SERMONS BY DR. BULL.

The Rev. John Bull has devoted the last six months to plying with ghostly admonitions and godly exhortations his giddy young relative, Jonathan, with regard to the unutterable folly, atrocity, and iniquity of war. "Look here, "Jonathan!" he has been accustomed affection ately to urge, "I am older than you, and have had more experience in the ways of this wicked world, and I assure you that War is a criminal mistake. With far away heathen, who can't be reasoned with nor taught anything save at the mouth of the cannon, the point of the bayonet, it may be necessary to argue MARKING CANVASS, difficult questions with long forty-twos; but with rational, civilized, Christian men, your own kith and kin, never!-Jonathan, my boy! I am really ashamed of you! Look at my big debt! See how I have to tax and burden myself to pay the long score of my past indiscretions! Take warning by me, profit by my experience, and let war severely alone! "But, Doctor," was the mild rejoinder, "I know all you can tell me of the mischiefs and miseries of war. I hate war, and would gladly escape from it if I could. But, bad as war is, it seems to me that there are even worse calamities. I have borne and forborne to avoid the contest now forced upon me. I have seen State after State plunged into a causeless rebellion by a desperate but secretly organized, active, and utterly unscrupulous minority of her people, terrorizing the majority into acquiescense, or at least into silence. I stood still until my custom houses were seized and set to collecting revenue for the rebels-unwrested from me, and their contents turned over to the uses of the rebellion-until my forts, arsenals, armories, were in like manner stolen and their guns pointed against me -unt my armies, employed only for the defence of frontier States league with the rebels into the enemy's hands, the soldiers made prisoners of war and all their arms, munitions and stores turned over to the uses of treason And still I forbore until almost my last fortress along a seacoast of over a thousand miles, which was harming no one. threatening no one, was bombarded and captured by an overwhelming force, upon no other pretext than that I meditated sending provisions to its starving garrion. It seems to me that the most Christian meekness-even yours-could not have held out longer than that; and unless I was ready to admit that I had no authority in my own house, no right to my own property, I had no choice but to

"O there are always excuses for fightng," is the evangelical Docter's ready reply, "but there are always ways to avoid fighting for those that realy seek them. Take my advice and let those fiery Southrons hav etheir own head. The worst peace is better than the most triumphant war. You may shake your nead at this, but I know." -But all at once the Reverend Doctor is startled, in the midst of his prelections, by word that one of our cruisers has taken four notorious avowed traitors, proceeding on an errand of dangerous hostility to the United States, out of a British mail packet, and he stops sermonzing as though he had been shot.

"Halloo everybody! where are my cannon, my rifles, my ships of war, my shells. round shot, chain shot, and all manner of deadly implements and missiles? Unless the Yankees at once give up Mason, Slidell & Co. and apologise for taking hem, I'll burn New York, shell Boston, and pour death and destruction all over the loyal States! Get ready, boys! and blaze away!"

"But stop, Docter," mildly interposes Jonathan; "let us argue the point! You think you are right, doubtless; but you are altogether too hasty. You have n't heard our side of the matter. We will prove that you have acted toward us and others under like circumstances just as we have done in the case of your Trent and her precious load, only a great deal more sternly. We will prove by your own highest legal authorities that what we have done with regard to Mason and Slidell is fully justified by your standard interpretation of the laws of war and the rights of belligerents."

"I won't argue with you! I won't hear you!" shrieks John in his shrillest key; surrender and apologise or fight!—that is all I have to say."

The transition from the peace-preaching to the war-threatening Bull is very sudden, and in spite of his fury, gives him rather a ludiorous aspect. It is the old story of the parson who was perpet-Thomas Fleetwood, Sen., posts a black and white pled Heiler, with white face. No ear mark. Supposed to be three years old next spring.

BIDDY MALONEY'S CAT.

Matthew Maloney, better known by the boys at the mill as "Father Mat," on returning from work one evening, was met at the gate by Biddy, his better half, in a igh state of excitement.

"Mat," says she, "there's a strange cat in the cabin. "Cast her out, thin, an' don't be both

OUR COUNTRY-RIGHT OR WRONG.

It is the duty of every true patriot to live and work for the prosperity of his country. Every man, with a heroic soul desires to present to his native land some choice gift. Love of home and country is implanted in the human breast, and should ever be intelligently cultivated .-Barren and desolate of attraction is that human organization which remains indifferent and frigid concerning national worth and national success. Men responding to their country's needs may labor with zeal and telling power in various ways. They may march to the ell of battle, hold a responsible office, donate the sinews of war, wield an energetic pen, and in various ways perform an important part, and the influence exerted in every case will depend upon the stand-point taken with respect to the eternal principles of right and wrong. In proportion as men rely upon their higher faculties for guidance and instruction, do they become public benefactors. The dial pointers of reason, judgment and a comprehensive understanding ever hold a magic power to bless, enlighten and save. In every department of society these noble faculties show their kingly right to rule, but when applied to native land and birthright's soil, they show grandeur and preeminence. Impulse and passion must ever yield the palm to calm deliberation. There are patriots of various kinds; one, perhaps, in whom the animal and selfish propensi ties predominate: loves his country not as country's good as his own; another with a clear intellect may work well and effective for his country's cause, but he who links on to his intellectual acumen the ponderous anchors of right, justice and truth, is able to outstrip all others in whole-souled, live, breathing patriotism. The blows that fall from the hand that represent human welfare have a tenfold power compared with the champion of wrong. An earnest lover of country ever wishes to have not only his physical. but moral weapons bright and shining knowing full well that if his country adheres to the right it must eventually overcome all enemics who are wrong, for there ately. The expeditionary commander is nothing stronger in God's universe than paid his respects to Gen. #### UNITED STATES DIRECT TAX.

The direct tax assessed upon the value of all real estate in the United States, to raise the annual sum of twenty milcollected by the ordinary officers at very | lions of dollars, has been overlooked by little additional expense. By adapting many persons, who seem to be under the impression that there is but one national (tax income tax) to be paid. By a law of Congress, approved August 5th, it was provided, in order to raise the above mentioned sum, that each State should be compelled to furnish a certain proportion of that amount, which is to be collected in the following manner:-Assessors, appointed by the President and apof each piece of real estate, the valuation being based upon the supposed money value of such property on the first day of April. Property exempt from taxathe legislature. The amount expended tion is that belonging to the United States or any State and wherein it is situated. A deduction of five hundred dollars will be made from this valuation All persons assessing taxable property. or persons having the care or manage ment of such property, will be required to furnish written lists of it to the assessors. A false or fraudulent list will subject the offender to a fine of five hundred dollars. After the estimates are completed, public notice will be given by the assessors where their books may be seen and corrections may be made. The place at which the payment of taxes will be made, will be published in a newspa per in each district twenty days before the tax becomes due, and if persons neglect to attend, according to notification. the collector will make personal application to them within sixty days after the receipt of the collection lists. If then the taxes are not paid within another twenty days, he has power to collect by distraint. The income tax which will be levied on and after the first of January, 1862, will be three per cent. on incomes above eight hundred dollars, except that portion of such income which is derived from Treasury notes and other United States securities, on which the tax will be one and a half per cent. The tax is to be assessed on incomes dating from January, 1861. In estimating the income, all National State and local taxes, assessed upon property from which the income is derived will be first deducted. The payment of the tax will be due on or before the thirtieth day of June next; and all sums unpaid on that day will be subjected to an interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and in default of payment being made within thirty days thereafter, the collector is authorized to levy the sum on the visible property of the defaulter, and sell it after due notice has been given. If no visible property is found, the person assessed may be examined on oath, and any stock or bonds he may possess be sold at public auction. A refusal to testify is punishable by imprisonment until the tax is paid.

According to Statute the Treasurer has kept the accounts of the ordinary State receipts and expenditures distinct from those termed the "War fund."

On the first of January, 1861, the inlebtedness of the State was $164,752.83, having decreased during the past year the sum of $27,260.43. The Treasurer's report will give you the details of the transactions in his department. In my last annual message the attention of the Legislature was directed to certain retrenchments which it was tho't could advantageously be made. Some of hose recommended were adopted, and I on which no action was taken. I would direct your attention to the report of the Superintendent of Public Schools, from which you will learn that areditable progress has been made in one educational interests of the State.

The Normal School continues to meet satisfactorily the objects for which it was established, and being judiciously manageed, enjoys the public confidence. In selecting officers for the volunteers and militia, much difficulty has arisen on account of the limited number of those who have received a military education. It is understood that persons interested in the subject will present for your consideration the details of a plan by which it is believed this science can with advantage be added to those now taught at the Normal School. The importance of this subject entitles it to your consideration.

The State Lunatic Asylum is all it warmest friends could wish, and the affairs of the Institution are so wisely managed as to entitle it to your fostering care. The report of the Managers is herewith submitted.

In the Institutions for deaf mutes at New York and Philadelphia, there are twenty-seven pupils receiving instruction at the expense of the State.

In the Blind Asylums at New York and Philadelphia there are nineteen pupils, supported from the fund appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose.
Fifteen indigent feeble minded children are being instructed, and partially supported, at the expense of the State, in the nstitution for that class near Media, Pennsylvania. The improvement of the pupils is such as to warrant a continuance of this charity, and when the experiment has had further trial, it may be well to increase the appropriation.

It will be seen by the accompanying re port of the Commissioners of Pilotage, that they have faithfully performed the duties imposed on them, and the interests of the State in this branch of the public service have been well cared for.

My views respecting our Penitentiary system, and of what was needed to render t more perfect, were so fully explained in my last annual message, that I forbear at this time to say anything further on the subject. The reports of the Keeper, Inspectors, and Moral Instructor, will afford full information of the present condition of the Prison.

The demand for enlarged accommodation for the State Library is so urgent, that notwithstanding the attention of the Legislature was called to it by my immediate sage, I venture again to remind you of this pressing necessity.

In the month of July last, Sir Henry Hardinge, her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain's Advocate General in cau-

ing control of the banking institutions in the large cities, rendered it proper that those banks should suspend specie payments. This may make it necessary for the banks of this State to do likewise .-If this should occur, as it will have been caused by circumstances over which the banks have no control, and not by any indiscretion on the part of the directors, I advise the Legislature, in that event, to legalize the action of the banks, and relieve them from the penalties imposed by the charters for refusing to pay their liabilities in coin. Having briefly called your attention to what, under ordinary circumstances, are the principal subjects of State interest and legislation, I now proceed to such as have arisen out of the existing rebellion against the Federal Government.

Under the authority vested in me the several acts of the Legislature passed at the late extra session, such measures ling six per cent. interest, payable semi- of warfare. But no sooner was it known have been adopted as were deemed best annually on the first days of January and that anything was needed for the health calculated to promote the interests of the State and of the United States.

Four regiments of New Jersey Volunteers left Trenton for Washington during the extra session of the Legislature. They arrived at the seat of war in one body, fully uniformed, armed and equipped. Having done good service, they returned here about the 30th of July, and were mustered out. Those entitled to it were paid by the Treasurer the State bounty, in accordance with the law of the 11th of May, 1861. The families of such as were within the provisions of that act received the State pay.

On the reventeenth day of May, a requisition from the Secretary of War was received, calling for three regiments of volunteers to consist of ten hundred and forty-six men each, to serve for three years, or during the war, unless sooner discharged. These regiments were raised, clothed, equipped, furnished with tents and camp equipage, by the State. They left Trenton for Washington on the first day of July, in the neighborhood of which they have since been on duty

On the third day of August a further requisition was received from the Secretary of War for five regiments of infantry, to consist of ten hundred and forty-six men each, and for an artillery company.— The requisition was easily complied with, as volunteers freely offered, and the five regiments were soon organized. The first of these, making "the fourth regiment of New Jersey Volunteers" enlisted for three years, left Trenton for Washington, Aug. the twentieth. The Fifth regiment left for the same place August the twentyninth; the Sixth left the tenth of Sept., the Seventh left the nineteenth of Sept.; and on the first of October the Eighth left. The artillery company left the 20th of August. All were encamped in the neighborhood of Washington until about the first of December, when the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth, were ordered to Maryland, on the lower Potomac, where they have since been on duty. These regiments were, at the request of the General Government, furnished by the State with everything necessary for immediate service, including camp and garrison equipage, tents, arms and accoutrements, bag- the coasts. Congress having since congage train and ambulances. The artillery company was provided with six brass field would now ask your consideration of those On the eighth day of September, a further requisition was received from the War Department for a regiment of riflemen and a company of artillery. Volunteers readily the coast defence more complete, I would offered themselves, and the artillery company left Trenton for Washington on the twenty-second day of October - furnished by the State with everything necessary for service, excepting arms. In consequence of not receiving arms from the State, and the War Department not then having such as were suitable, the rifle regiment was detained at Trenton until the fourth day of December, when they too left for Washington.

There are now in the service of the U. S., furnished under the several requisitions made by the War Department upon this State, eight regiments of infantry, one regiment of riflemen, and two artillery companies, numbering together about nine thousand eight hundred and fifty men.-Besides these, one regiment of cavalry, and one regiment of infantry, have been raised within the State, through acceptance by the General Government of offers made by individuals. Also some thousands have left the State and joined themselves to military organizations in other States, so that, including the three months' volunteers, New Jersey has furnished at least seventeen thousand men to aid in putting down the existing rebellion.

As has been stated, two regiments, one of cavalry and one of infantry, have been raised in the State by individuals, independently of the State authorities. The question arose whether the families and widowed mothers of the men composing these regiments were entitled to the benefits of the act approved May 11, 1861. -The question was submitted to the Supreme Court, and decided in the negative. It is understood at many of these men volunteered under the impression that they would be entitled to the benefits of the act, as they are performing the same services as the men of the other regiments. I recommend that the act be so amended as to include the members of these two regiments, subject to the same conditions as the opinions of the Supreme Court on the construction of the act imposes. I consider the interest of the State requires that the provisions of the act shall not extend to any future organizations not raised under the State authorities.

The sum required to meet the State bounty for the nine regiments and two artillery companies raised under the State authorities, will amount to about $37,000 per month, or $414,000 per year. If it be decided to include the two regiments referred to, it will probably amount to $520,000. per year.

Under the authority of the act of the Legislature entitled "An act for the defence of the State," there was borrowed faom different banks the sum of $244 .-448.22, which, with the interest thereon, amounting together to the sum of $245,-696.05, has been paid by the Treasurer from funds obtained by the sale of the State, in addition to the great labor needbonds of the State. $111,133.78 The nincteenth day of October last I received from Washington a document dated October 14th, 1861, signed by the Honorable William H. Seward, Secretary of State, calling the attention of the authorities of the several states to the necessity of providing for the defence of vened, the subject of coast defence being quit us like men, to accept, as did our within the constitutional province of the General Government, will probably receive their attention. Should they adopt a plan by which this State can aid in so desirable an object as that of rendering advise that the Legislature co-operate with with the General Government in carrying out the plan to the fullest extent. The document referred to is herewith submitted. It having been deemed expedient to remove the United States Naval Acadcmy from Annapolis, I recommend that you request our Senators and Representatives in Congress to advocate, and, if possible, secure the permanent location of this Academy at Perth Amboy, New Jersey, which place combines many advantages for the site of such an institution, to which I called the attention of the Secretary of the Navy some months Since the adjournment of the Legislature. General Winfield Scott, enfecbled by fifty-three years service, has been constrained to retire from active duty and resign the position he so ably filled The wisdom, the faithfulness and patriotism with which he discharged his arduous duties, deserve a grateful acknowledgment on the part of the country he has so devotedly served. I therefore recommend that the Legislature adopt R. Wheat 1 30 .. resolutions expressive of the obligations of the whole people of this State to this eminent man.

The expenditures of the General Government render it necessary that a tax should be levied on the several states. On the sixth day of August last an act was passed by Congress for that purpose The proportion to be raised in this State the present year is fixed at $450,134 The act provides that the State may "lawfully assume, assess, collect and pay into the treasury of the United States its quota imposed by the act." nication was received from the Treasury Department, dated November 24th, 1861 addressed to me, respecting the collecting this tax. A copy of this communication, and of my answer, is herewith submitted for your consideration.

Since the fifteenth day of April last, when the first requisition was received from the Secretary of War, to the present time, the Quartermaster and Adjutant Generals have been constantly employed in the service of the State. Their esponsible and arduous duties have been most faithfully performed. During the past nine months their whole time has allowed by statute to these officers, is based on the ordinary duties of their "We shall all go home to our Father's house, offices, and not on the extraordinary ones incident to a state of warfare, I ask the Legislature to grant them a liberal compensation.

By the report of the Quartermaster General, you will learn that much has been done in his department for increasing the efficiency of the militia of the Halsted and Scrauton, General John S. Irick, Major Herbert, and many others. Numbers of the prominent citizens of Trenton, and of other parts of the State, have offered to serve gratuitously, in any way that would advance the great cause which is dear to the patriotic hearts of Jerseymen.

While thousands have been eager to draw the sword for the Constitution and the Union, fully as much zeal has been manifested by those unable to do so, in laboring to provide every possible com-fort and alleviation for the brave volunteers. So blest have we been with long continued peace, that we had well nigh forgotten what was necessary for times or well being of our brethren in arms, than the liberality of the people met the necessity. In this spirit, an India Rubber blanket was sent to each New Jersey Volunteer who was not already provided. The women of New Jersey, overflowing with sympathy and patriotism, have, by their handiwork, furnished immense numbers of articles indispensable to the comfort of Camps and Hospitals.

It is recommended that a tax of one hundred thousand dollars be levied for the present year, to be used to pay the interest on the loan already and that which may hereafter be negotiated, and to add to the sinking fund provided for the payment of the principal. This tax, with that directed to be raised by the General Government, will increase the ordinary tax levied about forty per cent. Even then the people of New Jersey will be more lightly taxed than any other civilized community on this globe. I feel confident that it will be cheerfully

To gain the independence of these States, our Fathers underwent the privations of a seven years' war, during which this State, with others, was overrun by armies, the people reduced to poverty, and many made desolate by the loss not of property only, but of friends. The grand object for which they suffered was however attained, and they lett free to establish the government, under which, for more than eighty years, we have been blest beyond any people. Has not the reward far outweighed the labor and privation? But this unexampled prosperity has been blighted. Success has begotten idleness, luxury and ambition. Godiiness, the only effectual barrier to these vices, has not had its proper influence on the hearts and lives of this favored people. We have brought evil on ourselves -let us repent and turn to God and ask forgiveness of Him "who is slow to wrath, and repenteth him of the evil." At this time it behooves us to consider what may be before us, and so far as practicable, prepare to meet it. Laying aside our love of ease and agrandizement, let us cheerfully make every sacrifice necessary for sustaining the government that has sustained us Our time has come to fathers, watchfulness, abstinence and toil, that the youth of our day, and the millions who will succeed them, may receive from us, as we from our sires, an inheritance of inestimable value.

With such deliberation only as is needed for the ascertainment that the cause in which she is engaged is a righteous cause, New Jersey, without looking back or faltering, will press earnestly forward, until her last dollar is exhausted, her last son fallen, upholding in his stiffening hand "the stars and stripes," and with his last sigh breathing devotion to "the Constitution and the Union"

WARREN'S

PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY.

These three books form a complete geographical course, adapted to all grades of schools. They have recently been thoroughly revised, and now contain all new political and territorial changes, with statistics from the census of 1860. The Maps and Engravings are of the very highest order of excellence; and in all the books the maps are in the same volume with the descriptive text. The series is now used in most of the principal cities and towns of the United States, and has given great satisfaction wherever it has been adopted. Greene's Series of English Grammars.

Encourage Home Industry, Ready-Made Clothing! Ready-Made Ciouning!

I have now on nand, and am constantly making up, a good stock of ready-made clothing, which is made of good strong material, and manufactured in a superior manner. As the times are hard, and there are many persons out of work, I have concluded, in order to give employment to as many as possible, in our town, to buy no city made goods this season, but to have made up here all the goods I can sell; thereby retaining that much more money in our own town. As I pay particular attention to the manner in which these goods are made up, my customers may depend on getting good goods, and at less prices than city made goods of the same quality can be sold.

Physiological View of Marriage.

250 PAGE3 AND 130 ENGRAVINGS.—Price only 25 cents. Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union. On the infirmties of youth and maturity, disclosing the secret follies of both sexes of all ages, causing debility, nervousness, depression of spirits, pulpitation of the heart, suicidal imaginings, involuntary emissions, blushings, defective memory, indigestion and lassitude, with confessions of thrilling interest of a Boarding School Miss, a College Student and a young Married Lady, &c. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and priviledges to which every human being is entitled.

YOUNG MEN who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, the effects of which are dizziness, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak eyes, weakness of the back and lower extremities, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melancholy, may be cured by the author's new Paris and London treatment.

We have, recently devoted much of our time in visiting the European Hospitals, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most skilled Physicians and Surgeons in Europe and the Continent. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many new and efficacious remedies which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may test assured of the same zeal, assiduity, secrecy and attention being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore as a Physician in our peculiar department of professional practice for the past twenty-five years.

Franca Franke Phils.—Ladies who wish for Medicines, the efficacy of which has been tested in thousands of cases, and never failed to affect speedy cures without any bad results, will use none but Dr. Def.aney's Female Periodical Pills. The only precaution necessary to be observed is, ladies
