BEWARE OF MEN.

The following eloquent passage occurs n the Bacculaureate Address of the Hon. A. B. Longstreet, president of the South Carolina College, at Columbia, to the recent graduating class:

You are embarking upon a strange world, my young friends. It banished Aristides, poisoned Socrates, murdered Cicero, and crucified the Lord of Glory. The spirit of Themistocles, of Melitus, Lilloise etoile du nord. He wrote at the of Anthony and Caiaphas is still in the world-greatly subdued and law bound, to be sure, but not extinguished. You may expect, therefore, at times, to be depressed by your rivals, condemned for your patriotism, and tormented for your penefactions; to have your confidence abused, your integrity derided, and to suffer a thousand impositions in smaller matters from those from whom you had a right to expect better things. These are hard things to bear, say you. They are so, my young friends, and you will never bear them as you should unless you take the Good Book for your guide, and look daily to its author for supplies of strength sufficient for your trial. Do this, and all will be well at last. With hat chart in your hand, now launch your bark upon the troubled ocean of life, and when the squalls strike you, be at least as prudent as the common sailor, and be found hard at the helm, with your chart before you, and your eye fixed

HOW GIRLS ARE BOUGHT AND SOLD IN MARRIAGE IN FRANCE.

You know how strict young girls are guarded in France under the eyes of their parents, and how completely their personal independence is sacrificed to 'propriety' and their parents' will. A gentleman who lately visited a matrimonial office in this city, with a view of obtaining an insight into the operations of the system, gives some interesting details in regard to it .-The world, it appears, has in general a false idea of these establishments, at least of this one. It is generally believed that the chief of the establishment keeps under key a batallion of ladies that are made to trot around under the eyes of the visitor who stands in the position of the sultan ready to throw the handkerchief. Some suppose that they are permitted to see the ladies who wish to marry through a key-hole, or some other form of unsuspected bull's eye. On the contrary, nothing is more simple than this establishment. and at the same time nothing is more complicated than its wheelwork.

operations, nearly all the business being accomplished between men. In the conjugal comedy, of which the chief of the establishment is the manager, the women play their part without knowing it. Thus he has correspondents in all the large towns. He is in relation with all, or nearly all, the notaries in France, who keep him advised of the different heiresses whose affairs they manage. The chief arranges these heiresses by divisions, according to their importance, and he is the only man in France who can say, approximately, each year, the total of the united wealth of the heiresses of the em-

(The ladies, you will recolect, are all the time gnorant that they are the object of a speculation) When the parties come to terms, the matrimonial agents puts a plan in operation to bring the lady and gentleman together, and he arrive sult naturally, without the lady ever suspecting that she is a puppet moved by a

Here is an example of the manner in which these marriages are brought about. The affair occurred in the department of the Nord:

At Lille there lived; three months ago handsome young girl, who had a fortune of six hundread thousand frances to be stow on the husbaud of her choice. All the young men of that country had made efforts to reach the heart of the heiress in vain. She believed that, notwithstandfor her francs than for her person She wished to be loved (the old story!) for herself-a log cabin and her heart. In her quality of rich heiress the name of the young girl was, naturally, found inscribed in the books of the aforesaid matrimonial agent. Her name stood high up in the list of the first category-one of the rarest flowers of the matrimonial boquet. At that period our agent protected a handsome young fellow, who dedesired nothing better than such a match as this. The agent pointed to the young same moment to his correspondent, put him into the secret of the affair, and sent him three thousand francs to enable him all the flower of the town. After the first contra dance, he soliciting the whole evening so completely devoted to the young girl, that the latter, reflecting that the good looking stranger had only arrived in the morning, and least she had found the ideal of her dreams of Platonic love.

A few days afterward, the young man obtained through the kind offices of his friend, the correspondent, an invitation o the soirces of the parents of the young girl, and the Paris agent has just received a letter from his correspondent at Lille, which reads as follows: MY DEAR SIR: -The game is bagged

Yesterday I conducted the shepherdess to the altar, and to-day I pocketed my six thousand francs." And that is one way in which young girls are bought and sold in France, with out their knowing it. - Paris Letter.

The one is too tall, the other to short, this not wealthy, that not respectable knough .-Meanwhile one spring passes after anoth er and each year carries away a leaf of the bloom of youth, and opportunity, after opportunity. Miss Harriet Selwood was the richest heiress in her native town; but she had already completed her twenty seventh year, and beheld almost all her young friends united to whom she had at one time or other disearded. Harriet began to be set down for an old maid. -Her parents became really uneasy, and she herself lamented in private a position which is not a natural one, and which to those whom nature and fortune have neen so niggardly of their gifts are obliged to submit; but Harriet, as we have said, was both handsome and very rich. Such was the state of things when her uncle, a wealthy merchant in the north of England, came on a visit to her parents. He was jovial. lively straight forward man, accustomed to attack all difficulties boldly and coolly. "You see," said her father to him one lay, "Harriet continues single. The girl is handsom e, what she is to have for her fortune you know; even in this scandalloving town, not a single creature can breathe the slightest imputation against her; and yet she getting to be an old

True," replied the uncle; "but look you, brother, the grand point in ever affair in this world is to seize the right moment, this you have not done-it is a misfortune; but let the girl go along with me, and before the end of three months I will return her to you as the wife of a man as young and wealthy as herself." Away went the niece with her uncle

On the way home he thus addressed her: Mind what I am going to say. You are no longer Miss Selwood but Mrs. Lumley, my niece, a young wealthy childless widow. You had the misfortune to lose your husband Col. Lûmley, after a bappy union of a quarter of a year, by a all from his horse whil "But uncie-"

Her uncle advised her to take the one who was deepest in love with her and a rare chance decreed that this should be the most amiable and opulent. "No, she is a spinster." The lover protested that he was a happier fellow than what he had conceived himself and the old maid was forthwith metamorphosed into a young wife.

DOES THE WORLD MOVE.

There are times when the best men are disposed to doubt the moral progress of society. Those things which are most regarded as proofs of progress in one age have to be given up as any proofs in the next. It used to be said that men were too wise and good now for great wars to be possible; yet when have greater wars loomed up in the horzon than now?

The citizen ought to disdain receiving a salary as sordid and slavish. And even the freemen ought not to do anything for pay, even the intellectual work of a teacher. The more liberal arts, such as the science of medicine, or philosophy, or architecture, were alone honorable. Poverty was regarded as one of the greatest of evils. The poor were judged incapable of virtue or wisdom. Plauties says, why give to the poor? It not only deprives the giver of his possessions, but prolongs the miserable existence of the receiver. Plato thought it unnecessary to attend to the wants of the poor if smitten with disease, for what use is his life if he cannot labor? Thus among the poor the sick were left to perish by those whom they had served. It was Christianity which founded hospitals.

When Christianity came it taught all men, as made by one Creator and formed in the same divine image, are the objects of divine love and compassion. "Man thou are the great work of God," said Ambrose. "We are separated from brutes, but not from men of low condition," said Origin, "for they are as much our-brethren as those of distinguished rank." Augustine taught that Christians formed a spiritual republic-

Howe, were ordered to make a reconnoissance across the Rappahannock. below Fredericksburg, (Franklin's old crossing,) and at once proceeded to lay down the pontoon bridges. On discovering our purpose the rebels betook themselves to their rifle pits, which were very strong and within close range, and began firing upon our engineers and workmen, rendering it necessary to storm them by the old method of crossing in boats. It was now about five o'clock in the afternoon, when Gen. Howe at once ordered the Twenty-six New Jersey, Col. Morrisou, to man the boats, push across and storm the rifle pits. under cover of our artillery on this side. Promptly obeving the command the Twenty-Sixth dashed across the river, gained the opposite bank and made a brilliant charge upon the euemy, driving them from their rifle pits, and removing any further obstructions to the crossing This charge of the Twenty-Sixth is described as having been deserving of the highest praise, and fully sustained the high reputation they had gained in the terrible fighting at Fredereksburg in the early part of the month.

Penetrating insensibly into the forests which for many miles streeh away from the coast, they found themselves, at dark, bewildered and unable to find their way back. Becoming very greatly alarmed, they drove ranidly on, but in the wrong direction, wandering through bridgeless swamps and over blind and dangerous roads, until the horness was hopelessly broken and the horse entirely unmanageable, when, in a terror which can be appreciated only by experience, wet and cold, and thinly clad, they sank exhausted for the night. In this condition they continued for over three ours, utterly prostrated in body and mind when they were rescued in an almost insensible state by two of the mon who had t dark eagerly gone out in search of hem. They were found six miles from home, and being foudly cared for by their friends at home, as they were anxiously sought for by the community at large, they have so far recovered as to feel no inconveience from their alarm and exposure.

A BATTLE FIELD JOKE.

At the battle of Chancellorsville the Swiss General Fogliardi, who has been accustomed to the broad, open and clear European battlefields, where whole army corps can charge in battle line without impediments, and where the surging squadrons of cavalry are the sweeping concomitants of every army could not exactly see how a great battle could be fought in that tangled, impenetrable wilderness, and remarked to a staff officer. noted for the force and brevity of his expressions, as well as his great personal bravery: "Zis is not a battle-zis' is a grand skirmish !" "A skirmish !" reiterated the staff officer, "I'd have you understand, Sir, that two or three skirmishes like this would wipe the whole Swiss nation off the face of the ourth!" and rode down the line into the bullets, with as much sang froid as though eating his breakfast.

Advices have been received at Washington, from Vicksburg, to the 12th inst., at which time nothing of importance had occurred. All time nothing of importance had occurred. The Draft in New Jersey. The Hunderton Republican states tha Adjutant-General Stockton had just re turned from Washington, where he has been looking after the accounts of volunteers furnished by New Jersey under the different calls. The books at Washing ton and those in his office agree almost to a man; but by the mode of calculation adopted, New Jersey is still short 10,000 men. Most of the States sent their men for three years, and at that time was ta ken by the department as the standard for estimating service. The terms of four of the nine months men would be required Hence the deficiency in the state. Acording to this calculation, the third discriet is short 2000 men. But as this is only a pro rata share of the 10,000, it is but fair to presume that if the first quota of nine months men were raised uniformly in the other districts, that each district will be required to furnish the same num ber of men. It seems but a fair inference therefore, that the first congressional dis trict will be required to raise, by draft, 2000 men, if volunteers do not offer .-The nine months men are exempt from the first draft, which will be made of

INVESTOR OF THE POSTAL

Although presaged by current rumors for ome days past, and clearly predicted a fortnight ago, the flanking movement of the rebel army under Gen. Lee through the valley of the Sherandoah and the absolute presence if a portion of it in Pennsylvania, fell upon the country on Monday with the suddenness if a thunder clap. This surprise was made the more startling by the fact that up to the rerycolose of last week we were assured by our telegraphic despatches from the Army of the Potomac that the rebel army was still at 'redericksburg in greater force than ever, though there were indications that its comnander meditated some hold offensive movenent of a character that haffled all efforts to inmask it. It is now revealed that instead of heing at Frederick-burg, as early as Sun-day and Monday of last week Longstreet and Ewell passed through Culpepper, heading to-ward the Shenandoah Valley, marching by two lifferent routes, and that they were followed in the course of the week by nearly the whole r Lee's army-his last division having moved be Plank Ro d towards Chancellorville—and | burg or Ratimore. that its main body now stretches through carly the whole length of the valley, while ts advance columns have made their appearince on the Maryland border, and portions of them have penetrated into Pennsylvania.

The first intimation of the designs of the enemy appears to have been received on Friday ast, at which time the old corps of Stonewall Jackson under command of Gen. Ewell, vari ously estimated at from ten to eighteen thousday reached Winchester where they encountered and were repulsed by the National forces ed on Sunday and was of a very desperate where he joined our forces on Monday morning, with a loss of 2,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners, and after having inflicted a neavy loss upon the rebels. On the same day here. hat Milroy was attacked at Winchester our orces at Berryville, eleven miles east from Vinchester, were attacked, but it is believed hey succeeded in cutting their way through and joined Gen. Milroy that evening. On Sunday afternoon our forces at Martinsburg, 10 miles to the north and rear of Winchester were attacked by a body of rebels 5'000 strong, who had passed around Winchester, and their surrender was demanded. This was refused and a battle commenced which continued till 7 o'clock in the evening, but during the night our troops succeeded in with drawing and fell back on Harper's Ferrythus bringing up our entire force at that point to about 20,000. Whether they still remain there, or overawed by the approach of Lee's main body were forced once more to abandon it, is not disclosed, though, from the fact that up to yesterday morning despatches were received there at Baltimore, it is believed our roops still hold it.

Meantime, having cleared the country at he head of the Shenandoan, extending west from Harper's Ferry to Hancock, and having hus gained possession of the Potomac and its ords between those two points the enemy crossed the river, and passing rapidly over the narrow strip of Maryland lying between t and Pennsylvania, their advance columns, said to be three in number, took the Hagerstown road, caused the evacuation of Hagerstown by our troops, and entered Pennsylvania during Sunday night or early Monday morning. At Hagerstown the columns of the enemy seem to have been seperated and to have ing to the right on Waynesburg and Gettysourg as if to menace York and cut off the comnunications with Baltimore by the Northern Central railroad; another on the left towards Mercersburg; and another on a central line direct towards Chambersburg, which is on the railroad to Harrisburg, and distant from it about 50 miles. At the latest accounts received this morning, late yesterday afternoon he central column of the rebels, consisting, of ,000, men, principally cavalry, supported by infantry and artillery, advanced through Greencastle and immediately pushed forward to Chambersburg which they entered and occu-nied at nine o'clock last evening. Of the movements of the other two columns we are as yet in ignorance. The unpalatable fact, however is clearly established that the enemy have attained a footing once more upon the soil of a loyal State, and have penetrated within its territory with a large force and to a greater distance than ever before. the active efforts of the President and Gov. Curtin will be able to interpose a sufficient force of the military of Pennsylvania and the adjoining States to hold the enemy in check and save Harrisburg from destruction till Hooker's veteran army can be brought to the scene of action is now the principal cause of anxiety. The militia of Ohio and Pennsylhave been made upon them, and in addition the President has called upon the New York State for 20,000 more. Rapid steps are being taken to bring these into the field at once and we learn that 5,000, including the New

their services, proceeded to Philadelphia on Wednesday and Tursday last. From the army of Gen. Hooker we learn that it has been moved from its position on the Rappahannock to some point that is not revealed for prudential reasons. C has certainly, however, abandoned Acquia Creek as a base and the stores for the army have been removed from thence to Alexandria. His sick and wounded have also been sent to Washington. We are assured from Washington that ample dispositions have been made for the security of the National Capital, and that great confidence is felt that the invading army will be thwarted in their desperate movement and not be allowed to return to Virginia except in heaten and disorganized fragments. There is great incertitude as to the relative positions of the two grand armies of Hooker and Lee. All that is positively known is that they are so placed as to render it probable that another great battle will soon be fought in the neighborhood of Bull Run, and possibly upon the very site of the old battles. On Sunday Gen. Hooker, having heard of the movement of Lee's army, broke up his camps at Falmouth and marched to Dumfries, about 20 miles in the rear, which he reached that night. Early on Monday morning the march was resumed and at night, he occupied Fairfax Staton. His movements since then are not revealed, though it is believed that our lines have been extended to Centreville, and the army so disposed as completely to cover Vashington. The march of our army from Falmouth was a most exhausting one owing to the intense heat, many of the men fainting and numbers of horses and mules giving out. In the 3d Corps alone twenty of the men are reported to have died on the road from suntroke. This comprises all the news we have from our army, with the exception that Thursterday heavy firing was heard in the direction of Centreville, indicating fighting between some portion of it and Lee's forces. The latest advices up to noon yesterday, from Harper's Ferry, reach us from Baltimor last evening. These represent that no trains ran on the railroad to Harper's Ferry yester day; none going beyond Erederick Junction as the road from there to the Ferry was unprotected. Telegraphic communication still continued open, and conveyed the intelligence that Harper's Ferry is invested by the rebels on the Virginia side; that we have a large force on Maryland Heights. which is strongly fortified; and that the garrison have an extensive supply of ammunition and can stand a long siege. On this side of the river the rebels were picketing all the roads up to and beyond Hagerstown and permitting no one to passevidently with the purpose of keeping open the ayenue of escape for the bodies that have pen-etrated into Pennsylvania, when they find it ecessary to retire. They had entered Chambersburg, ordered the stores to be opened, forged the merchants to take Confederate money for their goods, and announced that they were only waiting for their infantry to come up in order to advance. From the preparations, already recited, that have been made for their reception, it is doubtful if they carry out this plan; and at the present moment appearances warrant the belief that they have reached the length of their tether and will speedily fall back upon tae Potomac. The foundations of the Dapot of the Sa-RAHWAY, N. HARRISBURG, June 17 .- The aspect of affairs, so far as we can judge by the reports from this border, seem to be this: The corps of Gen. Ewell (Stonewall Jackson's successor) is massed at Westminister, Md, while the rest of the rebel force occupy Hagerstown and such other points as PHILAD'A, June 15th, 1863. DEAR PIONEER:-There is a little town on the banks of Lake Superior reported to be so healthy, that there is but one man in the Alms House, and that is the doctor, and men live to such an extreme old age that it becomes necessary to shoot some one in order to start a grave yard. Would that we could boast of that delightful hygienic blissfulness—but with our variable climate it is a lucky man who can scratch a few gray hairs.

The horses were all "iockeyed." as will always be the case. If ever "yours truly" gets gulled by these horse fauciers, it will be when he has more money and less sense than he has at present.

We are to have a line of ocean steamers. The affair has been "hocus pocused" through, and does not call upon those who are to be really benefitted to contribute "a red," whilst the poor city is to be taken in "hook, line and nole," that a few may possess a plethoric packet-book, and ride in carriages with arms omblazoned on the panels. We are taught that charity is a "big thing," but this is bigger, in fact it is huge.

MORO PHILLIPS' GENUINE IMPROVED SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

THE STANDARD GUARANTEED.

The pared at his Chemical Works, Camden, N. J. and for sale at Manafacturor's Depot,

No. 27 Nostri Front Street. Philadelphia.

The great satisfaction this traly improved Super-Phosphate has given to the Agricultural community, gives great encouragement to the manufacturer to continue to improve, if possible, his article, but never to fall back from its standard, and to maintain is well-merited celebrity. It has given entire satisfaction of those who have used it.

This Super-Bhosphate contains less moisture than any other in the market, as indicated by the weight of the packages, which are heavier than any other manufacturers of the same size. The ingredients of this super-Phosphate are Bone Phosphate Sulpharic and Amprone, which have accepted.

this Super Phosphate are Bone Phosphate, Salpharic Acid, and Ammonia, which have a greater density than water, must n-cessarily produce a heavier articie.

According to an alysis made by Dr. E. Pugh. President of the Agricultural College, of Pennsylvania, of all the principal Super-Phosphates, Moro Phillips' excepted.) manufactured in this and the States of New Jersey and New York, showingtheir agricultural valua and published in the Country General States of March 27, 1862, Moro Phillips' Super-Phosphat concoms more agricultural valua than any other in the market. The Manufacturer is aware that he makes the assertions to an intelligent agricultural community and to scientific analytical chemists, and also to influential and long established manufacturers of Super-Phosphates: nevortheless he makes these broad declarations. So completely has the manufacturer succeeded in maken. completely has the manufacturer succeeded in mak-article of a uniform standard, that he gives a legal guarantee to wholesale dealers, that it shall always being same standard as from the first. the same standard as from the first.

Moro P¹ 'ps' super-Phosphate is sold extensively by the prin. ple dealers in Fertilizers in this city and state, and also in other States. Over 2000 tons were consumed by farmers last season in this State and the States of Delaware and New Jersey.

Change in price from $45 to $47.50 per ton, 2000 lbs. No charge for packages. A liberal discount to dealers.

MORO PHILLIPS.

N. B.—Observe that my name and place of manufacture is on each and every package, none other being genuine.

facture is on each and every package, none other being genuine.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

A disinterested acknowledgement. Edward Webb, the proprietor and manufacturer of "Webb's Fertiliser." in the city of Wilmington, Del., says under date of Dec. 17, 1862, to the manufacturer of More Phillips Super-Phosphate": "Your Phosphate is rapidly taking the place of all other Phosphates in this market, and if kept up to its present standard, there will be no limit to its sale."

Mr. Stokes a prestigation present desired of the Forno limit to its sale."

Mr. Stokes, a practical farmer, President of the Farmers' and Mechanics Bank, Camden, N. J., says he has used Moro Phillips' Super-Phosphate, and it has given him entire satisfaction. Culbert & Bro., the largest dealers in Fertilizers in the cyty of Wilmington, Del., acknowledged to the manufacturer, that all Moro Phillips' Super-Phos-phate which was soil by them last fail, was to parties dee. From my agent in Hariford, Conn., I have very good accounts, it does wonders for the culture of to lacco. bacco.

Mr H. W. Neff, office of the Board of Health, Philadelphia, says under date of July 34, 1862; "My tomant reports very natorably upon your Super-phosphate, and showed up his crops, which estably proved that it is of great value upon wheat and corn crops, the only ones which he tried it on."

Mr. John Deal, of Prospect Hill farm, Lower Merion towaship Montagnery county says under decomposition towaship Montagnery county. Mr. John Deal, of Prospect Hill farm, Lower Merion township, Montgomery county, says under date of Aug. 27, 1882; "I am happy to inform you that your Tuper Phosphate has proved to be even more excellent than your representations. I used it on my crops of wheat lastfall, and on corn last Spring. I had a most excellent crop of wheat, and the corn is a wonder to my neighbors; some of it is over 16 feet high, it could not possibly be better. I will want some of your Phosphate this fall, and no doubt you will have many calls from my neighbors. My son has ylso used your Super-Phosphate on his wheat last fall, and speaks in highest terms of it."
