JAMES M. SCOVILL YET AGAIN.

We had hoped we were done with this notoriety individual, but the Hon. J. M. Scovill has not been represented without him, and we must perforce bring him forward to public notice again.

It is probably familiar to almost all of our readers now, that the New Jersey Legislature has adjourned without electing any United States Senator in the place of Mr. John Stockton, who was declared ineligible by the Senate.

In the merits of that case we feel very little interest, except we are thus left without any Senator at all to represent New Jersey in the National Convention.

It is especially interesting to us to see that the Hon. J. M. Scovill has again, at least for any purposes of practical legislation, Mr. Stockton would have made a good Senator, but as he cannot be one, the State of New Jersey ought not to have been left unrepresented.

New Jersey Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

We have received a copy of the annual minutes of this body, making a book of nearly two pages, which has been prepared with considerable interest as embodying the status of one of the powerful religious communities of our State.

Believing as we do, that the morality of the country is very largely dependent upon the progress and purity of its religious denominations, we watch their position with interest, and hail their advancement with pleasure; and when that position is set forth with the minute distinctness of this pamphlet, we are glad to find the limits of the Conference defined by New Brunswick on the one extreme and the Cape on the other, occupying all the intervening territory so far as their denominational ecclesiastical realm reaches the people.

The State above New Brunswick and the other side of the Hudson, which crosses the State upon that level, is set off into what is called the Newark Conference. The whole territory, thirty years ago, was only a part of Philadelphia Conference, but in that time the advance has been so great that the two bodies spoken of have formed, and are in successful operation.

The number of members, in the New Jersey Conference, is 22,618 besides 5,129 on trial preparatory to church membership. This altogether makes nearly 28,000 persons directly connected with the Church in actual membership, in addition to those that attend upon its ministry but who are unconnected with its communion.

There are 146 regular pastors in the New Jersey Conference, assisted by 156 local preachers, nearly 1,000 possessing the necessary qualifications to preach, and about 2,000 working in the various ministerial capacities.

The book contains the post office address of each of these, as well as the appointment of the various officers. There are 207 church edifices in this territory, worth $811,000, upon but few of which there is any considerable amount of debt. There are 55 parsonages owned by them, whose supposed value is $134,210.00.

There was over $4,000 raised for the Missionary Society in the New Jersey Conference, which is the favorite channel in which their benevolent offerings are poured.

There were 75,000 working men assembled in Union Square, New York, on the 26th of March, for eight hours a day for active labor enough for any one, and certainly eight hours of idleness as much as any one ought to wish to pay for.

It is a curious fact, that in this matter of the arrest of Lieutenant General Grant, the Hon. Wm. P. Fessenden, of Rhode Island, has at last been taken prisoner. What the combined efforts of the whole Congress could not accomplish, has now been done by a policeman.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature of New Jersey has adjourned after a session of twelve weeks, in which a fair amount of local and State business has been done, but which has left the most important business entirely undone, which was the election of a U. S. Senator.

While we are to be sure, it is not what we think the proper characterization of his perjury in preventing this consummation, we cannot hold as free from blame any member of the Senate who voted against going into joint meeting for this purpose.

It is true that the opposite party felt aggrieved by the rejection of Mr. Stockton. It is possibly true that the Republicans would have done exactly the same had they been in their position, but nevertheless these facts, while they may palliate, do not excuse the conduct of any member who by his vote prevented that joint meeting from taking place.

The obligations to the State are paramount to those of a party; and in the end those persons who recognize their duty to the people, far better than those who know no country but their party, and who will let the country suffer rather than lose a little party advantage.

It is also interesting to see that the Hon. J. M. Scovill has again, at least for any purposes of practical legislation, Mr. Stockton would have made a good Senator, but as he cannot be one, the State of New Jersey ought not to have been left unrepresented.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

This bill, the subject of so much comment and bitterness, after being voted by the President and passed the Senate by the necessary vote of two thirds and also the House of Representatives, is now on its way to the laws of the land.

Leaving out of the question of details, to which we think the President who founded objections, the bill itself does not seem to us objectionable, at least in its principles which lie at its foundation.

The Southern people have been educated in a system of slavery, and its tenets do not strike them as they impress us. A man who has all his life lived profane slavery, and is brought up to regard it as a matter of course, will not feel that it is wrong to keep another man as property, or to use his labor, or to have him work for his support, or to have him be a slave.

It is a curious fact, that in this matter of the arrest of Lieutenant General Grant, the Hon. Wm. P. Fessenden, of Rhode Island, has at last been taken prisoner. What the combined efforts of the whole Congress could not accomplish, has now been done by a policeman.

SEVEN PERSONS MURDERED.

On Wednesday afternoon last, a family of seven persons, living in the locality known as the 'Knock' were found murdered near their house. The crime is supposed to have been perpetrated on Saturday last, with the object of plunder.

The murdered family were named Deering, including a niece named Naud. The bodies, all horribly murdered, were found in the barn, by a neighbor who went over to look after a calf which he had on the premises. Mr. Deering, Mrs. Deering, Mrs. Dolan and four children, the youngest only fourteen months old, were all lying in an advanced state of decomposition.

Mr. Deering was a cattle dealer, and had some thousands of money by him, although it is believed that he had but little in his possession at the time. But one of the family, a boy who was away visiting at the time, is left out of a circle that a few days ago numbered eight persons.

There were a very retired family, which sought to keep their names from being known, and their property was all in a hidden away in a safe.

It is particularly interesting to us to see that the Hon. J. M. Scovill has again, at least for any purposes of practical legislation, Mr. Stockton would have made a good Senator, but as he cannot be one, the State of New Jersey ought not to have been left unrepresented.
