For the West Jersey Pionecr. A REQUIEM.

BY MRS. SARAH S. SOCWELL. Gently, gently close her eyes, Soft and blue as noonday Heaven; Now the silver chord is loosed, Now lhe ties of life are riven. Fold the snowy funeral robe Round her slender graceful form. Which hath like a Summer flower Bowed before the sweeping storm. Part the soft, brown, wavy hair Smoothly o'er the marble brow. Close the finely chiseled lips-

Silent is their music now. Let us fold the lily hands Lightly on the quiet breast-Pain and sorrow now are o'er, Peaceful is her silent rest. Now we scatter o'er her bier, Summer's brightest, fairest flowers; Frail and perishing as they, She hath passed from earthly bowers. Gently bear her from the home Which her death hath filled wilh gloom, She can uwell no longer here, Lay her in the narrow tomb. Dust to dust, and earth to earth, Spirit to the living God! Bow we now, in hope and trust, To our Father's chastening rod.

From her solemn place of rest. The following poem by the late Senator Baker, as written twelve years ago. Observe how the last verse applies to his fate:

TO A WAVE.

Gently, lightly heap the earth

Sadly, mournfully we turn

On our loved one's quiet breast-

Dost thou seek a star with thy swelling crost, Oh! wave that leaver thy mother's breast? Dost thou leap from the prisoned depths below In scorn of their calm and constant flow? Or art thou seeking some distant land To die in murmurs upon the strand l Hast thou tales to tell of the pearl-lit deep Where the wave-whelmed mariner rocks in sleep Canst thou speak of navies that sunk in pride Ere the roll of their thunder in echo died?

What trophies, what banners, see fining free In the shadowy depths of that shent sea? It were vain to ask, as thou rollest afar, Of banner, or mariner, ship or star; were vain to seek in the stormy fa Some tale of the sorrowful past to trace. Thou art swelling high, thou art flashing free, How vain are the questions we ask of thee!

too am a wave on a stormy sea: too am a wanderer, driven like thee; too am seeking a distant land To be lost and gone ere I reach the strand And they who once reach it, shall wander no more

FALLING FROM GRACE.

A good story is told of a certain Meth odist dominie of the pioneer stamp. The dominic had in some way incurred the displeasure of one of his members - one of those touchy iraselble saints, of which nearly each particular "charge" or "circuit" has one or more representatives .personally with him, earnestly, but all to no purpose; so he expelled him as a matter of course. The ex brother then took every occasion to insult and wound the feelings of the pastor. He slandered him to his face and behind his back, until at length, the poor dominic could stand it no longer. Meeting him one day at the Post Office, where a large he was leaving the room made some remark, to which the dissevered member responded. "That's a d-n lie!" Quick as thought the dominie turned, divested himself of all unnecessary appendages, and stepping up to the astonished ene my and seizing him by the throat, gave vent to his long-pent up feelings as fol-

But I belong to sult or abuse me again, in word or deed, I shall, in all probability, fall from grace. And if I do you'll get one of the awful made up my mind to do just that thing.' It is needless to add that the ex-member concluded it was time to "dry up.

Jones, being a great lover of dogs, has famous breeder, and the pups are in great demand among those who know and appreciate their quality. Jones has a great many friends, and whenever any of them visit him, his enthusiasm for dogs leads him to boast of the breed of his own. The result is his friend makes him promise to save one of the pups for him when the next litter is produced. One day Mrs. Jones inquired in a quiet way: "Jones, how many pups will that wonderful dog have?

"Three or four perhaps." "Do you know how many of the next itter you have promised to your friends?" "No.

'You have already promised thirty-five. "Well," replied Jones, reddening slighty, and speaking with considerable vehemence, "a man that won't promise a friend a pup is a mighty mean man."

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 23, '61. This city is situated on the south bank of the Raritan River, about twelve miles from its mouth and contains, according to the last census, nearly fourteen thousand inhabitants. The city was formerly largely peopled by the Dutch, and their descendants may still be traced by the characteristic Van in connection with the hall. The benches were pretty well the last name. The city is an old one; abundant evidence of which fact may be found in the narrow, crooked streets, and in the singular styles of many of the old houses. For instance, many houses have their sides shingled instead of having them weather-boarded. Many houses also have their roofs tiled. Rutger's College and a Dutch Reformed Theological Seminary are located here. The President of the former is the Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen, whose name in connection with that of "Harry of the West" will recall to the minds of many of your readers the days of '44.

India Rubber goods have been the leading article of manufacture for many years in this place. They include blankets, belting, boots, shoes, combs, buttons and many fancy articles. For seve ral years the profits of the business were very large. The profits of the New Brunswick Rubber Co. one year were 100 per cent. Horace Day, whose name is widely known, commenced and carried on the business here for many years.

The manufacture of Wall Paper is also extensively carried on. At present nearly all of the factories are not in ope-

Bringing out the old Hogs.

Quite a number of years ago an eccentric genius by the name of Hunt. used to give temperance lectures in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. One night he announced that he would lecture in Easton. Now temperance was not in favor amongst the male portion of that borough. The women, however, were all in for the 'pledge," and consequently on Hunt's first night not a man showed himself in filled with women, though, and Hunt commenced; but instead of temperance, he put them through on the vanity of dress, etc. They wore great stuffed leather sleeves then They (the sleeves) caught it; then their tight lacing and so on through the whole catalogue of female follies, but not a word about temperance. And the ladies went home hopping mad, and told their husbands about it, and voted old Hunt down to the lowest notch. He had announced that he would lecture at the same place the next night .-Long before the time appointed had come, and when Hunt hobbled down the aisle, the building was comfortably filled with men. The old fellow looked about, chuckled, and muttered, "Hogs, I've got you now!" The audience started. Hunt chuckled again and said, "Aha, hogs, I've got you now!" The people looked at one another and asked: "What can he mean?" But Hunt only gave the half malicious chuckle and repeated: "Hogs, I've got you now!" After the crowd had got quiet a little, the lecturer arose and said: "Friends, you wanted to know what I meant by saying, Hogs, 'l've got you now!' and I'll tell you. Out west the hogs run wild, and when folks get out of meat they that will just swing clear of the ground nicely. Of course he squeals and raises a rumpus, when all the old hogs gather around to see what's the matter, and then Tens of thousands of soldiers have they shoot them at their leisure. Last

THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE.

The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican, makes the following good natured comments upon a power in the land which is not provided for in the Constitution, but may be said in some senses to hold sway even above the Constitution:-"We have for the first time in the history of Presidents, a President's wife who seems to be ambitious of having a finger in the government pie. Her friends compare Mrs. Lincoln to Queen Elizabeth in her statesmanlike tastes and capabilities. She is by no means a simple, domestic woman, but was evidently intended by nature to mix somewhat in politics. That she does so is undeniable. She has ere this made and unmade the political fortunes of men. She is said to be much in conversation with cabinet members, and has before now held correspondence with them on political topics. Some go so far as to suggest that the President is indebted to her for some of his ideas and projects. She is a very active woman.-Nothing escapes her eye. She manages the affairs of the White House (I do not mean State affairs) with ability, and will see to it that the "old man" does not return to Springfield penniless. In foreign countries her turn for politics would not ubject her to adverse criticism, but the American people are so unused to these things that it is not easy for them to like it. Mrs. Douglas was a good deal of a politician, though she never injured her susband's position, but rather improved t by her social alliances. Miss Lane never alluded to politics, and Mrs. Pierce knew nothing about them. She was probably the most simple minded woman that catch a young pig, put a strap under his body, and hitch him to a young sapling The word "simple" is not used in a depreciative sense. She was a pure-minded unselfish, Christian woman, and knew nothing at all of the world."

BODILY HEALTH OF STUDENTS.

My first advice, then, to young men oursuing or completing a course of liberal studies is, take care of your bodily health. Without this your intellectual attainments will be shorn of more than half their value. I dwell upon this point, and emphasize it, because on every side of me, in professional life, and especially in the clerical profession, I see so many helpless, hopeless, wrecks. Verily there is some grievous mistake among us in this one common word? Here are sever- this matter. PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Read in Congress Tuesday, December 3d,

Fellow-citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In the midst of unprecedented political troubles, we have cause of great gratitude to God for unusual good health and most abundant harvests.

The disloyal citizens of the United States who have offered the ruin of our adjournment, have been conducted with ment upon our present system. Let the country in return for the aid and comfort signal success. The patriotism of the Supreme Court be of convenient number which they have invoked abroad, have re-ceived less patronage and encouragement. in this case, discarding all moral, social and treaty obligations, would act solely and selfishly for the most speedy restoraacquisition of cotton, these nations appear as yet not to have seen their way to their object more directly or clearly through the destruction, than through the preservation of the Union.

If we could dare to believe that foreign nations are actuated by no higher principles than this, I am quite sure a sound argument could be made to show them that they can reach their aim more readily and easily by aiding to crush this rebellion than by giving encouragement to it. The principal dever relied on by the insurgents for exciting foreign nations ted, is the embarrassment of commerce. These nations, however, not improbably saw from the first that it was the Union which made as well our foreign as our domestic commerce. They can scarcely have failed to perceive that the effort for disunion produces the existing difficulty, and that one strong nation produces more durable peace and a more extensive and reliable commerce, than can the same nation broken into hostile fragments. It is not my purpose to review our discussions with foreign States, because whatever might be their wishes, or dispositions, the integrity of our country and the stability attend domestic difficulties. I recommend that adequate and ample neasures be adopted for maintaining the public defences on every side.

While under this general recommendation provision for defending our sea-coast line occurs to the mind.

I also, in the same connection, ask the attention of Congress to our lakes and rivers. It is believed that some fortifications and depots of arms and munitions, with harbor and navigation improvements, all at well selected points upon these, would be of great importance to the national defence and preservation.

I ask attention to the views of the Secretary of War expressed in his report upon the same general subject. I deem it of importance that the loyal regions of East Tennessee and Western North Carling should be connected with Kentucky and other faithful parts of the Union by railroad. In these documents we find the abridgment of the existing right of sufed for suppressing the insurrection, I | frage, and the deuial to the people of all right to participate in the selection of public officers, except the Legislature, boldly advocate, with labour arguments, to prove that large control of the peoole in Government is the source of all political evil. Monarchy its self is sometimes limited at as a possible refuge from the power of the people. In my present position I could scarcely be justified were I to omit raising a varuing voice against this approach of returning despotism.

It is not needed nor fitting here that a general argument should be made in favor of popular institutious. But there is one point, with its connections, not so hackneyed as most others, to which I ask brief attention.

It is the effort to place the capital on an equal footing with if not above labor in the structor of the Government. It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital, that nobody labors unless somebody else owing capi-The Union must be preserved, and tai, somehow by the use of it, induces considered whether it is best that capital shall hire laborers, and thus induce them them and drive them to it without their consent.

Having proceeded so far, it is naturally concluded that all laborers are have labored faithfully there ever since. not because I had any doubt that the end be given voluntarily with general advan- sion, were both mainly devoted to the either hired laborers or what we call domestic controversy out of which the slaves. And further, it is assumed, that Annual reports exhibiting the condition insurrection and consequent war have whoever is once a hired laborer, is fixed in that condition for life. Now there is no such relation between capital and labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor and What was painfully uncertain then, is could never have existed if labor had between labor and capital, producing muthat the whole labor of the community exists within that relation.

A few men own capital and that few avoid labor, or buy another few to labor for them. A large majority belong to neither class, neither work for others nor have others working for them.

In most of the Southern States a majority of the whole people, of all colors, are neither slaves nor masters, while in paired and open the Government. She the Northern, a large majority are neither already gives seven regiments to the hirers nor hired. Men with their families wives, sons and daughters, work for themselves on their farms, in their houses, and in their ships, taking the whole product jority, and a large aggeregate vote than to themselves, and asking no favors of they ever before gave to any candidate capital on the one hand nor of hired laborers or slaves on the other. It is not forgotten that a considerable number of persons mingle their own labor with their capital-that is, they labor with their souri is comparatively quiet, and I believe own hands and also buy or hire others to labor for them; but this is only a mixed and not a distinct class. No principle

Again, as has already been said, there is not of necessity any such thing as the free hired laborer being fix d to that condition for life. Many independent men,

The prudent, penniless beginner in the world, labors for wages awhile, saves a surhimself, then labors on his own account another while, and at length hires another new beginner to help him.

WARREN'S PRIMARY GEOGRAPHY, WARREN'S COMMON SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY, WARREN'S PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY. WARREN'S PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY.

These three books form a complete geographical courses, adapted to all grades of schools. They have recently been thoroughly revised, and now contain all new political and territorial changes, with statistice from the census of 1800. The Maps and Engravings are of the very highest order of excellence; and in all the books the maps are in the same volume with the descriptive text. The series is now used in most of the principal cities and towns of the United States, and has given great satisfaction wherever it has been adopted.

Union. On the infirmities of youth and maturity, disclosing the secret follies of both sexes of all ages, eausing debility, nervousness, depression of spirits, patipitation of the heart, suicidal imaginings, involunitary emissions, blushings, defective memory, indigestion and lassitude, with confessions of thrilling interest of a Boarding School Miss, a College Student and a young Married Lady, &c. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating fnarriage, who entertain secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and priviledges to which overy human being is entitled.

YOUNG MEN who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, the effects of which are dizziness, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak ejes, weakness of the back and lower extremties, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melaneholy, may be cured by the author's new Paris and London treatment.

We have, recently devoted much of our time in visiting the European Hospitals, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most skilled Physicians and Surgeons in Europe and the Continent. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many new and efficacious remedies which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured of the same zeal, assiduity, secrecy and attentson being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore as a Physician in our peculiar department of professional practice for the past twenty-five years.

BY Instructions given in the art of Photography. R. NEWELL, Gallery of Art, 724 Arch Street, Philadelphia. COMMENDATIONS:

From Hon. Lewis D. Campell, M. C., of Ohio. My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) Picture is more life like than any thing they ever saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by different Artists in various ways, but I have never yet had one which presents so true to mature, all the features and expressions of countenance as this.

From E. Joy Morris, late Minister to Italy.

The exquisite finish, beauty and softness of your portraits, conjoined with their durability of color and faithfurness as likenesses, cannot fail to commend them to the attention and patronage of all who appreciate true art.

Having occasion for a portrait, I procured one from Mr. Robert Newell, of the city of Philadelphia, a miniature in Oil Colors, under the new process discovered by him, and take great pleasure in expressing the satisfaction given me, not only by the accuracy of the likeness, but its artistic finish in all respects, and recommend him to the patronage of those disposed to encourage the beautiful art.

Ready-Made Clothing! Ready-Made Ciotning!

I have now on nand, and am constantly making up, a good stock of ready-made clothing, which is made of good strong material, and manufactured in a superior manner. As the times are hard, and there are many persons out of work, I have concluded, in order to give employment to as many as possible, in our town, to buy no city made goods this season, but to have made up here all the goods I can sell; thereby retaining that much more money in our own town. As I pay particular attention to the manner in which these goods are made up, my customers may depend on getting good goods, and at less prices than city made goods of the same quality can be sold.

By ROBT J. CULVERWEILL, M. D.,

The important fact that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without internal medicines or the dangersus application of caustics, instruments, medicated bougies, and other empirical devises, is here clearly demonstrated, and the entirely new and highly successful treatment, as adopted by the celebrated author fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure himself perfectly, and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nosfrums of the day. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thonsands. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address post-paid, on the receipt of two postagestamps, by addressing Dr. CH. J. C. WEST JERSEY WOOLEN FACTORIES. WEST JERSEY WOOLEN FACTORIES.

THE subscribers would direct the attention of farmers and others to their increased facilities for inaurifacturing superior WOOLEN GOODS, such as Satinetts, Cloths, Blankets, Horse Blankets, Flannels, Stocking and Carpet Yarn. We manufacture a durable article, of the best quality, and at low prices. We guarantee our goods not only to be equal to the imported in texture, but to stand hard wear much better. Mechanics and baboring men generally would find it to their advantage to purchase of us, instead of wearing foreign goods which will do them no adequate service.

We will pay the highest market prices for WOOL, which can be sent to our Factory at Bridgeton, or Allowaystown, and there manufactured to order, or cash paid. Also, all wool left with Daniel Sheppard, agent at Greenwich, will be promptly attended to.

We do not buy up this staple on speculation, and therefore, whilst paying Cash for Wool. at the highest rates, we insist that a preference should be freely extended to home manufacturor, and claim that, since no loss is incurred, we should have a priority among wool growers, or those which we would be sail. R. & J. DUBOIS.
