A DOMESTIC ROMANCE.

The papers relate the following story: One morning last week, a scene scenrred on the train from New York South, which for a time created quite an excitement among the passengers. Among those on the train was a lady about thirty years of age. She was good looking, and attracted much attention from her air of melancholy At princeton, a sun burned, but very handsome gentleman entered the car in which the lady in question was seated. No sooner had the parties glanced at each other than the lady swooned. On recovering herself, it appeared that the gentleman in question was her husband whom she had not seen for ten years. He had started for California when the gold fever first broke out. The parties at that time resided in Princeton, N. J. The husband was taken sick and did not recover for some time. Prior to his convalescence the lady had gone South in the capacity of a governes, and wrote that fact to her husband, who, unfortunately, did not receive her letter. No answer to his letter reaching him, he thought his wife was careless of his welfare. A feeing of home came over him, and he returned to the states a few days ago. Meantime the lady had fallen heir to a large Southern estate, left her by a member of the family which she had been teaching. These ex nations being made, the once more unused couple started on a Southern trip together There was a certainty of there being at least

RAIN. BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Men begin to look at the signs of weather. It is long since much rain fell. The ground is a little dry, the road is a good deal dusty. The garden bake. Transplanted trees are thirsty. THE CULTURE OF BLACKBERRIES-EXPERIMENT AND RESULT. We have frequently urged upon the readers of the Pioneer the importance and profit of the Blackberry culture. Its value, both to can, it has not a superior, as we can testify from experience. Carefully put up and table delicacy, to be served up fresh from the vines, in the myriad ways known to all wine, cordials, and various medicaments for the healthful action of the bowels, it stands far above every other fruit. God has adapted our soil and climate for its bountiful and THE HISTORICAL COMPANION, WITH GEunlimited production. To nearly every one it is both palatable, refreshing and invigorating, both in its natural, and almost every form of its prepared state. Taking these facts into consideration, the variety of ways and purposes for which it may be used, together with the well-established fact that an increasing production will tend to an increasing consumption, and we have no hesitation in saying that for years to come the market cannot be overstocked. As a proof of which, it will be sufficient to point to the present amount of ready sale and consumption as compared with a few years ago. While the price has trebled. Now, in many localities, more has to be paid per quart for the privilege of going into fields to pick them, than they brought at retail a few years ago. Our grain, they cannot successfully compete with its perfection, and it richly deserves the praise us in the cultivation of small fruits. The question then naturally arises Is such cultion, although it is probable that some of our citizens can give information from more extended experiment. Will they do it? The experiment to which we allude is as follows: Some blackberry bushes came up in the corner of a garden. They were thinned out to along the south side of a corn crib that stood close by. The vines grew very large, and were covered with blooms. Notwithstanding the very dry weather, which from its sun expied by these vines did not exceed thirtyfive feet, giving an average of a quart to every seven feet. There are forty three thousand, five hundred and sixty feet in an acre, consequently, this rate of production would give six thousand, two hundred and twenty hundred and eleven dollars per acre. All ground once over early in the spring, and a few moments spent in fastening up and training the vines. This is an actual result durwas large, and of a fine flavor. Now why careful consideration. WHERE FURS COME FROM.

Furs have become so common, and so important an article of ladies wear, that every thing connected with them becomes of general interest to both ladies and gentlemen. The vast consumption of furs has made a great inroad on the fur bearing animals, so that as civilization is extended, and the 'area' of these animals is becoming limited, the natural result of these would seem to be a large advance in the price of wearing furs. We are pleased to state, however, that this is not the case, a place having been recently discovered where the very finest furs can be obtained in abundance at but little cost .-What is still better, the furs found there are already for the wearer. This place is 718 Arch St., Philadelphia, where Mr. John Fareira keeps a splendid assortment of the the quality of the article. Besides this, Mr. Fareira is one of the very pleasantest and most agreeable of men to transact business with, we ever met with; perfectly gentlemanly, courteous and polite in his manners, and extremely obliging. HISTORY OF THE MODERN JEWS: OR AN-L. L. D. Published by Duane Rulison, Philndelphia.

The work before us, by Mr. Smucker, is a valuable contribution to the history of a people whose manners, customs and relative standing at the present day, very little is known or understood. It is a perfect epitome of the historic events which have transpired among the Hebrews, from the birth of Christ to our own time: and added to natural interest of the subject, is the fine vivid descriptions of the author. The first chapter opens with the seige of Jerusalem, by the Roman army under Titus, A. D. to yield to medical treatment. There are 70. The Temple which was so soon to become about a dozen cases under treatment at his a mass of ruins, is thus graphically described: "But higher than all the other edifices of the city; rose the glittering walls and towers of the Temple, each side of which occupied the sight of a mile in length. It was a magnificent and stately structure combining together the appearance of a fortress and a palace. Some of the single stones employed in the foundations were seventy feet square. The gates were constructas a table luxury, and in a sanative point of ed of Corinthian brass, and exhibited the most view, is not at all appreciated. As a fruit elaborate workmanship. The book is a valuable vade-mecum.

LIFE AND TIMES OF HEROD THE GREAT. AS CONNECTED HISTORICALLY AND PRO-PHETICALLY WITH THE COMING OF CHRIST, by WM. M. WILLET. Published by J. S. Garrison & Co., Phila.

The reader of the events connected with the life of our Saviour, has often felt the want of a secular work, describing the men, the great actors in the contemporaneous history. The constitution was so altered as to recognize all Superintendents as ex-officio members of the Association. Upon a call of Township Secretaries, Fairfield, Bridgeten, Deerfield, Hopewell, Greenwich and Downe Township, regolden vine was suspended, to which bunches sponded; very interesting reports were presented by Mr. Harris Ogden, Jr., of Fairfield .ifying result was in part the effect of the influence exerted by this Association. Mr. Seeley Shute, of Greenwich, reported the schools in that Township, in a flourishing condition. The beneficial effects of Sabbath School instruction was more especially noticed in Springtown, where they have a flourishing school entirely under the control and management of colored persons, where old and young meet to learn both to read and receive religious instruction. There has been within the last 10 years, a very large increase in the number of those who can read: the proportion who cannot is very small. Mr. L. Q. C. Elmer remarked that within comparatively a few years past, the reverse of this was Being a Superintendent of the Roadstown Bapnecessarily very limited. From that time until the present there has been a steady progress, until there are now in the county 60 schools, and over 4000 scholars. The constitution was so amended as that offi cers are to be elected annually. Mr. Isaac Laning was elected Township Secretary for Bridgeton Township, and Samuel Oogden for Stoe Creek. The present incumbents were re-elected for the ensuing year, excepting Mr. J. D. A MURDER AT TOWNSEND'S INLET. CAPE MAY CO.

We are called upon to announce the sad ccurrence that happened at Townsend's Inlet, last Thursday. A man by the name of Abram Garrison, committed the bloody deed of murder on his wife. He is a person of about 47 years of age, and medium height-say 5 feet 7 inches. His avocation s a varied one; sometimes a wood-chopper, a fisherman, a farmer, &c. This is a duty, and it is perfectly justifiable, according to the laws of our being; for man was never made to spend his time in idleness, which fact also scems to stand inseparably connected with the mass of humanity. While there is such a sameness in man and his wants, vet, labor varies in different realities. One locality becomes noted for one kind of labor, and To the Farmers of Cumberland Co., N. But some are poor widows with children to feed and clothe. Large establishments located in the city of New York, cut out the various kinds of garments, and send them out to the country stores. These stores have large two-horse wagons, and make their regular trip about every week, taking out and receiving their work, after it is done. I think it is really a shame that garments are thus thrown together; and yet, who can blame them, at the prices they receive. I have taken a lif that in the whole county there were but 1500 | tle pains to ascertain a list of prices paid .children not in Sabbath Schools; and had the re- For making shirts throughout, with bosom, collar and everything complete, five cents; for an extra quality, six cents. Mens pants, from fourteen to thirty-one cents Vests, from fifteen to fifty cents, each. Under shirts, from fifty to sixty cents per doz. I was introduced to one of these work venders a short time since, and asked him to be so kind as to give me a list of his paying prices, which he most cheerfully did, which prices are included in the above list. He spoke quite proudly of his living prices that he was paying as compared with what some others were giving. And now, only think of a woman making a shirt for five cents, a pair of overalls for four cents, or a coat for fifty cents, and a thick heavy one at that. And yet, it would not be quite so hard, if there were no women but those that have husbands, or fathers to board, and supply for them a home; but there are those that are so situated in life as to be under the necessity of getting a livelihood, be the manner what it may, whereby this is accomplished. And the thought of women being obliged to drag out an existence at the above prices, is certainly enough to make one's heart ache. But as dark as the picture appears, yet there are some lights, as well as shadows. For this same work-vender to which I have referred, said that he had one women that earned thirteen dollars per week, in making coats at fifty cents each. She has been fortunate enough to get a sewing machine, and it well compensates her for the trouble. I said trouble! well it certainly is some trouble, to pay seventy-five dollars for a good machine, at such prices. Quite a number are securing for terian Church. After an appropriate prayer by themselves this household companion, and by so doing they are enabled to make for themselves a good living. The stitching has had a tendency to lower the prices of hand-labor; but it certainly makes up in the rapidity with which one is enabled to turn off work. The work is done much neater, and nearly as strong. I think it is much stronger on the cheaper kinds of work, for the great rapidity with which they can stitch, enables them to stitch it well. Improvements are constantly being made in these machines themselves. There has always been in those that are in use, a liability to drop a stitch. A gentleman in New York has succeeded in bringing out one that cannot drop a stitch. This is what is claimed for it, and if true, it certainly is an improvement that will be of great utility. Well may the seamstress and the thousands of families bless the wisdom of God for put-

Walk of Life.—We talk of human life as a journey, but how variously is that journey performed l—There are those who come forth girt and shod, and manuled, to walk on velvet lawns and smooth terraces, where every gale is arrested and every beam is tempered. There are others who walk on the Alpine paths of life, against driving misery, and through stormy sorrows, over sharp afflictions; walk with bare feet and naked breast, jaded, mangled and chilled; whilst there are still others, whose pathway lies between these two extremes, who preserve the even tenor of their way, and buy their garments at the "One Price" Fashionable Emporlum of GRANVILE STOKES, No. 607 Chesnut street. An appropriate and valuable Gift is presented to each purchaser of a garmeat.

"THE HOURS OF YOUTH, LIKE THE WATERS OF A RAPID stream, roll on never to return," but none should be allowed to pass by without improvement, for Franklin said "if youth knew what age would crave, it would both get and save," as illustrated by his example, both in getting and saving; and the press and the public say such as vings should be deposited in some safe and reliable institution, such as the Franklin Saving Fund, No. 136 South Feurth street, below Chestnut, Philada, where

NOTICE.

In the late number of the Pioneer, I was surprised to find a notice inserted in reference to my daughter Emma, over the signature of her husband, William T. Cobb, stating that she had refused his bed, board and protection, and also forbidding all persons trusting her on his account, as he would pay no bills of her contracting. &c. That those unacquainted with the character of the author (her husband) may not be deceived by his false statement, and in justice to my afflicted daughter. I state, without the fear of successful contradiction, that since her marriage to him she has invariably resided, boarded, and lodged in my family, and for the last fourteen weeks, she has, from indisposition, been unable to leave her own bed, he having none for her to rest upon. In regard to his bed and board, he has never, since their marriage, spent to the amount of ten dollars for her, notwithstauding her long, protracted sickness, during which she has been, and still is, cared for and nursed by her mother, and cannot, at the penning of this exposition, walk across her room without an assistant.

Clerk of Steamship Phineas Sprague. Philadelphia, April 28, 1860. CAUTION. CAUTION.

The success attending the sale of the Forest Pine Tar Cordial, and the wonderful cures performed by it, have induced others to initate and make an inficrior article, so as to initate and make an inficrior article, so as to initate upon the public, and induce the unwary to believe that in purchasing said Medicines, they were getting our celebrated and wonderful Forest Pine Tar Cordial. Therefore, to protect the public against all such spurious articles, they have had the works "FOREST PINE TAR CORDIAL, the Great Cure for Consumption, Broughitis, &c.," and their name, "MANDERSON. & CO." blown on each of the bottles, which are of darkgreen glass—none genuine without those words on. Between Market and Chestnut Stre PHILADEL PHIA Cash Price $45 per 2,000 lbs. (21/2 ets. per 1b.) A liberal discount made to dealers. In the preparation of this Valuable Manure, BONES ARE USED IN THEIR RAW STATE ONLY- They have never been noting on catching. They are taken as nature has made them, crushed with powerful machinery, and the Bone is retained, a Fertilizer is produced, furnishing in a concentrated and soluble form the two indispensable ingredients for the growth of Plants and enriching the roll, viz.: prosports are awa awnoria. These two ingredients, by the use of "BAUGHTS RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE," are given to the soil in all their original strength and purity. They assimilate at once with the soil, furnish all the needful ammonia for the growing crop, giving it ample laguriance, and leave the land permanently benefitted so that its prosence can be traced for years afterwards. years afterwards.

The steadily increasing demand which has followed the Raw Bone Super-Phosphate of Lime is a marked proof that the Farmer and Planterare beginning to appreciate the value of such Fertilizers, as not only produce the first crop but also permanently improve the soil, and on this point we have abundant evidence from these who prefor its use to that of Peruvian Guano. Since the introduction of our article we have continually desired to furnish a Manure combining ALL the important constituents of Raw Bones, and we have accomplished this by a process originating with and used only

I take pleasure in introducing Mr. GEO. SHAW to the traveling public, not only as a good driver and horseman, but as a good and reliable business man, and one whose pleasure will be to make his passengers confortable.

If the traveling community will extend their patronage to this line, they shall have the very best necommodations that can be had in the, way of horses and coaches—
There will be four horse coaches run for the present, and if the business warrants it they will be continued. It is now for the people to say, by their patronage, whether they will have a first-rate line or not.
