For the West Jersey Pioneer. OUR SOLDIER BOY.

BY MRS. SARAH S. HOCWELL. I am sitting here to-night, Dreaming in the dim firelight-Dreaming of a soldier boy, Of our hearts the pride and joy. Where, O! where is he to-night, While I watch the flickering light?

'Neath the calm night-sky he sleeps, Or, perchance, lone vigil keeps; while a thought of home's bright charm Makes his young heart soft and warm-Father! keep alive this flame, Save our boy from sin and shame.

But-O God! what agony! Our bright boy, perchance, may lie Stretched upon some battle plain, 'mong the heaps of mangled slain, Not one friend-one helper near, And I sitting idle here!

Father! hear my carnest cry-When the death-shot hurtles by, When the ringing clash of steel Answers back the cannon peal, When the crimson life-blood streams Where the cruel bayonet-gleams-Father! in that dreadful day, Guard our darling thro' the fray!

THE CAUSE OF Southern Superiority.

It has ever been the boast of the South-It has ever been the boast of the Southern aristocracy, that they were a superior race; possessing advantages of lineage, education, and association, which fitted them, not only to be the rulers of their own community, but of the whole country. This has been apparent throthe whole course of our Government, from the Revolutionary War to the present time. This is proven by the speeches and writings of their representative men, and the echoings of their press.

The following from the Richmond Despatch gives a correct idea of the feelings and motives that govern the managers of the present rebellion: -

The following letter, written in 1851, by Mr. Garnett, then a member of the Virginia Convention sitting to revise the Constitution of the state, to Mr. Trescott of South Carolina, afterward Assistant Secretary of State under Mr. Buchanan, is fully significant of the matured designs of the Secessionists. This letter was cap tured at the residence of Mr. Trescott, on Barnwell's Island, and contains the reasonings and motives of the traitors who inaugurated the Rebellion. The meaning of the letter is clear on its face. It needs no commentary. We ask our fellow-Democrats to read and ponder it. As Democrats we accept the issue as the TRAITORS THEMSELVES understand it-as WE understand it, and as the leading Rebels who control the South have FORCED it on the nation-Slavery and Democracy INCOMPATIBLE! Which shall go under? Let true Democrats answer the question. LORENZO SHERWOOD, THOMAS EWBANK, CHAS. P. KIRKLAND, HENRY O'RIELLY, HENRY C. GARDENER, GEO. P. NELSON, JOHN J. SPEED.

Only $1.00 per Year: in Advance! JAMES B. FERGUSON, Editor.

Numerical Equality of the Sexes. The population of Cumberland County by the census of 1860, is 22,605. By that of 1850 it was 17,189, showing a gain in ten years of 5416, equal to thirty one per cent. Even amid the wonderful degree of prosperity and increase of population in this country, this denotes a very high degree of prosperity, unequalied we believe by any previous decade of the country, Included in this enurmeration are country, eard playing, a low rumbling 1,295 colored persons. The total white population is 21,310, of which 10,851 are by a severe shock of an earthquake. In males and 10,459 females. Excess of males, 302. It is said to be a fact established by an examination of the statistics of different counties and localities, that a majority of the children born in the world are males, and it is assumed that this is a provision of nature to over-balance the greater risk to life encountered in male pursuits, and in war in which they are more particularly liable to destruction. It we except navigation, there is no pursuit in this country followed by males that we can consider more injurious to life than the ordinary lack of fresh air, in- been saved, herribly perished before it door, sedentary pursuits of women. MR. EDITOR:-In company with the Chaplain, I have just returned from a visit to Fort Ethan Allen. This is a mud fortification, embrasured with dry moat and chevaux, and was constructed, as is told overhead, by the 3d Battallion of New York Artillery. This Fort commands the approaches to within five miles of the bridge. From the ramparts of this work the scene is indeed beautiful. Immediately in front the descent is very steep, so much so, that 10 15. or 20 five story houses might be piled one above the other, and the most at the foot of the Fort be above the uppermost. To the left is Fort Warren, also high and commanding, it has as concomitants, long ranges of rifle pits, and upon one side trees felled with branches outward as defence against infantry and artillery attack. To the right, in plain view, is the Capitol, distant by air line, I should suppose, about 6 miles; and a nearer view discloses Georgetown, with adjacent forts, while threading its way MR.
