UNPLEASANT REMARKS.

Never tell anybody an unpalatable truth when it can answer no good purpose. This sort of unnecessary candor is sometimes prompted by malice, sometimes by a mere looseness of tongue, like that which Iago imputes to Cassio when asleep. Sydney Smith says, and very justly, that friendship is frequently made an excuse for unpunishable impertinence by people who pride themselves on speak. ing their minds freely. The truth mali-ciously spoken may be libellous, and when volunteered in relation to matters with which the utterer has no concern, it is very often unmannerly. It may be perfeetly true, for example, that Mrs. Blank s old and corpulent, but that is nobody's business but her own, and the man who reminds her of the fact is too candid to hatred of those to whom they are addressed. If you have a taste for sharp repartee restrain it. It is better to lose a jest than a friend—to miss an opportunity of saying a "good thing" than to make an

It must be admitted, however, that the self love of some individuals is so morbidly sensitive as to render them anything but agreeable companions. They take offence where none is intended, and apply remarks of the most general character to their own particular cases with great ingenuity. In nine cases out of ten the abnormal sensitiveness of such people is occasioned by an inward consciousness that they deserve the rebukes which they erroneously suppose you intend to administer. It is hard to say which is the greater nuisance—to be annoyed with the impertinancies of people who are insultingly candid, or to have your innocent remarks construed as insults by persons whom you have no thought of of-

They are, nevertheless, conclusions to which any one may certainly arrive, who will only be at the trouble of examining the chain of reasoning by which they have been obtained. It is worthy of examination.

Practical Jokes Played by a Horse.

Though many curious tricks and mischievous but harmless capers have been played by horses within our own knowledge, yet it is hard to give oredence to the following anecdote from an English paper: "There was, some years ago, a very fine horse in the possession of Henry Meux & Co., the eminent brewers, used as a dray horse, but so tractable that he was left sometimes without any restraint to walk about the yard, and return to the stable, according to his fancy. In the vard there were also a few pigs of peculiar breed, fed on grain and corn, and to these pigs the horse had evidently an insuperable objection. There was a deep trough in the yard holding water for the horses, where this horse went often taking his mouth full of corn. When he reached the trough, he let the corn fall near it on. the ground, and when the young swine approached it (for the old ones kept aloof) he would suddenly seize one of them by the tail, pop him into the trough, and then caper about the yard, seemingly delighted with the frolic. The noise of the pig soon brought the men to his assistance who knew from experience what was the

A SCENE IN PARIS.

A young boy of sixteen years of age was brought before the police court, Paris, charged with stealing and begging in the public streets. He was a bright, fine looking boy, but very poorly clad; and when brought before the judge he fell upon his knees and begged him not to put him in prison; that his mother was sick and effective an and starving, and that alone had driven him to steal; that he could not find work; and if he was imprisoned, the disgrace would kill his poor mother. The inde seemed somewhat moved by the boy's story, but he, nevertheless, after hearing the evidence, condemned him tosix week's

You may imagine the effect this announcement produced on the bystanders. The judge, in a loud voice, ordered the woman to be carried from the court, and then left it himself; but he joined the poor creature in the atreet, and carried her and her boy off in a carriege.

New Uses for Paper.

The war has familiarized us with talk of iron-clads and tin-clads, but who ever dreamed that paper would be used for the plaiting of war vessels, or the material of guns? Yet recent experiments in Europe indicate that neither is improbable.—
From trials at Battersea it was ascertained that rockets made of paper tubes were as strong as those made of metal. Paper boards of one inch in thickness were tested by ball, and found to be far superior in power of resistance to ten inches of solid oak. The bullet which made a small lieve that in one second of time-one beat round hole in the paper, perforating so of the pendelum of a clock-a ray of light far as to raise a projection in the rear, in about the same time it required to cess of manufacture has transpired to the ing unon each time than a swift runner occupies in taking a single stride.

Owning the Corn-A Good Story.

The death of Joshua Bates, the great London banker, an American by birth and feeling, recalls to an exchange an anecdote quaintly illestrating his unfailing and zealous love of his native land. Mr Bates was much esteemed by the nobility of England, with many leading members of which he was on terms of intimate friendship. It happened that he was present, in the year 1847, at a dinner in London, in company with Lord Russell, Lord Morpeth and others. The conversation turned upon the Irish famine, and Indian corn was commended. Lord Russell said to Mr. Bates, that some of the cobs had twelve or fourteen rows of grain. The banker coolly replied, "Yes, my Lord, have seen from twenty to twenty-four rows on a cob." The company laughed but Bates, "getting his back up," offered a wager of a dinner for all present, that he could produce such an ear, which was at once accepted. Then came the rub. Bates was conscious that he had patriotically bragged, and began to fear that his bet was lost. But he cast himself upon his native land, and she proved equal to her trust. He sent home by a friend who, equally jealous of American honor, wrote to Indiana, and with perfect success. In just six months from the time the wager was laid, Mr. Bates received from his friend six ears of corn from Lafayette, Ind. two of which had 28 rows, two 22, and two 321 Lord John handsomely "acknowledged the corn," paid his wager, and the largest ear is now in the British Museum-a Yankee trophy suggesting that "some things can be done as well as others." The steam-engine was invented, rather, the principle of it discovered, by the Marquis of Worcester, as early as 1660. Few understood and none encouraged it. He died in great mortification. The honor was afterwards engrossed by

In 1765 the Earl of Stanhope applied the steam engine to propelling a vessel.-A steamboat was run twenty miles on the Sankey canal, Liverpool, in 1797, and another on the Forth and Clyde canal, in 1801. A steamboat trip was made on the Delaware as early as 1791. In 1807, when Robert Fulton was fitting up his first steamboat at New York, respectable and gray headed men pronounced him "a fool for his pains." Oliver Evins went before committees of Legislature, first in Pennsylvania, and then in Maryland, with a project of a steam carriage, as early as 1804. He asked a little aid to defray the expense. They could hardly be prevent. ed from reporting in favor, not of steam engines for carriages, but of a straight jacket for himself. Now, almost all nations have had the sagacity and ingenuity o seize and utilize the precious idea. When Peter the Great, in 1760 or therebouts, commenced a canal between the olga and the Don, the Governors and Boyards in the country opposed it earnestly, thinking it impiety to turn rivers out of their channels which Heaven had ssigned them. When some Dutchmen proposed to aske the river Manzanares navigable the Tagus, and that to Lisbon, the Council said that if it had been the will of God that the river should be navigable, expense, in 1757. Baron Napier surveyed the route of the Forth and Clyde Canal at his own expense, in 176I.

Both the works were subsequently accomplished, but after great delay.

Dr. Zabdiel Boyalston introduced inoculation for the small-pox into Boston, in 1721, and tried at first on his son Thomas, and other members of the family; but such was the force of prejudice and unbelief that the other physicians gave a unanimous opinion against it, the municipal prohibited its practice, and the populace would have torn him to pieces if he had not retired from the city.

THE PAY OF THE NEEDLE.

It is notorious that ourseamstresses are cantily compensated for their labor.-The scavengers who lazily sweep our streets, doing their work in the most slovenly and shiftless manner imaginable receive per day about triple the sum that an expert seamstress can earn in the same time with the aid of a sewing machine in making shirts. Why thick-headed louts of the male gender should be more liberally rewarded for their lubberly labor than smart active women for doing what they great sources of happiness is thereby are hired to do in the best possible manner, is a question that admits of but one solution. It is easier to cheat and oppress women than to "grind the faces" of men, and therefore, to the shame of manhood, not to speak of chivalry, masculine laziness is better paid than feminine industry. When employed on the same kind of work the sexes are never equally remunerated—the men, even if less skill ful than their competitors, invariably getting "the lion's share."

All wrong, however, is comparative, and it may be some consolation to our needlewomen to know, that they are not so hardly dealt with as their sisters on the sons who have suddenly acquired wealth, other side of the ocean. How About the Barns?

Are they in complete order for the winter? If not, now is the time to put them so. For horses and cattle to thrive in flesh, or for cows to yield good supplies of milk in winter, they must be kept warm: In order to do this, they need to be sheltered, or if poorly sheltered they must have a wasteful superabundance of food. The barnyard, where during the pleasant days the stock will spend much of their time in winter, ought to be protected on the north and west sides, by the barns, or sheds, or by fences high and tight. There ought to be some sheds that stock can run under whenever they choose; and they should be so large that all can find room. A good supply of straw, leaves, or other litter, will not only keep the cattle dry and warm, but will absorb manures which would otherwise go to waste And, while pleading for warm and cosy winter quarters, we must also put in a plea for good air within them. The stalls should be cleaned out twice a day, and at evening the floors strewn with sawdust, tan-bark, or some other absorbent bedding; and then if the barns are reasonably tight, some provision should be made for ventilation; at least let there be a small opening or two not very remote from the stalls, to let in pure air, and also a ventilator for the escape of foul air which rises from the eattle. With all our care, there will be more or less bad air in a stable, arising from the breaths of animals, from secretions of their skins, as well as from their excrements, liquor and solid. CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT.

The man who is obliged to be constantly employed to earn the necessaries of life and support his family, knows not the unhappiness he prays for when he desires wealth and idleness. To be constantly busy is to be always happy. Perbroken up their active pursuits, and began to live at their ease, waste away and die of work in New York, a man receives from ness, and at night sleep with perfect com-posure. The idle and the rich are seldom a margin does accrue, There are dozens contented: They are petulant, fearful, of little stores throughout the city employirascible. Bid them good morning, and ling clerks whose owners, after paying exthey scowl. Nature and art appear to penses, realise little more than the wages out, and the decay of death has com- ion, the losses from injudicious or ill-

THE BEATITUDE OF THE DRY GOODS

Business.—Salesmen and saleswomen in retail dry goods stores have a trying time of it. Of the trials through which their patience passes, outsiders have a very limited idea. When people "shop" with the view of purchasing, store clerks care little for the trouble of displaying their goods. When shopping is indulged as a mere pastime, as it daily is by scores of ladies, the evil becomes one of which overworked salesmen and saleswomen complain loudly. Ladies making calls often make appointment to meet each other the next day. Mrs. Brown promises to meet Mrs. Smith, and, for convenience sake, appoints the meeting at the store of Mr. Silk, the nan she "looks at a few goods," a process that consists in badgering the salespeople until Mrs. Brown arrives. When Mrs. Brown reaches the store half the contents of the shelves are upon the counters, the clerks are in a state of exasperation, and and the ladies coolly walk away with the consoling promise to "call again." we remember that of a morning a dezen of such successive parties demand to be waited upon, and that, unlike the opposite sex, they cannot be met with a rebuff, we can see that a position behind the counter of a dry goods store is anything but Para-

The next greatest bore, after considering the people who have no intention of buying, or who have no money to buy with, if they wished to do so, is the class who don't know what they want and expect clerks to find it for them. The visit of well known persons of this kind will throw a store full of clerks into a shudder. coughs, sore eyes, and other diseases show, it is upon a specific errand. He asks for plainly enough that they suffer sadly that he wants, and if he likes it, purchases. With Crinoline, however, the mode of procedure is very different.— "Oh! what do women know about buti- Crinoline, though suited on the spot, in sale except to a buyer who has first gone the rounds of similar establishments in tion for this is when some "chronic" shopper "calling again" for some article which she departed to cheapen elsewhere, finds it to have been sold during her absence, and deplored her procrastination. The next annoying bores and those who habitually seek a reduction in the price of goods without the ability to judge of their terday, in our hearing, of a clerk in Eighth street. The clerk said "fourteen cents a price, and, true to her instinct, offered sixteen. The honest clerk repeated that then," said the lady, "I'll give you twelve." The reader will hardly credit us when we say that the woman walked away, to find a store where fourteen cent muslin was sold for twelve. With some people the babit of higgling is so fixed that a reduction must be made, come, and are cut short upon the spot. — But so numerous are they that in many of the second class dry goods stores only the cost price is affixed to the goods, the salespeople being permitted to get all the profit they can, with salaries rated according to their abilities in obtaining good prices

The lives of our dry goods clerks are very laborious, and ill requitted In this city, where seven-eighths of our dry goods clerks are females, the salaries are extremely low. For doing the same amount year. The average salary is but four dolreceive small remuneration, it should be understood that employers suffer more

THE WAR DRAWING TO A CLOSE. In our issue of the 30th of July last we wrote an articla in answer to the oftrepeated query, "when will the war end?" That answer in brief was, when the South is exhausted of men. We called attention to the ominous sign of exhaustation in the urgent calls for boys and old men to fill was gone. We heard of his setting forth up the ranks which had been thinned by with wonder, and for weeks the heart of the ability of the Confederasy to feed its troops. Furnish the men and they could subsist an army double the present size, conscription-no dictatorial mandate from the central despotism of Richmand, could create men. We further maintained that the insurrectionary States dare not arm their slaves for active military operations. They could use them in the corn-field and the trenches, but in the bivouac and the battle-field, "the Irrepressable Nigger" point his gun when the trigger was to be pulled. We are aware that the Rebellion is shivering on the brink of Negro-Arming! But the experiment, if attempted, will settle at once and forever the ques tion of domestic servitude in this country. The marvellous absurdity of a number of States plunging into a revolution for the aggrandizementland perpetuity of Slavery, and then being obliged to call on the slaves to help fight them out of it!

"Slavery is a Divinely appointed institution," proclaims Church and State South; yet let Slavery perish in order to save the Rebellion! The Chivalry for such tergiversation, if for nothing else, stands glaringly exposed to the world's ridicule.

If then white soldiers cannot be had, and black ones are of dubious utability, we argue that the war is rapidly drawing to a close. The existing armies of the Confederacy are now being fearfully depleted. Thomas' victory over Hood before Nashville cannot be over-estimated in its importance. Our army seems to have been successful at all points. Hood's de point to the total destruction of his army. This will secure Middle and East Tennesthat double-dyed traitor, Breckinridge, they were but while west, as if to join Hood In addition to on our side, we are ab works of that region. Canby, from the Department of the West, has destroyed Hood's railroad communication, through out Mississippi, cutting off immense amounts of stores collected for his army at Jackson. Thus ends Hood's campaign which the Richmond journals boasted was to redeem Tennessee and Kentucky, and "gather them to the affectionate embrace of the Southern Confederacy."

Sherman, glorious Sherman! has outhas mystified them as to his intentions While they thought he designed striking at Augusta, Macon, or some other point, he was steadily and surely moving forward State of Georgia has fallen. It assuredly must, and with Savannah falls Charleston, with Charleston Richmond, with Rich mond the Confederacy! How glorious the career of Sherman! The splendid campaign against Atlanta is rivalled by the marvellous march through Central Georgia, the heart of the Rebellion, to the scaboard, culminating in the capture of Savannah. We wonder not at the Lieu tenant-General styling him his "right hand man." General Grant, who glories in his achievements, observed to a friend, "Sherman is one of the ablest Generals living."

Grant, the indomitable, "unconditional surrender" Grant! holds his own before Richmond and Petersburg. We are not impatient to scan his secrets. At the proper time the plans of the far-sighted Chief will be seen to have been most profoundly conceived and the most successfully executed by his accomplished Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Thomas, Canby, Butler, Foster, and their illustrious compeers. Already the series of recent brilliant and substantial successes show that the war is drawing to a close.

We had written the above when General Sherman's despatch was received, dated near midnight, Dec. 13th, on the gen-boat Dandelion, Ossaban Sound, Georgia. Fort McAllister had been carried by assault. and its entire garrison and stores captured -all the railroads leading into Savanuah completely destroyed, and the city invested -the garrison estimated at fifteen thou-"I regard Savannah as already gained" writes the gallant Sherman. Our lately. Rev. W. B. Gillette, the worthy and readers will of course peruse his despatch for the details of his triumphant march

SHERMAN'S MARCH.

In comparing notes to day with what has been other years we cannot help to see come with the intention of purchasing blankets forcibly, that we are at the " beginning of the end of this Rebellion." Step by step we have pushed them back, slowly but surely they are going to the wall. We have seen our armies, with the single exception of the State of Virginia, push on, regardless of what stood in their paths, taking and holding the seemingly impregnable fortresses which frowned against them, doing worthy service for the cause. While our fleets, blockading their forts, capturing their strong places, or sweeping their cruisers from the sea, have done much. But it remained for Sherman to show more plainly than any other, that the great power of the rebellion for evil the casualities of war. We never doubted the American people has been standing still, shocked at the magnitude of the act. Cutting loose from Atlanta, leaving Hood in the hands of Thomas, (and he could not and give it all the material of war. But have left him in cooler hands) he passed no appeal to patriotism-no sweeping out into Georgia Righteous is the retribution that is falling on her. A great state, her million and a quarter of white population would have stopped the rebellion, thrown into the right scale. But with eyes open, in the face of the warnings of her best men, she entered the strife on the side of wrong and oppression. Alexander H. Stevens, her best man, in his great speech before her legislature in the would be likely to know which way to eve of secession, said, "I tell you that if Georgia draws the sword, she will perish miserably thereby. That such a man, at such a time should say this, is not wonderful, but that it should turn him into a prophet, and a true one is something to be wondered at. Georgia is now securing the meet of her wicked deeds. A great army has marked a pathway of just retribution over her soil. Her cities are laid waste, and her pleasant places made desolate. The weakness of the Confederacy is strikingly show by the fact that not an organized force of any moment has met Sherman on his way. We have heard indeed from the Richmond press, of the tearful demoralization of Sherman's army; how they were rushing on, an eager, chaotic mass, seeking to escape from the merci less pursuers, the Georgia militia, under Extra Billy Smith or his " Big Brother," together with that prince of blusterers. P. T. G. Beauregard, whose "clarion voice" using the language of the rebel papers) " was, like the bugle of Rhoderick, worth a thousand men " Wheeler, the invincible, had worked wonderous havoc feat was terrible, and the probabilities in the enemy's ranks and captured Kilpatrick's hat, which the Richmond papers wildly suggest be "laid up in lavender, see from further invasion. Stoneman has along with Dalghren's leg, Popes coat, and effectually intercepted the advance of Washburn's partarons." Very jocose ve the laugh and mar it, seriously destroying a portion of the Vir. feeling that Kilpatrick ..., without the fearful force, who were going to meet Sherman above Savannah, and scatter 'im did'nt. Seriously, now, did they dream and offer a of such a thing? If so, they are grievously behind-hand, for that rascal Sherman, the "Brute" has taken Fort McAllister, destroyed every railroad about the city, and given our friend Hardee a chance to save his bacon within two days, which he, being a man of seuse, will doubtless generalled the Rebels. From the start he do, and the next despatch boat will probably bring us news of the capture of Savan nah, with its fifteen thousand soldiers .-Had this march of Sherman's been fought with no other result than the march itself, on Savannah. At the time of our writing it would have been a glorious victory in we cannot say with certainty that that itself. Almost unopposed, feeding on most flourishing commercial city in the the fat of the land, coming in better trim than that in which he started out, it will stand out on the pages of history as the achievement of a great and daring mind.

J., has established an Agency in this town, at the office of James J. Reeves, Esq. This company is one of the oldest and best in the United States, being now in the twentieth year of its active existence, and having accumulated assets to the amount of over six millions of dollars. It is economical in the management of its business and prompt in the payment of its losses. One advantage over any other company is that it declares a dividend annually, not to stockholders, but to the insured. For three years past the dividend has been fifty per cent. and it cannot be less than that amount the

To all, in need of these we recommend the establishment of Mr GRANVILLE, B. HAINES, 1018 Market street, Philadelphia. Nowhere in the city can better and cheaper blankets, flannels and comforts bles, be obtained. He has now on hand an unsurpassed assortment of fine, heavy white blankets, all wool, and his comfortables are of the heaviest kind, being filled with wool, a much more sufficient protection from the cold than when filled with cotton. They will be disposed of at moderate prices, and for durability, neatness of make, &c , are unexcelled anywhere in the city. Mr. Haines has unusual facilities for obtaining all these goods at the lowest auction prices and sells them accord-

Diamonds and Watches for Presents. One of the most brilliant displays of dia monds in the city is made at the well known establishment of Mr. J. LADOMUS, 802 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. As the present season is the time when diamonds and jewelry are most sought after, it is entirely proper and desirable that the admirers of elegant articles n this line should know where the best articles can be procured. Without any intention to be invidious, we would direct attention to the old established stand of Mr. Ladomus, who has on hand a large, varied and splendid assortment of first class watches and jewelry, and devotes especial attention to diamonds. There are but few experienced experts who can judge readily of these precious gems, and persons will find it to their advantage in buying of a gentleman who has as established reputation for skill and integrity in business.

seventeen pounds to the pair. If we had heard the above statement from any less reliable person than Bishop James Keley, it might have been discredited. This stock of chickens were imported from Delaware, and are more desirable than the Shanghai. A pair of them would keep a common sized family picking bones for about a week.

GLORIOUS NEWS! Sherman's March Through Georgia.

FALL OF FORT M'ALLISTER!

Defeat of the Rebel Lyon! But he will make a greater record still, FATAL ROUT OF HOOD

FORT MCALLISTER, OGECHER RIVER, Georgia, December 14. - General Sherman's grand cumpaign is a brilliant success. He communisated with Major-General Foster this forenoon on the Ogeobee river, Georgia, and spent most of this day on the General's steamer, Namaha, onsulting on future movements. His campaign from Atlanta to the coast has been a comparatively bloodless one, but in its bearings and results, one of the most important yet undertaken in the war. Starting on the 4th of November from Atlanta, and swinging olear of his base, he plunged into the very neart of the Rebel territory, and made his way, in spite of all obstacles, to the coast, and opened communications with the columns operating on the seaboard, thereby insuring his supplies, occupying, during his march.

ivering a heavy blow to the Rebellion. The utter stupidity and shortsightedness of he leaders of the Rebellion, blinded as they were with rage and feelings of revenge, resulting from his successful campaign from Chattagoogs to Atlanta, prompted them to send Hood n a wild goose chase to Sherman's rear, to risk the fortunes of the shaky Confederacy in one campaign which held forth most delusive promises if successful, and if not, shadowed forth the most disastrous results. Sherman, grasping the situation at a glance, made a show of a pursuit of Hood's army, and then turned back and concentrated his forces at Atlants, after destroying all the railroads in his

The preparations for this grand march did not consume many days. He clothed his men, and prepared them for the long and toilsome march before them. The paymasters distrib-uted in a bountiful manuar the greenbacks; the commissary allotted to each man his rations for the campaign, and the quartermaster slothed each of the picked men who were to enter upon the grand "Anabasis," as the Rebel papers called it, and soon all was ready for the treat movement. The men were in the best of spirits when the final order for the advance was given. Such stores as could not be carried away, and were of service to the enemy, were given to the flames, and Atlanta was left. so far as military value was concerned, a char-

ed mass of ruins. Not a building of public nature was spared. Everything was destroyed. And then the grand army, divided into two wings, began its triumphal advance, and swept over an area of territory nearly sixty miles wide, destroy-ing in its every step that could be of the least value to the enemy, until it reached the coast to-day. I have no time now to give the details of this famous march. I one only say, from General Sharman's account, that it was a triumphant holiday march from beginning to end; that the froops were in the best of spirite; that they essentiated no enemy of any bediequence, sere in one instance, and that was the choicien of Wheeler's thorough defeat; that we they found an abundance of supplies of every hind, for mon and beast; that they recohed the coast jesterday possilly up to debel forces, about fifteen diomain airons composed of militia and veterans in flavours and that they are now investing the city of flavoursh. The above is a very brief statement of affairs, past and prospective, but must suffice, as a despatch-boat goes suddenly and at once.

We know but little of the situation in detail of the forces around Savarhali, but we know that the city is invested. Major denoted Slooum's grand cerps d'armes holds all the approaches on the morth side of the city, including all the railroads leading out of the town, and General Howard's army connects with his right, and swings around to the Oge-chee river, at Fort McAllister, which is now in our possession.

Hopkinsville, Kentucky, Dec. 21.—Gen. E. D. M'Cook struck part of the Rebel Gen. Lyon's command at daylight on the 16th, defeated him, and captured his artillery. He is still pursuing him.

CINCINNATI, December 22. - The Commercial' Nashville despatch of the 21st says Thomas' headquarters are near Columbia Hood is across Duck river. His loss, since com ng into the State, is estimated at 20,000. His fords is now believed to be about 12,000 infantry and 8000 cavalry. The woods are full of deserters. It is snowing, and the roads are very bad.

HOLIDAY BOOKS FOR 1864 AND 1865. Moliday books for 1864 AND 1865.

No book house in the world has the fine assortment of holiday books that T. B. Peterson & Brothers, No. 306 Chevinut street, Philadelphia, now has on hand.—The collection is varied, rich, choice, and many are very costly, and others so sphendidly bound that they needs must be seen to be appreciated. With us literature is now an institution, and the American people are celebrated throughout the world for the general knowledge, and many of our best authors rank second to no one in Europe. Publishers, however, in this country, have paid more attention to English authors than they have to those of our own country. The Messrs. Petersons, however, are an exception, and while they encouraged home productions, they are equally liberal to those of other lands.

Mrs. Wood's novels, the most pleasing in the lands. while they encouraged home productions, they are equally liberal to those of other lands.

Mrs. Wood's novels, the most pleasing in the lan guage; Miss Frederika Bremer, the accomplished delineator of the domestic seenes of life; Mrs. Southworth, the American authoress; Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz, Miss Braddon, Dumas, Beynoids, Aimard, Scott, Morris, Pickering, Grey, Arthur, Jones, Maxwell, Ainsworth, Dickens, all contribute to this department of literature, and their works swell up the shelves, presenting to the eye a scene of seeming magical illusion.

And here it would not be inapprorriate to mention that Meszis. T. H. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelpnia, Pa., Publish Dickens' complete illustrated Works in twenty-four defferent editions, bound in every conceivable style, from the plain paper cover volume to the gorgeous full bound call volume. What more suitable "Holiday Present" could be given to any one than a set of this author's writing? We answer none. The publisher will send their descriptive catalogue with prices of each style of binding to any address, on application.

National Petroleum Association. An Oil Enterprise upon New Principles. The undersigned have secured the right to purchase several tracts of land in Wirt and Roane countiss, West Virginia, lying in the best oil region of that slate and containing over 1000 acres, all of which have been selected with creat care, and examined and reported on by Prof. William F Roberts.

The price of the land averages shout $55 per acre, less than one-tenth of the customary price of oil territory, tracts having lately been sold in the same neighborhood, within two miles of some of these, at $1000 per acre. entitled . It is proposed to organize this association, to purchase the lands, and furnish working capital to de chase the lands, and furnish working capital to develope them.

500,000 shares will be sold, at $1.00 each, which will pay for the lands, and produce a working capital of $100,000.

Subscriptions received for not less than 25 shares.

Before paying for any tracts the titles will be carefully examined by competent counsel in Virginia, and an additional geological examination made of them by an experienced geologist; and in case of unfavorable report upon any tract, either as to title or value as oil territory, such tract will not be taken, and the capital of the association proportionally reduced.

and the capital of the association proper duced.

As fast as subscriptious are made, and the proper symmetrion completed, the tracts will be taken possession of, and wells put down as rapidly as capital and energy can accomplish the work.

In working the lands, the system of leasing parts for a royalty will be adopted in order to develope so large a body as radidly as practicable. After securing all the tracts favorably reported on, they will be formed into five companies, under the general law of West Virginia, each with a capital of $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 chares of $10, each company owning one fifth of the lands purchased, and having $20,000 working capital.

of the companies are coming to be considered investment securities, their dividends being large and regularly paid. The field of productive operations in oil is steadily widening, but the widened field and increased production do not keep pace with the uses to which the oil is applied, and prices are advancing—The boring exortement in Greene county is now becoming as great set in as hitherto been on Oil Creek, and the excitement on the same subject is all aglow
in Virginia, Southern Ohio, and Northern Kentucky

The investments and profits are certain; 100 per cent. per annum is a low estimate of the profits on the amount invested. The land will always be worth more than the price paid for farming purposes. 640 acres of the land, in the most desirable location, may be selected and laid out for a town, (this being expressly authorized by the law of West Virginia, under which the companies will be incorporated) and these lots sold at a moderate price will return the whole capital to the stockholders.

One fifth will be required to be paid on every share at the time of subscription, and the balance as required, not more than one fifth on each share to be called in at a time.

The undersigned respectfully submit to their fellow citizens that the present enterprise offers a safer, surer, and cheaper investment than any oil enterprise yet started, and earnestly invite their co-operation to ensure its success.

DIRECTORS ohn M. Pomeroy. Secretary, James M. Sellers, Treasurer, Elisha W. Davis.

This Company has 120 acres of land, in fee, on Alleghe ny River immediately opposite Oil City, and adjoining Laytonia with 110 rods front on the river, and 75 rod 8 ront on Lay's Run. Hon. C. P. Ramsdell, editor o heOil City Monitor, and agent for this land assure the Company that it will sell in lots for $100,000, re serving the oil right which is worth $100,000 addition al. Immediate revenue will be derived for the Com pany from the sale of these lots; and the Company have two good engines with complete fixtures to operate immediately for oil. The territory in this imm diste locality has never failed to produce profitably. Also, one hundred acres, in fee simple, in the cele brated Cherry Run Petroleum Company, whose stock is now worth over $30 per share. The Company nov have offers, which will be accepted, for sinking wells on lease, without any cost to the corporation and one half the proceeds to go to the Company. The Curtin and St. Nicholas Companies are in this immediate ocality, and their stock is now commanding a large remium. In addition, the Company has 40 acres in fee simple, on Cherry Tree Run, which empties into Oil Creek, and in the best producing section o the Oil Territory, and 110 acres, in fee simple, on Wal nut Bend, five miles above the mouth of Oil Creek and not over two miles from the celebrated Reed well now producing over 200 barries per day.

Also, the lease of three tracts of land, two on Oi Creek, each producing over ten barrels per day o heavy oil, worth now $21 per barrel. The Company now receives three-fourths of the proceeds of the last named well, and one-half of the other two. Each of these tracts will be developed by the Company by sinking additional wells, and the engines and fixture are now on hand to do it. The officers of this Company mean to prosecute the development of these lands most onergetically, and they have entire confidence that they will yield very large dividends on the capital stock.

Subscriptions must be made promptly, as mo than one half of the stock is already engaged. Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Company.

Hashad a fine donation visit
Made by his grateful flock.
And such a huge and varied load
Of useful things they then bestowed,
As seemed hard times to mock. Barrels of flour and bags of meal,
Cheeses large as a wagon wheel,
Groceries from the store,
The best of pickels and presentes,
Corned pork and hams—but memory swerves
And can repeat no more.

I mean of things meant for the table, But hay and oats supplied the stable, Nor can we fail to name

Nor can we sail to mame Kousekeeping articles quite new, And knitted socks of woollen, due To a revered old dame. And was admired by all the parson best,
And was admired by all the rest
There gathered, above all,
Was a most faultless suit of clothes,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, TRENTON, NOV. 28, 1864. CIRCULAR:

The Provost Marshal General has informed me that effects are being made to perfect the enrollment lists, in order that correct quotas, may be determined in the event of future calls; and has requested my co-operation by inducing State municipal, and other local authorities, as well as prominent and influential citizens, to assist in securing securiors up the lists. The Provost Marshal Gen municipal, and other local authorities, as well as prominent and influential citizens, to assist in securing accuracy in the lists.

This is a very important subject, not only to every man liable to military du y, but to every tax-payer.—Heretofore the local authorities, in many instances, delayed action until it was found very difficult and sometimes impossible to have errors corrected.

I call upon the citizens of this State, and especially upon the authorities of counties, cities and townships, to appear without delay before the Boards of Enrollment in their respective districts, to point out errors in the lists, and give such information as may a din the correction of the same. The Boards of Enrollment have been instructed by the Provost Marshal General to have copies of the lists open to the examination of the public at all proper times.

Is revising the enrolment lists the following classes of persons should be added thereto:

2d. Those who, since the last enrollment, have attained the age of twenty years.

2d. Those who, have declared their intention to become citizens, or exercised the privileges of citizens.

3d. Those discharged from the military or naval service of the United States, who have not been in such service two years during the present war.

There should be stricken from the lists the names of those who are exempt on occount of, 1st Alienage.

2d. Non residence.

3d. Over or under age.

4th. Permanent physical disability, of such a degree as to render the person not a proper subject for enrollment under the law and regulations.

5th. Having served in the military or naval service two years during the present war, and been honorably discharged,

6th. Being now in the military or naval service of the United States.

two years during the present war, and been honorably discharged,

6th. Being now in the military or naval service of the United States.

It is desired that the local authorities and citizens will also communicate with the deputies of the Provost Marshal and special agents, who may be appointed to revise the enrollment in the several subdistricts, giving them special facilities for the examination of the several poll-books, &c.

Should difficulties arise, or obstacles be interposed, so as to interfere with the proper correction of the enrollment, a statement of the facts should be made to me in writing, by the county, city or township authorities. thorities.

I hope that the public journals throughout the State will frequently call the attention of the people to this subject, as it deeply concerns the welfare of all classes. Prompt action is important.

Jobbing promply attended to. dec 17 3t. Jones' Old Established Onc-

Price Clothing Establishment. NO. 604 MARKET STR., PHILADELPHIA. Jones' policy which has proved of such great sat isfaction both to his friends and the public, has demonstrated the fact, that ONE PRICE is the proper basis on which to do busuless. Many persons who are not able to judge of the value of any article, are glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of purchasing where they can secure what they want at the same price as their neighbors. Others, not liking to ask the dealers to take less, are often obliged to pay too much for an article. To meet this want Jones' one price Store has been established, and having worked well for fifteen years, has gained many friends.

A youth, devoid of spirit bold, None of life's beauties to unfold, Is like a being chained to earth— To friends or self of little worth. Not only to himself a blank, Left with the idle for to rank, The bane to every one he knew, The boy with downcast look and hue. 'Tis mostly caused in boyhood's hour, Which, in the bud, makes spirit cower, Attempts to sway by domineering— So, if you would advance your sons, Gorig them out at HENDERSON'S, Their downcast spirits he'll uplift, In Market street, first door from Fifth.

HAWLEY'S SOLIDIFIED DENTAL CREAM,

For Gleansing, Whitening and Preserving the Teeth
This article is prepared with the greatest care uponscientific principles, and warranted not to contain anything in the slightest degree deleterious to the teeth or gums. Some of our most eminent dents surgons have given their sanction to, and cheerfully recommend it as a preparation of superior qualities for Cleansing. Whitening and Preserving the teeth it cleans them readily, rendering them beautifully white and pearly, without the slightest injury to the enamel. It is healing to the gums where they are ulcehated and sore. It is also an excellent disInfector for old decayed teeth, which are often very offensive. It gives a rich and creamy taste to the mouth cleansing it thoroughly, and imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath.

TESTIMONIALS.

The following opinion of Dr. White, as to the high esteem in walch he holds the Dental Cream, must be sufficient evidence of its value; to quote other testimonials in detail is needless, conetnting ourselves by simply giving the names and addresses of persons who speak of its excellency for the theth.

Pfiladelphia, April 16th, 1863.

Having carefully examined A. Hawley's "Solidified Dental Gream," I hereby electfully recommend it to the public generally. It is an excellent preparation for cleaning and preserving the teeth, and can be used by all persons with the utmost confidence, as its properties for berietly harmless. Besides preserving the teeth, if promotes a healthy action to the guns and imparts a pleasantness to the breath.
