Where are the Copperheads ? Go look upon the battle field, Where shot and shell fly fast, Where Freedom's stirring battle cry Is heard upon the blast; Go where the lifted sabres flash, And fall on traitor's crests;

Where southern bayonets are dim With blood from Northern breasts; Go search amd the Northern ranks-Among the glorious dead; Among them all you will not find A single copperhead!

Go search the gun-boats' bloody deck, When the dread conflict's done. The traitors' banner in the dust, And silenced every gun-While o'er the hard won ramparts floats

Our fing; yet, oh, what pain!
'Neath that dear fing, since morning light.
What numbers have been slain!
Among the heroes of the fight, The living and the dead-Go search among them. THERE is not A single copperhead!

Go search the crowded hospital, Where ghastly wounds are seen.
Which tell thro' what a struggle fierce Those noble men have been; But look upon their faces; lo! They smile through all their pain; The scars they bear were nobly won-

Their honor has ne stain; Soft hands are minst ring; kind words Are heard around each bed; Some soothe, some suffer—all are true; There is no copperhead!

But, go where look can scarce conceal The treason in the herat. And where the tongue would willingly Defend the traitor's part; Go where they wish Vallandigham Were safely back again. Though on the nation he has placed A deep and lasting stain! Go where ie ertion is no crime, Where loyalty is dead;

Where sad disaster gives no pain— There is the Copperhead! Go where foul scorn is heaped upon Our noble boys, whu go To stand—a wall of fire—between Us and our tanitor foe! Go where bold Grant's revilers are, Where Burnside is defamed;

Where Banks and Butler-noble men, In scorn alone are named; Go where true patriotic pride, Honor and truth are dead: Where our success brings but despair. THERE is the copperhead!

LARGE ARMIES.

Much is sai now a days about the incompetency of our generals to manœuvre large armies and lead them successfully into battle; but will it be asserted that the military men of the present age are so far inferior to those of former times? Can it be true that in the present enlightened state of civilia ion, there are no men with minds great enough to cope with the intricacies of the science of war ?-Such would seem to be the case, were we to listen to the conversation of those who affirm that an army of 100,000 men is too large to be entrusted to the command of one general .-True it is, that military science is more comprehensive, and the weapons of destruction far more superior to the knives and war-clubs of the ancients, but does not the military mind keep pace with its professional science Surely it ought. And we glance down the long vists of time to that period of warfare in the world's history when the ancient generals led such mighty hosts into deadly conflict with each other, and achieved such renowned victories, we are surprised to lear intelligent men speak of an army of 100,000 men as being too large to be controlled by one general. ancients, and view them in comparison with our own, and, we shall have a better idea of their vast magnitude.

It is said that the city of Thebes had a hundred gates and could send out at each gate 10,000 fighting men and 200 chariots, in all 1,000,000 men and 20,000 chairots. Zerah, king of Ethiopia, had an army of 1,000,000 men and 300 chairiots. In the year 1491, B. C. Sessitris, king of Egypt, led an army of 500,000 men, 24,000 cavalry, and 27 soythearmed chairots, against his enemy. When Hamilton left Carthage and landed near Palermo, he had a fleet of 2000 ships and 3000 small vessels, and a land force of 200,000 men. In the battle in which he was defeated, 150,000 were slain. The Roman fleet led by Regulars against Carthage, consisted of 330 vessels, with 140,000 men. The Carthaginian fleet numbered 350 vessels, with 150,000 men. At the battle of Cannæ there were of the Romans, including allies, 80,000 foot, and 6000 horse; of the Carthaginians, 40,000 foot, and 10,000 horse. In this battle 70,000 (more than half) were slain, and 10,000 taken prisoners. Hannibal, during his Italian and Spanish campaign, pillaged 400 towns and destroyed 300,000 men. Ninus, the king of Assyria, 2200 years B. C., led against the Bactrians an army of 1,700 000 foot, 200,000 horse, and 16 chari-ots armed with scythes. A little before Hannibal's time, Itlay could send into the field nearly 1,000,000 men. In building the mighty Babylon, Semiramis employed 2,000,000 men; and at the battle of Indus she took 100,000 Indian prisoners, and sunk 1000 boats. In a single night, Sennacherib lost 185,000 men by the destroying angel.—2 Kings 19: 35, 37.— Shortly after the capture of Babylon the forces of Cyrus numbered 600,000 foot, 120,000 horse, and 2000 chariots armed with scythes. An army o Cambyses, 50,000 strong, was buried in the desert of of Africa by a south wind.—
The lind and sea forces of Xerxes, when we arrived at Thermopylee, numbered 2,641,610, exclusive of eunuchs, women, sutlers, &c., in all amounting to 5,283,320, So say Herodotus, Plutarch and Isocrates. Before the battle of Cunexa, the army Artexerxes numbered 1,200,000. On the fatal field of Issus, 100,000 foot and 10,000 horse were slain. At Arbela, the forces of Darius numbered more than 1,000,-000. In this battle the Persians lost 90,000 men, and Alexander only 500, according to Diodorus But Arian says the Persians in this battle lost 300,000, and the Greeks 1200. At the battle of Bovines, 1214, Philip, king of France, defeated the Emperor Otho at the head of 150 000 Germany. In his Russian campaign Nap leos I. morched at the head of 800,000 men, and in the battle beneath the walls of Moscow, from forty to one hundred thousand were slain. Shortly after his return to France, he found himself at the head of 350,000 men and fought successively the battles of Lutzen, Bautzer, a. d Leipsie, at the latter of which he con-tended with one wing of his army at the head of 136,000 men against 280,600 of the allies, and lost about 50,000 in wounded and slain. No such armies have yet come in contac with each other on this continent; and can our Generals and military men scan the above men-

England "Caved in" As a War Power. It must be patent to every impartial rea der of history that the capacity of England for aggressive war has been, for many years on the wane. The turning point of her career as a great military power, was the American Revolution. She came out of that contest shorn of her reputation for invincibility. A colony with a population scarcely more than three times larger, and much poorer, than that of her chief city. had fought her for seven years, and finally defeated and put her to shame. Then came the conflict with Napoleon in which she summoned up all her strength and energy, and seemingly recovered to some ex-tent the laurels she had lost. But the advantage was more apparent than real .-Singly she could not have successfully coped with France. It was only as a member of the "Holy Alliance" with three great military nations to sustain her that she performed the exploits of which her government, press and people have for nearly half a century been boasting .-Throughout the struggle that ended with the final downfall of Napoleon, the numerical strength of her armics was insignificant in comparison to that of the hosts of her allies. She had an able general and a long purse, and hence the honor of leading the van and paying the piper, was willingly accorded to her by the shrewd continen. tal despots for whose especial benefit she was fighting. And after all, the crowning success of Waterloo was a Prussian victory. Bulow and Blutcher, not Wellington, "changed the destinies of Europe." -If the French Emperor had had no foe save John Bull to contend with, he would I ave died a monarch. The most bigoted Anglomaniac will hardly deny this self-evident deduction from the facts of history.

As an offset to her seeming triumphs over Napoleon, came the real humiliations administered to her by us on the land and on the sea during the war of 1812, winding up with Old Hickory's terrible chastisement of her choicest legions at New

After a rest of more than a quarter of a century the British Lion, at the invita-tion of France, once more showed his teeth several feet in length. It is endemic in I was and unsheathed his claws. Russia was to hot countries. When the bother combe chastised. But, alas! repose had not improved the condition of the royal animal. off all the honors of the war. It seems to have been demonstrated in the Russian campaign that England, single handed, was incompetent to wage successful aggressive warfare against a first class nation, and we do not think she will be in a hurry to league herself with France for another offensive movement, in which her inferiority in military resources to that power would unquestionably be made more manifest than before.

Whatever she may have been, Great Britain is no longer a pugnacious nation; her fighting element, her peasantry, has been slipping away from her for years in a constantly increasing ratio Emigration But let us recur to some of the armies of the is draining her of the rustic bone and sinew which once formed the staple of her armies. It is the men of mettle and muscle who leave her, the peaceful plodders who remain. She might send her recruiting sergeants through Ireland without drumming up four hundred men, and through Scotland without raising a bat tallion. For a war with this country she hardly enlist a corporal's guard anywhere. It pays better to work for us and with us, than to fight us In short, there are a thousand reasons why England should keep the peace, and especially toward the United States. Depend upon it that, however she may bluster, she will not, except under imperative necessity, venture upon an aggressive war with any leading power, and least of all with us. It is her interest to stay at home, mind the shop and let gunpowder alone. and such we believe to be her policy. -N

A Murder Foretoldin a Dream. A Cleveland paper narrates the followng story in connection with a recent murder case: "On the night of the atrocious triple murder of the Coy family in Medina, Ohio, a boy in the village 'dreamed a dream,' in which he distinctly saw the whole details of the horrible tragedy, the manner in which the murders were committed, the disposition of the contents of the roon and all the particulars of the affair. He also described minutely the appearance of the the neighbor's boys were wont to me thin

"So alarmed was he by the dream that he awoke in a fright and narrated the vision to his father, who laughed at him and paid no further attention to the matter -In the morning, however, the whole village: was alarmed by the discovery of the barbarous triple murder, and on examining the details they were found to correspond exactly with the revelations of the dream. The appearance of the murderer, as described by the boy dreamer, was similar to that of the man who was afterwards reported as arrested, but was not actually taken into custody."

1863, by Rev. C. S. Davis of Dix; "May the blessing of Almighty God rest upon us as a nation; and may the vivifying beams which emanate from the moral darkness, until the pestilential vapors exhaled from Alligator swamps and Palmetto forests shall be effectually dissipated and the great brothehood of Southern copperheads

Some ten months ago Mr. Charles Mon roe, of Fairhaven, was at Lagos and Accra, on the Guinea coast, whither he had suiled as mate with Captain Post, in the barque Elizabeth, and while there he drank of the water of that part of the world, without thinking to take the precautions commonly in use among the natives for the prevention of a terrible disease known as the Guinea worm. It appears that the Africans always boil this water before drinking, in order to destroy the minute, invisible egg of the worm which is so small that it is absorbed by the blood vessels from the stomach, and is in that manner distributed in various parts of the body, usually the legs, where it is hatched, and after a long time makes ts appearance in the shape of a white thread-like worm, pointed on both ends and it twines and twists all about the muscles, and veins, and arteries, but produces no particular feeling of uneasiness until some part of its body comes near the skin, when bad inflamations take It was in March last that Mr. Monroe

The way it is done is this: When the surface of the skin is so pricked or irritated as to show where the "critter' is, a thread is fastened to him, and a small weight atached to the other end of the thread .-The worm gets tired of pulling so steady a strain, and gives ground a trifle day by day, and as he comes out a little spool winds him up until he is all up. For forty nights Mr. Monroe hardly slept on count of the suffering. One worm is now in process of being drawn from his heel, and those medical men who have never seen a case of the kind are much interested. Great care has to be taken not to pull too hard, because the worm would break, and the being rescued from impending disaster, by attliction and we hope before long to see

Is the Sun Inhabited.

Sir John Herschel concludes that the sun is a planet abundantly stored with inhabitants; his inference being drawn from the following arguments: On the tops of mountains of sufficient height, at an altitude where clouds sel-

Well, after this game had been played for some time, the mate prevailed upon the steward to place the end which had captain no sooner saw the pudding than he discovered that he had the wrong end of it. Picking uy the dish, and turning it in his hands, as if merely to examine the china, he said:

"This dish cost me two shillings in Liverpool;" and put it down again, as though without design, with the plums next to himself.

"Is it possible?" said the mate, taking up the dish. "I should suppose it was not worth more than a shilling; and, as if in perfect innocence, he put forth the dish with the plum end next to himself The captain looked at the mate, and the mate looked at the captain—the cap

Capture of a Negro Prayer-meeting.

The capture of a negro prayer meeting n Mississippi, by Lieut. Colonel DeCosta. f the Second Arkansas (colored) regiment, was a novel and interesting scene.-A Helena correspondent in speaking of it says that on Sunday, while reconnoitering the country, Col. DeCosto came upon this prayer-meeting in the woods, where a large number of blacks were assembled lingered around the outskirts for a while. and listened to the prayers of the black oreacher. He was praying for the deliverance of his brother from the chains of slavery, with all the earnestness characteristic of the negro minister-for God to hasten the coming of the Yankees, and the annihilation of their white enslavers. The Colonel then suddenly made his apnearance in their midst with his party, and informed them that their prayers were answered, and that he had come to deliver them. They hailed them with shouts of joy, and raising their hands to Heaven.

Col. DeCosta instructed them to come te the shore immediately, add bring with them all the horses, mules, and co ton they could lay their hands on. Shortly the entire assembly of worshippers was transformed into one vast caravan, pursuing their way to the river bank. The scene was novel and grotesque in the extrememen and women on foot and mounted on mules and horses; children, cotton, household goods and subsistence stores, in carts. The o d and young, the lame, the halt and the blind, were also there.

It was a motley assemblage, and all seemed animated by the same desire-the lesire for liberty-all singing "The year of jubilee has come."

And, dear papo, sometimes her heart beats so harl I am afraid it will break. Will it, papa? What will Lizzie do then, should mamma lie? And what will you do?"

"Hush, my child." "Do tell me, papa, for she coughed so nard to day; and she told me to be ever cind to you if others did abuse you, and call you wicked names, for she said she was inking fast. What is that? Ain,t that going to die, papa? O, do tell me!" "Now, don't you cry; there is a kiss for

PURE AIR.

Whatever renders the blood impure tends to originate consumption. Whatever makes the air impure, makes the blood impurer. It is the air we breathe which purifies the blood. And as, if the water we use to wash our clothing is dirty, it is impossible to wash the clothing clean, so if the air we breathe is impure, it is impossible for it to abstract the impurities from the blood. What, then, are some of the more prominet things which render touched with true gold will redouble its air impure? It is the nature of still water to become impure. It is the nature of the still ter to become impure. Running water purifies itself. Air in motion, draughts of air, are self-pur fiers. Thus it is that the air of a close room becomes impure it evitably. Thus it is that close rooms bring consumption to countless thousands Hence all rooms should be so constructed as to have a constant draught of air passing through them. A man of rdinary size renders a hogshead of air unfit for breathing, and consumes its blood purifying qualities every hour. Hence, sleping in close rooms, even though alone or sitting for a very short time in a crowded vehicle, or among a large assembly, is perfectly corrupting to the Blood. Close bed rooms make the graves of multi-

from Brecksville stepped into the Infirmary of that city last Sunday, and said that he wanted a wife. The Superintendent was rather staggered at so novel an application, but finally, as the fellow appeared very much in earnest, and begging him to "trot out his marriageable stock," asked the women in the institution what they thought of it. All declined to consider a question "popped" in that unreasonable mauner but one, who had rather unpleasant antecedents. She was "trotted" out, and the fellow thus addressed her:-

all've got seven acres of land out here in Breckville, five cows, a fat hog, and a daughter who will be married on Monday. t don't wan't to lie to you, so I tell you I sha'l give one cow to my daughter, but I lave a heifer about ready to come in, and then you will have five cows all the same. RELIGIOUS INFLUENCES.

In all communities where religion, in its full and undissembled simplicity, controls the hearts of the people, a holy and evangelical tranquility characterizes their conduct. Seldom, if ever, do we find dissensions and quarrels disturbing their friendly intercourse, or back-biting gossips engaged in stiguratizing the character of neighbors. Tattlers and limbertongued canvassers, of other reputations, the quiet and orderly disposed from the annoyances incident to their peculiarities. Villages and settlements, where repose in peacefulness and love. The divine attributes of religion have free course, and are glorified; and evil, with its concomitant effects, is overcome with good. Social feelings predominate-jealousies are unknown-depraved hearts do not put improper constructions on the actions and motives of their fellows; in fact, there is no room for bigoted sentiments to exist. It is the mission of relithem into subserviency to the teachings of the Holy Spirit. A want of it exerts an opposite tendency. When destitute of it, the heart is unrestrained in its imperfections, and its possessor is less serupulous in his or her views of those golden precents laid down by the Saviour, "do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you;" and, "thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

No man or woman who is a true and sincere follower of the meek and lowly Redeemer, will give credence to reports of a brother or sister, unless the facts of impeachment are proved beyond the possibility of doubt. KANSAS CITY, Aug. 27 .- Quantrell's men are scattered in their fastnesses throughout the have abandoned their worn out horses and gone to the brush afoot. They were all remounted at Lawrence with the horses captured, leading their own bare-backed animals laden with the plundered goods. From Arkansas we learn that the Union for ces under Gen. Steele are moving towards Little Rock, and that the rebels are concentrating to oppose him. We are also informed that the rebels in the trans-Mississippi Department are concentrating under Gen. Kirhy Smith, for better concert of action. Through rebel sources we have advices from Charleston to Saturday last, up to which time Fort Sumter was unocupied by our troops and Beauregard was attempting to devise means of holding it for a short time longer. The rebel despatches state that shortly before eight o'clock on the evening of the 25th of August, (Tuesday last) the Union forces attacked Fort Wagner in heavy force, under cover of a furious fire, but were repulsed. The bombardment of the forts, they say, continued slowly and without any unusual results, and no more shells had been thrown into Charleston since Monday last. The Richmond Despatch of the body, begging for mercy, but to no avail. The 27th August, reveals the nature of the retaliation threatened by Gen. Beauregard in case General Gillmore should repeat his borbardment of the city. It suggests the confinement of the Union prisoners who are in the hands of the rebels in those houses upon which he fire was mainly directed, and in case the direction of the heavy missiles hurled into the city was changed the prisons of the prisoners would be changed also so as to still make them the targets of the enemy's big guns.

Stirring tidings may be hourly looked for from Arkansas. The rebels, 25,000 strong, under Gen. Price, are at Bayou Metarie a strong port on the White River, and our forces were at the last accounts, at Duvail's bluff. only 14 miles distant. A desperate battle was expected to be fought at Bayou Metaric unless he rebels retreated. PROGRESS OF THE WAR. | these two fronts, and this is in the angle of the gorge; and I think unservice: ble. -The ruin extends around, taking in the north-easterly face as far as can be seen. A portion of this face, adjoining the angle it makes with the south-easterly face, is concealed; but, from the great number of missiles which have struck in this angle during the last few days, it cannot be otherwise than greatly damaged, and I do not think any guns can be left on this face in a serviceeable condition.

The ramparts in this angle, as well as in the south-easterly face, must be plowed up and greatly shattered.

The parapet on this latter is torn off in many places, as we can see, and I hardly think the platforms of the remaining guns on this could have escaped.

With the assistance of a powerful glass cannot determine that more than one of these guns can be used, and it has been dismounted once. The carriages of the others are evidently more or less shattered, and such is the

of time. In fine, the destruction of the fort is se far complete that it is to to-day of no avail in the defense of the harbor of Charleston. By a longer fire it can be made more completely a ruin and a mass of broken masonry, but could scarcely be more powondition of the parapet and parade in the mmediate vicinity of the gun, that it probably could not be served for any length erless for the defense of the harbor. I therefore respectfully submit my opinion that a continuance of our fire i o longer nece-sary, as giving us no ends adequate for the consumption of our resources.

Very respectfully your obedient servant, JOHN N. TURNER, Colonel and Chief of Artillery. o Brig.-Gen Q: A. Gillmore, Command ing Department of the South, Morris Island, S. S.

THE 300-POUNDER BURST.

It is stated that the 300-pounder Parrott burst on the 20th inst., after the seventh fire. The Mahaska also exploded her 10-inch rifle. Both of the Whitworth guns of the Naval Battery are also disabled.

By the arrival of the steamer Bermuda, at Philadelphia on Sunday we have Gen. Beauregard's letter to Gen. Gillmore in full, protesting against the bombardment of Charleston. Gen. Beauregards letter is as follows:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF SOUTH) Carolina, Georgia and Florida, Charleston, S. C., Aug. 22, 1863.

Sin: Last night, at fifteen minutes before eleven o'clock during my absence on a recounoissance to my fortifications, a communication was received at these headquarters, dated Headquarters Department of the South, Morris Island, S. C., Aug. 24, 1863, demanding the immediate evacuation of Morris Island and Fort Sumter by the Confederate forces, on the alleged ground that "the present condition of Fort Sumter and the rapid and progressive de struction which it is undergoing from my bateries, seem to render the complete destruction within a few hours a matter of certainty," and that if this letter was not complied with, or no reply thereto was received, within four hours after it was delivered into the hands of my subordinate commander at Fort Wagner for transmission, a fire would be opened on the city of Charlestion from batteries already established within easy and effective range of the heart of the city. This communication to my address number of heavy shells into the city, the in-

About 9 o'clock this morning the communication alluded to was returned to these headquarters, bearing your recognized official signature, and it can now be noticed as your de liberate official act.

Among nations not barbarous, the usages of war prescribe that, when a city is about to be attacked timely notice shall be given by the of our seven days bombardment of attacking commander, in order that non-combatants shall have an opportunity of withdrawing beyond its limits. Generally the time aln the orly storm most seri- lowed is from one to three days; that is, time inished the accuracy and effect for the withdrawal in good faith of at least the women and children. You, Sir, gave only four hours, knowing that your notice, under exis-ting circumstances, could not reach me in less than two hours, and not less than the same time would be required for an answer to be conveyed from this city to Battery Wagner.

With this knowledge you threaten to open fire on this city, not to oblige its surrender, but to force me to evacuate those works which you, assisted by a great naval force, have been attacking in vain for more than 40 days. Batteries Wagner and Gregg and Fort Sumter are nearly due north from your batteries on Morris Island, and in distance therefrom ranging from half a mile to two and a quarter

This city, on the other hand, is to the northwest, and quite five miles distant from the buttery which opened against it this morning .-It would appear, sir, that despairing of reducing these works, you now resort to the novel measure of turning your guns against the old men, the women and children, and the hospitals of a sleeping city, an act of inexcusable barbarity from your own confessed point of sight, inasmuch as you allege that the complete demolition of Fort Sumter within a few hours by your guns seems to be a matter of certainty. Your omission to attach your signature to such a grave paper must show the recklessness of the course upon which you have adventured. While the facts that you knowingly fixed a limit for receiving an answer to your demand which made it almost beyond the possibility of receiving any reply within that time, and that you actually aid open one, and throw a number of the missiles ever used in war in the midst of a city taken unawares and filled with sleeping women and children, will give you a bad eminence in history—even in the history of this war. I am only surprised, sir, at the limits

If, in order to obtain the abandonment of Morris Island and Fort Sumter, you feels authorized to fire on this city, why did you not include the works on Sullivan's and James Island, nay, even the city of [Charleston in the

Since you have felt warranted in inaugurating this method of reducing batteries in your immediate front which were otherwise found to be impregnable, and a mode of warfare which I confidently declare to be atrocious and unworthy of any soldier, I now solemnly warn praise, which came next in the service. you that if you fire again on this city from your Morris Island batteries, without giving a some-what more reasonable time to remove the noncombatants, I shall feel impelled to employ such stringent means of retaliation as may be available during the continuance of this at

Finally I reply that neither the works on Morris Island, nor Fort Sumter, will be evac uated on the demand you have been pleased to

Already, however, I am taking measures to remove all non-combatants, who are now fully aware and alive to what they may expect at

Mr. Beecher Talking French.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher gives the following graphic and amusing account of his trip to Paris, and his adventures in he French language:

"I understook to speak French It was spectacle of lingual gymnastics that did not fail to excite admiration and elicit smiles. Usually I began with a noun -Throwing that out in a very bold manner I then scat a verb straggling after it, as best it might, somewhat di-heveled, and often much dislocated, and then the adverbs and adjectives were thrown in at the end, as so much to boot, for the very obliging manner in which my other parts of speech had been entertained.

There are three of us, you know, in company, the LL.D., the preacher, and myself, the editor's French, if generally adop ted, would make an era in the language, -If you can imagine a railroad conductor trying to pick out the passengers' baggage and mixed materials from a car that had run off the track, and got mixed in a heap you can conceive of the situation of a Frenchman attempting to decipher his sentences. I am, like one who fires into tree where he suspects there are pigeons with both barrels, and then waits to see what he has hit. Sometimes I get a bird, sometimes a feather, but oftener only leaves. But who can describe the scene that took place on the arrival in Paris from Rouen and Havre?

It was eleven o'clock on Saturday night We all were a sleep on entering the city, and roused up to the summons of the guard We had no courier, guide, or French-speaking friend. Our eyes were dazed with the sudden glare of light. We had ludicrousideas of French police, and custom-house officials, and railroad attendants and porters, and Cabmen. In English, we would meet and charge upon a thousand. But without the language how simple and tedious a man becomes! We followed the wondering what would come next.

At length some doors were shut behind and some opened before, and all of us entered the adjoining room to point out our baggage. Ours had come on before us, and was stored. We presented our receipt which called out a string of French questions, which sounded like a reveille .raised my eyebrows, brought up my shoulders and said, "Speak English, if you please!' This was a poser to him, and he turned me over to another, who went through about the same experience. &

These had the benefit of my opinion concernidg miserable Frenchmen, who could not speak wholesome English! For, when I found that no harm come from the utmost liberty of speech in English, I amuswas without signature, and was of course re- ed myself with plain talking, viz: "My turned. About half-past one o'clock one of dear sir, you have no idea how much betyour batteries did actually open five and threw ter you would look if you once spoke a decent language!" At which he pointed our FUR DEPARTMENT which will to one trunk and another, as if to find out which I alluded to. At length we divided our forces. We set the doctor to guard the light hand baggage. We appointed the preacher to go out and secure a cab; while the editor, by an elaborate pantomime should free the baggage from official duress.

It is not often that I gather so much pleasure from a half hour as I did from this midnight scene in a Paris depot.-Three gentlemen supremely blessed with tongues, whose whole life work was carried on by talking, and here they were cooped up in a corner, helpless and useless for want of a few words. My tongue lay dead in my mouth, like an old sword hung up in a sheath in times of peace! I could not avoid setting down to a hurst of laughter so hearty that all the officials sympathized. Indeed, laughter is alike in all anguages. I laughed in French as much as English - and found that good nature and laughter did more for me than all my vain gestures and inchoate and guttural abominations called French words. They shoved my trunks along unexamined, and only demanded the fee of a few sous for the porters. Arithmetic in French is worse than any other part of the language. I drew out a whole handfull of silver, and reaching out my open palm said in plain English, There, do your own reckoning, and take what you want." At this they roaredand we were all friends in a minute. They partook very moderately, taking no advantage, I am sure, and each one became anxous to take a trunk, to secure a cab, and n general get us off in good style. So we riumphed by good nature, in spite of French and the custom house.

On the second Sabbath the tidings came to us of the fall of Vicksburg, and the retreat of Gen Lee. One must be in a foreign land among unfriendly and unsympathizing people, to know how sweet good news of ones own country is! I sat in our American Minister's slip at church, on Sabbath morning, having just heard the tidings. After the preliminary service, and while Dr. McClintock was giving out "notice." I turned to Miss Dayton, by whom I sat, and whispered in a few words the good tidings, saying in apology that I hoped it would help her sing the hymn of She dropped her head, in tears of joy, and wept, for singing, during all the hymn! It pleased me - she shall have a place in the book of my remembrance with all who love God and our dear county !"

A WORD ABOUT AMERICAN WATCHES

AFTER A THOROUGH TRIAL OF MORE THAN TEN YEARS, the time-pieces manufactured by the Americal Watch Co., of Waltham, Mass., have gained a firm hold upon the tayor of the public, and now, no less than 17,000 of them are speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people. From a very insignificant beginning the business has increased until we are instified in stating that WE MAKE MORE THAN ONE HALF of all the watches sold in the United States. Repeated enlargement of our factory buildings, and the labor of 500 operatives, still find us unequal to supply the constantly increasing demand—and we may here observe that notwithstanding the high price of labor and materials, we actually sell our products at less prices than those current five years $450. We refer to these facts only for the purpose of properly introducing another subject relative to our manufacture of watches. Hitherto our chief object has been to make GOOD watches for the million at the lowest possible price—something to taxe the place of the make-believe watches called "Ancres," "English Patent Levers," &c., annually thrown upon this market in countless, numbers, by European workshops—watches which are the refuse of their factories, unsaleable at home, and perfectly worthless everywhere.

This object we have accomplished, and now we nfacture of watches of the very HIGHEST GRADE KNOWN TO CHRONOMETRY unequalled by anything hitherto made by ourselves and unsurpass of by anything made in the world.—
For this we have the amplest facilities. We have creeted an addition to our main buildings expressly for this brauch of our business, and have filled it with the best workmen in our scruce. Profiting by our long experience, we have remodelled the form of our watches, introducing such improvements as have been suggested and proved to be good from time to time, and have instituted new and severe tests of isochronism, adjustment and compensation. New machines and appliances have been constructed, which perform their work with consumate delicacy and exactuate, and the choicest and most approved materials only are used. Nothing is fact is wanting either in mechanical principles. Material or workmanish to ensure perfection in the result.

We continue to manufacture our other well known qualities under the following names.

Apple Pearers, at I. W. MULFORD'S. A FEW REASONS WHY THE AMERICAN WATCH

IS THE BEST. IS THE BEST.

It is made on the best principle, while the foreign watch is generally made on no principle at all.

Let us look at the contrast. The foreign watch is mostly made by women and boys, by hand. While their labor is cheap, their work is dear at any price—such watches are made without plan, and sold without guarantee. They are irregular in construction, and quite as irregular in movement. They are designed only to sell, and the buyer is the party most thoroughly sold. Those who have kept "ancree," itepines" and "Swiss levers" in professed repair for a few years will appreciate the truth of our statement.

THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH. THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH. Instead of being made of several hundred little pieces, screwed together the body of the American Watch is formed of SOLID PLATES. No jar interfere with the harmony of its working, and no sudden shock can throw its machinery out of gear. Secestion of one part is unknown to its constitution, and in riding or any business pursuit, it is all held together as firmly as a single piece of metal. It is just what all machinery should be—

Ist ACCURATE,
2d SIMPLE,
2d STRONG,
4th ECONOMICAL. We not only secure CHEAPNES by our system, but QUALITY. We do not pretend that cur Watch can be bought for less money than the foreign makebelieves, but that for its real value; it is sold for one half the price.

OUR SOLDIER'S WATCH, (named Wm. Ellery,) is what its name indicates—Solid, Substantial, and always Reliable—warranted to stand any amount of Matching, Riding or Fighting.
OUR NEXT HEALTHE OUT AND COMMENT Marching, Riding or Fighting.
OR NEXT HIGHER QUALITY OF WATCH, (named P.S. Bartlett) is similar in size and general appearance, but has more jewels, and a more elaborate linish. OUR LADIES' WATCH, recently brought out, is our habits. WATCH, recently brought out, is put up in a great variety of patterns, many of them of rare beauty and workmanship, is quite small, but warranted to keep time.

THE PROOF of the merits of our Watch may be THE PROOF of the merits of our Watch may be found in the fact that we now employ over five hundred workmen in our factories, and that we are still anable to supply the constantly increasing demand. OUR THREE QUARTER PLATE WATCH is thinner and lighter than the others we have described.—Its fine chronometer ballance is delicately adjusted to correct the variation caused by changes of temparature. These watches are chronometrically rated, and are the fruit of the latest experiments in chronometry, and are made by our best workmen, in a septence department of our factory. For the finest time-keeping qualities they challenge comparison with the best works of the most famous English and Swiss makers.

Physiological View of Marriage.

250 PAGES AND 130 ENGRAVINGS.—Price only 125 cents. Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union. On the infirmities of youth and maturity, disclosing the secret follies of both sexes of all ages, causing debility, nervousness, deprassion of spirits, palpitation of the heart, suicidal imaginings, involuntary emissions, blushings, defective memory, indigestion and larsitude, with confessions of thrilling interest of a Boarding School Miss, a College Student and a young Married Lady, &c. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and priviledges to which every human being is entitled.

YOUNG MEN who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, the effects of which are dizziness, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak eyes, weakness of the hack and lower extremities, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melancholy, may be cared by the author's new Paris and London treatment.

We have, recently devoted much of our time in visiting the European Hospitals, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most skilled Physicians and Eurgeons in Europe and the Continent. Those who place thomselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many new and efficacious remedies which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured of the same zeal, assiduity, socreey and attention being pid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore as a Physician in our peculiar department of professional practice for the past twenty-five years.

FURNITURE: FURNITURE:

H. F. HOOVER respectfully informs his friends and the public generally of West and South Jersey, in want of FURNITURE, that they will find it greatly to their advantage to purchase at his Warehouse, where they will find a large stock of the modern styles to select from.

The subgeriber begs to say that his facilities for manufacturing, and buying his materials for cash—having no apprentices, but employing the best workmen—enables him to offer great inducements to those in want of really good Furniture at low prices, as he much prefers the "mimble sixpence" to the "slow shilling."

All goods bought at his Warehouse will be warranted, and if intended for the country will be packed with care and dispatched.

WE say do not be humbugged by long and windy advertisements, but remember that C. C. Grosscup still keeps t argest, but relected, and cheapest stock of goods for men and boys' wear, in Cumberland county. Hence his nangelous customers keep him and all his employers too busy to write long advertisements, and the constant increase of business, has made it necessary to invest all his spare funds in sewing machines, and considering the low price at which he sells, it is Lo wonder that he has had no fende to invest in the less important article of Poetical Machinery.
