MR. EDITOR :- A few sentences from one of the former readers of your interesting paper might be a gratification and stimulous to many other readers of your paper. There is in man a principle of benevolence, of Philanthrophy which impels him to seek the happiness of mankind at large, on their own account as spring. We are aware that this principle is weaker in some than in others; and that in many it is overpowered and neutralized by inferior propensities, still it is implanted in all, and in some it is the ruling power, controling their whole life, and those noble specimens of humanity are sufficiently powerful to shape the future destiny of our race. We would say fur-No. 27 North Front Street ther that we have progressed and are progressing. The village is beautifully laid out in streets parallel to each other, on which houses are constantly being erected by the successful, energetic and worthy business men, Messrs. Moore, Bro', and others. Commerce here is being increased and the borders of manufactory enlarged; and as Moore Bro' have been a strong impetus to improvement in the past; if their lives should be prolonged they will doubtless continue to be in subsequent time. And while we are improving mind here is not forgotten, and as the way up unless we would have our children love to inger in the misty vale of ignorance we must make the entrance to the ascending way attractive, which the people here have fairly demonstrated during the past year, by erecting a magnificent building in a beautiful grove, longing the past year. of knowledge. an attendant, who, by many acts of kindness, had won his confidence: I was searching for spoils among the dead and dying, upon a deserted battlefield, when I discovered a small gold locket upon the person of a dying boy, apparently about fifteen years of age. -As I endeavored to loose it from his grasp, he opened his languid eyes and implored me, by all that was good and pure, by the memory of my own mother, not to rob him of his sister's picture. "Oh!" said he, "it was her last gift. I promised her, when she kissed my check at parting, that I would always wear it near my heart, in life or death." Then, as if throwing his whole soul into the plea, he exclaimed: "O! Touch not my sister's picture." As the last words faltered upon his tongue, his voice hushed in death. By the dim light of the stars, I hastily scraped a shallow grave, and buried him with his sister's picture lying upon his breast.

WHO SHALL BE GOVERNOR?

The Trenton Moniton, under the above cap tion, previous to the nomination at Trenton on Thursday last, takes occasion to denounce and misrepresent Alexander G. Cattell. It says: "He is put prominently forward by the lacneys and followers of Camden and Amboy as the man their masters have selected for the post; and we infer therefore, that like poor Parker, they expect him, if elected, to register their decrees.'

The Monitor adds: "West Jersey will assert her claim in the convention to have the candidate; but the laim will be resisted. Governors Newell, and Olden and Parker were all more nearly related to West Jersey than to East. But the real difficulty with our friends from West Jersey will be that the people of the Eastern and Middle counties are getting very sick of the domination of the confederate corporations, and will not readily give in their milherence to a candidate brought forward by the railroad."

The Monitor made use of such falsehoods as gates from East Jersey against Mr. Cattell, who has never, to the best of our knowledge, been identified or interested in any way with the Camden and Amboy Company. If he had been a resident of the upper part of the State, with half the qualifications and claims upon the par-y, which he possesses he would have received the unanimous nomination. The Monitor announced a week previous to the Convention, that " West Jersey will assert her claims in the convention to have the candidate, but the claim will be resisted." But the first day's meeting of that they were of the wrong stamp to administer justice and enact laws at such a time as this Notwithstanding the order of Gen. treating the negro in any different manner from the white, should stand annulled, these rebels refused to see how they could override the State laws in the punishment of crime and enacting ordinances. Martial law was therefore re established, and the rebels find themelves, for the present, powerless to carry out their malignant pro-slavery schemes. An instance illustrating the impudence of the Virginia secessionists, is given by a Trihunc correspondent, as follows: Two large NO. 4 COMMERCE ST., BRIDGETON brick residences in Petersburg, perhaps the finest in the city, have been occupied by the military for offices and officers' quarters .-Fired with the fervor of chivalry, this directed agent issued to General Hartsuff a very furious edict, commanding him to immediately withdraw from the premises. The reply of the General was as follows; "It is stated for the information of the applicant that those rebels who strove with hands, brains or purse for the overthrow of the Gov ernment which has so completely paralyzed their efforts and crushed their treasonable hopes have robbed themselves of every right.

A Much Needed Enterprise.

From advertisment in another column the reader will learn that Geo. W. Finlaw, Esq., has opened a Real Estate agency, at his store on Commerce street, in this city. Such an enterprise has long been needed. There are thousands of acres, in this County and Cape May, of good soil, well located, and inviting capital for developement, but does not sell simply because the public do not know there are such lands for sale. Mr. Finlaw sees that fact; and has resolved to be the mouth piece of South Jersey to tell the world, that here is "much good land to be possessed." We advise all having Real Estate that they wish to sell to put it into his hands. He is a practical man and will manage all such business in the very best manner, and we believe to the advantage of all concerned.

BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL. A smooth and level shore we tread, Yet look across the stream, And high and far the grey rocks spread, Mounting majestic overhead:
But not too stern to seem,
Green robus of foliage they wear,
With wild flowers mingled here and there.

With wild flowers mingled here and there.
Their shadows make the water clear.
Seem like a leafy mass,
And the reflected tree appear
A forest under-class!
Now, startled at your footstep near,
The wild bird seeks the thickest brake,
While bolder, the slim water snake
Is seen above the tide to peer. Strange that this scene, so wildly fair, Strange that this seene, so wildly fair,
Should near a city be:
Where sounds of bustle fill the nir,
And crowded streets we see;
And brildings buge, for traffic raised,
Such as that Hall I off have praised.
Strange that within one little hour,
We pass from Wissakickon's bower
To purchase at the busy Tower.

The great wonder now is how Bruna and Brewster ever got together. It is no uncommon thing for Brewster to be called Bruna; this is not very much to be taken to heart, for any one having the reputation that Mr. Bruna has, need not care it that good repute is handed down to one yet in his infancy, but hoping soon to gain a name, at least for the sale of capital ice cream and good mineral water. Mr. Brunant thinks at this season of the year a good dish of his cream is far superior to a dose of Brewster's Pils, but this is a sure fact that it you get sick on iccorram Brewster's citrate of magnesia is the most picasant medicane you can take, very much resembling soda water. After you get regaled with cooling beverages nothing is nicer than a good Havana cigar. Remember the inertar out front.

Many persons who are not able to judge of the value of any article, are glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of purchasing where they can secure what they want at the same price as their neighbors. Others, not liking to ask the dealers to take less, are often obliged to pay too much for an article. SEND IN THE ORDERS EARLY! SEND IN THE ORDERS EARLY Already the indications point to a very heavy trade in our article for the Fall season, and although we have immense facilities for meeting a large demand with a prompt supply, we would strongly advise Farmers and Dealers to give us their orders as early as possible.

Baugh's Raw-Bone Phosphate has now been before the agricultural community for many years under one name and one proprietorship, and needs no further commendation than that accorded to it everywhere, in the continued and successful use by practical and discriminating Farmers. BAUGH & SONS,
