN THE BEGINNING.

How awful must have been that hour. When the Almighty rose in power, And oe'r the silent, dark abyes, The deep, unbounded, fathomless, The line and plummet of his plan He threw to measure his design!

"Silence and Darkness, sisters twin," Stood waiting, wondering, breathless then! The angels formed in legions strong, Laid quietly to sleep their song; While the Great Spirit moved and stirred, Where nought was seen and nothing heard: Till from the deep and dreary gloom Unnumbered masses rise and loom In orb and order, one by one Finds its position round the throne.

A voice the long pent silence broke, And even inert matter woke: "Let there be light!" the fiat came, And thousand suns burst into flame: And poured such floods of brilliancy That gloom and darkness fled away; And settled to the depths unknown. Where refuse rebel souls are thrown.

The awful of the hour was gone. When light revealed what God had done, Displaying round the burning throne. The immense, amazing brilliant zone Of worlds unfolding as they roll, The grand, sublime and beautiful.

HARD OF HEARING.

George Gates, an elderly gentleman in our little city, is very hard of hearing; so much so in fact, that one needs to shout rather lustily to make him understand; and yet he will sometimes hear as well as other persons, and on that account he is the "butt" of many good jokes: the following is an example:

A few days ago, "Uncle Gates," as he is called, was sitting under the porch of the 'Waverly,' enjoying his cigar and the "evening news," when a youngster came up to him, and asked for the loan of his knife. Uncle Gates didn't hear.

Again and again did the youngster repeat his request; but each time with the same result; so the boy placed his mouth to the old gent's car, and shouted his demand.

Uncle Gates handed him the article, and whisper, murmured:

"By George! here's a three-cent piece." With one bound, Uncle dates was at his side, and catching the youngster by the arm,

"No, you don't, young man; I'll take that money myselt." "Very deaf, you are," said the little one; but it's only a button."

A schoolmaster, who had an inveterate motive he could have in doing so? He replied that he had two good and and substantial reasons. "In the first place, he liked to talk to sensible man; in the next place, he liked to hear a sensible man talk."

"Perhaps Brother Jonathan does carry nis hands in his pookets," said a drawling Yankee, in dispute with an Englishman, but the difference between him and John has his in somebody else's.

Whiskey is now tested by the distance f four hundred yards from the demijohn.

NIGHT AIR.

An extraordinary fallacy is the dread of night air. What air can we breathe at night but the night air? The choice is between pure night air without, and foul night air from within. Most people prefer the lutter. An unaccountable choice. What will they say if it is proved to be true that fully one half of all the disease we suffer from is occasioned by people sleeping with their windows shut? An open window most nights in the year can never hurt any one. This is not to say that light is not necessary for recovery. In great cities night air is often the best and purest air to be had in the twenty-four hours. I could better understand shutting the windows in towns. during the day, than during the night, for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make night the best time for airing the patient. One of our highest medical authorities on consumpfrom the out-side air, if possible. Winwithin. ### SPEAK PLEASANTLY.

" Among the multitudes of earth, how small the number who habitually, and from principle speak pleasantly."

Is this indeed so? Or has the writer's experience been an unfortunate one? We fear the remark has to great an application. But what a commentary on life! And why do men and women speak to children, dependents, and even their daily companions, in a fretful captious, or ill-natured way?-Not so much from ill-nature, or an unkind feeling toward others, as in consequence of mental inquietude, arising from hidden sources of trouble; or from a dissatisfied spirit that ever reaches forward beyond the present good, and chafes itself against the

TOMATOES.

The Working Farmer says of the tomato plant that it bears eighty per cent. of its fruit within eighteen inches of the ground, while more than half of the plant is above that part. When the branches are cut they do not bleed, and they may therefore be shortened immediately above the large and carly setting fruit. The removal of the small fruits on the ends of the branches is no loss, for the lower fruit will swell to an unnatural size by trimming, and both a greater weight and measure of fruit will be he consequence, besides obtaining a large portion five to fifteen days earlier. The rimming should be so done as to leave a few leaves beyond the fruit to insure a perfeet ripening. The importance of carly maturing is too evident to need comment. The burying of the removed leaves immeliately around the plants is a good practice, both by ensuring a full disturbance of the soil, and by presenting a fertilizer precisely to the point of fruit making. The portions buried, decay rapidly, and are readily assim-

A knotty question before the Bungtown Debating Society was thus unravelled upon a recent occasion, by the worthy chairman

Is Your NAME BROWN?-Captain W. tells an occurrence witnessed by him last week on board the Ocean, on her passage down. An oldish and somewhat purblind gentleman pacing up and down the upper saoon, stopped in front of a large, full-length mirror, and after gazing at the figure presented, for a moment or two, inquired in a very deliberate tone—

"Is—your—name—Brown?" No answer. Question repeated louder-"IS-YOUR-NAME-BROWN?" Question again repeated louder still-"IS_YOUR_NAME_BROWN?"

Still no answer "Well," said the questioner, "you are either no gentleman, or very deaf!" The saloon was in a roar.

A man in California who had a brother hung, informed his friends in Ireland that his "brother on a recent occasion addressed a large public meeting, and just as he finished, the platform gave way and he fell and broke his neck."

THE PILORINS --- AN ALLEGORY .-- - Mcthought I was once upon a time traveling through a certain land which was very full of people; but, what was rather odd, not one of all this multitude was at home; they were all bound to a far distant country. Though it was permitted by the lord of the land that these pilgrims might associate together for their present mutual comfort and convenience; and each was not only allowed, but commanded, to do the others all the services he could upon their journey, yet it was decreed, that every individual traveler must enter the far country singly. There was a great gulf at the end of the journey which every one must pass alone, and at his own risk, and the friendship of the whole united world could be of no use in shooting that gulf. not think about. I observed that these pilgrims, instead of being upon the watch, lest they should be ordered off unprepared; instead of laying up any provisions, or even making memorandums of what they would be likely to want at the end of their journey, spent most of their time in crowds, either in the way of traffic or diversion. At first, when I saw them so much engaged in conversing with each other, I thought it a good sign, and listened attentively to their talk, not doubting but that the chief turn of it would be about the climate, or treasures, or society, they should probably meet with in the far country. I supposed they might be also discussing about the best and safest road to it, and that each was availing himself of the knowledge of his neighbor, on a subject of equal importance to all. I listened to every par-, but in scarcely any did I hear one word about the land to which they were bound; though it was their home, the place where their whole interest, expectation, and inheritance lay; to which also great part of their friends were gone before, and whither they were sure all the rest would followed. Instead of this, their whole talk was about the business, or the pleasures, or the fashions of the strange, but be witching country which they were merely passing through, and in which they had not one foot of land which they were sure of calling their own for the next quarter of an hour. What little estate they had was personal, and not ical, and that was a morroaged, life-hold tenement of clay, not properly their own, but only lent to them on a short, uncertain lease, of which threescore years and ten was considered as the longest period, and very few indeed lived in it to the end of the term, for this was always at the will of the Lord, part of whose prerogative it was, that he could take away the lease at pleasure, knock down the stoutest tenement at a single blow, and turn out the poor, shivering, helpless inhabitants, naked to that far country for which he had made no provision .-Sometimes, in order to quicken the pilerim in his preparation, the Lord would break down the tenement by slow degrees; sometimes he let it tumble by its own natural decay; for it was only built to last a certain term, it would often grow so uncomfortable by increasing dilapidations even before the ordinary lease was out, that the lodging was hardly worth keeping, though the tenant could soldom be persuaded to think so. but fondly clung to it to the last. First the thatch on the top of the tenement changed color, then it fell off and left the roof bare; then the grinders ceased because they were few; then the windows became so darkened that the owner could scarcely see thro' them; then one prop fell away, then another, then the uprights became bent, and the whole fabric trembled aand tottered, with every other symptom of a falling house .-But what was remarkable, the more uncomfortable the house became, and the less prospect there was of staying in it, the more preposterously fond did the tenant grow of his precarious habitation — Hananh More.

TRULY TO BE PITIED.—Supposing or admitting the world could make its votaries happy in a state of prosperity, it will, it must, leave them without resource in the day of trouble. And they are to be pitied indeed, who, when their grounds are withered, when the desire of their eyes is taken from them with a stroke, or the evil which they most feared touches them, or when death stared them closely in the face, have no acquaintance with God, no access to the throne of grace, but being without Christ, are without a solid hope hereafter. though they are forced to feel the vanity and inconsistency of every thing here. - John New-

On and after Wednesday, August 1st, the Steamer Patuxent will leave Bridgeton on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 4 o'clock, and Philadelphia on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5 e'clock, and Saturdays at 12 o'clock-noon.-See advertisement in another column, next week.

Powell & Parvin are noted for the superior stock slaughtered by them, and our citizens should patronize their stand liberally.

Bear Killed near Mauricetown.

We learn from a citizen of Mauricetown, that a bear, weighing 398 lbs., was killed in the woods, a few days since, by Ezekiel Mayhow, Wm. Haley, and Charles Sharp, of that place .-The hide of the animal is in Mauricetown. Perhaps this is the same old bear that was seen a few miles below Bridgeton some four weeks since, on his way to Cape May County.

We hope that any person outside of Bridgeton who can, at any time, furnish us. with news items of general interest, or of interest in their locality, will do so, and if not in proper shape, we will try and make them readable. The facts good name, will pay her fine farms a visit, and in the case are all that is necessary.

LECTURE AND CONCERT.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the Lecture and Concert to be given in Grosscup's hall on Monday evening next. The mingling of a musical with an intellectual entertainment is something of a novel idea, and one which, we should think, would become highly popular in every intelligent community, where a taste for music is at all cultivated. Its soothing, gentle influence upon the mind quiets and prepares it for the reception of intellectual nutriment, while. in a pecuniary point of view, a two fold return is made for the small amount invested. Mr Wood, the lecturer, is a young man whom we hear very highly spoken of as a lecturer. He is known to many of our citizens, and will uhdoubtedly furnish as good and interesting a lecture as many whom we are obliged to pay a large price to get to come to lecture at all. Lectures ought to be encouraged by every citizen, and we think, honestly, that home genius ought to be encouraged. The band is composed of young men who have already acquired something of a celebrity as performers, but are needing a few more instruments to complete thyir organization. This is the object of the concert, and we hope to see it liberally patronized by our citizens.

King's Island Hotel.

By reference to another column, it will be seen that this favorite summer resort is open for the enjoyed a very pleasant time, and knowing something about its advantages, we can recommend it as one of the most desirable summer resorts in this part of the country. Those who desire to spend a day in sailing, fishing, or otherwise enjoying themselves, will find a grand opportunity wide awake, and added to the entertainments of at this place. Mr. Zane has had much experience in keeping one of the right kind of hotels. The culinary department is conducted in the very best manner, and those who enjoy a plentiful supply of well-cooked provisions, will find it at the King's Island Hotel.

Excursion to Fort Delaware and Salem. On Wednesday next, the Steamer Patuxent will make an excursion to the above named places. It will be seen by the advertisement that this will afford a fine opportunity for persons to visit their friends and places of interest in Salem, besides seeing the Fort, which alone is worth the price of the excursion. Arrangements have been made to make this a pleasant trip, and it is hoped a large number may participate in the enjoyments of the excursion.

Messrs. G. Andre & Co., 1104 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, has favored us with some excellent sheet music, among which is a collection of beautiful household songs, designed for the parlor, carefully revised and arranged with simplified accompaniments, by C. Everest. "The Nun's Prayer." "Her Bright Smile haunts me Still," "If I am all Alone," "Serenade to Ida." The latter piece is considered, by good judges, to be one of the most popular pieces of the day.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, is a pleasant remedy for every kind of cough, cold, and irritation of the breathing apparatus; it is a safe remedy; it is a powerful remedy; it is a speedy remedy; it is a remedy that cures.

AN APOLOGY TO NEW JERSEY.

The subjoined handsome apology to our State, we find in the New York Ledger of July 20th, already issued. It is not only com plimentary to New Jersey, but highly creditable to Mr. Bonner, publisher of the Ledger. It will be noticed that he had, also, "entertained the genral opinion that New Jersey was a very poor, barren sort of State," but after "visiting several of her counties in the interior," he came to a very different conclusion; the same conclusion that most persons come to who visit the southcon portion of the State, if they were not well informed in reference to the real character of the people, soil and productions. We are gratified to learn that as New Jersey becomes known she is more highly appreciated and justly spoken of.

"Some three years ago in one of our adver tisements we jocularly announced that the Led ger would be ready on a stated merning, and "for sale at daylight, at all the news-offices in the United States, New Jersey and the Sandwich Islands." This was intended as a piece of pleasantry; but some of the New Jersey editors took it quite in earnest, and berated us in tremendous style for insulting their State. We had, of course, a hearty laugh at their simplicity; although, we confess, we entertained the general opinion that New Jersey was a very poor, barren sort of State. Lately, however, we visited several of her counties in the interior, and were quite surprised to see some of the finest land and finest farms that we have ever laid our eyes upon. In Monmouth county, especially, was this the case. The farmers in that region have fortunes in the rich marl beds with which their land abounds, and they know how to use it. We have a valuable pair of horses "turned out" there, on the farm of Mr. William Henry Sickles, and we do not suppose that there is an other place equal to it in any State in the Unio for recruiting horses. The grass is singularly nutritious, is grateful to the animal, and has a peculiarly medicinal effect. Mr. Sickles has twenty-four acre field of wheat, the like of which we have never seen. The soil in that whole re-gion is rich and fertile, and capable of bearing bundant crops. It is very appropriately called Pleasant Vulley, a name which was given to i by Washington when passing through it in Revlutionary times. While sojourning there, on a ecent visit, our conscience smote us,-we felt that we had in that old advertisement done in justice to New Jersey; we determined to make her an apology, which we now offer in the mos humble manner, hoping that every other person who has cast the slightest reflection upon her then go and do-likewise."

Monday evening last was quite an in teresting occasion on board the Steamer Patuxent, on her passage from Bridgeton to Philadelphia. A large number of passengers were on board, all of whom seemed desirous of hearing the Rev. Mr. Meeker, late Pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Fairton, Rev. Mr. Pierce, re turned missionary from Africa, and Rev. Mr. Dobbins of the Commerce St., M. E. Church of this town. The exercises of the evening were opened with prayer by Mr. Pierce, after which, Mr Meeker entertained the company with some very interesting and appropriate remarks, followed by Mr. Dobbins, who in his usual attractive and able manner proved himself "worthy of his high calling." Mr Pierce added some valuable and important remarks, calculated to awaken thought in the minds of those present. The exercises were concluded with prayer by Mr. Mecker, and "congregational singing." Space forvids a more extended report of the winning and gentle manner of Mecker; the eloquent and logical remarks of Dobbins; or the solemn and awakening thoughts uttered by Pierce.

It speaks well for Captain Blew, that such ex ercises are conducted by his request, while he does not object to any innocent amusement on board the boat. On her way back to Bridgeton, a lively company were singing and playing various kinds of games during the evening, most of the passengers joining in. The only serious accident that occurred, was some one fell over a she was interested in playing "hindmost one-ofing performance, which kept the young folks the evening.

ADDRESS

TO THE STUDENTS OF W. J. ACADEMY

before you. On the close of the session, and on your temporary emancipation from academic life. I cordially congratulate you; more particularly and willingly, as your examination has borne witness to your diligence during its continuance.

It is the lad who bears himself most irreproachably through these regulations and restrictions; submitting his own judgment to that of his superiors in age; taking it for granted for a little season that his superiors in age are his superiors in wisdom also, that is best fitted for the dignities and duties of riper years. I have not come, my young friends, to preach you a sermon, as you will soon discover, but I can hardly refrain from repeating language which almost always comes unbidden into my mind, when I see a company of young gentlemen avowedly preparing for public life. It need hardly be said after this, that the mastery of these languages, without which you could, of course, make no acquaintance worthy the name with this ancient literature, will introduce you to sources of enjoyment which, though indeed not of the highest kind of which you are capable, not of sacred or holy character, is yet enjoyment every way worthy of your rational and intellectual nature, and which will, doubtless, in many instances, prove a charm superior to the vulgar spectacle in the streets, or the flashing splendors of the hall illumed for the music and the dance. It cannot be expected that I should enlarge much on these several heads of argument, but perhaps I shall have time to say something under several of them, if not all .-The study of language in general, and the study of the Greek and Latin languages particularly, admirably serves to discipline the mind. It disciplines it by an easy and pleasant, and yet effective process. It is a labor adapted to the age of eight or ten eloquence, since these studies constitute years, and may very properly be begun at the very spring and nutriment of my that early age. HEARING from various sources numerous reports in regard to my future continuance in the Dry Goods business. I deem it a duty I owe to my friends and the public generally, to correct the wrong impression that seems to be resting upon the minds of many, and in so doing I will say that it has never been my intention to remounce the business, as some of my would be friends have endeavored to leave the impression. I will say further that I shall carry on the Dry Goods business in all its branches, as hereotofore, at the old stand of C.S. CONSUMPTION has destroyed more of the human famuly years have desipared of furnishing a cure, or remody that would heal the lungs; yet for more than two hundred years the whole medical world has been convinced that there is a mysterious power and efficacy in the Pine Tree Tar to heal the Lungs; therefore, they have recommended the use of tar water, which in many cases had a good effect, but how to combine its medical properties so as to heal the Lungs, has ever been a mystory, until it was discovered by L. O. C. Wishart, the proprietor of Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, and has been put in bottles patented by the U.S. Government: We say to the sick it cleanses the blood of its gross unpurities; touches every nerve, and restores the whole system to health and vigor. Many have been cured in a short time, that have lingered for years without relief, and could you but stand at the counter of the store, No. 14 South Third Street, for one week, and hear the afflicted tell of the wondrous and healting power of the Pine Tree Tar Cordial, you would be satisfied that it does all that is claimed for it. This Cordial will cure Consumption, Inflammation of the Lungs, Conglas, Colds, Sore Tineat and Breast, Broichitis, Dyspensia, Liver Complaint, Weak Stomach, Asthma, Gravel, Discases of the Kidney, Blind and Bleading Pices, Norvous Dability, Propsy, Palpitation of the Heart, &c. BROWNING & BROS

The enterprising proprietor of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKEY,

(The Purest Medicinal Agent ever known.) has furnished the community a Stimulant, Pure, Healthful and In vigorating, at the same time a mild deli-ious beverage. It is calculated to do away with the vile drugged stuff that is pulmed off on the community, and which is injurious to body and mind. In addition to the certificates beneath, he has received a Diploma from the State Agricultural Society, and additional testimony from DR. JACK-SON. of Boston, who testifies under oath to its absolute purity. Certificates.

We have carefully tested the sample of Chesnut Grove Whiskey which you sent us, and find that it contains none of the Poisconous Substance known as Fusil Oil, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the whiskeys in general use.

New Yong, Sept. 3d. 1858.
I have analysed a sample of Cheanut Grave Whiskey, received from Mr. Charles Wharton, Jr., of Philadelphia, and having carefully tested it. I am pleased to state that it is entirely free from poisonous or deleterious substances.
It is an unusually pure and fine flavored quality of whiskey.

JAMES R. CHILTON,
Analytical Chemist.
Bosrov, March. 7th, 1859.
I have made a chemical analysis of commercial samples of Chesnut Grave Whiskey, which proves: The free from the heavy Fusil Oils, and 1 erfectly pure and unadulterated. The fine flavor of this Whiskoy is derived from the Grain used in manufacturing it. Respectfully,
