GRRMAN ECONOMY.

A late tourist in Germany describes the economy practised by the pe sants as fullows: Each German has his house, his orchard, his roadside trees so laden with fruit that d d he not carefully prop them up, tie them together, and in many places hold the boughs together by wooden clamps, they would be torn asunder by their own weight He has his own corn plot, his plot for mangel wurzel or hay, for potatoes, for hemp, &c He is his own master, and therefore he and his family have the strongest motives for exertion. In Germany nothing is lost. The produse of the trees and the cows is carried to market. Much fruit is dried for winter use. You see wooden trays of plums, cherries, sliced apples lying in the sun to dry. You see strings of them hanging from the windows in the san. The cows are kept up the greater part of the year, and every green thing is collected for them. Livery little wook where the grass grows, by the roadside, river and brook, is carefully cut by the sickle, and carried home on the heads of the women and children, in baskets or sied in Jarge cloths. Nothing of the kind is tost that can possibly be made of any use. Weeds. nettles, nay the very goose-grass which covers the waste places, are cut up and taken for the cows. You see the little

When told that certain property belonged to their "friends," their reply was perfectly natural, and perfectly right, that their friends should not hesitate to minister to their necessity .-Take the city of Frederick for example. It has been a hot-bed of traiterism. They virtually solicited a visit from their allies. The invitation is accepted, and the claims of friendship are two hundred thousand dollars in money, and indiscriminate plunder! Why should they complain? They have longed for the success of the Rebel cause; they have long

They may be jubilant over the success of horse stealers, marauders, and Rubel thieves. They may glory in the fact that the loss by plunder, destruction of property, &c., will foot up five millions of dollars, if not more. We never believed that raid seriously con templated the taking of Washington The cutting of telegraph wires, and the destruction of railway communication, served to distract the attention of the people from their real design which was plunder. Nor do we believe that they expected to divert General Grant's attention from Petersburg and Richmond. By this time they have found out the unyielding pertinacity of the man, and, therefore, food must be had for Lee's army, or it must evacuate those strong The Rebel papers make those cities; and each day adds to the scarcity.

We must enter our protest at the ungenerous criticisms of Union men in our midst, touching the policy of the Administration in allowing Gen. Grant to remove the army of the Potomac so far from the National Capital. In our opinion, if Washington, with all its surrounding forts, and a population of forty thousand inhabitants, is not able to protect itself against an attack of twenty or thirty thousand Rebels. then, we had almost said, let it fall. The army of the Potemac was not organized to defend Washington, but to crueh the Rebellion. So President Lincoln and General Grant understand it, and so they act. The Revels might have thundered away, and the thunder of their cannon would not in the least have changed the plans of Ulysses S. Grant. The finale of the raid has justified the wisdom of the Admin . istration, and its great General, in doing what has been done, and in sticking to it now it is

No one phase of the war has shown up Copperheadism in more unmistakable colors than this recent raid. We scarcely regret it on that very account. The lines are being more distinct ly drawn day by day. When a man says, and it was said in Cumberland Cuonty with wish Washington had been taken, and Lincoln been ma e prisoner," we know where he stands .-His trumphet gives no uncertain sound. We are quife prepared to meet the issue. The question of politics has nothing to do with it. It is a question of Nationality: We are either Americans, or we are not Americans, as we. are opposed to, or sympathize with the Rebellion. The Rebels have relinquished their Americanism, if, forsooth, they ever had any regard for the distinctive appellation. And their Allies in our midst, and elsewhere, may as well, at once, be as outspoken. Honesty is the best policy.

On Tuesday, July 5th, Lieut. Tomlin took Co. F. and started on a scout. Our regiment was doing blesst duty at the time, on the outpost. Tomlin passed beyond our pickets about three-miles, until they camento a small creek; here they stopped and watered their horses, and some of the men dismounted and were filling their canteens. At this time Lieut, and Capt. M'Clung, of Co. G, concluded they would go with them ; they started and overthol them this stream, passed over the bridge, and went on ahead. They had only gone a few rods when the bushwhackers poured a volley into them from the thick bushes which lined the roads on both sides. They immediately struck spurs into their horses and started off on a run, and as they turned a corner another volley was poured into them, and Lieut, Burdto Howard's cell when prayers were offered by sell fell from his horse. The rebels then rush ed out on Capt. M'Clung, but he shot two of of them and out his way out, and they chased him within a mile of the pickets. While this was going on, another party rushed out in the rear of Liout. Tomlin's party, who were still at the bridge getting water. He immediately wheeled his company about and rushed into them, and although they outnumbered him two to one, he fought his way out, with two killed and several wounded. The way it happened was, as soon as they fired on Lieut. and Capt. M'Clung, the other party rushed in the rear of Tomlin and his party, so it was done all at once. Soon as Capt. M'Clung got in camp, which was in a short time, our company mount ed in quick time and went out in a hurry .-When we got within half a mile of the place. we found Tomlin and his company waiting for us; we then went on; when we got near the stream Co. F dismounted and deployed in the woods as skirmishers, while we were held as reserves. They had been in the bushes only a few moments when they fell in with the rebels, and of course firing commenced. They soon drove them across the stream and found Lieutenant's body right where he fell. The infernal rascals, if I must use the expression, had

WALTER G. WEST. For the West Jersey Pioneer. CAMP OF 5TH PA. CAVALRY,

NEAR BERNUDA HUNDRED, VA., July 9th, 1864. DAER PIONEER :- It may seem out of place, at this late hour, for me to say any thing relative to the late raid, under the control of Gen: Wilson, yet some of your readers may not have a very definate idea of the great amount of service done for our cause, by the destruction of Railroads and other property, which is estimated to exceed, in effect, any other rail since the rebellion commenced.

This division is under command of Gen.

Kuitz, and consists of the 5th Pa, 8d N. Y. and 11th Pa. cavalry, and 1st D. C., Mounted Rifles. The command under Gens Wilson was on another raid. joined by this division on the 21st of June, and started on a tour into the interior of "Dixie." Their first act of destruction was at Ream's Station, on the Petersburg and Wheldin Rail. road, which they destroyed, together with a tinin of cars, and all of the Railford and public property. Lord's Station was the next place visited by them, destroying everything that could aid the enemy. On the morning of the 23d, they passed on to the junction of the Pe tersburg with the Richmond and Danville Railroad, at Bucksville, visiting Wilson's Station; and " Black and White's" Station, where they destroyed cars, switches, tracks, and buildings-At Notaway, they captured a Rebel Mail, and destroyed the station ... The force arrived in: the vicinity of Staunton Bridge, on the after. moon of the 25th. It was their intention to destroy the Bridge, it being a very important post In this they were defeated, owing to sume difference in opinion between Generals Wilson and Kauts, by which the Rebels gained fime, and received relaforcements. The lose of Kautz's Division, at this point, was considerabls. The First D.C. Cavalry were the greatest sufferers in this engagement. The Fifth Pa. Cavalry was holding a position near the bridge and when their amounttion became exhausted, they sheltered themselves as best they could by little knows and in gullies, but refused to fa!l back as long as a ray of hope was left. Leaving here, they commenced winding their way bomeward. Over thirty miles of the Danville and Richmond Railroad has been so effectually destroyed that it will prove more fatal

The rebel train, at the time of their retreat. is said to have consisted of 1500 wagons, of which 1200 were United States wagons. Ma ny of their cannon had also been stolen from our Government. Number of the men were armed with United States carbines and rifle! muskets, and were dr seed in Federal army panis, shirts and boots. At Sharpsburgh, Boonsboro and Middletown the rebels are said to have taken nothing but woolen goods, groceries, medicines and articles fit for army use At Hagerstown they took $20,000 in money and about $15,000 worth of goods. At Frederick they levied a contribution of $200,000, received the money, and then used $25,000 of it to purchase dry goods, groceries, medicines, &c., paying for the same in greenbacks.

Trustworthy, information shows that the Government stores at Martinsburg did fall into the hands of the rebels, and that what they could not carry off, they destroyed on evacuating the place. At Hagerstown they also obtwited a large quantity of Government stores and destroyed all they could not use. It is believed that not less than ten thousand head of oxen, cows, borses, mules, besides large droves of sheep and hogs, were driven across the Potomac by the rehela, within the three or four days they were threatening Washington. Their infantry was mounted as quickly as the stolen horses were brought in.

Late intelligence from Grant's army is an anusuncement that General Sheridan had gone the about 11

The grativing intelligence has reached Washing ton, that Gen. Sherman's entire array on Monday last advanced five miles south from the Chattohou che river and crossed Peach Tree creek. Lis understood that this important advance was affected by a flank movement, which forced the enemy back to a point almost immediately in front of the fortifloations at Atlanta, without bringing for any fighting beyond skirmishing with the cheiny's rear. Peach Tree creek, which is now Gen. Sherman's advanced line, is about three miles from Atlanta. During his halt on the Chattahocohie river, it is and that ten Sherman destroyed all the rebel communications between Atlanta and Rishmond and Atlanta and Montgomery. A dispatch from Nashville reports the prevalence there of rumbrs that Atlanta had been evacuated by the enemy, but this is probably premature, though such an event is by no means impossible. The more probable theory, however, is that Johnston will abandon the town to be held as long as possible by its garrison of 22,000 militis, while he retreats with his own amy to a new range of hills called Cedar Bluffs, eight miles from the city, on the railroad to Augusta. This would enable him to maintain a line of communication, by repairing the railroad which Sherman is believed to have destroyed, with Lee's army in Yinginia. The more to have destroyed, with Lee's army in Yinginia and he would also be in position to harrass Sherman's army during the siege of Atlants. By this smovement however, he would give up the great lies of railroad leading to Mobile, Macon, Milledgeville, and all central and southern Georgia and Alabama. In any case, it is apparent that Sherman will hold the confirty as he's advances, emptying it of its rebell population, and loaving be hind him a desert in which the enemy could neapposably, subsist an army of the Process of the country and he advances, emptying it of its rebell population, and loaving be hind him a desert in which the enemy could neapposably, subsist an army of the Process of the country and SHERMAN'S MOVEMENTS IN GEORGIA.

Not to Admire. BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL.

Not to admire!" an ancient sage Made this his principal of action,
And thought himself behind the next if he at aught showed satisfaction.
He desmed it worthy of a child.
Or of a simpleton, to be, By any earthly sight beguiled

Ent had his lot chanced in our time.
I think he scarcely could have seen
Some modern spectacles sublime,
And kept an anathetic mien.
If he on Tower Hall had gazed,

He would, un-loubedly, have praised
So fine a building's grace and size.

Scill's Confirental Copper.—The Housereper's Friend.—The general complaint of every good house ke, per at present, is the ruinous prices asked for an inferior quality of coffee. Various remedies have been resorted to without avail. Chemists have here tolore tried their arts in vain to produce a palatable, wholesome substitute for the national drink.—Housekeeper- will rejoice to learn that the Continental Coffee prepared by Wm. S. Scuil, and for sale at his depot, No. 132 Arch sureet, is an article of Coffee that is entirely free from injurious ingredients, and is highly recommended by eminent physicians. We have tried it, and found it to be the most delightful drink we have tasted since Coffee has become worth its weight in gold. Be sure to give this Coffee a trial—it is equal to the best Java. It is now being used by most of the hotels, and in thousands of private families.—Efficient Recorder.

The Popular Beverage Once Morr.—No one has any cause to complain of unsatisfactory Coffee: That complaint has been remedied, and it is within the power of every one now to drink their favorite beverage without the dread of fearing that it is adulterated poison. The coffee to which we refer we have used, still use, and intend to use, and therefore we speak knowingly. We refer now to the celebrated Continental Coffee, manufactured by Scull, and for sale everywhere. This Coffee is pleasast and palatable, is exhilarating, and leaves no depressing effects behind. It is used by our principal hotels, private boarding houses, and many of our most respectable families. We have had occasion to recommend it to a good number of our friends whilst travelling in the interior, and they acting upon our advice, have tried it, and their verdict agrees with our own. The central depot for the sale of this coffee is at No 132 Arch street, but you can buy it of your family grocer. The price is much lower than that asked for other manufactures of not half its worth. Try the Continental.— THE POPULAR BEVERAGE ONCE MORE. - No one has any

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDING IT!

The above is a correct likeness of Fr. Schenck taken many years ago, after he had recovered from Consumption, by a course of his "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup." The likeness, although it is does not represent him anything like as bad as he was at the worst, yet it is in strong contrast with the hale and vigorous looks of the portrait below, which is the true likeness of him at the present time. The contrast between these two portraits is so great that many would not believe them to be the same person. Yet there are hundreds of persons in and around Philadelphia, who will recognize both portraits to be true representations. When the first was taken he weighed 167 pounds; at the present time his weight is 220 pounds.

Thirty years ago I was in the last stages of Pulmo nary Concumption, and piven in the last stages of Pulmo nary Concumption, and Dr. Josedh Parrish. then of this cky, ordered me to Moorestown, N. J., a distance of nine miles, which took me two days to get there—On my arrival I was put to bed, and I there laid for many weeks. This was my native place, where all my tamily lived and had died, of consumption. Dr Thornton, who attended my father in his last illness, was called, and gave me one week to fix up my affairs. He had seen all my family go that way, and thought I was to go, too. Then I heard of the reme dies I now offer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system. dies I now offer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system.

They soon ripered the matter on my lungs, and I would spit off more than a pint of offensive yethow matter every morning. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pain, night sweats—all be gan to feave me, and my appetite became so great hat it was with difficulty I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and I have been growing in flesh ever since. For many years I have enjoyed unint-rrupted good health, keeping the liver and stomach healthy with the feaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, as I am of a bilious tempera ment. My weight is two hundred and twenty pounds On my recovery people would send for me far and near, to see if their cases were like mine. For this purpose I pay professional visits in the large cities. The consumptives wish to see the one that makes, these medicines, and who was cured of consumptior by them To make new lungs is impossible; but coavities in the lungs and chronic alcertations of the bronchial tubes can be healed. Such eases are dying hourly under the ordinary treatment of physicians and just such are cure by the proper use of schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Fills I am now a healthy man, with a large cavity in the middle lobe of the right lung, the lower lobe very much hepatized and complete adhesion of the pleura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right lung is in a tolerably healthy condition. The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is they try to do too much; they give medicinest stop the cough, to stop chill, to stop night sweats, heetic fever, and by so doing, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions and eventually the patient dies. After I make a careful examination of the patient with the Respirometer, and find lungs enough left to cure, I direct the patient than the surface whith the vermination is the stream of the result of the right lung. Due " digestive powers, locking up the secretions and eventually the patient dies. After I make a careful examination of the patient with the Respirometer and find lungs enough left to cure, I direct the patient how to use the three rem dies. Remove the cause and they will all stop of their swn accord. No one can be cured of consumption, liver complaint dyspepsis, catarrh, canker, alcerated throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. In New England this canker, chronic catarrh, unlearsted throat, elongation of uvula, is more prevalent than it any other section of the country. This is frequently caused by a four stomach. You may burn it out with causeit time and again, and all they will get is temporary relief Coirec, the stomach and liver, and they will heal up themselves.

Good nutrition is the remedy. If you have any disease in any part of the body, it will remain there and decay more and more until you can get the stomach in the condition to digest food, and make new blood to take the place of the diseased matters. This is the only way to head cavines in the lungs and ulcerate bronic list of the healing. Many persons have at dea that certain mediomes are great purifiers of the blood. When blood it once diseased it cannot be purified, it is diseased the same as the diseased matter in the system; but get the apparatus in order, the liver and stomach, and give it plenty of nurshing lood it will make new blood, which will take the place of the diseased.

it will make new blood, which will take the place of the diseased

Schenck's Pulmonic syrup is one of the best preparations of iron in use, it is at powerful tonic of itself, and when the Seaweed route dissolves the muculing the atomach, and it is carried off by the aid of the Mandrake Pils the Pulmonic Syrup is made into blood. This is the only way to cure concumption—
If I cannot get a good appetite, and food dees not discover, it is an object, and food dees not discover, it is the most trouble I have with my patients in my reom. They say, "Docker, I teel stronger, I can east my supported and I cell better every way, but my cough is so bad yet;" and they are atomished to hear me say that does not make a good appetite, and I cell better every way, but my cough is so bad yet;" and they are atomished to hear me say that does not make I; remove the cause and the cough will stop of itself. Schenck's scaweed creates a good appetite in about made days, when there is no lung disease, unless the liver is so congested that the Mandrake Phis cannot tuilock the ducts of the gail blander in that short space of time in order to allow the state with to pass off. Keep thiver and stomach agaithy and, there is less danger of consumption or say other disease. It is hard take cold when those organs are heidily. Those that are bilinors, low spirited, dr.ary, feeling stupic coated tongue, poor appetite, nervours, stomach into it wind, every thing that is eaten lies heavy, loss & memory, try one bottle of SCHENCK'S SEAWEE! think will leave her before June. I should think it would be of great interest to some unprejudiced physician to visit these cases, particularly Miss Scotield, or any of them who have been cured by my medicines. They are numerous in New York; but the above three albdiffer from each other, and if my medicines are doing what I represent they are, they should have the credit and the afflicted know where and how they be cured.
